The wood of these toys has been kiln dried, and immediately it touches the water it begins to absorb the water and to expand almost indefinitely. As it increases in size it separates and suddenly opens, becoming a very pretty toy. One stick will change into a flowerpot containing, it may be, a rose bush in full bloom. Another becomes an obese mandarin carrying an umbrella. Still another will take the form of a sea serpent, very ferocious in its tiny dimensions.

Then, too, there are toys which show as whales, tigers, crocodiles, etc. The figures are colored and present a bewildering variety in design and treatment. Their manufacture is a trade secret, kept inviolate by the guild that turns them out by the thousands.

For older children there are provided larger and even more artistic figures, consisting of historical characters—rulers, poets and soldiers—and dwarfed trees and tiny houses, whose doors and windows are full of inmates, are also among this class. The more ordinary kind cost a mere song, but the finer toys are quite expensive.—New York Press.

A National Benefactor's Tomb.

A correspondent of The Times, signing himself "A Friend of the Donor," calls attention to the fact that the gravestone at Brompton Cemetery of Mr. John Jones, who died in 1882, and left to the nation his collection of works of art, now in the Victoria and Albert Museum, bears no record of his munificence. Thinking it appropriate that an inscription should be placed there by the museum authorities, the "Friend of the Donor" saw the director on Oct. 10 last year, who received the proposition with sympathy. "It has taken," continues the "Friend of the Donor," "from that period to June 20 for a decision to be arrived at, and the following is an extract from the letter:

"The Board of Education have had under consideration your suggestion that they should cause an inscription commemorative of the benefaction to the Victoria and Albert Museum of the late Mr. John Jones to be placed on his tombstone in Brompton Cemetery. I am directed to state that, while they sympathise with your proposal, [illegible] they regret they cannot comply with your suggestion that they should record their appreciation of the generosity of Mr. Jones by means of an inscription on his tombstone."

"No reason is given. The cost would be about £10, and, as mentioned, the gift is now valued at £1,000,000!"

Suffragist—You are stealing our thunder.
Anti-suffragist—How is that?
Suffragist—Aren't you saying that you are against it because—
Anti-suffragist—Yes.
Suffragist—Well, that's our reason.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S
PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF
ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—
"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—
"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—
"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.
"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

Drew His Picture.

It is told of Major-General Sir William Gatacre of the British army that during the Sudan campaign he was one day going the round of the sentries. Stopping before one, he asked him what his orders were. "To keep a sharp lookout for the enemy and also for Gen. Gatacre," was the prompt reply. "Do you know him by sight?" asked the general. "No, sir," answered the man, "but I was told that if I saw an officer fussing and swearing and rushing about that would be Gen. Gatacre."

War Cries.

In the very early days the French had their "cri de guerre," the Scotch their slogan and the English their war cries, but so many cries were launched by the different great British lords that in 1495 Parliament passed a special law forbidding these cries on the ground that they produced disorder, allowing but one battlecry, "St. George and the king."

'Buses In England.

It is eighty-three years since the first horse drawn public omnibus ran in England. The first public motorbus ran eight years ago.

Shielding Her.

She—And you say that you have always avoid blaming me. I'd like to have you mention one instance.

He — With pleasure. I remember night after we were married I ate a pie you baked, and when the doctor came I told him it was clams.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Taciturn Carlyle.

Thomas Carlyle was taciturn, and one writer gave him the paradoxical title, "the roaring apostle of taciturnity." The same writer once rode with Carlyle in the Chelsea omnibus and endeavored in vain with questions to induce the great man to break his golden silence and coin a few sentences of silver speech. Carlyle preserved a moody silence. But the defeated questioner had his revenge when, affecting not to know Mr. Carlyle, he asked the conductor as they got out who the gentleman was and received the following reply:

"Oh, yes, sir; I know him well enough. 'E's wot you call a littery gent—writes books wot nobody can understand. 'E's a bit off his chump, like many of those gents, but he ain't a bad sort if you take him the right way."

Australia's Stamp.

Australia's new stamp has a picture of a kangaroo gravely contemplating a tuft of "kangaroo grass," as the Government calls it, but scoffers say it looks more like a rabbit sticking its head out of a burrow.

Let Children Eat.

According to an English dietary expert, growing children should eat to repletion. The maxim of leaving off hungry at a meal must not be applied to them.

It is a fine thing to know when to let go. Many a man holds on too long. It is better to jump overboard than to go down with the sinking ship.

Get the Evidence Upstairs.

An Indian judge, when first appointed to his position, was not well acquainted with Hindustani. He was trying a case in which a Hindu was charged with stealing a nilghai. The judge did not like to betrayed his ignorance of what a nilghai was, so he said:

"Produce the stolen property."

The court was held in an upper room, so the usher gasped:

"Please, your lordship, it's downstairs."

"Then bring it up instantly!" sternly ordered the judge.

The official departed, and a minute later a loud bumping was heard, mingled with loud and earnest exhortations. Nearer came the noise, the door was pushed open, and the panting official appeared dragging in the blue bull.

The judge was dumbfounded, but only for an instant.

"Ah! That will do," said he. "It is always best, when possible, for the judge personally to inspect the stolen property. Remove the stolen property, usher."

Chapel in a Coal Mine.

In the Mynydd Newydd colliery at Swansea, south Wales, at a depth of 73 feet below the surface, is a notable chapel. It is claimed to be the only such chapel especially prepared and consecrated for worship. It is a long, low room, fitted with rough wooden benches, capable of accommodating between 150 and 200 men. Services are held before work every Monday morning in the Mynydd Newydd colliery and have been held regularly since 1897.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the portion from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 29th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately [illegible] miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately [illegible] miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $[illegible] made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.—[illegible].

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Breakwater at Port Arthur, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4 p.m., Wednesday, August 28, 1912, for the construction of a Breakwater at Port Arthur, Thunder Bay and Rainy River District, Ont.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont., J. L. Michaud, Esq., District Engineer, Merchants Bank Building, St. James St., Montreal, and F. T. Harcourt, Esq., District Engineer, Port Arthur, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, August 1st, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.—[illegible].

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

India Rubber Tree Fruit.

The fruit of the india rubber tree is somewhat similar to that of the Ricinus communis, the castor oil plant, though somewhat larger. The seeds have a not disagreeable taste and yield a purplish oil. It is a fairly good substitute for linseed oil, though it dries less rapidly. Mixed with copal blue and turpentine, it makes a good varnish. The oil may also be used in the manufacture of soaps and lithographic inks. The seeds are somewhat like tiny chestnuts, although darker in color. The Indian girls are fond of wearing bracelets and necklets made of them.

Some Celtic Words.

Ancient Picts in England were called by the Celtic word "pehta," or fighters. This was Latinized into picti. So, too, Barbary of the ancient maps is a monument to the misspelling of the Berber tribe by the Greek word signifying "barbarian." Even the legend of the victory of Guy of Warwick over the dun cow is assailed by ruthless etymologists, who insist upon its derivation from his conquest over the "Dena gau," or Danish settlement, at the champion's gates. The Celtic words "alt maen" are responsible for many "old man" crags upon seacoasts and among mountains. They mean, however, "high rock."

Hell, Hull and Halifax.

Halifax (Eng.), supposed to be the most wealthy and prosperous town of the north country in proportion to size, formerly possessed a curious notoriety. A clause of the "Thieves' Litany" ran: "From Hell, Hull and Halifax, good Lord, deliver us." This arose from the fact that Halifax at one time could inflict summary punishment upon anybody within a radius of nine miles who had committed a felony, especially by stealing cloth. The culprits were tried by a jury of four freeholders, and if found guilty, as generally happened, were executed with a kind of guillotine at a spot still shown in Gibbet lane.

PRINCE RUPERT

"Canada's Golden Gate"

The work of transforming Prince Rupert into a modern terminus of a trans continental railway is proceeding rapidly, the Grand Trunk Pacific is devoting all its energy to getting its terminal facilities ready for the opening of the line in 1914. Settlers are flocking into the adjacent fertile valleys. Industries are starting which will employ a large number of men. In short, Prince Rupert is the centre of the greatest activity in the development of Northern British Columbia.

DO YOU WANT TO SHARE IN THIS PROSPERITY?

If so, here is your chance for a safe investment

An investment company is now in the hands of the Continental Trust Company, Ltd., of Prince Rupert, for incorporation, with the objects of

BUYING, SELLING, AND IMPROVING

Prince Rupert city property. It will be incorporated for $100,000, divided into one hundred thousand shares of the par value of $1 each and the shares will be sold at that price.

Stock in a similar organization formed in Prince Rupert is now worth three times its initial selling price, and no stock can be obtained.

A great number of houses and buildings of all kinds are required to take care of the rapid increase in population. THIS IS WHERE WE COME IN. We will provide homes for the incoming families.

Fortunes have been made in other western cities on this identical plan, and stock in similar companies is increasing in value and at the same time paying large dividends.

Reservations for stock are now being made. We want you to become a Stockholder. Subscriptions of $10 or more are being received.

If you will fill out the accompanying coupon and send it to us we will mail you complete information, with booklet descriptive of Prince Rupert DO IT TO-DAY!

VOTERS' LIST, 1912.

Notice is hereby given that I have transmitted or delivered to the persons mentioned in Sections 5 and 6 of the Ontario Voters' Lists Act, 1889, the copies required by said section to be so transmitted or delivered of the List, made pursuant to said Act, of all persons appearing by the said revised Assessment Roll of the said Municipality to be entitled to vote in the said Municipality at Elections for Members of the Legislative Assembly and at Municipal Elections; and that said list was first posted up at my office at Apsley on the 8th day of August, 1912, and remains there for inspection.

Electors are called upon to examine the said List, and if any omissions or any other errors are found therein, to take immediate proceedings to have the said errors corrected according to law.

Dated Aug. 10th, 1912.

WM. GALLON,
Clerk, Burleigh and Anstruther

A Dog Pepys Saw.

On Sept. 11, 1661, Mr. Pepys made this entry: "To Dr. Williams, who did carry me into his garden, where he hath abundance of grapes, and he did show me a dog that he hath to kill all the cats that come thither to kill his pigeons, and do afterwards bury them and do it with so much care that they shall be quite covered; that if the tip of the tail hangs out he will take up the cat again and dig the hole deeper. Which is very strange, and he tells me that he do believe that he hath killed above 100 cats."

Intensive Culture.

Intensive agriculture is producing some startling results in Britain. In an official account of tomato growing recently issued, it is stated that 20 acres produced over 600 tons, at a value of about $4,000 per acre, or a total of $80,000 for the crop. Even allowing for a market that precludes the entry of canning factories, which are so important a factor here, it is quite evident from these figures that the Canadian farmer is in the kindergarten class in this line of industry.

POSTOFFICE STORIES.

Mr. Herbert Samuel In a Reminiscent Mood.

There is no Member of the House of Commons who appreciates a good story more than Mr. Herbert Samuel, British Postmaster-General, and he rarely makes a speech without including in it one or two anecdotes concerning his duties at St. Martin's le Grand. Last year, for instance, while talking of cablegrams in the House of Commons, he related the following as an example of episcopal economy. He said there was an archbishop who had a code of his own. He cabled from abroad: "John, Epistle III., 13 and 14." His friends looked up the reference in the Bible, and found the following words:

"I had many things to write, but I will not with ink and pen write unto thee: But I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speak face to face. Peace be to thee. Our friends salute thee. Greet the friends by name."

In connection with the postoffice savings bank department, Mr. Samuel tells the following story. There was one depositor who had exhausted his account, but who appealed to the controller to send his account book back because it cheered him, in his poverty to see how much his deposit once had been. Another depositor wrote that, although he was a Welshman and a veteran Radical, he was respectably connected and well known for his integrity.

The best of Mr. Samuel's stories, perhaps, is the following. A woman who had to fill in a claim on behalf of a son was asked to state on a form whether she had a husband living, and her answer was, "Living, but insignificant."

The Postmaster-General, it might be mentioned, likes his little joke, and it was on the occasion of the opening of a new postoffice at Margate that he announced that on that special occasion he himself would serve the first lot of stamps, which would be sold at thirteen for a shilling. A lady at once asked for the increased number, and was served by the Postmaster-General with eleven 1d. and two 1-2d. stamps.

Another good story told by Mr. Samuel concerns an occasion when he arrived during an election campaign at a certain town to address a meeting. He was somewhat late. "I saw a working man whom I knew," says Mr. Samuel, "lounging at the doorway of the hall, while from within came a continuous and earnest bellowing. 'Do you know who's speaking?' I asked my friend. 'Or haven't you been in?' 'Oh, yes, I've been in,' said he. 'Mr. A—— is speaking.' 'What about?' I inquired. My friend sighed and shook his head. 'He didn't say,' he answered."

RIBBON UPSET A STATE.

The Undecorated Minister Resigned and the Government Fell.

Many interesting side lights on a court and the unexpected trials and troubles incident to it from which republics are free are given in William Miller Collier's book of reminiscences of his days as minister to the Spanish court, "At the Court of His Catholic Majesty." That a government should fall as the result of a ribbon bestowed for a purely ceremonial purpose seems rather absurd, but, says Mr. Collier:

"It is a historical fact that not many years ago a certain minister of the marine in one of the European countries resigned because the ruler of a foreign country, on the occasion of his visit to its capital, gave him a certain rank in a certain order and gave a higher rank to his colleague, the minister of war. The minister of marine contended that it was an insult to his country's navy and the fact that he received the rank which the rule required in such cases and that the minister of war had received a higher rank only because the lower rank had been given him previously made no difference to the aggrieved minister.

"In his opinion his own government in not demanding that the foreign government give him also the higher rank in this foreign order had permitted its navy to be insulted, and so he resigned, and the government fell. Thus does the fate of nations hang not on threads, but on ribbons."

FISH FEATHERS.

An Epicure's Dish and the Way to Trap the Makings.

The young man did not know what he wanted to eat. His appetite was poor. His palate must be tempted and tickled. He scanned the menu card again and again. Finally, with a sigh of resignation, he said to the waiter:

"Bring me some fish feathers."

"Fish feathers?" exclaimed the astonished waiter.

"Yes; fish feathers! And I want 'em tonight, not next week!"

The waiter retired for a conference with the chef, the captain and the floor manager.

"No such dish here," was his report. "There ain't any such thing. There never was such a dish in New York."

The young man arose and sighed again.

"That's what I've been told by every waiter in New York," he remarked sadly. "But if you will drop a line to the commissioner of fisheries in Washington he will correct your mistake, enlighten your ignorance, project a shaft of thought into that granite which grows above your shoulders."

He sighed a third time, stretched himself slowly and added:

"The commissioner will tell you that fish feathers are a delicacy. They are taken from flying fish. You catch flying fish with salt water on their tails."

Then he went gloomily into the night. —Popular Magazine.

Swordsmanship Against a Tiger.

Sir James Outram, known as the Bayard of India, was a "mighty hunter" and an accomplished swordsman. He once performed the hazardous feat of killing a tiger with his sword and from the back of his horse. General Nicholson performed a similar feat. He rode round and round the tiger at a gallop, gradually narrowing the circle until at last he was near enough to deliver his blow. He had only the one blow and if he had failed would have been slain. The explanation of the feat is that the tiger does not spring upon the horseman during the circling process because he is watching his opportunity. As the circle draws closer and closer upon him he becomes bewildered by the strange maneuver, so unlike that of any hunter he has ever encountered.

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Memorial Concert.

The concert to be given by the Salvation Army band in Victoria Park this evening will be memorial in its nature and appropriate selections will be rendered.

Gets Seven Months.

Frank Prosovitch, an Austrian, was sentenced by Judge Huycke yesterday morning to the Central Prison for a term of seven months for pointing a revolver and evading an arrest.

Burdocks Plentiful.

A citizen stated to The Times yesterday that the burdocks were prominent on a good many streets in town. The burrs were in condition now to adhere to the clothes. There are by far too many weed gardens on the roadsides and vacant lots.

Parliamentary Party Back.

The Parliamentary party which went north on the Bessie Butler on Friday last returned yesterday by train to their several homes. The Bessie Butler is working its way down the canal, and is expected in Peterborough to-day.

Regatta for Children.

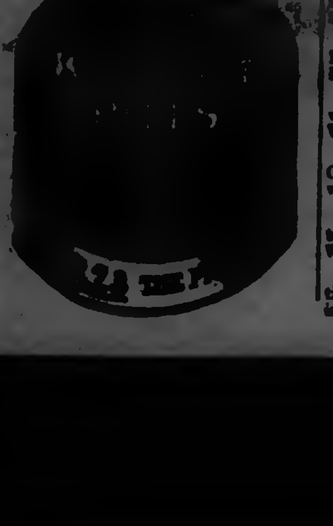
Arrangements for the Chemong Regatta for children of 16 and under, has been completed. The events will commence at 1.30 sharp. The list includes, running races, sack races, jumping, canoe races, swimming races, etc. There is no admission.

Pool Room Ruckus.

Wm. Lavery, Jr., who caused trouble in a pool room on Saturday night, and as the proprietor alleged, damaged a table when he hurled a cuspidor in that vicinity, was fined $2 and costs at the police court yesterday. William will probably confine his furniture-breaking propensity to his own house hereafter.

Broke His Leg.

Archie Long, a brakeman on the C.P.R., while mounting a caboose at the C.P.R. station yesterday morning slipped and broke his leg. He was carried inside the caboose and Dr. Young was called and attended to the injury. Comstock's ambulance was sent for and the injured man was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. Long belongs to Havelock.



"I Sleep Soundly, Feel Like New"

All Who Lack Vigor, Those Who are Dispirited and Worn out, Should Read This Carefully.

"I am only thirty years old, yet for almost two years I have felt more like seventy-five. I have found it difficult to sleep at night, and in the morning felt so depressed and heavy that effort was difficult. My hands were always clammy and perspiration on slight effort would break out all over me. It was not unnatural that I should begin to brood over the chance that I should be unfit to do my work, and this dread made my sleepless nights perfect misery. After repeated trials of medicines and mixtures, Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me the first gleam of hope. From the very first I could see they were different in action from other pills. They didn't gripe and acted as naturally as if nature and not the pills were cleansing my clogged-up system. My spirits rose. I felt much better. The sluggish action of the system gave way to normal activity. Dizziness and headaches ceased, appetite, good color and ambition to work returned, and have remained. I am like a new man and I thank Dr. Hamilton's Pills for it all."

This was the experience of J. E. Parkhurst, a well known grocery dealer in Jefferson. Follow his advice, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for your stomach, kidneys and liver, and you'll enjoy long life and robust good health. All druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, 5 boxes for $1.00, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Veteran's Grant Received.

The $100 cheques for the Fenian Raid veterans are being received here. Messrs. J. B. McWilliams and J. J. Davidson have each received their hundred. The others will likely also arrive in a few days.

Apples Not Plentiful.

Mr. Thos. Connolly, of Lindsay, a well known apple buyer, say that instead of being plentiful as stated by several newspapers, apples will be exceedingly scarce this year. In sections, Mr. Connolly states, where he secured 1500 barrels he will not be able to get 500 barrels this year.

Lost His Watch.

A man named Wm. Armstrong, repeated his booze experience a few days ago, and was run in by the police yesterday morning. He was assessed $2 by Magistrate Dumble. He lost his watch during his debauch, and for a few minutes it looked as though William would be obliged to take the "hill" until a friend produced the collateral, when he was allowed to go.

Will Not Use Black.

The Salvation Army will not use black in connection with the death of General Booth. One of the good features of the Army is their belief that death is the beginning of a better existence, and should be looked upon with gratification rather than gloom. At any rate no persons are entitled to impose their grief upon others, or lessen the joyfulness of others by the intrusion of their hideously ugly drapings.

At the Grand Opera House.

The engagement of Paul Gilmore and Associate Players at the Grand Opera House, beginning, Saturday, Aug. 31st, will present the actor-manager in a big dominant role of the type which play-goers have learned to associate with his name. "The Havoc" is a tense, gripping drama, built upon the story of a duel of wits between an injured husband and a treacherous guest in his home. The big role of the play, the husband, offers one of the most convincing characters seen on the stage in recent years and is played by Mr. Gilmore with quiet power and tense nervous force. By the sheer power of his acting he dominates the powerful dramatic situations of "The Havoc" with perfect ease, and during the scenes that are softened by brilliant ironic comedy he makes the author's satiric lines snap and sparkle and burn by his quick, crisp, nervous decisive tones.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Special Train Service, Toronto Exhibition, Wednesday, Aug. 28th. A special train will leave Peterborough at 2.40 p.m., arrive Toronto 5 p.m. Cheap rates this week, Aug. 27th and 28th, $1.90, other days $2.20. W. McIlroy, Agent.

Miss Ethel Mulligan, of the London Business College, London, Ont., who has been the guest of Mrs. Bolton, 507 Bethune street, has returned home.

Mr. Vernon Spilsbury is spending his holidays at Toronto and Buffalo.

Mr. John Williams, who has been with the Light and Power Co., for the last 13 years, leaves on Wednesday for Calgary to join his family who have been in that part of the country the last four years. Mr. Williams will take up street railway work in Calgary.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Troop No. 4, East City Boy Scouts met last night to drill in preparation for the Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. Jas. O'Toole, of Perry street, had his arm severely crushed, while working at the C.G.E. yesterday morning, and he will in all probability he will lose it. Dr. Young was called and he was removed to Nicholls Hospital.

AUTOS MUST NOT PASS STREET CARS

When Cars are Stationary and Passenger Alighting.

The attention of automobile drivers and owners is called by Chief Thompson to the amendment which was made to the Ontario Statutes, and refers to the movement of automobiles when travelling near street cars.

"When a motor vehicle meets or overtakes a street car which is stationary for the purpose of taking on or discharging passengers, the motor vehicle shall not pass the car on the side of the street on which passengers get off, or continue until the car has started, and all passengers who have alighted shall have gotten safely to the side of the street."

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT HERE

His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, passed through Peterborough on his way to Toronto on Monday evening, where he formerly opened the Toronto Exhibition yesterday. He was accompanied by the Duchess and Princess Patricia.

The Royal party were carried in a special train of four drawing room cars and two baggage cars.

WILL NOT CONTEST THE ASTOR WILL

New York, Aug. 24.—A formal statement given out by counsel for Mrs. Madeline Force Astor in reply to persistent reports that a contest of the will of John Jacob Astor is being contemplated, says:

Mrs. Astor has always expressed entire satisfaction with the provisions made for her by her late husband. She has not now nor has ever had any desire or intention to dispute the validity of the ante-nuptial agreements or the will, and as for setting aside the will, any lawyer of the slightest experience would not advise that it could be done. All the provisions strictly conform to the laws of the State. In reference to the article of the will providing for posthumous children, it must be said that while the fund of $3,000,000 seems to be rather small in view of the large estate Colonel Astor left and as compared with that which Vincent Astor will receive, it is, nevertheless, a large fortune and ample for the heir's maintenance and education. It is likely, moreover, that this trust estate will quadruple by the time the child is 21 years old."

On account of the birth of the son to Mrs. Astor it will be necessary for the executors of the estate to offer the will again for probate, in order to comply with the clause providing for a bequest to a posthumous heir. This, it is stated, was required in order to give full title in case of any of the property was disposed of.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

TO IMPROVE ALL ELECTRIC WIRING

A very important feature of house and residence building, is that the electric wiring shall be put in properly and thoroughly insulated. The Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association are particularly insistent that all wiring shall conform to approved standard and have appointed Mr. J. A. File, of 280 George street as their electrical inspector for the city.

Mr. File is extremely well qualified for the work and thoroughly in touch with conditions of safe wiring and installation.

Applications for inspections should be made to Mr. File, and forms, rules, etc., can also be had, and builders and users of electric energy are asked to co-operate, all in the general intent of the public safety.

The fees are moderate, and such as may be paid by any householder or occupant, and the inspection and tests may be relied on when made by Mr. File.

LINDSAY BUSINESS MAN DROWNED

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Herbert C. Smyth, of Lindsay, who came to Toronto on Saturday to attend a reunion of the Smyth family at the home of his brother, 395 Albany avenue, was found dead in his bedroom early yesterday morning. Heart trouble was the cause of death.

The family reunion on Saturday was attended by brothers from all parts of Canada, one coming from Halifax. It was about 8.30 yesterday morning when one of the others in the house went to wake Mr. Smyth, and found him dead in his room. Dr. W. T. Williams of Bathurst street was called, and notified the chief coroner, who decided that no inquest was necessary.

Mr. Smith was 48 years old, and married. He was one of the best known citizens of Lindsay. The body will be sent to Lindsay to-morrow morning.

SERIOUS COAL SHORTAGE IS EXPECTED NEXT WINTER

One-Tenth Less Than the Normal Supply—Independent Operators Are Already Selling At a Premium o 25 Cents a Ton and Upward

New York, Aug. 27.—Officers of the New York Coal Merchants' Association are agreed that there will be a serious shortage of coal throughout the East this winter, no matter how much is mined during the next two months. The suspension of mining in April and May, it is declared, will be, under the most favorable conditions, a supply one-tenth less than normal this winter.

Independent operators, who are not bound by the schedule prices of the coal carrying companies, have begun to sell anthracite at a premium of 25 cents a ton and upward. The officers of the Coal Merchants' Association insist, however, that there is no necessity for becoming alarmed, because the anthracite will be distributed in such a way that there will be no serious distress.

ALLEGED EXISTENCE OF MEAT COMBINE IN THE DOMINION

Will Be Investigated—Convention of Canadian Municipalities at Windsor Will Take Matter Up

Toronto, Aug. 27.—The alleged existence of a meat combine operating in Toronto and other portions of the Dominion will be brought before the convention of Canadian Municipalities at Windsor on Thursday by Controller Hocken representing the city and a memorial will be presented asking for the appointment of a Royal Commission to "thoroughly investigate the sion to "thoroughly investigate the whole meat question in the Dominion of Canada, with a view to the Government taking such measures as may be deemed necessary to prevent the illegitimate restraint of trade by the use of improper methods affecting the price of meat."

The memorial was submitted to the Board of Control this morning and at the suggestion of Controller Foster it will be made to include the cold storage question and the high prices of butter, eggs, poultry and other food product.

THREE-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLS HIS BABY SISTER

North Cobalt, Aug. 27.—Pouring a quantity of carbolic acid into the mouth of his eleven-months-old sister, the three-year-old son of Shirley Clarke caused the death of the baby yesterday. The mother was out of the room at the time, but the stifled cries of the child was heard and a physician was speedily called.

WOMEN IN EUROPE ARE ACTIVE IN EVENTS CALLING FOR STRENGTH, SKILL AND STAMINA

While a lot has been said and printed about the wonders performed by men athletes who were crowned with laurel at Stockholm, the women who took part in the games there have been regarded as a sort of side issue. It will be seen from accompanying illustrations that in Europe generally the fair sex is taking interest in events that call for strength, skill and stamina. The picture showing women putting a hurt man into an ambulance, while not essentially a picture with an athletic flavor, is one that suggests the big place women are willing to take in the world's work. The photograph shows nursing in a yeomanry camp in England. The four women already have dressed the wounds of their patient and are putting "the case" into a vehicle for transportation to a hospital.

ENGLISH GRAIN CROPS RUINED CANADA TO SAVE SITUATION

Deluge of Rain Causes Loss in Britain Estimated at $100 000,000—Dominion's Surplus Will Supply Need at High Prices

London, Aug. 27.—The deluge of rain was renewed with increased severity in most parts of England yesterday. In some places rain has been falling continuously 48 hours. More than half an inch fell in London Monday, the downpour lasting for nine hours, which means that the remarkable total of more than 3,750,000 tons of water deluged the country around London before 10 a.m.

For twelve hours yesterday Norwich was swept by a rain storm of unparalleled violence, in the course of which a fall of six inches was recorded. This eclipses all previous records in the British Isles.

There seems to be no immediate prospect of improvement in conditions. The outlook is extremely grave for agriculturists. Crops are rotting in the ground. The records show this to be the wettest August since 1881.

Crops Are Ruined.

This is the crucial time for crops. Unless at least a fortnight of good sunny weather gives crops a chance to ripen and be gathered the English harvest will be a total failure. Under the best conditions the crop will be only fair in quality, while it will be far below the average.

It is estimated that the continuance of rains and the untoward weather of the last week has cost British farmers close to $100,000,000, in the destruction of crops, and another fortnight of the same kind of weather will mean a total loss of a quarter of a billion dollars.

The English wheat market is now depending on America's prospects. The crop reports from Canada and the United States are watched anxiously, as it is certain that large imports from these countries this year will be needed.

Prices to Be High.

The total sales of wheat in the London market last week was only 18,500 quarters, at an average price of 35 shillings and sixpence, as compared with 105,600 quarters, at an average price of 31 shillings and eightpence during the same week last year. The prospects of good crops in Canada and the United States, with a large surplus for export, have held the prices down so far, and America is looked to to save the situation in England.

CLEAR, COOL, WEATHER FOR SOME DAYS TO COME IS PROMISED

Clear, cool weather for some days to come is promised by the man who runs the weather. Monday's storm is supposed to have been the grand finale of the rainy spell that Peterborough has enjoyed for so long. It has disappeared entirely, and to-day the barometer stands high, with no danger of another deluge for a few days at least. Monday night's storm went East, visiting Quebec, and is hovering over the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland. The extent of Monday's rain was but little more than a quarter of an inch (.26), although those who had to walk home are sure it was inches deep.

The sudden drop in the temperature came around midnight. Weather of yesterday's type is scheduled for weeks ahead, but the man with the telescope is sure of it for a few days.

HOW TO GET FLYLESS WORLD

Newton, Mass., Aug. 27.—A practically flyless world is promised by C. T. Switzler, of Newton, if all garbage pails are equipped with an oiled bag which he has invented within refuse cans. The idea is patentable, according to the inventor, but he "hates flies so himself" he is willing to let the world know about it.

Boston Health Department officials and those of a dozen surrounding small cities and towns, gathered in a Back Bay alley to-day to watch the collection of garbage from cans filled with oiled bags two days ago. Switzler pointed out millions of eggs deposits, the eggs being "dead" from oil fumes.

WEST COMING INTO ITS OWN

AT BIG PARTY PIC-NIC

Sir Richard McBride, Premier of British Columbia, Points to the Changed Attitude Taken at Ottawa—Naval Policy Will Satisfy The People.

In every way a success, the fifth annual picnic of the Conservatives of Victoria was held yesterday at Goldstream, and was attended by some five thousand persons, young, old and middle-aged. Sir Richard McBride was present and made a speech which in its optimism fitly put the climax to a day marked by the utmost buoyancy of spirit and enthusiasm as to the present and future of the city, the province, and the party.

The grounds were decorated with flags and banners, and several mottoes were strung about. One of these bid "Welcome to Our Premier" and in another the "Conservatives of Victoria Bid Welcome to All." Another bore the sentiment which animated all there "Unity of Empire: One Flag, One Navy!"

Shortly before three o'clock Sir Richard McBride, who was accompanied by Hon. Thomas Taylor, arrived by motor car from the city. He was loudly cheered as he drove up, and greeted by the bands of the Fifth Regiment and the Victoria Pipers' Band. As his motor entered the grounds hats were thrown in the air and cheer after cheer followed. The premier moved about for some time, greeting old friends with the heartiness which marks all his relations with the people of the Province.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., said it was a source of gratification to him as a believer in woman suffrage to see so many women present and taking an interest in the success of the Conservative party. The reason he had come West was because if a member of parliament did not know something about the west [illegible] he did not know anything. [illegible] French-Canadian member [illegible] remarked to him: "All de tam spik de wes." All who came west found their ideas enlarged, found the country beautiful and great, with tremendous possibilities. The east and west would always be one, and the west would endeavour in every way to forward the prosperity of this province and that of the middle west. "I am proud to see you keep the old flag unfurled," continued Mr. Burnham, "to know that the Imperial sentiment is so strong." The question

SUFFRAGETTES CHECK BABIES AND PARADE

Columbus, Ohio, Aub. 27.—A pretty woman, dressed in white, with short skirts, small hat, and stout walking shoes, stepped up to an attendant at the checking booth, handed over a small bundle of humanity and in return received an oblong piece of pasteboard on which was the number 277.

The woman was a suffragette. She was checking her baby that she might participate in the big suffragette parade, the important feature of the Ohio-Columbus centennial.

Hundreds of other women, who are battling for the right to vote in Ohio, followed her example. The parade was led by women famous througeout America.

CHECK CLUE TO MURDER

Newark, Aug. 27.—That Miss Julia Curran, victim of the mysterious Hotel Boulevard murder, was in New York within three days after she was supposed to have started to Canada in an automobile, and for a week before her death, was learned to-day by a baggage check. Police found the claim check in the woman's hand-bag which she carried into the hotel, and at Grand Central Station then found a valise, which Miss Curran deposited there August 14.

Detectives working on the case were at a loss to account for the woman's whereabouts during the week, for her sister, Mrs. John Kimmons, did not know she was there, and all efforts to communicate with Mrs. Wm. S. Smith, who employed Miss Curran as a companion, and with whom she was supposed to have gone to Canada, had failed.

ANTI-TOXIN TO MAKE RACE IMMUNE TO TUBERCULOSIS

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 27.—The scientists at the Johns Hopkins' Hospital are of the belief that an anti-taxin has been discovered that may make the human race immune to tuberculosis. For a long time Dr. Louis Hamman and Dr. Charles. F. Austrian have been working on a virus, and for several months have been experimenting on rabbits. About sux months ago a rabbit was inoculated with the anti-toxin, and later was given an injection of tuberculosis germs. At the end of a month the rabbit showed no signs of ill-health. On the contrary, its appetite improved, and it took on weight.

Naturally, the formula of the anti-toxin is a great secret with Drs. Hamman and Austrian. The latter has gone to Germany to further his great discovery.

COMPLAINT AGAINST GARBAGE DEPOSITS MADE

Garbage Collector A. H. Downer, was charged in the police court yesterday with depositing offensive refuse on Water street, in violation of a city ordinance. Residents of the street were complainants.

Mr. Downer maintained that he is abiding by the agreement. After a number of witnesses had been examined on both sides the magistrate suspended judgment.

THREE ONTARIO FARMERS DROWN.

Englehart, Aug. [illegible]—A triple drowning accident [illegible] at Mud Lake, near [illegible], when three farmers, Groom[illegible], Phillips and Levy, were capsized from a canoe. The bodies were recovered. The men were fishing and a heavy breeze struck the bow of the canoe, overturning it.

LIGHTNING SET FIRE TO BED CLOTHING

Alviston, Ont., Aug. 27.—During Sunday night's severe electrical storm lightning entered the window of the house of William Johnstone, a farmer, on Concession nine, and set fire to the clothing of a bed occupied by two of Mr. Johnstone's daughters.

The girls made a hasty exit, and managed to put out the flames before any further damage was done.

SIR WILFRID — "Apparently a very dead issue."

BRIGANDS ATTACK A TRAIN IN CHINA

Several Passengers and Train Hands Wounded in Hail of Bullets

Hong Kong, Aug. 27.—Several hundreds of Chinese brigands to-day attacked a running train at Fayuen on the line from Canton to Hankow. The engineer, in spite of a hail of bullets, refused to put on the brakes. Several of the train crew and passengers were wounded and the cars were considerably damaged.

When the train reached the market town of Ngwo it was found impossible to proceed farther, as the rails had been torn up.

The town itself had been completely sacked by the brigands, many of whom are discharged soldiers. They are increasing in numbers and temerity daily.

There is much alarm among the village and country populations, and troops have been hurriedly despatched to the scene from Canton.

TO HONOR DEAD CHIEF

Local Salvationists Will Hold Memorial Services for Late General Booth To-night.

The Salvation Army Hall, on Simcoe street has been artistically draped inside and out, as a token of respect for the memory of the late General Booth. They only colors shown are white and purple, the one the mourning emblem of the Army, which looks on the bright side of death, a transfer to a better land; the other used to signify that the dead chieftain had passed into the dreams of eternal royalty.

Every officer and member of the Army in Peterborough, is requested to report at Victoria Park to-night about 7 o'clock. A procession will be formed and headed by the band, playing appropriate airs, the Salvationists will march slowly through the streets to the hall where memorial service will be held.

Mayor Bradburn has consented to attend the meeting and other prominent business men and civic officials will be present, as well as some local clergymen.

At noon on Thursday, special prayer service will be held in the hall, the hour corresponding with the hour when the remains of General Booth will be lowered into the grave.

EXCESSIVE SPEED IN MOTORIN

Nothing is more common on countri roads, where chauffeurs fancy themselves secure from official observation, than driving motor cars at a speed which daily experience proves to be perilous to their occupants. It seems impossible to convince drivers that they are momentarily endangering their own and other people's lives. They are apparently intoxicated with the exhilaration of mere speed, and they seem to forget altogether how little it takes to make even a heavy car turn turtle with a completeness and a suddenness that leaves to the merest chance the issue of death or life. The motorists themselves, as a body, might do much to suppress this evil, but they apparently shrink from exerting what influence they have.—Toronto Globe.

WELL PEOPLE TOO.

Wise Doctor Gives Postum to Convalescents.

A wise doctor tries to give nature its best chance by saving the little strength of the already exhausted patient, and building up wasted energy with simple, but powerful nourishment.

"Five years ago," writes a doctor, "I commenced to use Postum in my own family instead of coffee." (It's a well-known fact that tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.) "I was so well pleased with the results that I had two grocers place it in stock, guaranteeing its sale.

"I then commenced to recommend it to my patients in place of coffee, as a nutritious beverage. The consequence is, every store in town is now selling it, as it has become a household necessity in many homes.

"I'm sure I prescribe Postum as often as any one remedy in the Materia Medica—in almost every case of indigestion and nervousness I treat, and with the best results.

"When I once introduce it into a family it is quite sure to remain. I shall continue to use it and prescribe it in families where I practice.

"In convalescence from pneumonia, typhoid fever and other cases I give it as a liquid, easily absorbed diet. You may use my letter as a reference any way you see fit."

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company, Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario, Manager, 49 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 380 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit? If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

The Game of Life.

The game we are all playing is a losing game at best. Yet we must play. We cannot get up and leave the table knowing the dice are cogged and the cards marked against us. We must play on, losing our principal stake little by little or in splendid rouleaux, as chance or our disposition may urge, but knowing well that in the end, soon or late, whatever remains of it will be swept from the board. Lucky the man who is tempted to play out the one stake. Happy the man who in death loses only his life.—F. P. Dunne in American Magazine.

FAR DISTANT URANUS.

Oddities a Visit to This Gigantic Planet Would Disclose.

If Uranus, which is a star of about the sixth magnitude, were a planet like those little ones called asteroids, which are being discovered by the dozen every year, it could not have much claim upon popular attention, but Uranus is really a gigantic world, more than sixty times as large as ours. Its vast distance, about 1,700,000,000 miles from the earth, is what causes it to look so small.

Uranus has four moons, which revolve backward in their orbits—that is to say, they revolve from east to west around Uranus, while Uranus goes, like all the other planets, from west to east around the sun. It is believed that Uranus rotates backward on its axis also. Moreover, the axis of that great, strange globe lies in such a direction that in the course of its year, which is equal to eighty-four of our years, the sun shines almost perpendicularly first upon one pole and then upon the other.

Measured by our time standard, there are forty years of constant daylight, followed by forty years of unbroken night, around the poles of Uranus, and the sun rises in the west and sets in the east there, but the sun looks very small when viewed from Uranus—only one four-hundredth as large as it appears to us. Still it sheds upon that planet 1,500 times as much light as the full moon sends to the earth, so that daylight upon Uranus, while faint compared with the blaze of a terrestrial noonday, is nevertheless a very respectable kind of illumination.

SOCIETY'S HUSTLER.

Mrs. Geo. Cornwallis-West Possesses Great Versatility.

No man was more fortunate in his choice of parents than Mr. Winston Churchill, the First Lord of the Admiralty. From his father, the late Lord Randolph Churchill, he has certainly inherited his political genius, while to his mother, who married Mr. Cornwallis-West in 1900—five years after the death of Lord Randolph Churchill — he owes that remarkable energy and thoroughness which have characterized his political career.

Mrs. Cornwallis-West has often been described as one of the most witty and brilliant women of to-day; but she is more than that. She is a woman possessing such keen business acumen and powers of organization that a well-known American showman, who recently visited the great Shakespearean Exhibition which she has organized at Earl's Court, described her as "the greatest lady hustler that ever came out of Hustlerville. She's as full of ideas as a cake is full of plums," he concluded.

Mrs. George Cornwallis-West is not one of those women who are content to pose as mere figureheads in connection with any schemes with which their names may be associated. The manner in which, years ago, she helped to establish the Primrose League, edited the Anglo-Saxon Review, and organized and fitted out the hospital ship Maine, which was donated by American women in England to the service of the army during the Boer War, and went herself as an active worker in its wards, are but three illustrations of the way in which this remarkable society woman throws herself whole-heartedly into any work in which she may be interested.

The Shakespeare Festival at Earl's Court, however, provides the most striking illustration of her wonderful capabilities. The idea of reproducing at Earl's Court the life in Shakespeare's England in order to raise money for a national memorial to the Bard of Avon, and to wake up the public in view of the Shakespeare tercentenary of 1916, was entirely hers. But she was not content with merely thinking out the idea. The whole of the buildings of the exhibition were designed according to her suggestions, and she it was who really transformed Earl's Court into a picturesque Elizabethan town, with streets and shops, churches, inns, theatres, and quays, as in Shakespeare's time.

Of course, Mrs. Cornwallis-West has been assisted by a committee, but some idea of her energy may be gathered from the fact that during the early days of the exhibition she was at Earl's Court every morning at eleven, and even now is to be found almost every day at a charming Tudor house in the grounds at Earl's Court which she has been obliged to make her home in order to be constantly on the spot for any work which may be required. For there is no one who has a greater belief in the up-to-date maxim, "Do it now," than Mrs. Cornwallis-West. And no matter how small the undertaking may be, or how minute the detail, she does not rest content until everything is arranged to her satisfaction.

It is impossible to found a lasting power upon injustice and treachery.—Demosthenes.

THE C. P. R.'s SIXTY MILLION ISSUE.

The proposal of the Canadian Pacific Railway to issue additional stock for the purpose of securing funds to meet the extraordinary demands being made upon the Company by the West for better shipping facilities, seems to have raised a sort of "tempest in a teapot." It cannot be denied that the country is developing at a rate that makes more railways necessary, especially in the West, where the protest against what some of the editors are pleased to call the "cutting of the mellow" is the strongest. A writer in a Toronto paper put it very tersely. The C.P.R. needs more money than its surplus profits will allow. It needs at once $60,000,000 and you can only buy money, in the same way you buy potatoes—and at $1.75 the buyers are getting only between 5 and 6 per cent with plenty of good stock going begging paying 6 to 7 per cent.

But people say, let the C.P.R. issue the stock to shareholders at market price—say $275 for a 10 per cent stock But many shareholders would buy at that price. Look at the Consumer Gas—a safe 10 per cent stock auctioned off at 192 or even less, because the public who save money expect 6 to 7 per cent when the demand for money exceeds the supply. Money is dear; so are potatoes.

Then, every one who saves money, and sells it, is a capitalist and he is a miser if he only hoards it.

If the C. P. R. want money it must buy in the cheapest market, that of the shareholders. If it auctioned off its new stock, $60,000,000, the stock would drop to $200 or less—and then it is doubtful if it would get all the money it wants—people expect 6 to 7 per cent.

People forget in fairness that between the public demand for lower rates and the never ending demand by the railroad men for higher wages and shorter hours to which means employing more help. The railroads generally are facing bankruptcy in the years to come, and because C. P. R., with its millions in land bonus and cash bonus, is prosperous, it must not be forgotten that what the C.P.R. can stand in the way of higher wages and lower rates, weaker roads like the C. N. R. and G. T. P. cannot stand, without crippling their development and that of the country.

The United States railroads to-day are facing bankruptcy, if the demands of the engine men, train men, etc. are granted, and yet the public won't hear of higher rates to meet the demands of the men for higher wages.

The newspapers and politicians who are dealing out these protests so liberally will surely, when they come to look at the matter, change their tactics and afford the C. P. R. a fair measure of fair play.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Careful cultivation of a sense of humor may some day enable this great family journal to see the joke when an actor says "damn" but we don't get it yet.

The contention of the Chicago police matron that big husbands are the brutes from her observation of many wrecked homes, does not hold water in these high-cost-of-living days. They eat more than the little fellows.

The future of all Canada throughout the coming twelvemonth depends on the weather of the next few days. Should a sharp frost fall, the whole real estate boom and immigration enthusiasm would fall with it. Stocks and securities would slump while the cost of living would again advance. National financial depression would be the result of any weather disaster that should be general. With relief and thankfulness we read each day that another of the few remaining days necessary to complete the work has passed without mishap.

There went west on the Grand Trunk Railway's second harvest excursion on Tuesday, August 20th, four special trains carrying 3,000 prospective laborers to do their share in harvesting the giant crop. This excursion was from Toronto and Ontario parts and the above figures constitute a considerable increase over those of last year from the same territory. The next G.T.R. excursion for the west leaves to-morrow morning and the traffic will it is expected, be still heavier than was the case last week.

Mr. H. E. D. McTaggart, superintendent of the Buffalo Park at Wainwright, a Grand Trunk Pacific divisional point, reports that no less than 250 buffalo calves have been added to the herd this year, increasing the number of animals in the reserve to nearly 1,200. The increase in the number of calves over last year is estimated at 25 per cent, while the death rate has been remarkably low. All of the buffalo are in a very healthy condition, and are becoming exceedingly tame. On driving through the park, in fact, they refuse to remove from the trail so that it is necessary to drive around them. The report states, however, that several have recently given indications of an ugly disposition, though this is attributed to the fact that the animals are now mating.

That Terrible Fatigue Can Be Overcome

A Simple Home Remedy Now Cures Lack of Energy, Loss of Ambition and a Feeling of "Don't Care."

Successful in Nearly Every Case.

That miserable, nervous and half-sick, tired-all-the-time condition is due nine cases in ten to a clogged-up system. You grow irritable and despondent, you lack ambition, energy seems all gone. Surest road to health is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they will make you feel like new all over in a short time.

Writing from his home in Barcelona, Mr. Frederick G. Mayer states: "I think no one ever suffered as severely as I did for nearly six months. So many serious symptoms were developing as a consequence of this evil condition of my system that I realized I must find a remedy. The strong pills of various kinds I tried seemed after their first effects were over to make me far worse, and I did not know which way to turn for relief. I saw Dr. Hamilton's Pills advertised, and the first box used satisfied me. I found a true remedy. Instead of griping with undue activity, Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted as naturally as if physic had not been taken. I never had to increase the dose and, indeed, within a month I reduced it, and when the system finally acted of its own accord as a result of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I took a dose twice a week only, just to make sure the old condition would not come back."

No other remedy cures constipation and biliousness so easily or safely as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are an ideal family remedy for all diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold in 25c. boxes, five for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

of the day is not wheat, nor money, but the preservation of the Empire" Mr. Burnham referred to Mr. Harry Barnard as a clear-headed and a determined member, determined to get what he could for his constituency, and succeeding as no other member had succeeded by getting five million dollars for the betterment of the harbor at Victoria.

Sir Richard Speaks.

"Mr. Tait, ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls, I am very glad indeed to be back again with the Conservative organization of Victoria on this their fifth picnic. I recall the first venture in this direction which our local organization undertook in 1907 and the fact that there assembled at Sidney a larger and more representative crowd than some of our enthusiastic friends looked for. But these circumstances by no means daunted the leaders of the party in the city, and as a result the annual picnics came to stay, an instrument of wonderful use in cementing together the members of our party in social bonds an instrument which has brought in a a phalanx of supporters of the Government to the local house and later to the Dominion house. So much for the usefulness of these picnics and an encouragement to us to make them even more successful in the future than in the past. A year ago the picnic took place on these ground immediately before the Dominion elections, and many predictions were then made as to the downfall of the Laurier Government and of Reciprocity.

"Where there was a Laurier with an indifferent naval policy and a miserable reciprocity policy twelve months ago there is to-day a Borden with a strong determination to announce an efficient navy policy—and reciprocity down and out forever. In this pleasing consummation British Columbia has played no mean part. We had the honor to return to the national capital a solid following behind Mr. Borden of seven staunch Conservatives. In that connection we have with us to-day my good friend and former colleague Mr. Robert F. Green, who has been elected by the people of Kootenay unanimously as their representative in the House of Commons. The references to his usefulness as a public man which were made by Mr. Tait, I heartily concur in. When Mr. Green goes to Ottawa he will go as a representative not only of Kootenay, British Columbia, but the entire West will find in him a warm and sympathetic friend and ardent champion.

"To Mr. Barnard was offered a striking eulogy by Mr. Burnham. We know what Harry Barnard has accomplished for Victoria. The last word as to his usefulness is found in the splendid vote recently made for the improvement of Victoria Harbor, which presently will approximate five million dollars. (Applause). We do not look on this as an extraordinary expenditure for the harbor of this city. (Hear, hear). A port of such promise as this, which will be one of the national ports of Canada, is a splendid investment for the people of Canada, and in putting into the harbor improvements here this sum, I am safe in saying that the nation could make no better investment. But even with this, Mr. Barnard's usefulness has not ceased, because there will still remain the large programme of public utilities with which a provincial capital must be equipped, and in connection with which a great deal must be expected from the Dominion Government.

"Mr. Burnham, from West Peterborough, is one of whom we have heard much since he entered the federal arena, and we are all glad to hear from him to-day.

Western Problems Paramount

"Mr. Burnham has struck the right note when he tells you to-day that in the halls of Ottawa the most prominent questions are those from the west and that time is spent in discussing and solving western problems. It is quite right that this should be so because the time has come when the west should command and receive that recognition and treatment to which this portion of the Dominion is entitled. The new administration, under the Rt. Hon. Mr. Borden is alive to its responsibilities as is shown in the way it proposes to deal with the harbor of this city, the Fraser river works and other public works, and it fully recognizes the importance of the west, and recognizes as has never been done before the needs of this section of Canada. (Hear, hear).

"I see that one of the mottoes which are strung about these beautiful grounds is that of "Unity of Empire, One Flag, One Navy." (Cheers). A year ago when we were holding our meeting here some of the speeches were characterised by the Liberal newspapers as an exhibition of waving the flag. That was a criticism common to all the Liberal publications from one end of the Dominion to the other, whenever it was proposed to call in question the genuineness of any speech made from a Conservative platform. We were not downhearted by criticisms of that nature. We continued to wave the flag and waving it till the elections were over, at which we killed reciprocity once and for all." (Applause)

Mr. Burnham, M.P., of the legal firm of Messrs. Ruddy & Burnham, will return to the city by September 5th from the coast, where he has completed arrangements with several well known financial houses for sale of Western property and for the investment of money on mortgage. Titles, descriptions, etc., guaranteed. Loans at from 7 per cent. to 9 per cent. net, according to amount.

WHY

the stock of Trust Companies and Banks appeal to conservative investors.

The following are a few good reasons why you should invest NOW in the stock of the Acadia Trust Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C.:

1. It is showing remarkable growth, having earned seventy (70 p.c.) per cent. on its paid-up capital since its inception, November 26, 1911.

2. It is thoroughly established (with no promotion stock).

3. It is subject to advance without notice; and will very shortly be amongst the premier Trust Companies doing business in British Columbia.

4. Its profits will necessarily be large.

5. It will declare large bonus dividends to reduce the uncalled liability, thereby increasing the paid-up portion of your stock.

6. Prospects of an increase in value are excellent.

A FEW FACTS OF INTEREST

The Acadia Trust Company Limited, was incorporated November 26, 1911, with an authorized capital of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars, which is now being increased to One Million Dollars ($1,000,000.00); and the charter granted by this Province covers all business profitable to a Trust Company.

Trust Companies, under the B. C. Act, are required to render quarterly statements to the Minister of Finance, giving very detail of their assets and liabilities, thus affording absolute security to investors and depositors.

The Explanation.

Robert Henri, the artist, said in New York of a bogus "old master:"

"Some of these experts must be very ignorant, judging from the facility with which they are duped. They must be ready to swallow anything. It's like the Velasquez story.

"'Here we are, ladies and gentlemen—this exquisite Velasquez—"Battle of Waterloo." What am I bid? One million nine hundred thousand'—

"'But,' interrupted an expert in a puzzled voice—'but I thought Velasquez died before the battle of Waterloo?'

"'So he did, sir,' explained the auctioneer, 'so he did, but this, you see, is one of dear old Vel's posthumous works.'"—New York Tribune.

A Real Disciplinarian.

The other night we heard a father speak thusly: "William, your mother tells me that you must have a dose of castor oil before retiring tonight. It is your bedtime now. Take your medicine and go to bed at once."

"But, papa, I don't wanta take no castor oil."

"You must take it, and immediately."

"Aw, papa, I dowanter!"

"William, if you don't take that medicine I'll put you right to bed this minute without giving you a drop of it."

William was so scared that he took it. That's the way to enforce discipline.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Eye Photographs.

An image impressed upon the retina of the eye remains there an appreciable time. This is the reason why a torch swung rapidly seems to be a circular flame. The sensibility of the retina is different at different times of the day. Every one has noticed how on waking in the morning and looking at the bright window, then closing the eyes, he will observe an impression or phantom of the window for an appreciable time after his eyes are closed.

Domestic Bookkeeping.

"And what's your reason for increasing the servants' wages, pray?" her friend asked.

"Because my husband complained that my dress and millinery bills equaled the household expenses, and I want to show him they do not."—London Tit-Bits.

CAMP LIFE AT BISLEY

SURREY TOWN IS ONLY ALIVE TWO WEEKS EACH YEAR.

It Was In 1890 That the Drowsy Little Place Became Famous and Wimbledon Lost Her Glory—Armies of Marksmen Are Provided For Luxuriously as if by Magic When the Time Comes—Tables on the Sward.

For centuries the little Surrey village of Bisley had its sleepy being, remote from the tide of men. Then, in the year 1890, came a dramatic revolution in its unchronicled life. Bisley awoke from her long slumber to find herself famous, her name as familiar almost at the other end of the world as that of London itself. The mantle, removed from Wimbledon, was placed on her diffident shoulders; and thousands of stalwart soldiers were drawn to her from the four corners of the earth. She had become the Mecca of the Empire's marksmen, with a proud place in the map of England.

Even now, however, in her changed guise, Bisley is still allowed to slumber for fifty weeks of every year. If you take the train from Waterloo to Brookwood in any one of these somnolent weeks, and continue your journey to Bisley, you will see little on her famous common to suggest her glory. In High street, it is true, you will see a stately and desolate pavilion, staring blankly at the offices of the National Rifle Association over the way. You may wander past rows of empty and dreary wooden huts and explore a few bungalows, the local headquarters of certain shooting clubs.

But of human life you will probably see scarcely a trace beyond a straggler or two, rifle in hand, making their way to the ranges from which comes to your ears the intermittent crackle of firing. Collect these scattered pilgrims to Bisley, and you may perhaps, if you are in luck, count a round score of them.

Bisley has not come to its annual awakening. But when each year brings round this dramatic moment, the revolution is such as may well make the least impressionable gasp with amazement. One day all is emptiness and desolation; a few days later a city has sprung into being as if by the touch of a magician's wand—a city of canvas, on which the eyes of the world are focussed. Once more Bisley is on millions of tongues, from Scotland to the Cape and the Antipodes;; and thousands of the Empire's deadliest marksmen are flocking to its tented streets, every man of them bent on winning laurels for himself or the land of his home.

Within a week the solitudes of the common are humming with the coming and going of armies of uniformed men. It is no mere soldiers' camp that has sprung thus swiftly into being; its is a well-ordered, miniature city, with every equipment, not only for comfort, but for luxury. There are seductive restaurants, where any thirst can be quenched and the palate, even of the modest epicure, satisfied. There are billiard rooms and clubs, with every temptation to recreation, from a game of bridge to a "hundred up." There are streets of shops, each with its tempting array of goods to meet almost any reasonable want, and to lure money from the pocket. There are hair-dressing saloons to provide the luxuries of a shampoo and a comfortable shave; and there are even boot-blacks, whose cry of "Shine, sir?" falls pleasantly on the ear.

Far and wide the eye ranges down avenues of glistening white tents, and is caught by the flutter of hundreds of flags of all the hues of the rainbow; while, that nothing may be lacking to please the senses, the air is musical with the tramp of marches played by the town band, or the lilt of dance melodies which stir the pulses and set the feet unconsciously a-jigging. And through every flag-decked, flower-decorated avenue of Canvas-town are streaming hundreds of sun-tanned soldier men, each carrying his cherished rifle, the winner of laurels to come.

And still they come in their thousands to this Mecca of tents. Watch the trains (or, more accurately, trams) as they disgorge, one after another, their human freight to swell the thousands already there—keen-eyed men from many points of the compass, hungry as hunters after their journey, and eager to show that the British marksman can eat as well as he can shoot.

If you are there about two o'clock in the afternoon you will see a sight that is good for the eyes and stimulating to the most jaded appetite. You will see tables by the furlong, spread on the greensward, and an array of steaming, succulent joints—baked meats, whose odor comes gratefully to the nostrils—and over which a white-clad chef flourishes a gleaming carving knife. A small army of police are squatting or lying on the grass; for there is little work for the civilian arm to do in keeping Mars in order.

But, in spite of the general atmosphere of luxury that Canvas-town presents, our marksmen are no Sybarites; and each man of them all, from officer to private, has his equipment rigidly prescribed, down to the water can and metal basin in the case of the latter, and the bath and tripod washstand in the case of his superior. But all that is necessary for comfort he has; and, after all, he has come on serious work, and not to play—although facilities for play are abundant when his work is done.

Balls are tabooed, it is true; and midnight is the signal for all lights out. And when the last shot is fired, and the King's prizewinner has been chaired amid tumults of cheers, there are few who do not regret that the time has sped so quickly, whether or not they have found a place on the roll of honor.

Then comes the dismantling of Canvas-town. The tide of humanity has once more receded and left it desolate, the far-spreading tents vanish as if by magic; and Bisley Common again slumbers.

HOW THE TIGER KILLS.

He Never Faces His Prey, But Attacks It on the Flank.

I have taken considerable trouble to find out how tigers kill large game. Some time ago I was asked to come and see a full grown bullock that had been killed by a tiger. On examining it I found the animal had its neck broken, and there were claw marks on the nose and shoulder, but nowhere else. There was no doubt that the tiger had jumped at the bull and landed on the shoulder, and when the bull turned his head to gore the tiger he must have put his claw out and with a sudden jerk broken the neck.

On another occasion I went to see a young buffalo which had been killed in the same way. Malays who have actually seen a tiger killing a buffalo told me they saw the same thing happen; also that in dragging off a heavy carcass, such as buffalo or bull, he gets most of the weight across his shoulders.

This must be fairly correct, as I have often followed a kill, and the marks left indicate that only a portion of the animal was trailing along the ground. I have known a full grown bull, which ten men could not move, dragged for two miles by a tiger in a heavy jungle, where roots of trees and swamp had to be gone through. In no case have I seen the pug marks facing the wrong way except when stopping to feed; which proves he must carry a portion of the animal over his shoulder.

The old idea of a tiger killing large game by a blow from his paw is nonsense. Besides, in India a tiger never faces his prey, but attacks him on the flank unless charged. Another curious fact that may seem like a fairy tale is that a tiger does not seem to mind a small lamp being tied over a kill about ten feet high, but will come and feed. I have known three occasions when this has been tried, and each time a tiger has come to feed upon the carcass.—London Field.

FUNNY FRILLED LIZARD.

Carries an Umbrella, Has a Whip Tail and Walks Like a Bird.

The frilled lizard is found in Australian woods, being tolerably abundant in north Queensland and the Kimberley district of Western Australia. It lives on beetles such as are found on the tree barks. It is about three feet long, measured from head to tail point. What makes it remarkable consists of two things—its hurried walk and its fighting anger.

It carries a sort of natural umbrella top about its neck, which it elevates suddenly with an alarming effect even to ordinary lizard killing dogs, scaring them as an umbrella opened in the face of a charging bull; hence it is called the frilled lizard. Its teeth are not of much use as a defense against a vigorous animal, but when it fights it uses its long, lithe tail in a way to bring long bruises on one's hands—in fact, could it be properly trained, it might serve as an automatic switch, which, like the magic rub-a-dub-dub stick, would at the word administer a thrashing to the disobedient child.

From the scientific point of view the creature's peculiar method of ambulation is most interesting, because it presents an absurdly grotesque appearance at such times, more especially from the rear. It walks bipedally or on two feet, like a bird, and so much does it resemble a bird in its walk that it seems to be the connecting link between the ancestors of birds and the lizards of today.

How an Orang Outang Travels.

It is a most interesting sight to watch an orang outang make its way through the jungle. It walks slowly along the larger branches in a semi-erect attitude, this being apparently caused by the length of its arms and the shortness of its legs. It invariably selects those branches which intermingle with those of a neighboring tree, on approaching which it stretches out its long arm and, grasping the boughs opposite, seems first to shake them as if to test their strength and then deliberately swings itself across to the next branch, which it walks along, as before. It does not jump or spring, as monkeys usually do, and never appears to hurry itself, unless some real danger presents. Yet, in spite of its apparently slow movements, it gets along far quicker than a person running through the forest beneath.

Various Kinds of Manias.

At a recent congress of neurologists a paper was read in which the movement by which the growing lad caresses the first shoots on his upper lip was labeled mustachiostrepsomania; the habit of twirling the cane seen in old drum majors, strepsorhabdomania; that of putting the little finger into the ear, otodactylomania. Then we have "stomatodactylomaniacs," who put the finger into the mouth; "onychophagomaniacs," who bite their nails; "harmoniomaniacs," who drum with their fingers on window panes or tables, and "trepodomaniacs," who nervously move their legs.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionised the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York. [redacted]

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilised world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyes, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson.' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

Special Announcement
Cheapest Place in Town for High Grade Goods

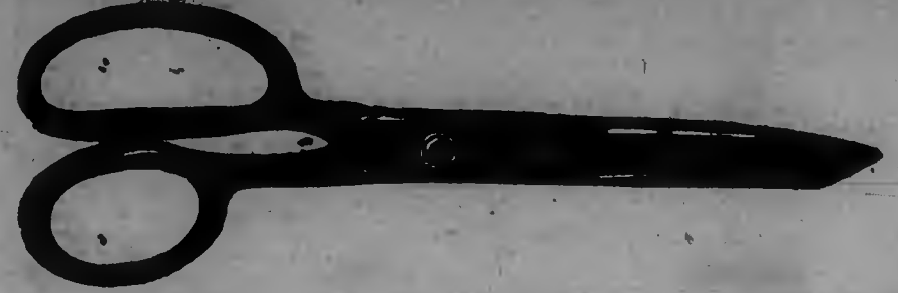
has the largest, brightest and best stock ever shown in their store, consisting of Fancy Goods of every description, suitable for presents.

These will be sold at prices that defy competition. We are in a position to sell cheaper than others for the simple reason that our expenses are much lighter than other stores in the city, and we are not depending on the store sales to meet expenses, as our large and growing newspaper, printing and bookbinding business takes care of all this. So, the public are invited to call and examine our stock and prices, and they will be convinced. In addition to selling cheap, we offer a beautiful pair of Patent, Self-Sharpening Shears free with every purchase of $2.00 and upwards.



We ALSO GIVE a Splendid Kitchen Set as Shewn in Cut

Consisting of Nine Pieces, with every purchase of $10 or over

Call and see this splendid set, even though you do not buy.

Our Stock Consists of GIFT BOOKS

LEATHER GOODS
PURSES
HAND SATCHELS
BRASS GOODS

LINDSAY.

Took It to Himself.

When Gen. Moreau was in England he was once the victim of a rather droll misunderstanding. He was present at a concert where a piece was sung by the choir with the refrain:

"To-morrow, to-morrow."

Having a very imperfect knowledge of English, he fancied it to be a cantata given in his honor and thought he distinguished the words:

"To Moreau, to Moreau."

Each time the refrain was repeated he rose to his feet and gracefully bowed on all sides, to the great astonishment of the audience, who did not know what to make of it.

To Build by Contract.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Reforms introduced by the administration of the Manitoba Government telephone system are expected to effect an annual saving of $80,000 a year. Three hundred and fifty miles of new rural lines are planned and this work will be carried out under contract as more economical than the past day labor system.

Is Now Out of Danger.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Archie, the nine-months-old baby of George MacPherson, 11 Frizzell avenue, of whose family two children died last week from eating unripe fruit, was reported by the doctors last night to be almost out of danger.

A Summer Resort.

The Tasmania summers are much cooler than those of Australia, and therefore the island is visited by thousands of tourists from the mainland cities.

Mark Twain's Profanity.

William Dean Howells read the "Tom Sawyer" manuscript and thought it the best story he had ever read. Clemens consulted him regarding the use of a certain vigorous expletive. Howells advised that it be cut out. Clemens wrote back:

Mrs. Clemens received the mail this morning, and the next minute she lit into the study with danger in her eyes and this demand on her tongue: "Where is the profanity Mr. Howells speaks of?" Then I had to miserably confess that I had left it out when reading the MS. to her. Nothing but almost inspired lying got me out of this scrape with my scalp. Does your wife give you rats like that when you go a little one sided?—Harper's.

Odorless.

"Now, children," said the teacher, "who can tell me what the word 'odorless' means?"

Willie Jones was sure he knew.

"Well, Willie, what does it mean?"

"Odorless means without a scent," he piped.

"Right. Now who can give a sentence using the word correctly?" continued the teacher. "You may answer, Jimmie."

"Please, ma'am, when you are odorless you cannot ride in the trolley cars."—Youth's Companion

Bluejacket's Black Neckerchief.

It is not generally known that the bluejacket's black neckerchief, a survival of the service mourning for Nelson, is the best British silk obtainable and that the admiralty is a very fastidious customer. Two to each man are issued annually, and many thousands of these discarded scarfs have been subsequently worn by Jack's femininity. A pair of them make an excellent blouse.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Spoiled Her Enthusiasm.

"Harry proposed last night! I was so"—

"I knew he would. I played a joke on him."

"What?"

"I told him you would inherit a fortune when you came of age."—Houston Post.

Matrimonial.

Three Germans were sitting at luncheon recently and were overheard discussing the second marriage of a mutual friend when one of them remarked: "I'll tell you what. A man what marries de second time don't deserve to haf lost his first vife."—Life.

Small Sizes.

Mr. Dubb—My brain is on fire! Miss Keen—I hardly think we need call out the fire department.—Boston Transcript.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 12 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 100 miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 248 miles.

The [illegible] tenderer will be required to sign a [illegible] covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $300,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals.
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.—27124.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Breakwater at Port Arthur, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4 p.m., Wednesday, August 28, 1912, for the construction of a Breakwater at Port Arthur, Thunder Bay and Rainy River District, Ont.

Plans, specifications and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont., J. L. Michaud, Esq., District Engineer, Merchants Bank Building, St. James St., Montreal, and F. T. Harcourt, Esq., District Engineer, Port Arthur, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, August 8th, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.—22081.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

Fragile Father.

A man traveling in Maine met a middle aged farmer who told him his father, aged ninety, was still on the farm where he was born.

"Ninety years old, eh?"

"Yep. Pop's close to ninety."

"Is his health good?"

"'Tain't much now. He's been complainin' for a few months back."

"What's the matter with him?"

Old-Time Snuff Takers.

Snuff taking was practically unknown in England until 1702. In that year Sir George Rooke burned the French and Spanish shipping anchored in the port of Vigo and sacked the town. Besides large quantities of bullion and jewels, his booty included fifty tons of the finest snuff, which was brought to England and thrown on the market at a very low price. This novel form of taking tobacco rapidly caught on, and in a few years the snuffbox had to a large extent ousted the pipe. Connoisseurs used to accumulate special blends of snuff, as nowadays they hoard choice cigars. When George IV. died the contents of his snuff cellar were sold for $8,000.—London Chronicle.

Sunlight For All the Leaves.

The telegraph plant of India has a method all its own for catching the sunshine. Each of its leaves is composed of three leaflets. The larger terminal one erects itself during the day and turns sharply down at night, while the other two smaller leaflets move constantly day and night, describing complete circles with a peculiar jerking motion like the second hand of a watch. Occasionally they rest for a period and then go on again, thus bringing every part of every leaf to the full action of the sunlight.

A Generous Foe.

A very unusual kind of sportsmanship was shown by the Maori chief who was taken prisoner by the British after a hot engagement. His captors were talking to the man, and one of them asked him why he had not captured the British provision and ammunition trains a few days before, when he had a chance.

The chief gave a loud, scornful laugh.

"You fool!" he cried. "If we had stolen your food and powder how could you have fought us?"

Lost Days.

"You used to say," she complained, "that you counted that day lost when you did not hear the sound of my voice."

"Yes, I know," he replied, "and I shall never cease to long for those dear lost days."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Study in Wrinkles.

When George Rignold was playing Henry V. in London a friend visited him in his dressing room and remarked on a large and handsome photograph of Wordsworth hanging on the wall. Said the friend, "I see you are an admirer of Wordsworth."

"Who's Wordsworth?" queried the actor.

"Why, that's his picture — Wordsworth, the poet."

Early Risers.

Sir Edward Coke, the great English lawyer, attributed much of his success to early rising. When a young man in chambers he rose regularly at three o'clock and studied until the courts met at eight. Nine o'clock was his retiring hour, as he believed a man should have an equal portion of sleep before and after midnight.

PRINCE RUPERT

"Canada's Golden Gate"

The work of transforming Prince Rupert into a modern terminus of a trans continental railway is proceeding rapidly, the Grand Trunk Pacific is devoting all its energy to getting its terminal facilities ready for the opening of the line in 1914. Settlers are flocking into the adjacent fertile valleys. Industries are starting which will employ a large number of men. In short, Prince Rupert is the centre of the greatest activity in the development of Northern British Columbia.

DO YOU WANT TO SHARE IN THIS PROSPERITY?

If so, here is your chance for a safe investment

An investment company is now in the hands of the Continental Trust Company, Ltd., of Prince Rupert, for incorporation, with the objects of

BUYING, SELLING, AND IMPROVING

Prince Rupert city property. It will be incorporated for $100,000, divided into one hundred thousand shares of the par value of $1 each and the shares will be sold at that price.

Stock in a similar organization formed in Prince Rupert is now worth three times its initial selling price, and no stock can be obtained.

A great number of houses and buildings of all kinds are required to take care of the rapid increase in population. THIS IS WHERE WE COME IN. We will provide homes for the incoming families.

Fortunes have been made in other western cities on this identical plan, and stock in similar companies is increasing in value and at the same time paying large dividends.

Reservations for stock are now being made. We want you to become a Stockholder. Subscriptions of $10 or more are being received.

If you will fill out the accompanying coupon and send it to us we will mail you complete information, with booklet descriptive of Prince Rupert DO IT TO-DAY!

Mr. Barnet is 21 years old, and is said to be the youngest graduate of any Canadian University to be awarded this coveted prize. He will go to Chicago to begin a three years' course.

Buffalo Cows Fierce.

Buffalo cows in the park at Wainwright have become very fierce, and in all probability it will be necessary to shoot them.

Blaming the Doctor.

"My doctor says I ought to ride a horse," said the indolent man.

"What for?"

"I don't know. Maybe he's tired of treating me for dyspepsia and wants a broken collar bone for a change."—Washington Star.

HE SEES FOR HIMSELF

KING GEORGE IS A BIT OF A HAROUN AL-RASCHID.

Britain's Monarch Cannot Disguise Himself and Go About But Nevertheless He Loves to See His Subjects at Work and Understand Their Needs—The Queen at Tea With Farmer's Wife.

King George is the modern Haroun-al-Raschid. Like the ruler celebrated in "The Arabian Nights," he is set upon seeing how his subjects live. He cannot disguise himself and make midnight expeditions, after the manner of the Eastern calih. Photography and the newspaper press make that impossible. Besides, at midnight there are few workers employed, and it is above all, his people at work that King George wishes to see. So in open day he goes among them, watches them at bench or loom, sees how they make iron and steel, how they get coal, how by rough and hard work with their hands they are helping to keep up the industries of England upon which the very existence of England's millions depends.

Here is something new in the annals of monarchy. No British sovereign, no sovereign of any other kingdom, no president of any commonwealth, has ever until now made a systematic effort to understand industrial processes and industrial problems by studying them on the spot. That is, of course, the only way to win any vivid knowledge of them. Print can prove anything, but can with difficulty make it live. It is intimate personal impression that kindles the imagination; and without imaginaton the dry bones of fact and figure rattle tediously in the ear.

Other rulers may have read Bluebooks about coal mines. What have they got from them, save headaches. King George goes down a coal mine. Takes a lamp and stumbles along dark roadways. Borrows a pick and learns for himself what it must mean to hew into the coalface for hours at a stretch. Other rulers may have studied reports on "Housing." The very term betrays the spirit in which they are written; shows that the matter has been taken from the free air of reality into the vapid vacuum of Parliamentary debate.

King George and Queen Mary are not content with arid details as to "cubic feet of atmosphere" or with Board of Trade "index numbers." They want to see the kind of houses in which those who do the rough hard work live. Hence their surprise visits to small houses in South Wales and South Yorkshire.

In only one case was any notice given. This was at Aberdare. It made very little difference, but it was not the King's plan. He wanted to see cottages and cottagers just as they are. Suddenly he would have his motor-car stopped. He would get out and ask the astonished owner, "May we come in?" At Slaithwaithe the washing was hung up to dry on a square frame near the ceiling (a device, I think, peculiar to the North country).

At Woodlands model village the housewife was cooking the midday dinner. At the little farm on the moors the farmer's wife was entertaining two friends at "farmhouse tea." The Queen joined them and said she thoroughly enjoyed it. And what is more the hostess and the other guests enjoyed it thoroughly too.

It is worth notice that both Slaithwaite and the moor are in a constituency which used to return a Socialist member. In South Wales, also, a visit was paid to Mr. Keir Hardie's district. Most sovereigns would have left such places severely alone. That is not King George's way, nor Queen Mary's. Just as he seized the slander which affected them both and crushed it for all the world to see, so now he went boldly among those who were supposed—quite wrongly, as the event proved—to be hostile to the institution of monarchy.

In both districts they were received not with mere courtesy but with acclamations by the whole mass of inhabitants. From politics in the party sense King George, of course, holds scrupulously aloof. But he is entitled to congratulate himself on the happy issue of his courageous resolve, and further we must be grateful to him for having settled all doubts, if any existed, as to England and Wales being unanimous in support of the institution that forms the strongest tie between the different states of the Empire.

As an endurance test, these journeys made it plain that their Majesties are, happily, very strong. It would be absurd to say they were not tired after long days of motoring, with the noise of cheering about them and with hundreds, sometimes thousands of eager eyes upon them almost all the time.

The constant bowing, and lifting of the hat must have been positively painful at the close of such a day, varied by the fatigue of going over factories (sometimes three or four). Probably these domestic tours, as we may call them, were more fatiguing than the state processions of last year. En revanche, they were more interesting, both in their incidents, homely and human, and in their entire novelty, and happily their Majesties were never overtired.

The domestic tour, as an institution marks a new stage in the development of the relations between King and people. Acting upon their own judgment and good feeling, their Majesties determined that a new departure was desirable. In the old days, when nations were perpetually at war, monarchs identified themselves with the national life by leading our armies to battle. Now that peace is the settled state, only at intervals broken in upon rudely by the clash of arms, other means must be sought.

Sovereigns must place themselves, as it were, at the head of the armies of industry. They must encourage their peoples forward along paths of progress other than those which are hewn out by the sword. Nothing could more successfully draw tighter the strings of affection and loyalty than these visits.

Undressing While Swimming.

An authority on boating and swimming advises that every boy and girl who is learning to swim also learn to undress in the water, so that in case of falling overboard from a boat there will be less danger of drowning. Put on old clothes, he says, swim with one hand and the opposite foot and take off the shoe from the free foot with the free hand. After the shoes are off, they being the first things to get rid of, the swimmer should turn on his back and take off his clothes as easily as he can get off, swimming meanwhile with his legs.—New York Herald.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

MISS HALL'S SCHOOL.

Miss D. J. Hall's Private School, 384 Charlotte Street, will re-open on Wednesday, September 4th, 1912.

Liveries Now Sanitary.

All city liverymen are reported to now have complied with the full sanitary regulations of the city.

Accident Victim Recovering.

The condition of D. Ferguson who was seriously injured at the Central Ontario Junction a few days since and removed to Nicholls Hospital, is reported to be much improved.

Got Stuck in the Mud.

The steamer Stoney Lake, while taking an excursion a few days ago, got stuck in the mud in the Scugog river. There is only one kind of mud that is worse than the Scugog mud, and that is the Lindsay mud.

Pipe Explodes at C.G.E.

The bursting of an air pipe at the C.G.E. Co's plant yesterday caused an alarming report, attracting many to the scene. Beyond a small property damage, however, nothing serious resulted. No one was hurt.

Last of the Season.

The Salvation Army band gave their last open air concert of the season in Victoria Park. The programme was a memorial one for General Booth.

Will Meet Here To-day.

The East Ontario conference of the Free Methodist church will open today. It is expected that about 80 delegates will be in attendance. Bishop Wm. Pearce, of Titusville, N.Y. will preside.

Prize for Dog Race.

The small boy and his dog will no doubt be in evidence at Peterborough's big fair, as Mr. Wm. Yelland has offered a special prize of $5 for the dog race. The dog must be driven by a boy and the winner takes $3 while second takes $2.

Excursion From Lindsay.

Yesterday the employees of Parkin's Mill, Lindsay, together with their wives, were the guests of Mr. S. G. Parkin on a trip to Peterborough by steamer Stoney Lake. They were accompanied by Citizens' Band of Lindsay. The steamer arrived here in the evening and after a brief period spent in the city, the party left for Lindsay.

Chronic Throat Trouble Permanently Cured

SEVEN DAYS' USE OF CATARRHOZONE PERFORMED REGULAR MIRACLE.

Miss Counter's Case Proves the Wonderful Efficacy of Catarrhozone in all Throat and Nose Diseases.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 7.—Miss Counter's case will prove of great interest to everyone troubled with sore throat, bronchitis or weak lungs.

When asked for a statement, Miss Counter said: "About seven years ago I contracted a heavy cold that settled on my lungs and resisted all treatment. After I had tried several doctors here and specialists in Detroit without benefit, I went to my druggist and asked him for the best remedy he had for cold on the lungs. He recommended Catarrhozone, which cured my cold in one week. It brought back my voice, and I have been ever since free from my old trouble. For coughs, colds and lung trouble I am sure that Catarrhozone is the best remedy. It goes right to the sore spot, gives quick relief and makes a lasting cure.

Catarrhozone cures because its healing vapor is inhaled to the very places that are sore and inflammed.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by all means buy a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only. 50c. and $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

No Illegal Shooting.

Lindsay Warder: Several days ago Game and Fishery Inspector, Mr. Arch. Bradshaw, received a complaint that certain parties were shooting ducks and other game on Emily Creek, contrary to the game laws. An investigation was immediately made by Capt. Carson, of the Naiad, who reports that the report is false. Capt. Carson left on a trip through to Port Perry to investigate other complaints.

Under Wet Blanket.

The whole world, more particularly this portion of it, appears to be under a wet blanket, which almost daily showers, too plentiful rains down on an already soaking earth. The scientist editor of the g.f.j. cannot account for this phenomenal general flooding all over the earth, except that a wet summer generally follows a dry one and that a cold summer frequently comes in the wake of a particularly severe winter such as last winter was.

An Awful Long Walk.

Messrs. F. J. Francis, of Toronto, and a party of friends returned yesterday from a camping trip several miles north of Coe Hill, which was made overland. The sad part of their home coming is in the fact that when breaking up camp they left behind them six bottles of the best old Scotch whiskey, which they had taken along in case of snake bites, and which had been forgotten when breaking up camp. The leaving of so valuable a "package" will hardly avail the thirsty ones who might feel like locating the liquor, as it is an awful long walk from here to Coe Hill.

Little Child Drowned.

Further particulars concerning the death of Mary Elizabeth, the 17 months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lawson, Otonabee, which occurred on the 20th instant, are to hand. Mrs. Lawson left the child playing in the summer kitchen, when she went outside for a few moments. On returning she was horrified to find the little one cold in death, having fallen head first into a bucket of water that was standing in the room. The funeral took place on Wednesday last, interment being made at Zion cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Keene. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents in their affliction.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Special Train Service, Toronto Exhibition, Wednesday, Aug. 28th. A special train will leave Peterborough at 2.40 p.m., arrive Toronto 5 p.m. Cheap rates this week, Aug. 27th and 28th, $1.60, other days $2.80. W. McIlroy, Agent.

Miss Polson is a neice of Mrs. (Rev.) James Rollins, of this city, and has many friends in Peterborough.

TO REGAIN A HEALTHY GIRLISH COMPLEXION.

(From the Feminine World.)

If you would have a clear, fresh girlish complexion, one ounce of ordinary mercolized wax will aid you in this direction more than shelves full of beauty cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax procurable at any drug store, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually, day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable rejuvinating treatment—if you have wrinkles, or your skin is flabby and saggy—is to bathe your face in the solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pint witch hazel. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and "firming up" the loosened tissues.

CHARMING SUMMER HOME

Mr. J. B. McWilliams Has Set New Pace at Stoney Lake—Fine Cold Storage "Plant."

Mr. J. B. McWilliams has set the pace among the cottagers of Stoney Lake in the way of beautifying his summer home. Those who imagines that he spends four or five months every year in fishing, sleeping and eating, are completely out of their reckoning. Mr. McWilliams, who has led a strenuous life, could no more spend his time in idleness, or even in play, than he could fly. His habits of industry have been too securely grounded to permit of enjoyment in any other form than constant and untiring activity.

Amongst the many improvements which he has made to his charming summer house, is the construction of a cold storage room. This has been built separately, of solid stone walls, with cement inside finishing. The building has a double roof—one of cement and the other of plank, with an air space between. The walls are two feet thick and are built up from the solid rock. Mr. McWilliams thinks that the room will be so cool in the warmest weather, that ice will not be necessary.

In addition to this he has built a fine wharf, and a place to bathe in, filling it up so that those who cannot swim will be in no danger of stepping off into deep water. A boom has been placed across the outer edge as additional protection from which good swimmers can plunge out into deep water.

Handsome walks, shady nooks and rustic arbors, and seats are also in evidence. Added to this, is the presence of Mrs. McWilliams and her daughter, Mrs. Miller, who are known far and near for their genuine hospitality, and who grace their lovely summer home every season with their charming presence.

PLAY FIRE HERO BURNS TO DEATH

New York, Aug. 27.—An hour after a fire had burned out the upper floor of a narrow flat house at 65 Mott street early to-day; a policeman, going through the ruined rooms came across the charred body of John Rich, tenant of the burned out apartment. Rich was an actor, and yesterday spent a strenuous day posing as a hero of an apartment house fire. Reaching home late at night he slept so soundly that he was not awakened by the flames in his room until it was too late.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SUFFRAGETTES THREATEN BORDEN WITH MILITANT ACTS

London Women Tell Canadian Premier On His Reply Depends Whether They Will Divert Intending Settlers From Canada—Premier is Firm

London, Aug. 28.—The Canadian Premier, Hon. R. L. Borden, when he faced the suffragettes for the first time to-day, took a firm stand. He told them very emphatically he had not power to introduce a general measure of suffrage for women in the Dominion of Canada, and that no threats of the employment of militant methods would have any influence on him.

The delegation of the Women's Social and Political Union was introduced by Miss Barrett. She stated that their chief object was to ask Mr. Borden if he intended on his return to Canada to introduce a Government measure for the enfranchisement of women. She mentioned the Canadian homestead law as an instance in which great injustice was done to women, but remarked that even if the laws were right women would still want the vote.

SEND IMMIGRATION ELSEWHERE.

Miss Barrett stated further that the Women's Social and Political Unian was considering a campaign to advise intending immigrants to go to Australia and New Zealand, rather than to Canada.

On Mr. Borden's reply, she said, would depend the advice the Women's Social and Political Union gave its Canadian members and also the possibility of a militant agitation in Canada.

Mr. Borden in his reply, was very explicit in stating that he had no power and no intention whatever of introducing into the Canadian parliament a measure for the enfranchisement of women. The question of franchise, he said, evolved entirely on the nine Provincial Legislatures, and the Dominion Parliament had no warrant to pass such legislation.

CANADIANS CAN DECIDE.

Mr. Borden concluded:

"I should like to say, with all respect, I think the Canadian women are sufficiently capable and intelligent to judge for themselves in this matter. No suggestion of the employment of militant methods of any kind will have the slightest influence."

Mr. Borden later in the day received a deputation of members of the Anti-Suffrage League, which congratulated him on holding his ground against the Women's Social and Political Union. Mr. Borden said he had no complaint to make against the presentation of the case of the Women's Social and Political League except the suggestion implying a threat of the introduction into Canada of militant tactics.

TAFT'S BLUNDER

President Taft, in the past, has been a consistent advocate of internatianal disputes. A dispute of this nature has arisen through his opposition of arbitration for settlement to treaty obligations in regard to the Panama Canal. Instead of standing on his record by expressing a willingness to allow the problem to be solved by the recognized international court of arbitration, The Hague tribunal, the president suggests the case be tried by the Supreme Court of the U. S. With what scorn and ridicule would he and the Union receive a proposal that the question be dealt with by the Privy Council? The president's argument that Britain's interpretation of the Canal treaty would halt the U. S. in efforts to improve its commence does not meet the situation. A presidential election campaign is in progress. Is Taft playing an international game for local effect?

LAURIERS ABANDONMENT OF TOUR IS A CAPITOL MYSTERY

Trouble Over The Policy Party Will Follow on Reciprocity Said to be the Real Cause of Postponing Trip

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—The political sensation of the day is the abandonment at the eleventh hour of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's trip following a conference Tuesday afternoon which was attended by both Hon. J. A. Calder and Senator William Ross, of Moosejaw. Sir Wilfrid was to have left last night for the West. The first explanation given of the change in plans was that the harvest would be in progress. However, this hardly went down, as it was known ten days ago when the trip was announced as well as to-day that the harvest was in full swing.

NEW ONTARIO PRETEXT.

This morning the Liberals have evolved a brand new reason and it is said that Sir Wilfrid has postponed his trip because he wants to visit New Ontario and if he waits until after his return from the Prairies it will be too cold in the mining country for a stumping tour. It is said that he will go west later, if his parliamentary duties do not intervene. It was learned on the best of authority that trouble over the policy which the party will follow on reciprocity is the real cause of the sudden change in plans.

WARNINGS FRON WESTERN STALWARTS.

It is said that both Hon. J. Calder and Senator Ross made it very plain to Sir Wilfrid that if he spoke in the Prairie Provinces the Western farmers would not be satisfied with sunny smiles and political platitudes. He would have to declare frankly where he stands on reciprocity and the whole trade issue. Now Eastern Liberals are candidly not very enthusiastic over reciprocity. To be forced to take a decided stand at the present juncture would be embarrassing to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberals. Instead of facing direct questions which are certain to come from the Western grain growers it was decided to call off the trip for the time being.

This explanation will undoubtedly be denied by the Liberal leaders and the Liberal press, but your correspondent understands this is the inside reason for the mysterious postponement or abandonment of the ex-Premier's widely heralded tour of the West.

CORNELL PRESIDENT APPOINTED MINISTER TO GREECE.

PROF. JACOB GOULD SCHURMAN.

Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, of Ithaca, N. Y., president of Cornell University since 1892, has been appointed United States Minister to Greece, succeeding George H. Moses, who has resigned.

Dr. Schurman is a native of Prince Edward Island and is fifty-eight years old. He has studied in various European universities and has received the degree of doctor of laws from Columbia, Yale, Edinburgh, Williams, Dartmouth and Harvard. He went to Cornell as Sage professor of philosophy in 1886 holding that chair until his election to the presidency of Cornell in 1892. He is the author of several important scientific and religious works and takes deep interest in public affairs.

TRIP THROUGH THE WEST

Mr. J. H. Burnham Gives Impressions Of British Columbia

(Special to The Morning Times)

The Empress, Victoria, B.C.

Sir,—I am returning to Vancouver to-day after spending five delightful days seeing old friends here. Mr. Rye, Mr. Bloomfield and Mr. George Stewart, C.E., are well and happy. They left the east, some on account of the heat, others of the cold—so runs the comment of most of the emigres. But for those of us able to stand the heat and the cold, or to "go away" when necessary, the east presents the greater attractions, unless of course, you must have a dim and distant mountain every morning for breakfast. The speculative mania is extraordinary, but to the credit of the people be it said, a matter of concern even to them. But land goes up and up. In all that pertains to agriculture and vegetation, the east is "away ahead." As for the sea, it's chief grandeur lies in its billowy vastness which must be seen in the sea—not from the land. The shores are lined with seaweed, which is precisely like drifting bark, and is not beautiful. The sea hereabouts is too cold to bath in, the people agree. But for timber, fishing, minerals, etc., it would be hard to beat what I have seen and heard (at first hand) both of the island and of the main shore. The trips I have had, my friends have been kindness itself to me, and no more hospitable people than the westerners can very well exist anywhere, I should think. The C.P.R. and its hotels provide a continuous dream of luxury and reliability. Without it there would be no west. When the price of land in the middle and further west goes up a little more, Ontario, etc., will welcome a returning tide.

The years will see the east the centre of attraction unless unless I am much mistaken.

J. H. BURNHAM.

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN HERE NEXT WEEK

Peterborough schools, Collegiate and public will re-open next week. Boys—and girls, too, are heard expressing their fond sentiments for schools and books. The books seem hard to find, so the boys say. But they will all get in line next Monday with shining faces and merry tread to greet the teacher and knuckle down to another session of study to fit them for the big things to be done in future days.

LOCAL MEN WIN AT OTTAWA RIFLE SHOOT

Peterborough marksmen are competing with marked success in the Dominion Rifle Association shoot at Ottawa.

Capt. Watt and Pte. Moore have each taken a valuable prize while Lieut. Ackerman has so far won two prizes of $4 each. Other local men attending the shoot are Sergt. W. L. Mitchell, G. Grange, Candsman and G. Fitzgerald, private, all of the 57th Regiment.

BRITAIN PROTESTS

Notifies United States That Panama Question Will Be Taken to The Hague

Washington, Aug. 28.—Great Britain has reaffirmed its protest against the Panama Canal bill. In a note filed to-day with the State Department by A. Mitchell Innes, Charge the British Embassy here, it was stated that if a satisfactory agreement could not be reached, Great Britain would appeal to The Hague tribunal for arbitration.

The note submitted to-day says Great Britain will give careful consideration to both the bill and the message President Taft sent to Congress relating to discriminating in favor of American coastwise shipping in the canal. If, after due consideration it is found that no satisfactory agreement can be reached in the matter, Great Britain declares that it will be necessary to appeal to arbitration.

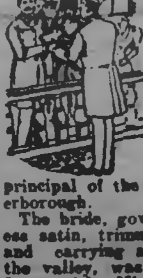
Mr. Innes was instructed by his Government late yesterday to file the protest and sent it to the State Department shortly before noon to-day. It is a brief note stating merely that Great Britain still stands in her previously explained attitude in regard to the Panama bill. The tone of the note makes it appear that Great Britain believes it will be necessary to submit the question to arbitration.

Mr. Innes, who has been acting as Charge of the Embassy during the absence of Ambassador Bryce, came to Washington recently from the summer headquarters of the British Embassy at Kineo, Me., to remain during the discussion in Congress of the bill and to file for the British Government the protests against it. He expects to return to-day to Maine.

One State Department official today declared that he did not believe Great Britain had a case to carry before The Hague tribunal.

WALKER-MORROW NUPTIALS

Bride and Bridgroom Receipt of Many Tokens of Regard



THE beautiful home of Ex-Mayor George W. Morrow was the scene of a very happy and interesting event yesterday evening, when his sister, Mary Isabel was united in marriage to Mr. Duncan Walker, B.A., principal of the Normal School Peterborough.

The bride, gowned in white Duchess satin, trimmed with gold lace, and carrying a boquet of lilies of the valley, was attended by two flower girls, Misses Jessie Matthews and Rosamond Huycke. The Rev. Dr. Shorey, of Lindsay, performed the marriage ceremony, assisted by the Rev. G. T. Mansell.

About seventy guests, principally relatives and friends, were present and many gifts and tokens of esteem were showered upon both bride and bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker left on a late train for a sojourn down the St. Lawrence and visit to Eastern cities.

PETERBOROUGH PAYS HOMAGE TO LATE GENERAL WM. BOOTH

Mayor Bradburn, Local Ministers and Other Citizens Join in Eulogy of Salvation Army Founder at Army Temple Funeral Services

Salvation Army Corps throughout the world held funeral services last evening for their late Commander-in-Chief, General William Booth.

The one salient sentiment of world-wide gatherings who participated in, or listened to, the tributes to his memory, was the religious conviction that the great Salvationist had "Fought a good fight, had finished his course, had kept the Faith."

In Peterborough, the Army's temple was filled to its capacity by men and women in all walks of life, to hear the services for the exalted chieftain.

The services were opened by the band playing the "Dead March in Saul." The opening prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Fee.

Fervent eulogies on the life and work of General Booth were delivered by Mayor Bradburn, representing the civic authorities; Mr. Anderson, representing the citizens; the Rev. Mr. propriate passage from the Scripurer Brooks for the men soldiery and Mrs. Peryer, representing the women soldiery.

After Captain Watkinson had sung "O God, our help in Ages Past," the Rev. H. J. Keith read an appropriate passage from the Scripture and the intent interest with which the words were received served as a token of the great respect the gathering felt for the man who founded the Salvation Army.

As man after man testified to personal knowledge of good developed from the energies of General Booth, a deep religious atmosphere seemed to permeate the whole temple and the life work of the dead Salvationist and its true meaning appealed to all as a great and noble achievement of one of God's noblemen.

During the services the band rendered "Welcome Sweet Day," one of the General's favorite hymns. The closing hymn sang by all was "When I Survey."

Captain Watkinson made the closing remarks, speaking feelingly, and encouragingly to those outside the Shepherd's fold and illustrating his appeal by reference to the life, character work and reward of his dead chieftain.

HENRI BOURASSA MAY RE-ENTER THE FEDERAL FIELD OF POLITICS

If Protest Against Bureau Develop Bye-Election at Three Rivers Nationalist Will Try For Commons Via That Door

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 28.—War looms black from the constituency of Three Rivers for Henri Bourassa purposes, in the event of the constituency being thrown open for bye-election to re-enter the federal arena of politics through that door. In other words it is stated on good authority at the capital that Mr. Bourassa is prepared to stand as candidate against all comers at Three Rivers.

A protest against the election of Hon. Jacques Bureau, ex-Solicitor-General, is now under consideration before the courts, and in the event of the protest being upheld, the seat will be open for election. The entry of Mr. Bourasse into the arena as a Nationalist candidate, will, it is apprehended, present a difficult situation for the Conservative party to face. Should the Government place its seal of support upon the candidature, it would simply serve to emphasize the fact that the Conservative-Nationalist alliance is still in existence. Should they hold aloof, on the other hand, and support a candidate against Mr. Bourassa, the position of Messrs. Monk, Pelletier, and others would be a most distressing one.

NAVAL MISSION SUCCESSFUL SAYS RETURNING MINISTER

Canadian Ministers Now Understand the Views of Responsible British Authorities—Good Will of France

Montreal, Aug. 28.—A special to The Gazette from the steamship Royal Edward by wireless, via Fame Point, says: Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who is on board, returning from London, states that the naval mission has been successful. He is bringing complete information with him, and as soon as Mr. Borden arrives, deliberations will take place before the full Cabinet.

Mr. Hazen says that he is hopeful of a satisfactory solution, and feels that the Canadian Ministers now thoroughly understand the views of responsible British authorities.

Mr. Hazen declined to state whether or not the emergency of the situation had been proven to the Canadian Ministers.

He says the English people were greatly impressed with Mr. Borden's personality, and that in this respect he excelled any previous Canadian visitors.

France, the Minister of Marine declared, views favorably the idea of the British colonies strengthening land defences for the preservation of trades routes, and that the French would welcome this gratifying evidence of the British entente.

UNIFORM LAW FOR DOMINION

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P. For W. Peterboro, Declares that Federal Marriage Law Must be Provided; Can be Passed

PRIVY COUNCIL FINDING

Some Common Understanding, He Declares, Must Be Arrived at Between Provinces on Same Matter as Well.

From the Vancouver News-Advertiser

"Is any further action likely to be taken in the House of Commons on the Ne Temere question in view of the recent decision of the Privy Council?"

The above question was put to Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P. for West Peterboro, who arrived in the city last evening from Victoria. Mr. Burnham took a strong stand when the Lancaster bill was fought out in the House last session and was one of the staunchest supporters of that measure.

Mr. Burnham replied: "The Privy Council's judgment gave an unexpectedly full effect to the word 'solemnization,' in the power granted to the provinces by the British North America Act.

"Something will have to be done to provide a federal marriage law and it will not be necessary in doing so to fly in the face of the recent judgment or to offend any province. A federal law can be passed and people can be married under it without conflicting with another law covering smaller territory. For example, if I wish to get married in an unorganized district how am I to do so since it is not a province and since there is no federal marriage law affecting the district?

"Such a confession of weakness and failure of administration on the part of a government or parliament could not be tolerated. A marriage law

When Larry and Harry, and Molly and May
Jumped out of their beds at the peep of the day,
They invaded the kitchen and held up the cook,
And then the wee bandits—of course it's no wonder—
Sat down and ate up every speck of their plunder.

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 360 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

ARE WATCHING TICKS.

British Columbia Insect Is Under Careful Expert Scrutiny.

In reference to the reported statement of J. W. Cockle of Kaslo, B.C., to the effect that the woodticks which abound in British Columbia carry germs which cause spinal meningitis and beri-beri, and that the bite of these insects is sometimes fatal, which statement has caused considerable alarm in British Columbia, Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion entomologist, states:

"While I do not know what statement Mr. Cockle made, I can most emphatically state that the woodticks have not been shown to have any relation to either spinal meningitis or the tropical disease of beri-beri. The real facts are as follows: For some time the division of entomology has been investigating the distribution and habits of the Rocky Mountain spotted fever tick. Mr. Cockle has kindly sent, at my request, specimens of woodticks which I have identified as this species. Specimens of the same species have also been sent to me from other districts in British Columbia.

"This tick has been shown to be the carrier of the organism or germ which causes the disease known as Rocky Mountain spotted fever, prevalent in certain regions of Montana and Idaho, from 5 to 70 per cent. of the cases proving fatal, according to the locality.

"So far as I have been able to discover, no certain case of this disease has been reported in Canada, but the possibility of its introduction or discovery at any time made it desirable that the distribution and habits of this germ-bearing tick should be investigated, and such an investigation is now being carried on.

"I am anxious to have reports from any medical man of cases of diseases which they suspect of being traceable to the bites of ticks, and also specimens of woodticks, under which term several species are included."

FRENCH TOBACCO TESTERS.

The French government's official tasters of tobacco form a category of civil servants of whose activity little is known outside their own department.

Tobacco is a state monopoly in France, and these experts are employed under the ministry of finance to report on all classes of tobacco that are permitted to be sold in France. The men are mostly superannuated inspectors of tobacco factories.

Their hours of business are from 9 to 5. As a rule, it is the lower grades of tobacco that need the most careful attention. They have to report not only on the cigars, cigarettes and pipe tobaccos put on the market by the French Tobacco Regie, but also on all imported tobacco.

Smoking when compulsory is anything but an agreeable duty, these employees say. They are in constant danger from ills caused by the excessive use of tobacco, and they combat these by taking large quantities of black coffee, which is also said to assist them to differentiate between the various kinds of tobacco on which they have to give their opinion.—Exchange.

A WESTERN WRITER.

"Janey Canuck" Is the Most Interesting of Our Women Scribes.

Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of Edmonton, is, perhaps, the most interesting of the large group of Canadian women who are making noteworthy contributions to the literature of the Dominion. Mrs. Murphy was born in 1868 (she is not afraid to tell her age) at Cookstown—the south Simcoe village famous as the birthplace and present home of Hon. J. E. Duff, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture. Emily Ferguson was her name, and she came of a noted Simcoe County family of Tory politicians, being a niece of the late Col. T. R. Ferguson, and granddaughter of the late Col. O. R. Gowan, both of whom were members of the House of Commons. Sir John A. Macdonald was a guest at the wedding of her parents. She was educated at Bishop Strachan School, Toronto, winning the Alex. Manning medal for general proficiency. In 1887 she married Rev. Arthur Murphy, a Church of England clergyman, and for years has lived in the west.

Mrs. Murphy writes under the pen name of Janey Canuck, and her book, "Janey Canuck in the West," was enthusiastically praised when it appeared. Her publishers, Cassells & Co., Toronto, have just issued a delightful sequel to this work, entitled "Open Trails." It is not a story in the ordinary sense, but a series of impressions of western life, skillfully and charmingly recorded. Mrs. Murphy is a very keen observer, with a real and robust vein of humor. Robust, indeed, is the best word to describe her work as a whole, for it is all strong, sane, and refreshing. The only fault to be found with "Open Trails" is that the last eight chapters are unnecessary—just a few rambling remarks about a visit to the east, which might have been condensed into a paragraph, if a comparison of west and east was desired.

Mrs. Murphy is candid in criticism of the west, much as she loves it. Take this paragraph, for example: "The Egypt of the Pharaohs did great things. She boasted herself to be the granary of the world, even as we claim to be the granary of the Empire, but in this day we are not particularly concerned as to the number of bushels she produced or as to how she marketed them. Our attention is riveted on those records which tell how she lived and loved, and what she looked like—her color, so to say."

"Janey" believes in fair play as well as frankness. She defends the cost of construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific in the west. It may have cost three times as much as other railways, but she points out that the road is sound and solid, not "cobwebs strung on a muskeg." She has a word to say for the French nuns at St. Albert, who have on their monastery windows not a cross and the lilies of France, but a cross and maple leaves. As to the Canadian who puts up a notice "No English need apply," she says: "I delight in that Englishman who, on seeing such a notice, raised his eyebrows and said: 'By Jove! Copied off the gates of Hell!'"—Star Weekly.

Among the Cannibals.

News has reached Great Britain that Mr. David Jenness, the leader of the Oxford University anthropological expedition, has reached his destination in Ferguson Island, where he intends to study the natives. The members of the party are making journeys from their headquarters along the coast, gaining knowledge in this way of the people and the language, and the inhabitants are proving very hospitable to the travelers. Cannibalism is not practiced so much as was expected.

Very little is known of the Ferguson Islanders, and Mr. Jenness intends to remain on the island for another year, during which time he will endeavor to throw some light on the origin of the various tribes, about whom there has been so much controversy. Some authorities believe that the Ferguson Islanders are an intermixture of the Melanesian and Polynesian races, while others hold they are Papuans, and the expedition hopes to settle these points beyond doubt. When Ferguson Island has been exhausted the expedition will move on to Rossel Island, about 150 miles eastward, and continue explorations there.

MUTILATED BANK NOTES.

It is, of course, obvious that with a paper currency in constant use, more or less of the notes become accidentally destroyed, either wholly or in part, and the question arises, what is the custom of the banks or the Government as to the redemption of such, says the Journal of Commerce. We do not allude to such notes as become too dirty or defaced for circulation — these are duly withdrawn, burnt and written off note accounts and other bills issued in their place. Nor can anything very well be done in the case of notes wholly destroyed by accident. It is not the practice in Canada for the public or the banks to keep a record of notes passing through their hands and a moment's thought will show that a bank must always regard as an immediate liability any outstanding note, and be prepared for its redemption in cash at any moment. In the cade of partially destroyed notes, however, a different treatment is indicated. What is done when such a note is presented for redemption? Enquiry among the banks shows that there is no absolutely universal rule, nor is there any law to govern such cases. Experience shows that banks cannot always rely on the statements accompanying request for redemption of a mutilated note. In the United States, it appears to be the custom to pay just the proportion of the note which remaind, this being ascertained by a simple process of measurement. This custom is followed by some of the Canadian banks. Usually, however, the individual cases are referred to the Head Offices, which take into consideration the circumstances of each application, the standing of the parties making the request, and so on. In many cases, where the mutilation is small, the full amount is paid — in others only a partial payment is made. In the latter case, what becomes of the amount of the unpaid balance? It does not appear that any of the banks treat this as profit, so that the aggregate amounts must remain on their books for an indefinite time. There is an idea that a very large amount of circulation has been permanently destroyed, but the public notions would appear to be much in excess of the reality. It has been found that, even in the case of large conflagrations, such as have occurred in Canada, the amount of notes then in circulation which are redeemed at the present day is comparatively small, so that the accumulated total now outstainding cannot be large enough to cause the public any concern. The whole matter may come up at the time for the revision of the Bank Act, and some uniform rule be adopted.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A woman obtained a divorce from her husband on the grounds that he swore at her in seven different languages. The court realized that this is more than any person should be required to suffer, even if the judiciary does respect learning.

The Sons of Rest fear that they will soon be face to face with the hardest times they have known in this country. They have been greatly disturbed by the news that the police of Toronto and other cities are arresting all vagrants and offering them the alternative of going to work or going to jail.

Do You Feel Moody, Irritable, Depressed?

Tells How to Cure Quickly.

"Even when I was young I was not robust and healthy like other girls. I suffered from headaches, and had sort of blue feelings that deprived me of the joyful spirits and pleasures other girls seemed to get. After I married I found I could not throw worries off like other women, and those full feelings of despondency and weariness made me very unhappy. There was no cause to feel so, and my doctor said my liver was sluggish, and this accounted for my poor color, my tiredness, languor and despair. The pills the doctor gave me were too purgative, made me weaker because they were too active for my constitution. Dozens of my friends recommended Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and they were so mild and helpful. Well, I never used a pill that acted so quickly as Dr. Hamilton's. They were so comfortable to use, I was afraid they might not help. But in a week I knew they had been actively engaged in cleaning up my system. They did the work of a tonic and blood medicine combined. I improved to a marvelous degree with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I now maintain the most perfect kind of health by using them once or twice a week."

It is Mrs. E. V. Erlanger, well-known at Gloucester, who relates the above experience. She proved what you and all others, men and women, can prove—that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are best for restoring health and best for keeping the system in perfect running order. Don't be misled into using anything but Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. a box, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid by the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

The Bobcaygeon Independent favors a return to sandals. It says: "The Boot manufacturers have agreed on another rise of fifteen p. c. The health of the people would be greatly improved if home made sandals became popular for the summer. Here is a chance for fashionable ladies to do good both for themselves and the public.

Unwilling to wait for government gangs to construct a highway from Fort George on the Grand Trunk Pacific main line to the Bear River, about 60 miles distance, the owners of the immense coal measures there have started themselves to continue the Willow River trail to these coal fields. On the completion of the work Mr. James Ashworth, the well-known coal authority will, according to western advices, visit the district and make a thorough report. Experts have already gone over the ground, however, and after making searching investigations report that there are easily accessible 150,000,000 tons of first-class coal on the property. These immense coal measures, together with the thousands of "white" horse power that are to be developed at Willow River, should play an important part in the industrial development of Fort George.

A GREAT CONVENIENCE.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—In common with other owners of small boats on Little Lake, I desire through the columns of The Times to express my appreciation to Mr. Burnham for the construction of a boat slide at Lock 7. This is a great convenience to all who are fond of boating, as it enables them to go down the river without the toil of a portage. I know that all boatmen join me in the above.

While writing I would call attention to the great annoyance that those who have boathouses are subject to through the mill owners allowing their logs to obstruct the river at this point. At times it is impossible to get through, the jam is so great. Surely, Mr. Editor, there should be some way of preventing this?

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am, etc.,

—Chas. H. Partridge,
532 Patterson street.

HAS SCHEME TO STOP SHIPS FROM SINKING

Britisher Invents Collision Mat To Check Inrushing Waters Which Proves Efficient.

London, Aug. 28.—W. F. Beart, of Godmanchester, is the inventor of a new form of collision mat which he maintains will adequately prevent the inrush of water in a whole made in a vessel below the water line.

A demonstration of the invention was given before Admiral Carden, Mr. Pretyman, M.P., and other gentlemen interested in naval matters. The ship was represented by a barrier constructed in a lock on the Ouse with a head of water of 4½ feet. The leak took the form of a hole of about six feet square cut in the barrier. The experiments carried out proved to be satisfactory.

The invention consists of two parts the one being a series of metal tubes separated by rigid rods in such a manner that they form a light and collapsible framework composed of flat sections, easily folded up. The tubes are also connected by a number of steel wires. It is proposed that this framework should be carried either folded or suspended from davits until required for use. In the event of the appliance being used, the framework is lowered and allowed to unfold automatically by the release of the lower portion.

The second part of the invention consists of a mat somewhat larger than the framework but fitted with weights at one end so that as soon as the fastenings are released it unrolls itself automatically down the frame-work which supports it against the pressure of the water rushing in. At the conclusion of the experiments, which proved the efficacy of the invention, provided it was worked in a satisfactory manner, the inventor showed how it was possible to turn the framework into a raft with the aid of a sheet or some canvas.

C.P.R. LAUNCHES TWO BIG LINERS

New Ocean Ships Eclipse Old Boats in Size, Speed and Comfort

A cablegram has been received announcing that the Empress of Russia has been launched at Glasgow, and her sister ship the Empress of Asia will be launched in the course of the next two months. Both vessels are being built for the C. P. R. by the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company of Glasgow, for their trans-Pacific service and will be ready to go into service early next summer; they are very much larger than any of the present fleet, being 590 feet in length, 68 feet beam and 46 feet in depth, and gross tonnage of about 15,000. The turbine system of propulsion has been adopted by the C.P.R. for the first time in these two vessels which are to be propelled by four screws driven by four sets of Parson's turbines and will have an average speed at sea of eighteen knots per hour. They will embody all the latest improvements both for the safety and comfort of passengers.

In the construction of these vessels a radical departure from the current practice has been made in constructing them with cruiser sterns and the rudders entirely underhung. This form of stern besides giving the vessels a very distinctive appearance increases the effective length of water line whereby assisting propulsion, and also adds considerably to the available deck space at the after end. The vessels will have five decks and in addition a long combined fore castle and bridge deck. Above the bridge deck will be located the principal first class public rooms with the officers quarters and navigating bridge overhead. In the dining saloon tables have been arranged to suit the demands of various passengers. Small tables will be provided to accommodate two and four persons and larger ones for parties of six will be arranged in alcoves, whilst there will be still larger tables for other parties.

Shows Ship's Accommodation.

Accommodation is provided for two hundred first class, 100 second class and 300 third class passengers, the two latter classes being for Asiatics. A number of single berth rooms as well as double berth rooms have been provided so that the growing class of passengers who desire privacy can be taken care of. There are also a number of suites consisting of bedroom, sitting room and bath room. Besides the usual spacious dining saloon, lounge, cafe, library and waiting room, a large gymnasium has been provided on the upper deck. It is to be fitted up with a large variety of exercising machines. Another feature adopted for the first time is the laundry which will be found of great convenience, especially in the hot weather on the China coast.

TWENTY-FIVE LOCOMOTIVES

Immense Number of Grain and Other Cars Being Built.

Montreal, Aug. 28.—Twenty-five Consolidation locomotives with superheaters are being delivered by the Montreal Locomotive Works to the Grand Trunk Pacific and will be despatched west to Winnipeg as quickly as they are received, for use on the Lake Superior division in connection with this year's crop. As each of these locomotives is tremendously powerful and with a hauling capacity of more than 50 grain cars, it will be seen that the G.T.P. is sparing no efforts to assure that the scrop promptness and efficiency. In this connection it is interesting to note that for the crop of 1911-12 from September to July 12, 145 cars were inspected at Winnipeg for the G.T.P. out of total of 162,845, the remainder belonging to the C.P.R., C.N.R and G.N.R. These figures include oats, barley and flax, as well as wheat. For the same period, 1910-1911 the Grand Trunk Pacific handled 6,836 cars out of a total of 97,419, so that it can be seen how greatly the company's equipment had to be increased to meet this traffic alone. The development of the traffic and the ever growing tax upon the railroads can be seen from the fact also that between the harvest periods of 1910-11 the total number of cars inspected grew from 55,606 to 97,419; the lowest year being when 110,999 cars were inspected. If the same rate of increase is maintained this year as was the case during the preceding period a total of at least 220,000 cars will be required.

City Rulers Meet.

THE BESSIE BUTLER RETURNS FROM THE WEST

The parliamentary party which sailed Friday from this port for an inspection of the Trent Canal returned to Peterboro yesterday morning. The members of the party expressed thorough satisfaction with the canal operations. Their trip ended at Barrie.

With the completion of the Trent Canal the Kawartha Lakes district promises to become one of the greatest centres of attraction for tourists in America, say members of the party.

Stops for inspections were made at South Beach, Sturgeon Point, Beaverton, Kirkfield Lock, Orillia and Barrie. At Lindsay Supt. McClellan inspected the government work in progress there.

The wives of most of the members accompanied their husbands and enjoyed a rare trip through the chain of rivers and lakes to Barrie.

The distinguished party was composed as follows:

Wm. R. Northrup, M.P., and wife Belleville; Mr. C. A. Munson, M.P., West Northumberland; Mr. W. Bennet, M.P., East Simcoe; Major S. Sharpe, M.P., and wife, Uxbridge; Mr. J. Kendry, ex-M.P., and wife, Peterboro; Mr. G. Wainwright, manager of the Bank of Ottawa, Peterboro; Mr. Sexsmith, M.P., Peterborough; Supt. J. A. McClellan, of the Trent Valley Canal and Mrs. McClellan and son, this city; the Misses Wainwright, of Peterboro, and Mr. G. A. Mathersill, of Ottawa.

FARM LABORERS.

The latest report from Winnipeg regarding farm laborers was received in a telegram to-day from the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Winnipeg, that on account of heavy demand for harvesters especially along Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, where the maximum wages are being paid, that every effort will be made to increase the supply.

A special farm laborers' train will leave Toronto, 2.00 p.m., on Friday, the 30th, via Grand Trunk, through Chicago and Duluth.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid While such fund is only $60,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

WHY

the stock of Trust Companies and Banks appeal to conservative investors.

The following are a few good reasons why you should invest NOW in the stock of the Acadia Trust Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C.:

1. It is showing remarkable growth, having earned seventy (70 p.c.) per cent. on its paid-up capital since its inception, November 26, 1911.

2. It is thoroughly established (with no promotion stock).

3. It is subject to advance without notice; and will very shortly be amongst the premier Trust Companies doing business in British Columbia.

4. Its profits will necessarily be large.

5. It will declare large bonus dividends to reduce the uncalled liability, thereby increasing the paid-up portion of your stock.

6. Prospects of an increase in value are excellent.

A FEW FACTS OF INTEREST

The Acadia Trust Company Limited, was incorporated November 26, 1911, with an authorized capital of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars, which is now being increased to One Million Dollars ($1,000,000.00); and the charter granted by this Province covers all business profitable to a Trust Company.

Trust Companies, under the B. C. Act, are required to render quarterly statements to the Minister of Finance, giving very detail of their assets and liabilities, thus affording absolute security to investors and depositors.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

St. George's Church held its annual picnic on the grounds of Mrs. Grant on Thursday, August 22. Despite the unsettled weather there was a large gathering and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. Sports of all kinds were indulged in, including a mile race, which event was won by Stanley Windsor. The booth was well patronized and a substantial tea was served in the early evening, after which all betook themselves to the Parish room, where an excellent programme was rendered by local and outside talent. Songs were given by the Misses McIlvena, Hinchcliffe, Brown, Picknell and McKay, and by Messrs. Tanner and Musgrave; violin selections by Mr. Wm. Staples; readings and recitations by Mrs. Pitts.

The weather continues cool, with more rain than the farmers desire. Saturday afternoon and evening a severe electric storm passed over the village, followed by a heavy downpour of rain.

Miss Emma and Miss Ida Tucker, and Miss Gertie Windsor, were visiting friends in Apsley Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Alex. and Miss Millie McIlvena are visiting at Mr. Geo. Bullied's, Coe Hill for a few days.

Mr. Pitts, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, landscape artist, is a guest at the Apsley House. He is gathering local views.

During the electric storm Saturday several phones were put out of commission and a large pine tree on Mrs. Grant's farm was struck by lightning.

The Rev. Christopher Lord has gone to Toronto for a few days' visit.

The Rev. Mr. Crae, Presbyterian Minister, of Norwood, held communion service in Apsley Sunday last.

URGES CONSUMERS TO BUY GOODS IN BULK

New York, Aug. 28.—The committee on markets of the New York State Food Investigating Commission has made a report on conditions in New York city showing that the metropolis spends about $644,683,000 a year for food, and of this enormous sum nearly one-half goes for the item of distribution alone; but it is estimated that at least from 10 to 20 per cent of the cost could be saved through less handling by transportation agencies and middlemen.

The Commission is opposed to municipal markets, and favors a series of retail department food stores, each capable of serving from 25,000 to 50,000 people because these stores would insure a minimum of waste, a proper return upon capital and reasonable distribution charges.

The fact is set forth that the attractive "package" foods cost 40 per cent more than the same foods when sold in bulk.

Trading stamps add 3 per cent. to the cost of goods with whose sale they are connected. Delivery by wagon or auto adds 10 per cent. to the cost of goods purchased and sent home, while cold storage goods are 8 per cent. higher than fresh ones. In view of these facts the Commission urges consumers, when they are able to do so, to buy in bulk, instead of fancy packages, to cut the trading stamp, carry purchases home and not buy things that are out of season.

BANK TELLER DENIES GUILT

Arthur B. Richmond Arraigned on Charge of Stealing $26,000

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The Bank Clerk Arthur Richmond, who was arrested over a week ago on the charge of stealing $26,000 from the Bank of Toronto and who attempted suicide by taking bichloride of mercury tablets, appeared for the first time in court this morning.

Richmond pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by jury. As Crown Attorney Corley, however, was not ready to proceed with the preliminary investigations the case was remanded until September 5th.

Summer Stuff.

They dabbled their tootsies, side by each,
In the rippling mountain brook.
He was a pippin; she was a peach—
Wonderful! Have a look!

He fished in that little purling stream.
He swore he would catch a whale.
His swear was only a summer's dream—
Terrible! Hear his wail!

He waded out of the crick, by Jing,
In the hazy sunset glow,
And he hadn't caught a gol darned thing.
By golly! But she had, though!
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Just a Precaution.

"Why are you starting out with an umbrella on such a sunshiny day?"

"I am bound for the art gallery."

"But you cannot exhibit an umbrella."

"Of course not. But a notice on the catalogue says that one must leave his cane or umbrella outside before he can enter."—Toronto World.

Kindness.

"Do you ever go out of your way to do things to make other people happy?"

"Yes. I crossed the street this morning to avoid meeting a man who owes money to me."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Busy Man.

"Away, away!"
Said William Bix.
"I have no time
For politics."
Then, just to show
His proper bent,
He bought some bait
And fishing went.

Benefited Anyway.

"Sorry you couldn't attend our banquet last night, doctor. It would have done you good."

"Thank you! It has done me good. I have just prescribed for three of the guests."—Boston Transcript.

The Literary Courtship.

WONDERFUL MIRAGES.

Those Seen In the Winter Twilights In Northern Alaska.

The most wonderful mirages ever beheld by mortal eyes are those that are seen in the twilight winter days in northern Alaska. These remarkable ghastly pictures of things, both imaginary and real, are mirrored on the surface of the waste plains instead of upon the clouds or in the atmosphere.

Mimic lakes and water courses fringed with vegetation are to be seen pictured as real as life on the surface of the snow, while grassy mounds, stumps, trees, logs, etc., which have an actual existence some place on the earth's surface, are outlined against mountains of snow in all kinds of fantastic shapes.

Some of these objects are distorted and magnified into the shapes of huge, ungainly animals and reptiles of enormous proportions. The fogs and mists are driven across these wastes by the winds, and as the objects referred to loom up in the flying vapors they appear like living creatures and seem to be actually moving rapidly across the plain.

At other times they appear high in the air, but this is a characteristic of the northern mirages that are seen near the seashore. When the vapors and mists are driven out to sea the images mirrored in them appear to be lunging through the waters at a terrific rate of speed, dashing the spray high in the air, while huge breakers roll over them and onward toward the mountainous islands beyond and against which they appear to be dashing.

Monstrous serpents, apparently several hundred feet long, sometimes with riders on their backs; men on horseback thirty to fifty feet in height, animals and birds of all kinds of horrible shapes and colors seem to be scurrying past, racing and chasing each other until they are lost in the twilight fogs or dashed to pieces upon the rocky islands mentioned above and which are twenty miles out to sea.

Structure of Fur.

Fur is a threadlike fiber which grows out of the pores of the skins of animals. It grows in length from the root and not from the top, as with vegetable productions. The lower portion merely lengthens out, and the top projects forward, consequently if once cut it will always remain blunt. It is tubular and filled with oil, which gives to the fiber its color. In addition to the oil it contains mineral matter, among which are sulphur and iron. A close examination of the fiber will, to a certain extent, show the section of the country the animal inhabits. The short and crisp, with an oval or angular cross section, indicates tropical growth; the long and soft, with circular cross section, a northern climate. The fibers from different parts of the same animal have a different structure and value, that which is taken from the back of a land animal being the finest, while the reverse is true of the animal which confines itself mostly to water, the under side being much finer than the back.

The Perfect Spanish Beggar.

There is a calm dignity about the Spaniard of every class which will strike a stranger. Even the beggars, of whom, goodness knows, there are plenty, seem to stand on a higher platform than their confreres in other lands. Here the statutory address is, "Could you spare me a copper?" but a Spanish beggar thus addressed us at a railway station, and we give his address as typical of his class, "O senorito, do me un alimosnita, y rogare por su feliz viaje!" which may be translated into English thus: "Oh, little gentleman, give me an alms, and I will pray for you a happy journey."

In Doubt.

An aged colored man was passing a fish store when he stopped to examine a huge turtle chained in the doorway as an advertisement. He had never seen a turtle before, and he prodded the strange creature curiously. Suddenly he popped his finger into his mouth with a howl of pain. After the finger had stopped bleeding he gazed at it ruefully, then eyed the turtle apprehensively.

"What's the matter, Rastus?" asked the fish dealer, with a grin.

"Nuffin', sah, nuffin'. Ah was jest wonderin' whether Ah had been bit or stung."

Mexican Courtship.

A Mexican girl is courted by a unique process. Her would-be lover walks up and down the street on the opposite side and stares at her window by the hour. If his appearance is agreeable she appears at the window after a few days of this performance. When the acquaintance develops he is introduced to her papa, and after the necessary marriage arrangements have been made he is introduced to her. The preliminary tramping and staring are called "doing the bear."

Average Amount of Sleep.

Usually the amount of sleep is in inverse ratio to the strength and development of consciousness. Thus children need more sleep than adults. Some men need very little rest, and the same may be said of women. However, eight hours is the average amount required by the human body to restore its vitality by complete rest. If less is taken one's health is apt to be impaired. A good night's sleep will do more toward building up general health than all the tonics known.

No Procrastination.

"Ethel," he whispered, "will you marry me?"

"I don't know, Charles," she replied coyly.

"Well, when you find out," he said, rising, "send me word, will you? I shall be at Mabel Hicks' until 10 o'clock. If I don't hear from you by 10 I'm going to ask her."—London Tit-Bits.

BURLEIGH and ANSTRUTHER COURT OF REVISION

A Court of Revision of the Assessment Roll for the United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther for the year 1912, will be held at Burleigh Falls, on Wednesday, Sept. 18th, 1912, at 1.30 p.m.

WM. GALLON.

must be provided for such districts. Then as to provinces it is quite plain that some common understanding must be arrived at by or through the common agent of the provinces, viz.: the Federal House, respecting the validity of the marriage of people moving from one province to another. Otherwise we should be in an equally absurd position in this respect also. These two cases once being provided for will cover the entire Dominion and the whole question without conflicting with the jurisdiction of a province, for, be it observed, a provincial law cannot override a federal law, which does not pretend to override a corresponding provincial law. We have lots of similar cases in fishing, mining, navigation, etc.

"I think it will be easily settled, but it will be settled somehow. You may be sure of that. Those who wish to be married exclusively according to church law may do so, but to deny a similar right to those who wish for marriage under a civil law is to acknowledge that in such matters churches can override the laws of a nation or people, which will of itself bring the whole matter to a speedy issue. Let the churches be free, and the people also. Let us all be free. That is my motto."

This is Mr. Burnham's first trip to the Coast, and he expressed himself as greatly impressed with the progress of the West. He added that he thought every member of parliament should travel all over the Dominion before he was allowed to legislate for the whole of Canada.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S
PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF
ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York. [redacted]

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyes, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

Alaska's Delegate.

It takes the Alaskan delegate nearly a year to cover his district in a campaign. He reaches the coast cities by boat, goes down the Yukon to the interior and goes in as far as time and facilities permit to the interior camps. So closely is the population packed in the settled districts, however, that he is able to tell by midnight of election day from the telegraphed reports from the more important cities whether or not he has been elected.—Argonaut.

Always Against Them.

Mike Kelly had been a habitue of the courthouse for fifteen years and at every criminal trial had occupied a front seat, listening with evident admiration to the speeches of the prosecuting attorney.

"Ben," he said one day after the prosecutor had ended his remarks, "I've heard you speak again and again, but never, on my soul, have I heard you say a good word for the poor devil on trial."—Popular Magazine.

Mary's Little Ring.

Mary had a little ring; 'twas given by her beau; and everywhere that Mary went that ring was sure to go.

She took the ring with her one day when she went out to tea, where she might display it to the girls, who numbered twenty-three.

And when the girls all saw that ring, they made a great ado, exclaiming, with one voice, "Has it at last got round to you?"—London Tit-Bits.

DEWEY SAW THE POINT.

He Paid Up After His Dog Had Been Kicked Around.

Admiral Dewey had an English bulldog of which he was very proud. So marked was his affection for the dog that an atmosphere of "love me, love my dog" had sprung up around the admiral and the canine. It is further reported that the animal came near causing trouble between the head of the navy and the late "Fighting Bob" Evans.

Admiral Dewey while on a tour of inspection when he was in command of the Pacific squadron took the dog along with him. He lost sight of his pet on Evans' ship, but in a few minutes saw him hurled skyward from the companionway as if shot from a catapult. With blood in his eye Admiral Dewey rushed over to see the reason for the sudden ascent, surmising correctly that some one had kicked the dog. He saw "Fighting Bob" at the foot of the steps.

"Sir," roared the admiral, "what do you mean by kicking my dog?"

"Sir," roared Evans in return, "I'd have kicked that dog if he had been the property of the president of the United States! He chewed the legs off two pairs of fifteen dollar trousers and destroyed an edition de luxe of the navy regulations."

Named For His Satanic Majesty

It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that hardly a county in the British isles is without some place or thing with the designation Devil, all of which prompts the thought that his Satanic majesty must be a holder of a considerable amount of property on this terrestrial globe. The Devil's Punch Bowl, the Devil's Bellows, the Devil's Kitchen, the Devil's Beef Tub, the Devil's Frying Pan, the Devil's Lake, the Devil's Dike, the Devil's Caldron, are a few instances which occur at random, scattered about in various parts of the country.—Dundee Advertiser.

What "Gold Filled" Means.

There is a notion largely held by purchasers of "gold filled" watches that the cases are, in some mysterious fashion, impregnated with gold. As a matter of fact, the term is very misleading. Gold filling consists in the employment of two sheets of gold between which is placed a section of solder coated base metal. This metallic sandwich is heated and pressed so that the three parts are welded, with the gold outside.

One Woman's Way.

Husband—Why are you buying such an expensive present for Mrs. Shoddy? I thought you told me that you hated her.

Wife—So I do, but I know she can't afford to give me a return one as handsome, and it will make her perfectly furious.

Department of Railways and Canals. Canada.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 18[illegible] miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $100,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

L. K. JONES.
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

VARNISHING DAY.

It Brings Many Surprises at the English Royal Academy.

When the hanging committee of the English Royal academy has completed the work of "hanging," the artists whose pictures are exhibited on the academy walls are forwarded a piece of pasteboard known as a "varnishing card." This card is the first intimation the artist receives that his picture has passed triumphantly through the processes of judging and "hanging," and it allows him to visit the academy on a particular day—"varnishing day"—just before the galleries are thrown open to the public. Hundreds of knights of the brush are to be found in the galleries of Burlington House on "varnishing day" and here and there are flights of steps and improvised platforms covered with artists putting the last loving touches to their canvases. Here, perched on the top rung of a pair of steps, is a young lady with smiling face scraping her picture with a palette knife and putting in fresh spots of paint occasionally, while on the floor at her feet is a young man whose features are the picture of misery, his eyes roaming toward the ceiling. His canvas is hopelessly skied, and he is silently abusing the members of the hanging committee for their lack of judgment.

"Varnishing day" brings many surprises to the exhibitors. One man will find his canvas wrongly named, and another, an impressionist, may be startled to discover that his glorious sunset, over which he has taken so much pains, is upside down. And for the first time he realizes that an impressionist's pictures can be turned about any way without greatly endangering the effect.

Turner had one of his paintings hung upside down, and old academicians well remember that a little canvas, "A Sleeping Naiad," was once, owing to lack of space, placed on the wall in an upright position and renamed "The Waking Naiad."—National Magazine.

Level of Two Seas.

When attention was first called to the practicability of a canal from the Mediterranean to the Red sea by the first Napoleon a corps of surveyors was sent out to "run the levels." They reported that the scheme would necessarily have to be abandoned because the level of the Red sea was thirty feet six and a half inches higher than that of the Mediterranean. That report put a damper on the canal project for several years. In 1847, however, some "doubting Thomases" prevailed on the great powers to resurvey the route. England sent Robert Stephenson, Austria M. Talbot and France Signor Negrelli. They found that the two seas had exactly the same level, and the Suez canal was the result.

The Weight of the World.

A cubic foot of earth weighs about five and a half times as much as a cubic foot of water. A cubic mile of earth then weighs 25,694,200,000 tons. The volume of the earth is 259,880,000,000 cubic miles. The weight of the world without its atmosphere is 6,666,250,000,000,000,000,000 tons. If we add to this the weight of the atmosphere given above we get a grand total—6,666,255,819,600,000,000,000 tons.

She Used Them.

"Does your mother take an interest in your father's business?" asked the lady visitor.

"Indeed, she does," replied the boy feelingly.

"And what is your father's business?"

"He's in the shingle business."—Yonkers Statesman.

So He Did.

"Indians, you know," said the widely read man, "are very stoical. They're never known to laugh."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the flippant person. "The poet Longfellow made Minne-ha-ha."—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Novdyel Catarrh Reme. Cures Without Drugs

THE HEALING VAPOR OF CATARRHOZONE LOOSENS THE COUGH, STOPS ALL DISCHARGE AND PREVENTS SNEEZING.

The real danger of Catarrh lies in putting off treatment. You may have Catarrh yourself, but you may not know it. Before the disease spreads from your nose to the stomach, lungs, or bronchial tubes, root it out—cure it with "Catarrhozone." Look over the following symptoms—then examine yourself:

Bad Breath	Stuffy Nostrils
Frequent Sneezing	Ears Buzzing
Watery Eyes	Hacking Cough
Bad Taste	Droppings
Raising Phlegm	Difficult Breathing

Don't continue to burden your system for another day when the germs of such a filthy, loathsome disease as Catarrh. Get Catarrhozone to-day—inhale its soothing vapor, fill your breathing organs with its balsamic essences, and all trace of Catarrh will forever depart. Read what Elwood S. Lee, of Sydenham, Ont., says of his cure with Catarrhozone:

"I was a chronic sufferer from continuous colds in the throat and nose and for many years have constantly had Catarrh. I was recommended to try Catarrhozone and find that by using the inhaler on the first touch of a cold or la grippe I am able to stay it in a few hours. I have been able to breathe through my nose freely since using Catarrhozone; in fact, I am completely cured."

(Signed) ELWOOD S LEE."

Once you try Catarrhozone you'll realize how indispensable it is—the large dollar size contains an indestructible hard rubber inhaler and sufficient medication to last two months. Beware of the substitutor and imitators of Catarrhozone—use the genuine and you'll get cured. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Three hundred persons attended the social for the Zion Methodist church Otonabee, Tuesday evening. The function was celebrated at the home of Mr. Geo. Manley, of Keene road. Mr. Ed. Wand and Miss Kemp were among the Peterborough contingent, furnishing the musicale.

Leaving For the West.

The Times was informed yesterday that about thirty persons from Apsley and neighborhood have left for the west, where they intend to reside. The constant exodus is depleting the north country of some of its best agriculturists. Few, except the rising generation, come to fill their places on the farms.

Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Davidson celebrated their golden wedding at their residence, 815 George street Tuesday. They were married by the late Rev. J. W. R. Beck, M.A., rector of St. John's Church in 1861. They were the recipients of many congratulatory letters and valuable presents on the occasion of the celebration of the interesting and happy event.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

More Farm Laborers wanted. Not nearly enough gone forward to fill labor demands. Additional excursions will be run from Peterborough on Sept. 4th and 6th, same conditions and rates as on other excursions. Leave Peterborough 4.19 p. m. or 4.38 p.m., above dates. Toronto 10.30 p.m. Secure tickets and all information from W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

Prominent Railway Engineer Here.

The Times had a call yesterday from Mr. Clarence Leonard, C.E., son of Mr. J. W. Leonard, assistant general manager of the C.P.R. Mr. Leonard is head of the engineering staff of the Dominion Construction Company, who are building a section of the C.P.R. line east of here, south of Sharbot Lake. Mr. Leonard was the guest of Mr. Jack Hopwood for a day at Chemong Park. Yesterday he spent the early morning in calling on several of his many friends in the city and took the 11.28 train for the east.

Seeks Lost Heiress.

The Times is in receipt of a letter from the Shauffer Detective Agency, Chicago, enquiring as to the whereabouts of a domestic named Isabel Wyld, who came to Canada from England about five years ago. The letter says that about $60,000 is awaiting her in Chicago, left by a deceased uncle. If Isabel belongs to the rapidly expanding list of esteemed subscribers to this great family journal, she will no doubt feel, when she reads the above, that g.f.j. is clear goods all the way through, and full yard wide.

WEDDING BELLS

Jeffries—Wilkinson.

Miss Elizabeth Marie Wilkinson and Mr. Geo. A. Jeffries, this city, were married Monday evening at the residence of the Rev. H. J. Keith, who performed the marriage ceremony. The couple will reside in Peterborough.

Steinberg—Greenan.

Miss Mary Greenan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Greenan, Lindsay, and Frederick Steinberg, of Saskatoon, formerly of Tweed, were married at St. Mary's church, Lindsay, Tuesday. Following a honeymoon trip through the west, Mr. and Mrs. Steinberg will reside in Peterborough. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Venerable Archdeacon Casey in the presence of many relatives and friends. Miss Hannah Greenan acted as bridesmaid and Dr. Driscoll of Trenton, supported the groom. A reception followed the marriage ceremony.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Duncan P. McFarlane.

The body of Mr. Duncan P. McFarlane, formerly a resident of Peterborough, arrived in the city yesterday from California, to which State deceased moved a year ago. Mr. McFarlane was born in Otonabee and was in his 80th year at his death. He is survived by six sons and four daughters. The funeral will be held Saturday.

Mr. James O'Brien.

Mr. James O'Brien, 114 Aylmer street, member of firm of Weir & O'Brien, coal dealers, died at his home yesterday morning, following a short illness.

Mr. O'Brien was born in Tipperary County, Ireland, 69 years ago. He came to Canada when an infant with his parents and with the exception of a few years at Ennismore and other places, he has resided in Peterborough. Mr. O'Brien was married to Miss Honarah Cregan in 1873, who died in September last.

For many years Mr. O'Brien was engaged in official capacity on railroad construction work in this vicinity, abandoning this occupation a few years since to enter business for himself. He is survived by one son, the Rev. Father M. J. O'Brien, D.D. rector of the Sacred Heart church. Another son James died in 1895. The funeral will take place from the Sacred Heart church Friday morning. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will officiate at the funeral services.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Straw hats are now going out.

It is an old and trite saying: "Make hay while the sun shines." We fear most of our farmers, these dark days, will have to make it without the aid of the Sun's rays.

Mr. Burnham, M.P., of the legal firm of Messrs. Ruddy & Burnham, will return to the city by September 5th from the coast, where he has completed arrangements with several well known financial houses for sale of Western property and for the investment of money on mortgage. Titles, descriptions, etc., guaranteed. Loans at from 7 per cent. to 9 per cent. net, according to amount.

LOW RATES FOR LABOR DAY VIA CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

KAISER WORSE THAN REPORTED

Illness Obliges Him to Cancel Attendance at Military Manoeuvres

Berlin, Aug. 28.—The Kaiser has fallen a victim to the cold, wet weather. For the last 36 hours his majesty has been confined to his apartments in the Castle Wilhelmshohe, near Cassel, with a cold which developed so rapidly that engagements for the coming week have been cancelled.

Reports were current all day that his condition was somewhat more serious than the court authorities were willing to admit, but the emphatic official denials set the rumors at rest until to-night, when the bulletin announcing the concellation of his Saxony visit was issued. Then all doubt that he was merely suffering from an ordinary cold was removed.

ZAM-BUK AND OUTDOOR LIFE.

Every tennis or ball player, every swimmer, every canoeist, every man or woman who loves outdoor life and exercise, should keep a box of Zam-Buk handy.

Zam-Buk is a purely herbal preparation which, as soon as applied to cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, blisters, etc., sets up highly beneficial operations. First, its antiseptic properties render the wound free from all danger from blood poisoning. Next, its soothing properties relieve the ease and pain. Then its rich, herbal balms penetrate the tissue, and set up the wonderful process of healing. Barbed wire scratches, insect stings, skin diseases, such as eczema, heat rashes, ringworm, babies' heat sores, chafed places, sore feet—are all quickly cured by Zam-Buk. It also eases and cures piles. All druggists and stores. Use Zam-Buk Soap also; 25c. per tablet.

DEATH OF JAMES KERR

Former Resident of Douro Passed Away in Lawton, N.D.

Lawson Republican of Aug. 23 At his son's home near Lawton, on August 18th, at 7.40 a.m., occurred the death of James Kerr, after an illness of over two months.

Mr. Kerr was born near Banbridge, County Down, Ireland, May 15, 1828. He came to New York about 1846 and from there to Wisconsin, Galena, Ill., and Memphis, Tenn., returning north later and settling on a farm among friends in Douro, Peterborough Co., Ontario, where he married Mary McManus, who died in 1884. To them were born 11 children, four of whom survive: Hugh Kerr, of Rolletta, N.D., Mrs. Dan Crowley, of Conway, Mrs. Bernard Kennedy, of Newbre Twp., and Michael Kerr, of Lawton, besides seven grandchildren.

He was well and favorably known in Ontario and also here, where he has resided for the past seven years.

The funeral took place from St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Brocket. A requeim high mass as sung, also two beautiful hymns by the choir. Rev. Father McDonald was celebrant and preached an impressive and touching sermon. The casket was covered with beautiful flowers sent by friends. The remains were followed to their last resting place at Brocket Cemetery by many friends. Father McDonald conducted the service at the grave.

GAS-ELECTRIC CAR MAY DOOM TROLLEY

Toronto, Aug. 28.—It is expected that the proposed trolley system of electric traction will be abandoned on the Toronto & Eastern Radial, at present under construction, in favor of the modern gas-electric system, in which a gasoline engine on the car generates the electricity that supplies the motive power to the wheels.

The Toronto & Eastern is a Mackenzie-Mann concern, and the exceptional success of the first car of this new type, which has been working all summer on the Lake St. John line of the C.N.Q., has caused much surprise in official quarters. In fact it is understood that so great was the success of the trial car that a number of others have been ordered by the company. It is also certain that a gas-electric car will be used this winter on the line of the Central Ontario between Picton and Trenton, for it has been shown that such service is far more economical than that given by the steam locomotive.

MILLIONS WITNESS FUNERAL OF GENERAL BOOTH IN LONDON

A Hundred Thousand Mourners Follow Body of S. A. Leader to Grave and Thousands Faint in the Crush

London, Aug. 29.—Twenty thousand Salvationists, massed in fifty-one brigades, with forty bands, and accompanied by one hundred thousand sympathizers, marched to-day through packed ranks of spectators, estimated as numbering fully 2,000,000, to Abney Park cemetery to lay the body of their late commander, General William Booth, to rest beside his wife, who preceded him across the river by more than twenty years.

The procession on its march of five miles to the cemetery, passed Salvation Army headquarters in Queen Victoria Square, where the waiting hearse joined the line.

Draping the coffin was the Salvation Army's blood and fire flag and on it lay General Booth's uniform and cap and his Bible, instead of a sword.

Directly preceding the hearse, marched Commissioner Adelaide Cox carrying the banner which General Booth planted on Mount Calvary. Following it came General Bramwell Booth, the late General's son, and the Army's new commander, and the other members of the dead commander's family, on foot.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

Detachments of English soldiers and sailors joined the procession as it proceeded toward the cemetery. All business houses on the line of march were closed and most of them were heavily draped in black.

The Lord Mayor of London, in his robes and chain of office, stood at salute in front of his official residence, the Mansion House, as the mourners passed.

The services at the graveside began with the singing of the hymn "O, Death, Where is Thy Sting? O, Grave, Where is Thy Victory?" by a chorus of thousands of voices.

Lieut.-Col. Damon from America then offered a prayer, and Mrs. Booth Hellberg sang a special hymn, "O. Boundless Salvation."

Bramwell, Catherine and Eva Booth and several others spoke. As the coffin was being lowered into the grave the throng sang, "O, Servant of God, Well Done."

WORDS OF COMMITMENT.

Bramwell Booth recited the commitment:

"Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to promote our beloved General, Wm. Booth, from his place and position in the Salvation Army to the mansion prepared for him above, we now commit his body to the grave, earth to earth, ashes to ashes, and dust to dust, in the sure, certain hope of seeing him again on the morning of the resurrection."

Of the marchers, hundreds fell out of line exhausted before the cemetery was reached. Large numbers of them were so prostrated that it was necessary to drive them in ambulances.

Preacher Declines Pay

S. R. Heakes was ordained on Sunday as an Anglican clergyman, at London, Ont. He has been a mining engineer and manager of the Kerr Lake mine at Cobalt. He was persuaded by his friend, Rev. W. H. Norwood, to take holy orders and it is understood he will act as curate under the latter at Memorial Church. He will take no remuneration as he has independent means.

BANKERS AND BUSINESS MEN GIVEN BAD MILK AT HOTELS

New York, Aug. 29.—Some of New York's largest hotels and expensive restaurants have been selling at fancy prices a quality of milk that may only be found in cheap grocery stores on the East Side. The New York Milk Committee gives this information in a report to-day to the Health Department, and says that analysis of milk sold for drinking purposes at 230 hotels and restaurants show that most of the milk was only fit for cooking and manufacturing purposes and that some of it was very bad.

Paul Taylor, secretary of the milk Committee, says it might upset the digestions of New York bankers and business men to know that the milk sold at some places contained from 1,000,000 to 90,000,000 bacteria in each cubic centimetre.

"Our investigation showed," said Mr. Taylor, "that in many places the bank and business men get the same dirty milk that the tenement district mother gets when she goes to the grocery stores."

PETERBORO MAN MEETS DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

The distinction of an introduction to His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, fell to the lot of Mr. J. J. Turner of this City Wednesday. Mr. Turner, while visiting the Exhibition, chanced to meet J. K. McNaught, an old friend, and a director of the Exhibition. The Duke was present, and immediately the director offered Mr. Turner the honor of an introduction.

Mr. Turner says His Royal Highness evinced unfeigned interest in everything about and was anxious to learn all about Peterborough.

His Democratic manner, Mr. Turner said, was a parallel to that of his brother, the late King Edward, whose Majesty Mr. Turner had the honor of meeting in England.

PETERBORO SCOUTS BACK FROM TORONTO

Boys Return as Peppery as They Went and With Added Honors for Exceptional Conduct to Their Credit.

The Peterborough detachment of Boy Scouts visiting the Toronto Exhibition, returned home late last night. Their outing was an enjoyable one and singulary free from illness. Also they derived much benefit from the standpoint of the Scout movement.

The boys hold dear in their memories the review of their ranks by Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia, and express with deserved pride the honor of having personally exchanging felicitations with the Governor General of Canada.

MURDER OF MAID STILL A MYSTERY

Coroner's Jury Unable to Find Motive for Killing of Girl by a Negro

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29.—A coroner's jury to-day was unable to determine a motive for the killing of Miss Ruth Powers, a white maid at the home of O. B. Caldwell, by Arthur Johnson, colored, who afterward ended his own life, Saturday morning.

The remains of Miss Powers were taken to Pana, where the funeral services were held. The remains of Johnson were in charge of his father and will be conveyed to Jacksonville Mo., for interment.

WIDOW OF MARTYRED PHYSICIAN, WHO MAY GET A FEDERAL PENSION

MRS. THERESA DREXEL M'CLINTIC.

A bill has been introduced by Senator Meyers, of Montana, appropriating $5,760 for Mrs. Theresa McClintic, the widow of Dr. T. B. McClintic, who died in Washington from "spotted" fever, contracted while studying the disease in Montana. Dr. McClintic was a member of the Public Health Service Corps. This division of service is under the Treasury Department, and a report must be had from that department before the Senate committee will act. Before her marriage Mrs. McClintic was Miss Theresa Drexel, a society belle of Washington.

TRIP THROUGH THE WEST

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., Writes of Victoria, B. C.

(Special to The Morning Times)

Sir,—Peter Gardner, formerly of Peterborough, is the Pooh-Bah of Victoria, B.C. His salary as secretary to the various municipal bodies, amounts to $3,000 a year, and he has made money in land speculation; also Mr. Herbert Wood, son of Mr. R. E. Wood, C.C.A., is a rapidly rising lawyer in Vancouver. I am going to see Charlie Brown, at Penticton, in the Okanagan country. The Winch Building is a truly magnificent block, in the heart of this city. Stanley Park far exceeded my expectations, and the marine drive along the bathing beach did likewise. In a motor a man can see in a day what it used to take a week to see, and even then the second day rarely began where the first left off. The absence of hardwood and the true refreshing green color is a matter of general remark to easterners. Althrough, as at Victoria, the residences are of wood, the architecture is artistic and delightful. I could not believe that these beautiful houses (no two alike) cost so little to erect.

Everything west in the shape of a travelled road or street near a city is paved. If Peterborough were out west it would be paved from end to end. I am much struck with the enterprising spirit of the municipal corporations. Every inducement is afforded to the visitor to remain, in the way of paved roads, street cars, schools, etc. There is no stint of splendid schools. Franv Britton, son of Conductor Britton, of the G. T.R., took me 30 miles yesterday in his motor. I meet scores of old friends. I went into a large book store last night and was fairly amazed to hear a war-whoop from one of the staff, who nearly shook my hand off. They nearly all say we live easier and possibly happier lives in the east and some do. The old countries are putting lots of money out here.

HENRI BOURASSA'S NEW ROLE ON THE POLITICAL MIDWAY.

MAY FORFEIT G.T.P. SYSTEM

Impression Grows at Ottawa That the Government May Have to Assume Control

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—With the time which was given by the Government to the G.T.P. to take over the Lake Supreior sections of the National Transcontinental expiring on Saturday, there is a great deal of speculation as to what the railway intends to do. Acting Premier Perley, had an interview with Chairman Leonard, of the Transcontinental Comission, this morning, but no announcement was forthcoming. The impression is growing that the G. T.P. will refuse to take over the section. The rest of the road, will, of course, be useless to them without this one. The Government may take over the section and ultimately the whole line and it would be linked up with the Intercolonial. The Transcontinental Commission is rushing work on the line to Cochrane in order to get it completed in time to help move this year's crops. There are still eighty miles of steel to be laid. White labor is scarce, so that it is a rush against time to finish the line.

UNIQUE TENT AT SHOW

Peterboro Firm's Model Canvas Camp House at Toranto Exhibition Attracts Much Interest.

One of the Peterborough exhibits attracting more than ordinary attention at the Toronto fair is a sample camping tent, built on unique lines, the product of the firm of J. J. Turner & Sons.

The tent on exhibition rises close to the main entrance to the grounds and attracts the interest of all who see it. The main canvas is about 20 feet square and artistically decorated. The feature of this is its elevated floor and rotunda. The floor is three and a half feet from the ground approached by four steps from the main entrance. The porch extending fully around the tent is canopied by the double top canvas. Windows that open and close and doors that may be locked complete the make-up of the main section of the canvas house. To the rear the dining room, kitchen and bathroom section is added. This section is so arranged that no odors from cooking can possibly permeate the living tent. The whole is a model of camp comfort housing and wins admiration from all who see it.

Mr. Turner's sons are occupying the tent and Mr. J. J. Turner and wife and two friends enjoyed the hospitality of the model canvas home Wednesday night.

Messrs. Turner & Sons have about 40 tents rented at the Totonto Exhibition, many of these are 50 by 100 feet canvasses. One of this extent is rented to the cadets staying on the grounds.

BECKER FURIOUS WITH A CONVICT

New York, Aug. 29.—During the exercise hour in the Tombs to-day Lieut. Becker went up to John D. Hallen, a disbarred lawyer, awaiting transfer to Sing Sing, who had told the District Attorney he overheard Policeman White, arrested for perjury, tell Becker that "it was all up with them," and that Becker had told White to "keep his mouth shut and we will be getting medals for what we have done in six months."

Grasping Hallen's arm, Becker demanded why he had told the prosecutor "such lies." Hallen jerked himself free and retreated to his cell, but Becker followed him and shouted:

"You are a liar. Any man who from an ulterior motive lies about another man in trouble is a despicable, rotten cur."

BUSINESS MEN'S TRAIN WRECKED, TWO KILLED FORTY INJURED

Light Passenger Train Crashes Into Crowded Coaches At Vauxhall, England, With Fatal Results on Southwestern Road

Landon, Aug. 29.—Two lives were lost and forty persons were seriously injured in a collision between a crowded business men's train and another light passenger train early this morning at Vauxhall Station on the Southwestern Railway.

A train from Aldershot crowded with workers proceeding to the city, was standing in Vauxhall Station, where the tickets are collected before the trains run into Waterloo terminus, when a light engine, pulling a couple of passenger cars, fouled the switches and dashed into the rear of the loaded stationary cars.

The force of the impact was so great that several of the cars were telescoped, and the light engine with its tender was twisted and smashed to pieces.

Doctors and ambulances were quickly on the scene, and the dead were removed to the mortuary, while the injured men were transported to St. Thomas' Hospital nearby.

HAVE CUT OFF THE QUEUE OF CHINA'S BABY EMPEROR

New York, Aug. 29.—The Young China Association is overjoyed at the report just received from Peking that the Imperial clan has cut off the queque from the head of Pu-Yi, the deposed baby Emperor of China. Members of the association here think that this is the most hopeful sign of the submission of the Manchus to popular rule.

The receipt of the news set the members of the Young China Association searching through Chinatown for those who might still wear the queque, and chasing them into barber shops. In an appeal to the press the association begs the cartoonists to hereafter omit the queque in caricatures of the Chinese.

TALL CROPS BLAMED FOR MANY DEATHS

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 29.—Alexander Shane, general manager of the Indianapolis, Columbus & Southern Traction Company, blames the bumper corn crop in Indiana for the loss of at least 13 lives. He predicts that other lives will be sacrificed before the corn is harvested.

The corn, he says, has grown so tall that grade crossings on both steam and traction lines are hidden.

WAITED FOR PRESIDENT TAFT WITH TWO KNIVES

"I Have the Sacred Knife for the President" Caroline Beers Told Detectives When Arrested at Columbus

Columbus, O., Aug. 29.—Caroline Beers, aged 40, who said she was from Greenville, Ohio, was arrested by Pittsburgh detectives at the Southern Hotel, while waiting for President Taft, with two long knives found concealed in her clothing. The woman said she was the wife of the President.

Mrs. Beers said she was going to punish the President. She had been noticed yesterday afternoon waiting around the hotel and told employees that she was waiting for the President.

"I have the sacred knife for President Taft," she told a detective when arrested.

The woman did not get near the President, but was found and rushed out of the hotel just as the President and party arrived.

She was found in one of the upper floors waiting for the elevator on which it was expected the President would go to his apartments.

One of the knives which was found in her clothing was a long keen bladed affair, on the handle of which a picture of President Taft had been photographed. Mrs Beers was well clad. A roll of $200 was found in her clothing.

WORLD'S GREAT PEACE MAKER IS GREATEST TREATY BREAKER

One of the Tragi-Comedies of Public Life Says The London Daily Mail

London, Aug. 29.—Several of the London newspapers this morning print editorials expressing satisfaction with the action of the British Charge D'Affairs at Washington, A. Mitchell Innes, in presenting the British note protesting against the Panama Canal Act and threatening to appeal to The Hague tribunal for arbitration in the matter.

The Chronicle greatly regrets that such a difficulty has sprung up so near to the occasion of celebrating the hundred years of peace between Great Britain and America, and the newspapers hope that nothing will happen to mar that event.

The Daily Mail says it is one of the tragi-comedies of public life that President Taft, who was a year ago seemed destined to become a universal peace maker, should be known even in his own country as a treaty breaver. "Whatever excuses may be offered" The Daily Mail adds, "President Taft must recognise that he acted in defiance of American public opinion."

RIGHT TO DISCRIMINATE.

The Daily News and some of the other newspapers after examining the text of the Panama Canal Bill, point out that the provision authorizing the President to grant to American ships of all kinds lower tolls than those granted to foreign ships unquestionably proclaims America's right to discriminate between American and foreign shipping, and therefore, the dispute undoubtedly ought to go to The Hague for arbitration.

The Times which publishes the text of President Taft's recent message to Congress, says:

TAFT HAS LITTLE CONFIDENCE

"The course taken by Mitchell Inness was inevitable and it must meet with strong approval, even that of the influential body of American opinion. That Mr. Taft should not eagerly welcome a practical application between the two great English-speaking nations of the principle with which his own name is so closely and honorably associated seems to us almost inconceivable."

The Times does not think that reputable American lawyers would care to advance before the international tribunal arguments upon which President Taft relies in his defense of the Panama Canal Bill, and adds: "The President really does not seem to feel much confidence in his own case."

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., [illegible] George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

Suburban Obsession.

The grass—I have to cut the grass!
Amid the host of cheerless things
That make a round of country life
This is the cheerlessest, by jingo!
I have the Jacqueminots to spray,
The hedge to clip—nay, do not scoff—
The bean to pole, the peas to hoe,
And when I plan an evening off
It rains and rains and rains, and then
I have to cut the grass again!

But there will come a time all right
In some far summer ere I pass
When, bent beneath the weight of years,
I shall not have to cut the grass.
And if at last the summons be
Not to some verdant realm of bliss,
But to dry and bladeless bourne,
A better suburb e'en than this,
(They say there's one), why, bah and tut!
At least there'll be no grass to cut!

—Judge.

An Unfortunate Abbreviation.

"Gilmore," continued the cardinal, "was famous for his playing of Mozart's 'Twelfth Mass.' On one occasion he played it in a North Carolina town, and next day the local paper announced that he 'rendered with great effect Mozart's "Twelfth Massachusetts."'"—Popular Magazine.

How Long Can He Stand It?

This is Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale's latest suffrage story:

"A negro woman was arguing and arguing with her husband, and when she had finished he said, 'Dinah, yo' talk don't affect me no mo' than a flea bite.'

His Limit.

"Queen of my heart," he softly sighed,
"We'll travel fast and far
Along the dewy country roads
Within a touring car
Or on a white, palatial yacht
Beneath the moonlight pale
Across the blue and breezy bay
I'll take you for a sail.

"Together in an aeroplane
We'll mount the azure sky
And soar among the fleecy clouds
And with the eagle fly,
Or in a speedy motorboat
We'll skim by cape and highland."
And then they took a trolley car
And went to Coney Island.

—New York Times.

At Last.

Warren Chambers—So Cashier Merral has gone wrong? They say he has been stealing for fifteen years.

Barclay Murray—Why, when they investigated his books a year ago I thought he came out of the ordeal unspotted.

Warren Chambers—He did, but they have spotted him now.—Puck.

FREAKS OF MARINE LIFE.

Barnacles May Serve Some Purpose, But It Is Not Apparent.

Barnacles are among the curious forms of marine life. So far as is known, they perform no important office, either constructive or destructive, in the economy of nature. They serve to no appreciable extent as food for the creatures of the depths; neither do they operate as a check upon other forms of marine life that might become redundant.

Strangely enough, barnacles are assigned by the naturalists to the same great subdivision of the animal world which includes insects—the anthropoda, which means joint footed. Barnacles belong to that class of crustaceans that embraces lobsters and crabs and constitutes the order of cirripedia, a term that means "curled feet."

Barnacles are hatched from eggs. The young in no way resemble the adults. Upon emerging from the eggs the young barnacles show themselves as free swimming little creatures with one eye, six legs and one shell. The young barnacle undergoes the operation of molting several times and finally appears with two eyes, twelve legs and two shells. At this state it roves no longer, but attaches itself to some convenient object by means of its antennae, secreting a cement whereby it glues itself quite fast. Then it undergoes a metamorphosis that completely changes its appearance. It loses its bivalve shell and its eyes and acquires its characteristic ciripeds or curled feathery legs, and it takes on an entirely new shell.

Three orders of barnacles exist. Members of one order are attached by the shell directly to rocks, timbers or other convenient objects. Those of another order are attached to floating objects by a long stalk, and the barnacles of the third order are parasitic upon crabs and other marine animals. When extended from the shell the curled, feathery appendages are in constant motion, and they create currents in the water that serve to convey to the curious little creatures their food, consisting of many species of minute forms of life abounding in the sea.

What are commonly known as "sea acorns" are nothing more than barnacles of the genus balanus. There exists a number of different varieties of these, showing shells of a white, greenish white, pink or purplish color. These barnacles attach themselves to rocks, shellfish, the piling of piers and sometimes even to whales. The base of the shell is glued firmly to the supporting object, there being no stem.

Ship barnacles are true wanderers of the deep, the same species frequently being found upon the hulls of vessels coming from the most remote and widely separated regions. They present a very odd appearance, for the shell is attached to the end of a flexible stalk, which varies in length from an inch in some species to twelve inches in others. Generally speaking, the shell of the ship barnacle is of a white or bluish white hue, and the stalk is brown or slate colored.

Blocked by an Iceberg.

Discussing the iceberg question, Professor John Milne of London writes that the year he visited Newfoundland one of these ice mountains had stuck in the Narrows, which is the entrance to St. John's harbor. The capital of Newfoundland was bottled up. "A fort pounded at the intruder for a time, but it might as well have pounded at the Karakoram mountains. The monster stopped all traffic either in or out. On the third day, however, it heeled over and sailed away."

Awful Ignorance.

Young Man With Lavender Tie, Pink Shirt and Bright Purple Socks—Say, Jim Lawrence is a queer duck. He pronounces his words so queer! The other day he was telling some girls about going to the Black Inn for a "tabbledote" dinner. As soon as we left the girls I asked him what he meant and come to find out he meant table de hotey! Ha, ha, ha!—Chicago Tribune.

The Essential.

"You see, we have good streets, excellent lighting and shipping facilities. Trade conditions are good. We hope you will locate here."

"I dunno," said the visitor. "Things look good. But tell me this."

"Well?"

DEFY THE EXPLORERS.

Vast Unknown Regions In Western Brazil and Australia.

Lying within the basin of the head waters of the Amazon river in western Brazil are three regions much larger in area than all the New England states which are still outside the pale of our knowledge. This large territory lies between the parallels of 10 degrees south latitude and 5 degrees north latitude and the meridians of 60 degrees and 73 degrees west longitude. Not a country of South America has been accurately defined and fully explored. The great difficulties with which the scientist must contend in mapping this continent in the equatorial regions account for the large areas still uncharted. It is the hardest section in the world to penetrate. Dense forests, a deadly climate inducing the worst scourges of disease, as yellow fever, cholera, beriberi, etc., the fierce wild beasts, poisonous serpents and savage tribes are some of the obstacles to be encountered in penetrating the Amazon country.

The entire central portion of Australia is an unknown tract save for a direct line in which the transcontinental telegraph system has been laid. The greatest difficulty was encountered in stretching the wires across the desert waste, and the small strip thus opened up is all that is known of the heart of the island continent. It is supposed to be a vast sandy plain, interspersed here and there with salt lakes to vary the horrible monotony. Hundreds of daring men have tried to penetrate its mysteries, and most of them have paid for their temerity with their lives. Then there is the "Never-Never" land, in western Queensland, into which many have gone and few have returned. In the south of the country, extending for hundreds of miles inland from the great Australian bight, is a terra incognita the extent and nature of which can only be surmised.—Christian Herald.

JAPAN'S NEW MOTTO.

Continuing the observance of an immemorial custom, the new Emperor of Japan has chosen a single word for the distinctive official motto of his reign. The lately deceased Emperor, when as a youth he succeeded to the throne, adopted as his motto the Japanese term which means "enlightenment." It is likely that his long reign will be characterized in history as the epoch of the progressive enlightenment of his country. Now his son indicates that he feels Japan's greatest need to be a moral stamina that can stand material prosperity, for he chooses as the motto of his reign the word "righteousness."

Almost simultaneously comes the news that Japan has a Christian university, recognized as such formally and officially. This was made possible by the generosity of a Boston merchant. At the risk of his life in the days when it was a crime punishable by death to leave the country, a young man stole out o the port as a stowaway and worked his way to Boston in a ship owned by Mr. Alpheus Hardy. In the quaint statement which he prepared for the man who became his benefactor he said he wanted to "get knowledge," and "my stableness will not destroy." He was given a New England preparatory and college education and ten years after his arrival here aboard the Wild Rover he returned to Japan to found the Doshisha of which he became the first president. This institution, ranked as a college for years, now has a thousand students, and a few days ago, in the presence of Japan's political and educational leaders, it received the rating of a university and the dream of its founder had come true.

CANADA'S NATIONAL FINANCES.

A practical illustration of the favorable position in which the finances of the Dominion stand at present is offered in a report from Ottawa to-day. The announcement from the capitol is that the Government has made arrangements to extinguish outright the 4 per cent loan of £1,235,000, which loan, negotiated in 1907, will mature Oct. 1 next. The money to meet it has already been forwarded to London.

Rapidly mounting revenue makes possible the early settlement of this loan. An idea of the increasing national revenue is gained by the fact that during the period from April 1—the beginning of the fiscal year — to Aug. 20, receipts increased over the same period a year ago approximately $12,500,000, or at the rate of three million a month. During the same period the expenditures increased $5,000,000, due principally to the increased subsidy to Manitoba and aid to provinces relative to agriculture.

There are now no temporary loans outstanding. An actual decrease in the net national debt at the end of the present fiscal year should be one of the pleasing results of this year's prosperity in the Dominion. Also all payments of interest on the national debt are expected to be furnished from the surplus on consolidated fund.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Chicago minister declares that there are not enough men in the world for every woman to have a husband. Hence it follows that those who have husbands should be very grateful and treat the dear boys kindly.

Now that it is anticipated Winston Churchill will come to Canada aboard a man-o'-war to elucidate naval affairs, one wonders what on earth or on sea he hired that business agent of the Admiralty for.

Toronto is crying for a municipal abattoir. Toronto is weeping for a garbage incinerator. Toronto is pleading for a better street car service. Toronto wants to sell more city bonds. But Toronto, the good, would forego all these trifles if HER baseball team would only win the pennant!

Total appropriations of the second session of the fiftieth U. S. Congress, just adjourned, aggregate one billion dollars. Eighty nine millions of this amount goes for military purposes. The spoken proceedings in the House alone during the session aggregate twenty-five million words. It is not recorded how many of these words were wasted.

A very pushing young western town on the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific is Nokomis, Sask. Only three years or four, on the map and with a population of under 1,000 people, it has just organised an Agricultural Society which is developing a fair grounds, race track and driving club.

The membership of the Presbyterian Church in the United States shows a larger increase this year than for several years past. It is still, however, less than two per cent. The total membership of the Church is now 1,380,058. The Methodist bishops at the recent conference pronounced a two per cent increase in membership a disgracefully small record of growth.

The eastern politician who finds it somewhat trying to have to make a round of the township fairs in order to keep in touch with his constituents may realize what an easy time he has of it when he learns that J. L. Cote has just returned from a 2500-mile journey in the constituency of Athabasca, which he represents in the Alberta legislature. It is about as large as the three Maritime provinces.

The New York state department of health reports that cancer as a disease has increased more rapidly than tuberculosis. This applies only to the United States but other reports indicate that the same is true of the British Isles, and probably also of Canada. Tge discovery of a cure for cancer, or of the causes of it will be one of the greatest discoveries of modern medicine.

Weary Tiredness Changed to Vigor

THAT PLAYED-OUT FEELING WAS QUICKLY REMEDIED AND HEALTH RESTORED.

Story of a Merchant Who Almost Lost His Business, and His Health Through Neglecting Early Symptoms of Disease.

"My life for years has been of sedentary character," writes T. B. Titchfield, head of a well-known firm in Buckingham. "Nine hours every day I spent at office work and took exercise only on Sunday. I disregarded the symptoms of ill-health, which were all too apparent to my family. I grew thin, then pale, and before long I was jaundiced—eyes and skin were yellow, my strength and nerve energy were lowered, and I was quite unfitted for business. In the morning a lightness in the head, particularly when I bent over, made me very worried about my health. Most of the laxative medicines I found weakening, and knowing that I had to be at business every day, I neglected myself rather than risk further weakness. Of course, I grew worse, but by a happy chance I began to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I was forcibly struck by the fact that they neither caused griping nor nausea, and it seemed incredible that pills could tone, cleanse and regulate the system without causing any unpleasant and after effects. Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted with me just as gentle as nature—they gave new life to my liver, strengthened my stomach, and won me back to perfect good health. My skin is clear, dizziness has disappeared, and my appetite, strength, spirits are perfect."

Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are sure to cure. Sold in 25c. boxes, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE BILLBOARD EYESORE.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—France means business in its crusade against the billboard nuisance from which the cities there, as well as in this country, have been more or less patient sufferers. A system of taxation is proposed by the government which aims to abolish the billboards, rather than to raise revenue. By its terms a French billboard fifty metres long and three metres high—and there are billboards of those dimensions in Greater Boston—will be taxed $12,000. Of course this is confiscatory, but the French have seen their landscapes disfigured and have had good taste offended as long as they can stand it.

The people of the United States are more easy-going than the artistic and highly sensitive French, and yet there are occasional signs of an aroused public sentiment in this country. For instance, I see by The Times that one of the forty-two amendments to the Ohio constitution, which will be voted on at aspecial election in that state early in September, is aimed directly at the billboard evil. Ohio is usually pretty well wrapped up in national politics, but just now its newspapers and public speakers are devoting most of their efforts to these proposed constitutional amendments and the state is flooded with literature on the subject. Some of the forty-two amendments deal with matters more important than wayside and vacant lot advertising, but others deal with matters of less importance, and it is to be noted that the persons and organizations that are working for civic betterment are laying much stress on this particular amendment.

There is small defence for disfiguring billboards on any scare, but it hardly seems that the subject needs the attention of constitution makers. Any city that wishes to regulate or abolish the nuisance can find a way under existing constitutions and laws. It is a matter that concerns the whole community. Any property owner who allows his field beside the railroad or his unoccupied lot on a busy city street to be used for ugly billboards, which are disfiguring to nature or to the neighboring property and offensive to those who pass, can usually be led to see his mistake if influence of the right kind is brought to bear. Village improvement societies and the corresponding bodies with more pretentious names in large centres have here a field for work that is really worth while.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am, etc.,

J. F. Earle.

HAS TIPS FOR MEN IN POULTRY AND DAIRY

Prof. W. R. Graham Returns From Old Country With Valuable Information.

Prof. W. R. Graham of the Poultry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College has returned from a trip through England, Ireland and Denmark, where he has been studying the methods employed in egg-production, packing, shipping and marketing. He made a close observation of the co-operative system of marketing in Denmark and Ireland, and in his report to the Department of Agriculture will probably recommend that the Ontario poultrymen should adopt a similar system. In the matter of quality and type of fowl, he said, Ontario would compare well with the older countries but not enough attention has been paid here to the selection and packing of eggs for marketing purposes. Uniformity in size and color was one of the principles followed in Ireland, he said, with the result that there was a gradation in quality and price on the market much the same as obtains with regard to fruit in Ontario.

The methods employed in Ireland with regard to the egg industry were on a par with Denmark, stated Prof. Graham, and he added that in a very few years Ireland would outstrip Denmark.

He also observed that the shorthorn variety of cows for dairying purposes has the preference in Ireland. In one small section alone there were 3,000 shorthorn cows and none of any other variety. These cows had a record of averaging 6,500 pounds of milk each in a year.

WOMAN, MAN IN FATAL GUN DUEL

Herrin, Ill., Aug. 29.—Thomas Guffy, president of a miners' union at Colpville, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Floher, shot each other to death here Wednesday night when the latter tried to save the life of Mrs. Guffy, who had been attacked by her husband.

Guffy's wife left him a month ago, and he called at the home of his mother-in-law to see her. He told her he had come to kill the entire family and fired at her. The bullet went wild and Mrs. Floher opened fire on him from awindow. Several shots were exchanged, Guffy receiving six bullets. Mrs. Floher was shot through the heart.

POPULAR 'PONE GIRL RESIGNS TO GO WEST

Miss Maud Perry for a number of years manager of the operating department of the local Bell Telephone office, has resigned. Miss Perry contemplates a trip to the Pacific coast in September and may accept the position of chief operator for the Bell Company at Vancouver, which position, it is understood, has been offered her.

FREE METHODIST CONFERENCE

Conclusion of the Second Sitting of The Church Parliament.

The second sitting of the Free Methodist Conference convened in their church, Aylmer street, at 8.30 this morning.

Most of the time of this morning's sitting was taken up with reports from circuits, which on the whole showed a good degree of prosperity, both spiritually and financially.

A most interesting communication was read from Rev. F. C. Appleton, who is a member of the Conference, and is now serving as a missionary in China.

Revs. W. H. Reynolds and R. Burnham were re-elected as district elders for the ensuing year.

At the close of the morning sitting the Bishop addressed the Conference on the preacher and his work. The address was full of wise and eminently practical counsel.

Rev. F. F. Prior, of Uxbridge, was appointed to preach this afternoon and Rev. Mr. S. Bean, of Toronto at 8 p.m.

POTATOES PLENTIFTL, PRICES BREAK SHARPLY

Reports from potato growing districts throughout the province indicate a bountiful harvest of tubers this season. An increased acreage, helped by desired weather conditions, changes the situation from an importing to an exporting market in Canada.

A general decline in prices from 25 to 40c. a bag has obtained since general spud digging commenced. A drop to 80c. a sack is expected by dealers in various markets soon.

Last winter the larger cities of Canada depended on Ireland and the maritime provinces for potatoes; this year the middlemen will seek an export market.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

WHY

the stock of Trust Companies and Banks appeal to conservative investors.

The following are a few good reasons why you should invest NOW in the stock of the Acadia Trust Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C.:

1. It is showing remarkable growth, having earned seventy (70 p.c.) per cent. on its paid-up capital since its inception, November 26, 1911.

2. It is thoroughly established (with no promotion stock).

3. It is subject to advance without notice; and will very shortly be amongst the premier Trust Companies doing business in British Columbia.

4. Its profits will necessarily be large.

5. It will declare large bonus dividends to reduce the uncalled liability, thereby increasing the paid-up portion of your stock.

6. Prospects of an increase in value are excellent.

BUSY CELL TOILERS.

The Marvelous Work They Constantly Perform in the Blood.

The blood cells are important members of the cell community and are exceedingly numerous, there being over 75,000,000,000 of the red blood cells alone. These red blood cells move in the blood currents, carrying through the arteries each its little load of oxygen, which it transports to the distant tissues that they may be invigorated and vitalized anew, and, returning, carrying through the veins the debris and waste products of the system to the great crematory of the lungs, where the waste is burned and thrown off from the body.

Like the ships that sail the sea, each cell carries its outgoing cargo and returns with another one. Some of these cells perform the office of special repairers, forcing their way through the walls of the blood vessels and penetrating the tissues in order to perform their special tasks.

There are several other kinds of cells in the blood besides the carriers just mentioned. There are the wonderful soldier and police cells, which maintain order and fight battles when necessary. The police cells are on the constant lookout for germs, bacteria and other microscopic disturbers of the peace of the body.

When these tiny policemen discover vagrant germs or criminal bacteria they rush upon the intruder and, tying him up in a mesh, proceed to devour him. If the intruder be too large or vigorous a call for assistance is sent out, and the reserve police rush to the assistance of their brothers and overpower the disturber of the peace.

Sometimes when the vagrants are too numerous the policemen throw them out from the body by means of pimples, boils and similar eruptions. In case of infectious diseases an army corps is ordered out in full strength, and a royal fight is waged between the invading army and the defenders of home and country.—William Walker Atkinson in Nautilus.

No Brighter.

"When you were a boy did you always mind your father?" asked the young hopeful.

"Not always, my son," replied the governor, "but I was soundly thrashed every time I disobeyed him."

"Gee! Then you didn't learn any easier than I do, did you, dad?" was the retort of the y.h.

Order.

Order is the sanity of the mind, the health of the body, the peace of the city, the security of the state. As the beams to a house, as the bones to the microcosm of man, so is order to all things.—Southey.

MME. SARDOU'S WORK OF ART.

The Curtain Raiser That Preceded Her Husband's Comedy.

Not merely in a domestic but also in a business sense are the Frenchwomen the admirable partners of their husbands. The first wife of Sardou, the dramatist, considered herself as such, despite the fact that she conducted a different line of business, wherein she achieved a fair success while the young playwright was endeavoring to get his plays produced. The first Mme. Sardou was a skillful milliner. She trimmed hats while waiting for the fame and fortune she was certain Sardou would achieve. Also she kept an eye on his branch of business also, and it was really she who obtained the opportunity for his first real success.

It appears that a bright comedy had long lain in the hands of a manager who would neither read nor return it. Without saying a word to her husband Mme. Sardou withdrew this work, herself carrying it to an actress she believed peculiarly fitted for the leading role. By her cleverness she succeeded in extracting a promise from the actress that the play should be read. In response to the actress' request for an address the dramatist's wife handed her a card inscribed "Mme. Sardou, Modiste." A few days later the wife of the manager at whose theatre the actress played entered the little millinery parlor of Mme. Sardou. She asked to be shown a hat. Several were tried on. Then, handglass still in hand and the hat selected still upon her head, she turned suddenly from the mirror and inquired whether M. Sardou were at home and could be summoned.

Sardou, greatly astonished, came, and the stranger, announcing her name and her husband's position, delivered the gratifying message that the play had been accepted, was to be given an immediate production and that the author was expected at the theatre that evening for the first reading and the distribution of parts.

After her departure the young couple held an explanation and jubilation. The clever little modiste caught up the hat just ordered and held it aloft. "Never say that I, too, do not compose works of art!" she cried gayly. "Behold my curtain raiser, which precedes your comedy! It has succeeded—yours will succeed!" And her prediction was fulfilled. The comedy, long since popular with English audiences as "A Scrap of Paper," was itself a success and the first of a long line of successes.

A Moorish Legend.

A certain sultan one morning commanded his prime minister to take a census of all the stupid people in his empire and let him have the correct list. The vizier set to work, and at the head of the list, which was a very long one, he placed the name of his sovereign. The latter happened to be in a good humor and merely inquired how he came to merit that distinction.

"Sire," the minister replied, "I have entered you on the list because only two days ago you intrusted large sums of money, for the alleged purpose of buying horses abroad, to a couple of men who are entire strangers and who will never come back again."

"Is that your opinion? But suppose they do?"

"Then I will erase your name and place theirs at the head of the list."

"Bulls" Not Irish.

Those who are not Irishmen sometimes trespass on Irish property. A French cure, preaching about sudden death, said, "Thus it is with us—we go to bed well and get up stone dead!"

An old French lawyer writing of an estate he had just bought added, "There is a chapel upon it in which my wife and I wish to be buried, if God spares our lives."

A merchant who died suddenly left in his bureau a letter to one of his correspondents which he had not sealed. His clerk, seeing it necessary to send the letter, wrote at the bottom, "Since writing the above I have died."

Cause For Tears.

"Maud says she had her audience in tears last night."

"I believe it. They were crying for their money back, poor things."

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO, Aug 28.—Charters of vessel room here to load more than a million bushels of wheat for Buffalo tended to give the cereal strength. Altho the final tone was easy, the market closed a shade to 3-8c and 1-2c above last night. Corn finished a sixteenth to 3-8c up, oats varying from a shade off to 1-8c advance, and provisions strung out from 5c decline to 5c increase in cost.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ¼d to ½d higher on wheat and ½d higher on corn, compared with yesterday.

GOLD ON A BIG SHIP

How Bullion In Transit Is Guarded on an Ocean Liner.

LOCKED IN ROOMS OF STEEL.

After the Treasure Is Safely Stowed Away There Is Little Danger of Its Being Stolen During the Voyage. Shipping and Checking the Kegs.

The natural assumption would be that in the safeguarding of the treasure which the various countries are constantly sending one another by the big ocean liners there would be required the vigilance of many men. This, however, is not generally the case, since, once the gold is stored away in the rooms set apart for that purpose on the big ships and the vessel is well out at sea, no armed guards are necessary.

Taking the specific case of one liner sailing under the British flag, we find that it has two strong rooms, the smaller of the two being in close proximity to the captain's office. This one compartment has no doubt sheltered gold enough to pay the cost of the liner many times over. The walls, the roof and the ceiling are lined with two inch steel plate, and the room contains nothing in the way of fixtures save shelving. The locks, which are of the double variety, are rendered still more secure by steel hasps covering the keyholes, and they are provided with massive padlocks. The strong rooms, being in the most frequented portion of the vessel, where persons are passing them at all hours of the day and night, thus receive the best protection, after all. There are two sets of keys, one of which is retained by the agent in charge of the consignment of gold and the other of which remains with the captain.

In the case of the British vessel mentioned there is another and larger specie room, situated next to the provision department. This is about twelve feet in length by four in width. It frequently happens that both strong rooms are filled to their utmost capacity, and on one occasion this liner carried some $50,000,000 in gold bullion packed in small kegs bound with steel hoops.

Gold usually is brought to the vessel on which it is to be shipped the day before the date of sailing, and it is stored away carefully before passengers embark. It arrives at the pier in ordinary trucks under the guard of armed men. The customary method of getting the gold on board is to haul the kegs up an inclined chute to the deck by means of a hoisting engine, but this method is not followed invariably. Sometimes each keg is placed in a sling and carried on board by men detailed for this service.

The receipt given by the steamship company sets forth that so many kegs have been received for shipment, not for any stated amount of gold to the value of so much. The kegs bear the government seal in many instances, and in such cases, when they have been safely put in the strong room, the iron doors thereof are sealed with government wax, the impression being broken only when the official on the other side comes to receive the gold. The kegs are checked thrice—when they are taken from the trucks, when they reach the gangway and when they are placed in the strong room.

Although no armed guard stands by the strong room, two men watch the room constantly so long as the ship is in sight of land. As a matter of fact, there is little danger of any one stealing gold in transit on a ship. It would be necessary that he should shoulder a keg weighing some 200 pounds and vanish with it without being seen. Masters of vessels declare gold is the safest cargo of any to handle.

The total weight of one consignment of gold shipped by the British vessel in question amounted to something like 30,000 pounds, or sixteen tons, and the freight charges amounted to $12,000, or, roughly speaking, one-eighth of 1 per cent. Specie thus shipped is insured at its full value.—New York Press.

Two Handles.

Everything has two handles—the one soft and manageable, the other such as will not endure to be touched. If, then, your brother do you an injury, do not take it by the hot hard handle, by representing to yourself all the aggravating circumstances of the fact, but look rather on the soft side and extenuate it as much as is possible by considering the nearness of the relation and the long friendship and familiarity between you—obligations to kindness which a single provocation ought not to dissolve. And thus you will take the accident by its manageable handle.—Epictetus.

Exceptions.

Hardy—She may be well educated, as you say, but she uses very singular expressions.

Tardy—She does?

Hardy—Yes. Yesterday, for instance, she spoke of a musical concert.

Tardy—Wasn't that correct?

Hardy—Certainly not. It wasn't necessary to say "musical" in speaking of a concert. A concert must be musical.

Tardy—Must, eh? Well, I've been to some that were not.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyes, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

Bachelor Parsons.

The young unmarried minister is the most carefully watched bachelor of them all. He has to guard his every move, or some one will start a story that he has at last fallen in love, or is engaged to marry some girl or other. He is also the victim of his friends' practical jokes, and sometimes he is his own victim. Last Sunday morning Rev. W. A. Cameron of Bloor Street Baptist Church was responsible for a laugh on himself when he announced hymn No. 44 in the Baptist hymnal, and began to read it to the congregation. He got as far as the middle of the third verse, when he suddenly stopped, his face went crimson, and with more than usual vehemence he again announced "Hymn 44," while the whole audience smiled. The verse at which he balked reads thus:

"For the protected gift of life,
For reason; for home's sheltering bower,
For the strong love of child and wife,
We praise Thy power."

Hadn't Seen Them.

"You know," said Miss Oddways, looking critically at a picture that a friend had purchased, "that landscape does remind me so of Mr. Vermillion's work. You've seen his pictures, of course?"

"No," said the friend frankly, "I haven't"—

"Not seen Mr. Vermillion's paintings! Why, my dear, and you an art connoisseur! I understand he has a picture in every saloon in Paris."—New York Press.

Parliamentary Wits.

There are some promising recruits to the select circle of humorists on both sides of the House of Commons. B. R. Hepburn, of Picton, who redeemed the county of Prince Edward for the Conservatives, came within an ace of breaking up the solemn proceedings attending the summoning of the Commons to the Senate Chamber for prorogation recently. Major Chambers, he of the Black Rod, knee breeches, silk stockings, and exquisite bows, had performed his duty in resonant English and faultless French, and Col. Harry Smith, with his gold chain of office, clanking sword, and glittering medals, swung the heavy mace to his shoulder. Hepburn was watching the time-honored ceremony with the curiosity of a new member, and just as the Sergeant-at-Arms shouldered the emblem of authority, he yelled out "Carried." Even Dr. Sproule—in a few moments to face royalty as the representative of the free and equal Commoners—could not refrain from smiling.—Saturday Night.

A Bornean Weapon.

The Bornean mandau, or "head taker," is a modification of the Burmese dah. It is a heavy, thick bladed cutlass, from twenty to thirty inches long, and the edge is ground from the right side only, the left side being forged slightly concave. The blade is also slightly curved to the right, so that the cutting action of the weapon is like that of an enormous gouge. Only two strokes can be dealt with the mandau—from right to left downward and left to right upward.—Chamber's [illegible]

Ontario Beavers Valuable.

The recent sale of furs at the Parliament Buildings realized $5,354.06 for the province. The pelts are taken from animals trapped in Algonquin Park under the direction of the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines. There were 480 beaver skins, which were caught under special order, and realized $4,080.50, 89 mink, 5 fisher, 11 marten, 71 muskrat, 12 otter, 6 ermine. In addition, twenty-three pounds of castoreum were sold. This is a secretion found in the beaver, and is used in making perfumes and for medicinal purposes. The bidding was keen, and buyers came all the way from New York.

The revenues of Algonquin Park have also been augmented during the past year by the sale of live beavers to several zoological societies. Animals have been shipped to London, England, and other cities.

A Hotel Experience.

"There are two classes of arrivals who ask you to register for them," said a hotel clerk yesterday. "One is the woman with tight gloves who really cannot write. The other is the man who arrive after 11 p. m. and who says 'Just register (sic), old man, will you? Been carrying this grip and m' hand's so nervous I couldn't hold a pen.'"—New York Sun.

How She Felt.

Mrs. Black—Sam Johnson done left his wife 'bout six mont's ago.

Mr. Black—Do she t'ink he am possibah comin' back?

"Waal, she jest beginnin' to hab hope."

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 12 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 180 miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $250,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES.
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

An Apt Pupil.

A professor who when asked a question was in the habit of saying, "That is a very good point indeed; look it up for yourself," was once much disgusted with a student who had failed to answer a very simple question. "Mr. Jones," said he, "I'm surprised that you, who are going to teach, cannot answer such an elementary question. Why, what would you do if one of your pupils were to ask it?" "Well, professor," replied the other, "if such a thing had happened before I came here I'm afraid I would have said plainly that I didn't know, but now I think I'd do just as you do and say, Look it up, my boy; look it up!"

Schliemann's Luck.

It is told of Schliemann, the exhumer of buried cities of the ancient world, that he was pursued by ill-luck in his earlier undertakings. Mentioning the fact to a friend, the latter asked him which leg and arm he first inserted in trousers and coat. Schliemann said he habitually inserted his right. "That is the cause of your misfortunes," said his friend. "You have offended the left hand fairies, and they take out their vengeance on you. Reverse your habit and see." "And," said Schliemann in telling the incidents in his later and prosperous years, "you see how it changed my luck."

A Clear Case.

"You claim that the wheel of the defendant's car passed over your stomach," said the defendant's attorney to the plaintiff on the stand. "Yet here is your open-faced watch, which you testify to having carried in your vest pocket at the time, and the crystal isn't even cracked. How do you account for that?"

"Why," said the plaintiff, "the car was going so fast there wasn't time for the crystal to break, sir."

Expectations.

"I gave her a plush album on her wedding anniversary. It was one I had about the house for some time, but it looked like new."

"Well?"

"Now she has found that I have an anniversary soon."

"Well, no doubt you expect her to reciprocate."

"Reciprocate is not the word. I'm afraid she will retaliate."

Explained.

Mistress (on the second day to new cook)—Kathi, just be so good as to lend me 5 marks.

Cook (aside)—Ha, ha! That's why she said yesterday the cook in her house was treated as one of the family.

Walter's Composition.

Little Walter was told to write a composition containing the word "seldom." This is what he handed up to the teacher:

"My father owned some horses, but last week he sel-dom."

The Moon's Phases.

The phases of the moon are caused by its relative position to the earth and the sun, so that when it is full moon in one part of the earth it is full moon in all parts of the earth, and so for all its other phases. The moon revolves around the earth once in twenty-seven days, though on account of the earth's revolution around the sun the mean duration of the lunar month—that is, the time from new moon to new moon—is twenty-nine days, twelve hours and forty-four minutes. The "dark of the moon" is that half of the lunar month during which the moon shines least at night.

Must Build Bigger Sheds.

The increase of freight traffic on the Canadian Pacific Railway at Fort William has made expansion necessary, and work is now progressing rapidly on the huge new freight shed, situated on the Kaministiqua River. This great freight shed, the dimensions of which are 1,000 feet by 60 feet, will be the finest of its kind on the Canadian side of the Great Lakes. The building is a two-storey one, with all the most modern and up-to-date conveniences. Boats docking alongside will be loaded, or unloaded as the case may be, by machinery. Package freight will invariably be consigned to this new shed, which, it is expected, will be in readiness soon.

A Remodeled Text.

"Perhaps you could preach us a sermon about the condition of things in our town," says the resident pastor to the visiting one. "Saloons, gambling houses and the like run wide open all the time, and the officers pay no attention to them."

"Yes," agrees the visitor; "I might take as my text, 'There's no arrest for the wicked.'"—Judge.

Grace Before Meat.

5 Years' Throat Trouble And Influenza Cured

EMINENT DOCTORS FAILED TO CURE—HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

This Case Does Prove That When Catarrhozone is Breathed Every Trace of Catarrh Disappears.

Milford, Haven, Da., July 24.—Everyone in this neighborhood knows of the long suffering from influenza and catarrh endured by Mrs. D. Gurney To-day she is well. Her recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. This is her own statement: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh in the head, throat and nose, and endured the manifold tortures of influenza for five years. My life was despaired of. Catarrh was undermining my strength very fast. I used treatments from eminent doctors, but all failed to cure me. I had given up hope of ever becoming well. Then I read of a wonderful cure made by Catarrhozone. Immediately I sent for Catarrhozone, and before I had used one bottle I was greatly relieved. To-day I am cured.

"We would not be without Catarrhozone in our home—it's so sure in colds, coughs, bronchial and throat trouble. I feel it is my duty to publicly recommend Catarrhozone."

Get the large dollar size of Catarrhozone; it contains a beautiful hard rubber inhaler and medicine that lasts two months. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c each. Beware of imitations—accept only Catarrhozone sold by all reliable dealers or by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, of Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

MR. PECK OFFERS CUP.

A silver cup for local football clubs to compete for has been donated by Mr. A. E. Peck, M.L.A. The trophy must be won three years successively by any one club to retain permanent possession. Labor Day's game will be the first competition play.

Ravages of Scarlet Fever.

Norwood Register: Two children, (girl and boy) of Marquis Post, of Dummer, died from scarlet fever on Saturday last, aged respectively 2 years and 8 months, and 8 months and nineteen days. The little boy had been ill about two weeks, while the little girl contracted the disease only four days before her death. Burial took place on Monday.

Canal Head Goes North.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, left last night for an inspection trip in the interests of the waterway. He will be joined at Havelock this morning by Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., and Dr. Holdcroft, and the party will proceed to the north-eastern part of the county to locate adequate bases for the conservation of a water supply for the Trent Canal.

For New Rural Mail.

A new rural mail route through Douro, south and the northern part of Otonabee townships is to be established as soon as the delivery contract and other arrangements can be made. The new route will be north along the east side of the Otonabee river, 2½ miles, thence east 6 miles to road between lots 4 and 5 to Douro P.O., thence south to boundary between Douro and Otonabee townships and on west.

Another Trip Over Canal.

A second expedition comprised principally of members of Parliament, is expected to journey over the Trent Valley Canal from Peterborough to Orillia within a short time. The Honorable J. D. Reid, Minister of Customs, will probably accompany the party. Civil engineers of Toronto have applied to Supt. McClelland for an opportunity to inspect the Canal works. Their wish will probably be granted in the near future.

To Issue New County Map.

The Times will issue in a few weeks, a new up-to-date map of the united counties of Leeds and Grenville. This will be the fifth of a series of county maps issued from the Times office. These maps are lithographed in four colors and are so up-to-date in every detail they are recognized and used in the public schools.

It is the Times' purpose to later issue a map of the County of Peterborough, if sufficient encouragement is offered.

Weather Curtails Sports.

Weather conditions this summer have handicapped the execution of sport schedules in Peterborough and county. Bowling, a much appreciated sport here, has been practically impossible, while players of other games have had also to forego their usual pastimes to a large extent. The weather man promises bright sun shiny weather for September, however, and it is hoped by outdoor sport enthusiasts, that they may yet have a turn at their favorite play before Hallowe'en.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

More Farm Laborers wanted. Not nearly enough gone forward to fill labor demands. Additional excursions will be run from Peterborough on Sept. 4th and 6th, same conditions and rates as on other excursions. Leave Peterborough 4.19 p.m. or 4.30 p.m., above dates. Toronto 10.20 p.m. Secure tickets and all information from W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

Campers Return to City.

The sojourn at Stoney Lake and other popular summer resorts is rapidly closing now and life is again stirring in many city homes made vacant during the warm months. Camping this year has not been quite up to the standard of agreeableness, sojourners report, on account of low temperatures and inclement weather. Nevertheless most of them agree they have benefited by their outing and are ready again to wrestle with the prosiac things of city life.

Harvesters for Western Canada.

Though the Harvesters' excursions that are being run by the Grand Trunk System to Western Canada are being well patronized there is still a demand for a larger number of men. This week outting will be very general all over the West, and there is a heavy demand for more harvesters. The farmers along the Grand Trunk Pacific pay the maximum wage. Toronto to North Bay enxlusive and west of Toronto in Ontario, will be run on Friday, August 30th, and all particulars may be had from Grand Trunk Agents.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Tells of Crop Outlook.

Mr. William Campbell, postmaster of Keene, was in the city yesterday and called on The Times. He said he does not remember ever having seen the crop in Otonabee township look better than they do this season, the cool weather and frequent showers producing a marvelous growth. 'In instances where land is low crops have suffered but generally speaking all farm products are in excellent condition and yield. The same condition may be said to obtain throughout Ontario this year.

September an Ideal Month.

In the Algonquin National Park of Ontario the month of September is one of the most beautiful of the year. The "Highland Inn," situated on Cache Lake 2,000 feet above sea level offers all the comforts one may desire at reasonable rates. The region is a natural playground of over 2,000,000 acres, and those who love nature and the wild things that live in her confines can enjoy themselves to their hearts content. Algonquin Park Station where the "Highland Inn" is situated only 168 miles west of Ottawa and 200 miles north of Toronto. For any one whose nerves are troublesome, or through over work need a rest, or whose health is run down, there is not a more delightful place in America. Write to Mr. Wm. Gall, Manager, The "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park, Ont., for all particulars and illustrated booklet.

New London Resorts Popular.

The inauguration of a new train service by the Grand Trunk between Montreal and New London, Conn., this year has induced many Canadians to visit this, comparatively speaking, new territory on Long Island Sound. The number of people from Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal who have visited Block Island, Watch Hill, Fisher's Island and other resorts in the vicinity of New London have returned enthusiastic over the attractions offered there, and many prominent people have stated that the environments are delightful and that the district is without doubt one of the finest on the Atlantic Coast. The Company are much gratified with the business that has offered this year, and the probabilities that a heavy passenger traffic during the summer will be experienced next year, and as the district becomes better known.

BASEBALL

PETERBOROUGH WINS AGAIN.

Nicholson's long drive to left in the tenth innings, scorinb Trout, won for Peterborough the game with Ottawa at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon. The Capitol city bunch tied the score in the ninth and looved mighty dangerous at that stage. Swartz singled in the last half of the tenth and Beard advanced him to second on a sacrifice bunt. Byrnes then singled. Following a circus play in which a dispute between Manager Davie Rowan and Umpire Blake figured Byrnes was allowed second on a balk. Then Nicholson kept the crowd on edge with an entertainment of a score of foul tips till the right ball came over, which he slugged for the winning run. Trout split a finger in the ninth innings but stayed in the game. A feature of the game was the pepper used in the game by Nicholson and from many angles it was one of the best games of the season. The score:

	Runs	Hits	Er.
Ottawa	6	12	2
Peterboro	7	13	1

Batteries—Benson and Hopper; Osborne and Trout.

Umpire—Blake

CLASSICS FOR HIM, RAGTIME FOR HER, DIVORCE SOUGHT

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 29.—"He permitted me to play only sacred or classical music on the piano, and I can't live without playing rag time" said Mrs. Jessie Koenig to-day in support of her suit for divorce and alimony on grounds of cruelty, filed yesterday against her husband, City Forester Juilius Koenig.

"When we were married in 1902 Koenig had $3 and I had $4," his wife said. "We both worked but were happy. When he was appointed city forester at $2,000 a year, two years ago, our troubles began. He began telling me I was not refined enough for him; that my language was improper and finally that he could no longer love me."

Koenig protests he wants his wife back.

POPE'S CONDITON IS REPORTED TO BE SERIOUS

New York, Aug. 29.—A special cable from Paris says: Religious papers have not told all the truth, according to the Paris Matin, concerning the Pope's condition. The facts, says this paper are that he is growing weaker daily. No stranger to the Vatican is admitted to the Pope's mass, for the reason that the Pope must often celebrate the Holy Sacrifice in a sitting posture. His limbs do not hold him despite his energetic efforts to save appearances.

His immediate entourage says the condition of his sister is causing grave apprehension to the Pope, whose mental sufferings reacts much on his physical condition.

LAWS INADEQUATE REGARDING COMPENSATION, HE ASSERTS

Sir William Meredith Reports on Workmen's Condition—Mutual Insurance Plan is Discussed—Further Co-operation Solicited

Toronto, Aug. 30.—The interim report of Sir W. R. Meredith, commissioner on workmen's compensation, has been published.

While admitting that he is not as yet in a position to make any recommendations as to any possible laws, the commissioner says that he has taken sufficient evidence to satisfy him that the law of Ontario is entirely inadequate to meet the conditions under which industries are now carried on, or to provide just compensation for those employed in them who meet with injuries.

It is satisfactory to note, he continues, that those who speak for the employers concede the justice of the claim made on behalf of the employes that the industries should bear the burden for making compensation. The difference of opinion arises over the proportion which should be borne by the employers.

There was practical unanimity also in favor of a plan of mutual insurance, under the management of a board appointed by the Crown.

It had yet to be decided whether compensation should extend to agriculture, and whether it should extend beyond dangerous occupations, or to industries in which less than a specified number of employes are engaged.

Much remains to be done, and the further co-operation of the employers and the employes is solicited.

ST PAUL'S NEW CHOIR LEADER MUSICIAN OF HIGH ATTAINMENTS

Mr. John Allan Comes to Peterborough Presbyterian Church With International Music Laurels—Public Will Have Chance to Hear Him at Recital

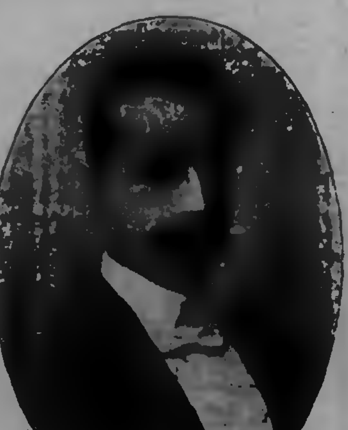
Mr. John Allan, who has come to Peterborough to be organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, to follow his profession of teacher of pianoforte and of singing, is acknowledged in the musical world as one of the foremost in Canada. He has been trained himself by eminent men in the musical world, comes to Peterborough with the best credentials as to his ability and success.

He came to Canada from Scotland five years ago, went to Knox Church, St. Thomas on the recommendation of Dr. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Globe and his ability was speedily recognized.

"The choir of Knox Church, under his enthusiastic leadership," the Rev. G. Leslie Pidgeon says, "developed to a degree of efficiency unsurpassed by any choir in the Dominion, while his organ recitals on week afternoons and evenings contributed a feature, not only in the life of the congregation, but also of the city, and were always attended by large and ever-increasing numbers."

Mr. Allan's talented young daughter, Miss Dorothy, has been the only vocalist at every organ recital he has given in Canada, and wherever she has sung has been received enthusiastically.

After being three years at St. Thomas, Mr. Allan wished to return to a large centre again, and when the people of Crescent Street Presbyterian Church, Montreal, heard him, they at once offered him the position, which greatly to the regret of Knox Church, he accepted. After being there only a few months his salary was increased $200 a year to show the appreciation of the good work done by the organist and the improvement in the musical portion of the services while under his direction.



MR. JOHN ALLAN
Choirmaster of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Peterborough.

The extreme climate of Montreal is the reason of Mr. Allan's return to Ontario. He thinks British Columbia and Ontario the two provinces best suited to old country people. Mr. Allan was known all over Scotland as a brilliant recitalist, he having given organ recitals at Glasgow, Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Dundee, Paisley Coatbridge, Ayr, Perth, Arbroath, Greenock, Stirling, Govan, Kirkcaldy, etc., several years in succession. He has also had the honor of playing on various occasions before Their Majesties, King George and Queen Mary, at Abergeldie Castle; the late King Edward, at Balmoral Castle; the Princess Royal, the late Duke of Fife at Mar Lodge, the Queen of Spain, Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, Prince and Princess Dolgorouki, the late Lord and Lady Clanwilliam, the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, at Old Mar Castle, Glenmuick House and Haddo House.

Mr. Allan is looking forward to his work here and hopes his coming will further the interests of music in our midst. He is greatly taken with Peterborough, and remarks he has never seen finer trees or more beautifully kept lawns than in our city.

The people of Peterborough will have an opportunity of hearing Mr. Allan at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Recital Tuesday, September 10, of which further notice will be given.

NINE VETERANS GET $100 GRANT

Peterborough Survivors Of Fenian Raid Reaping Pension

Nine Peterborough veterans of the Fenian Raid of '66 have received their pension grant of $100 each from Ottawa. They are Col. J. W. Miller, Major Wm. Langford, J. I. Davidson, George Rose, H. Rush, R. J. Sanderson, John Kylie, Color Sergt. Fred McCory and Alex Fitzgerald.

George Rose, one of the veterans, is at present ill in the hospital. He and Color Sergt. Fred McCory are the only surviving members of the Millbrook infantry company.

The Millbrook company was first called out in March '66 and ordered to Cobourg. In June of the same year the company was ordered to Toronto and Kingston, where it was organized under the original battalion in command of the late Colonel H. T. H. Williams of Port Hope. There are a total of 25 or 30 veterans in this city. Some of these are not members of the Veterans' Association which sent representatives to Ottawa to press the pension claim so that an exact count is not obtainable.

While the veterans are thankful for the $100 grant, the general feeling among them is that the grant should be an annual one. In this connection Col. Miller pointed out that in five years there would not be 200 veterans left in the country.

"The men willingly sacrificed farm, shop and bench to serve their country," said Col. Miller. "Had it not been for the sacrifice they made, there would have been no lands to grant. They were not the cat-tail and bob-cat of the country, but men of families, means and obligations. It was their patriotism that saved Canada at that time and their recognition by the Government in a tangible form is deserved, merited."

Col. Miller's expression is the sentiment of other veterans who believe each man entitled should receive $100 a year while he lives.

FIREMENS' UNIFORMS ARE INSPECTED.

Passed as Satisfactory by the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The City's Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night, and at the Fire Hall, inspected the firemen's uniforms supplied by T. G. Anderson, whose work the committee passed as satisfactory.

A number of current accounts were passed.

The members present were Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Chairman Alderman Gillespie, Aldermen Buller, Anderson and Brown.

ONE OF GREATEST MYSTERIES IN ANNALS OF BRITISH CRIME

Eastbourne, Eng., Aug. 30. — One of the greatest mysteries of the annals of English crime seems likely to be placed on record in connection with the four murders and suicide committed by Hicks Murray here on Aug. 19th.

Ever since that date the detective department and a host of reporters have been investigating every possible clue to the murder-suicide's identity, but no progress has been made in solving the problem. He was supposed to have been an officer in a Scottish regiment, but this has been proved erroneous. The belief gains ground that Murray was the black sheep of a prominent family, although there is nothing to demonstrate this.

In his marriage certificate Murray gave his father's occupation as a barrister, but no trace of such a person can be found. Beyond his claim to have been a soldier in India Murray never spoke of his past.

The burial of Murray and the women and three children who were his victims is to take place at the expense of the town.

State Of War Almost Exists?

London, Aug. 30.—"Germany and England are now in a state of war," according to J. A. M. Aikens, K.C., Canadian member of parliament from Brandon, Manitoba, who has just returned here from a continental tour. In an interview to-day he said:

"From my investigations on the Continent and here I am convinced Germany and England are now in a state of war. The overt blow has not yet been struck, but when it is, all may be over in three months or three days.

"When Canada understands this situation I believe the Dominion's hearty help will be forthcoming."

BORDEN AND PELLETIER BID FAREWELL TO LONDON AND SAIL

Canadian Premier and His Postmaster-General Given a Hearty Send Off by Large Group of Canadians Who Cheered Them—Sir Wilfrid Criticized

London, Aug. 30.—Hon. R. L. Borden, Premier of Canada, and Hon. Louis P. Pelletier, the Canadian Postmaster-General, left London by train this morning for Liverpool to embark on the Allan Liner Victorian for Montreal.

The Dominion Premier and Postmaster-General were cheered on their way by a large group of Canadians who had gathered with the Canadian High Commissioner, Lord Strathcona, to wish them farewell.

The Conservative newspapers today express high hopes of the result of Mr. Borden's mission in enlisting Canadian co-operation for Imperial defence.

The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"He is the embodiment of a great wave of Imperial feeling and filial love. Where he and Canada lead there can be little doubt that Australia, New Zealand and South Africa will follow. For the practical result of Mr. Borden's mission we must wait a while, but in the confidence that a great step forward will be taken toward the establishment of that empire of peace which it is the destiny of the British race to establish."

The Westminster Gazette, the Government organ, expresses a similar view. The speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is censured by some of the Conservative newspapers, notably the Morning Post, which says: "Sir Wilfrid's speech can only be described as hostile to the British naval policy."

LICENSE FEES FOR MOVING PICTURE SHOWS MAY BE RAISED

Are Now Paying $40 a Year. Council Will Be Asked to Increase the Fee to $75. An Additional $25 Will Probably be Taxed For Vandeville

$100 GRANT FOR LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

The City's Finance Committee met last night. There were present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Chairman Alderman Anderson, Aldermen Duncan and Johnston.

On motion of the Mayor, seconded by Alderman Johnston, the Labor Day Celebration Committee was donated a grant of $100.

Communications showed that at Guelph, Kingston and St. Thomas the license fee for such shows is $50 each; in Brantford $300 each, in London $60 each.

Ald. Johnston thought a fair price in Peterborough would be $100.

Ald. Anderson—"Yes, with an additional fee where vaudeville is put on."

Moved by Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Johnston,—That the by-law be amended to fix the license fee for moving picture shows at $75 each per year.

The Mayor—"You are going to tax to the fullest extent the places affording amusement to people who cannot afford to patronize high priced shows."

Ald. Anderson—"I don't think moving pictures are a benefit to the city; they may be all right for grown up people, but give a false impression of life to young people."

The resolution here carried and council will be asked to ratify the committee's decision that the license fee for moving picture shoes be $75 a year.

Ald. Anderson will probably also bring up for discussion in Council his proposition that any moving picture show putting on vaudeville be taxed an additional license fee of $25.

The Times will be issued Monday morning, Labor Day as usual. But there will be no issue Tuesday in order to permit the paper's staff to enjoy the holiday.

THE EVOLUTION OF BATTLESHIP

First Dreadnought Only Six Years Old

GREAT BRITAIN FIRST

St. John, N.B., Aug. 30.— Not a few usually well informed people have but a hazy idea how to satisfactorily answer a question that is very pertinent these days: "What is a Dreadnought?" We are, most of us, aware, of course that a Dreadnought is a battleship of the highest and latest type, but in what respect this class of vessel differs from other battleships is not so apparent.

The Dreadnought has been well and briefly described as the "All-big-gun" ship. The honor of creating this last word in naval construction belongs, as it should rightly belong to Great Britain, the Mistress of Seas. Six years ago, in 1906, "The Dreadnought" of 17,900 tons, with a length of 490 feet, was launched, the first of her type. The pattern of her armament has since been copied with certain variations, by every first class naval power in the world. The original Dreadnought carries ten 12-inch guns, of which eight bear on the broadside—"three turrets on the middle line and two abreast on beams."

"The above technical reference, it should, perhaps, be explained, means that on the Dreadnought of 1906 two guns are in each of these turrets, placed at intervals down "the middle line" of the ship, and can be turned to fire a broadside of six guns on either side. The two turrets "abreast on beams" are placed one on each side of the middle line at right angles to the keel of the ship. Each of these turrets has two guns which can contribute to a broadside on their own side of the ship—making eight guns to a broadside.

It must be stated that the credit of evolving on an all-big-gun ship does not belong to Great Britain alone. Several of the other powers took a hand in the early stages of this development. For many years prior to the building of the Dreadnought naval competition between the powers had been essentially one of numbers. Germany was the only country that has made any considerable variation in the size and power of battleships. In 1901 Italy took the first step towards the modern all-big-gun ship by the addition of intermediate guns to the secondary battery in the battleships Benedetto Brin and Regina Margherita. These ships were armed with four 12-inch four 8-inch, and twelve 6-inch guns. Two years later, in 1903, Great

Pastor of Park Street Baptist Has Doubled His Church's Membership.

The Rev. Walter C. Riddiford will pass, to-morrow, his fifth year as pastor of the Park street Baptist Church in this city.

In the period of his pastorate, Mr. Riddiford has drawn to his church double the membership enrolled at his induction. More than two hundred members are now enrolled with the church. The pastor came to this city from Hamilton.

REV. WALTER C. RIDDIFORD
Pastor of the Park Street Baptist Church.

Mr. Riddiford is an enthusiastic supporter of athletics, an athletic himself, and takes particular interest in any work calculated to promote the interests of young men, as well as devoting his energies to the welfare of the elder generation.

He is a member of the Y.M.C.A., and an active worker along the ideas the association promotes. Many young people have been added as members of the Park street Baptist Church since Mr. Riddiford's charge in this city.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit? If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

UNWRITTEN BOOKS.

Thackeray and Conan Doyle Both Found Themselves Forestalled.

How strange are literary coincidences occasionally is illustrated in the case of Thackeray and Dumas. Thackeray says: "I came near writing a book on the same subject, 'Les Trois Mousquetaires,' and taking M. d'Artagnan for my hero. D'Artagnan was a real character of the age of Louis XIV. and wrote his own memoirs. I remember picking up a dingy copy of them on an old bookstall in London, price sixpence, and intended to make something of it. But Dumas got ahead of me. He snaps up everything."

A coincidence quite as remarkable occurred with Sir Conan Doyle for central figure. He learned while spending a holiday in a mountain inn in Switzerland that during the winter months for some reason two men remained in occupation. For four or five months they were isolated from the rest of the world. Suppose one of them went mad or committed suicide or— The possibilities were endless. He forthwith determined to embody the idea in a story. On his way home he happened to pick up a book of tales by Maupassant. There, in it, under the title "L'Auberge," he found himself forestalled in every particular.

An Old London Dining Club.

An old London dining club, the Dilettanti, was founded in 1733. This at one time was an extremely wealthy club, for, in addition to their subscription, members had to pay a fine when any money was bequeathed them. In 1790 the Dilettanti had £10,000 in hand. Soon after its foundation Horace Walpole wrote that "the qualification for the Dilettanti is having been in Italy and the real one being drunk." It has grown respectable with years, but even now, when a new member is balloted, all the members have to make a complete circuit of the dining table before placing the ball in the box. And a rule still survives that "every member who shall produce on the table a dish of tea or coffee must pay into the general fund a guinea for every such drink.—London Spectator.

Defiance.

"There is a place awaiting you in the abode of future punishment," said the man who, even though angry, strives to be discreet of speech.

"It don't scare me none," replied the janitor. "I'll be kind o' glad to get some place where the tenants never complain because the radiators are cold."

A LAUGH THAT SPREAD.

It Saved Ferranti's Reputation and Fooled the Critics.

One evening Carlotta Patti sang in a large town. Just as Ferranti, the buffo, was leading her out of the door upon the platform some one in the anteroom behind cried out to him that his coat had burst at the seam in the back. It was too late to go back, for the audience had seen him, and the two singers advanced to the footlights. The knowledge of this mishap took all the fun out of Ferranti, and the duet, which was sung in Italian, was so dolefully devoid of its usual humor that Patti noticed it before they were half through, and, dropping the text of the duet, she fitted the following words to it, in Italian: "What is the matter with you tonight? I don't understand your nervousness. Nobody laughs at you!"

Whereupon Ferranti, in the mellifluous Italian, responded: "By the saints, I have burst my coat! Everybody will laugh when I go off the stage if they don't now!"

At this unexpected interchange of personal feelings Max Maretzek and his orchestra began to laugh. Then the people in the front seats, seeing the orchestra and the artists laughing, joined in themselves, and the merriment presently broke out into applause all over the house.

"Ah," said one of the papers next morning, "there is always something majestic in Ferranti's singing of that song. People burst into sympathetic laughter without being able to tell why!"

An Interesting Division of the British Army in India.

In the English papers one may frequently see pictures of tiny soldiers, about seven or eight years of age, gravely saluting elderly officers. These infants at arms are boy recruits holding regular and dignified places in the Indian army. Each Sikh regiment is allowed twelve of these little chaps, who are trained almost from babyhood. They are paid each 3 rupees and 8 annas a month and at the age of sixteen enter the regular army.

The Sikh soldiers are an interesting and remarkable part of the British army in India. Their conduct in frontier engagements has distinguished them as brave, steady and devoted to their English officers. Yet about fifty years ago these well ordered soldiers were fanatical savages who in their mad uprisings shook the power of Great Britain. Once conquered, they accepted British rule and were trained and disciplined into a well equipped army of 30,000 soldiers. They formed part of the force that subdued the mutiny. The Hodson's horse troops, which helped capture Delhi, were composed of Sikhs whose devoted service to their leader made them famous. Their scarlet sashes and turbans gained them the name of "Flamingoes." Their descendants are no less determined fighters and stanch soldiers.—New York Press.

DIG THEIR OWN GRAVES.

English Army Methods in the Execution of Condemned Spies.

The unfortunate man is surrounded by a detachment of infantry, and after he is provided with a pick and shovel he is marched off to a selected spot and ordered to dig his own grave. This done, the tools are taken from him and his eyes are bandaged. The attending chaplain reads portions selected from the burial service, and from the ranks of the escort twelve men are selected at random by the officer in charge.

These men, having stacked their own rifles, are led to where twelve other rifles are awaiting them, six of which are loaded with blank cartridges. One of these is handed to each man, so that no one knows whether the rifle he holds contains a bullet or not, and none can say for certain that the shot fired by him killed the prisoner. The firing party then marches to an appointed position. The commands "Present!" "Fire!" are given, and almost before the last word rings out the volley is fired and the spy falls into the grave he has dug.

Nearly every man is more or less affected on being selected to form one of the firing party, and many men have been known to faint away on being singled out, while others are so overcome as to be scarcely able to pull the triggers of their rifles.

Carlyle's Bluntness.

Thomas Carlyle once took Lord Houghton (Richard Milnes) to task in regard to the proposed pension for Lord Tennyson. "Richard Milnes," said Carlyle, taking his pipe out of his mouth, "when are ye gaun to get that pension for Alfred Tennyson?" Milnes tried to explain that there were difficulties in the way and that possibly his constituents who knew nothing about Tennyson would accuse him of being concerned in a job were he to succeed in getting the desired pension for the poet. "Richard Milnes," replied the sage, "on the day of judgment, when the Lord asks ye why ye didna get that pension for Alfred Tennyson, it'll no do to lay the blame on your constituents. It's you that'll be damned."

Vulcan.

Vulcan, the god of ancient blacksmiths and metal workers, was lame in consequence of a pretty hard fall he had in his early days. Jupiter and Juno had a row, and Vulcan sided with his mother against the old gentleman, who promptly kicked him out of heaven. He fell for a whole day and lighted on the island of Lemnos, broke his leg and received as severe a shaking up as though he had tumbled down an elevator shaft. Aesculapius set his leg, but, having only just received a diploma, did a poor job, and for a long time Vulcan went on a crutch.

ULSTER COVENANTERS

Half of the three quarters of a million of Ulster Unionists, will, it is declared, next month sign a solemn league and covenant not to submit to the Irish Parliament and executive to be created by the pending Home Rule bill. This decision was announced last week, and has been applauded by the London Times, mouthpiece of English Unionists, as dignified and proper. Bonar Law, the present Unionist leader, has declared for himself and his colleagues that there is no length to in supporting their Ulster friends. which they are not prepared to go This, Mr. Law, afterwards explained to his critics, was not to be taken as a threat or as an incitement, but as a warning.

A great deal is being written in the British press just now about the right of rebellion in certain contingencies. It is also argued that the present attitude of the Ulster Unionists—or of their spokesmen is not technically rebellious. An attempt is being made to deprive them of their citizenship. They will not be extruded.

THE MANNING OF THE SHIPS

Among the problems which the Admiralty have to deal with, one of the most difficult and most urgent, is the problem of manning the ships in the navy. This problem must be recognized as of outstanding importance in connection with the question of the Canadian naval policy. We must not let ourselves lose sight of the fact that Dreadnoughts and all other ships of the navy must have their efficient, trained complements of men. This we must keep in sight, if Canada is to become an actual efficient factor, in full measure, of the naval might of the Empire.

The August issue of The Navy, the official publication of the Naval League, says of "The Question of Men":

"The problem of the manning of the Fleet is one of the most difficult that can be conceived, and it is now admitted that a large expandsion is required. The Admiralty are certainly not oblivious of this necessity. Modern ships swallow up larger numbers of men and for every ship that is built an efficient complement must be provided. It is an open secret that the Admiralty have latterly been at their wits end to lay hold of the right class of men. The barracks and depots were emptied for the providing of the complements for the ships which lay at Spithead. A great number of them were nucleus crew ships or vessels having reduced nucleus crews, and large numbers of men had to be sent on board. The system is infinitely better than the old one, but the nucleus crew ships must have proper complements of specialists, and there must exist sufficient reserves of trained men to fill up their companies. It is the common opion amongst officers that this is one of the greatest necessities of the Fleet."

The days of the "walls of oak" are gone forever; but "hearts of oak" will ever be the prime requisite for sea supremacy. The old Jingo rhyme placed the three requisites in the right order—men, ships, money. It will not do for us in Canada to reverse the order, and then losing sight of the necessity of providing men, take the view that we can acquit ourselves of our national responsibility by merely providing the money to build Dreadnoughts. Not in that way can the Canadian people do their part fully in justice to their responsibilities and to themselves, not in that way, if the Empire is in dire need of their help, will they be helping it with themselves.

Nasal Discharge Proves Catarrh is Active

THE PURE BALSAMIC ESSENCES, OF CATARRHOZONE AFFORD SUREST AND QUICKEST CURE.

Catarrhozone is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath directly to the seat of the chest, nose or throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritations, facilitates the ejection of mucus, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes. The marvel of the age in curing winter ills—that's what thousands say about Catarrhozone. There is nothing so sure to cure, and to those in fear of changeable weather—those who easily catch cold—those who work among lung-chilling surroundings, or where dust, impure air, fog or damp can affect them—let them get Catarrhozone and use it several times daily—it will cure every time.

BAD CASE CURED IN TWO DAYS.

"I was unfortunate enough to catch a bad cold from sitting in a draught in my bare head" writes Miss Nora E. Jemieson, well known in Sangre Grande, Td. "An acute condition of catarrh developed in my nostrils and for three days my eyes and nose ran most copiously. The usual remedies entirely failed to relieve. I read in The Mirror newspaper about Catarrhozone and sent to Smith Bros. drug store for a dollar outfit. In two days Catarrhozone cleared out my nostrils cured the sneezing, coughing, and all traces of catarrh,"

Large size Catarrhozone, sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c Beware of imitations and substitutors, and insist on getting "Catarrhozone" only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"There wouldn't be so much dry talk," says the Globe, "if there were not so many dly people." This, it strikes us, is excellent, both as a bit of pholosophy and as a slogan for a brewery.

There are so many reports of insurrections and rebellions in the Roman Catholic Central American republics that the wonder is when the people there get time from their religious duties to roll a cigarette or attend a chicken fight.

In honor of the forthcoming visit of His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, the Indian band from the village of Metlakatla has invested the, to them, enormous sum of $1,600 in a set of 31 new instruments purchased from a Toronto firm. All are silver plated and chased, and are said to be the finest yet sent out to any musical organization in Canada by these instrument makers A solemn ceremony took place when the old instruments were delivered into the hands of Mr. C. C. Perry, the Indian agent, who delivered the new set to the bandsmen in exchange. The discarded set will be sold to the highest bidder, the proceeds to be devoted to municipal improvements at Metlakatla, and the new ones will be used for the first time at the reception to be tendered the Royal Governor-General on his visit to Prince Rupert.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents . . . . .

MR. BURNHAM, M.P.'S DREAM OF THE WEST.

Edieor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—May I ask you to give this letter the same publicity through your columns that you gave to the letter from Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., in your issue of the 19th.

I have not the pleasure of Mr. Burnham's acquaintance; in fact, I may confess that his name is unfamiliar to me, and for that matter, so are the "facts" he intimates of this western country. It is a true saying that "there are none so blind as those who do not wish to see," and I have no hesitation in classing Mr. Burnham, M.P., among these for he can make a trip of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia and can conscientiously recommend working men or any other artizans to remain in Ontario, he must have, to say the least, a very unobservant mind. I have been through Ontario and know what it is. To come straight to the point: Has Mr. Burnham, M.P., made even a mental comparison of the prosperity here and the prosperity in Peterborough? Has he had any conversations with employers, employees, municipal assessors, or bank managers? I fancy not, or he would not write in the hopelessly forlorn spirit that he does of this glorious west. If he had, in the first place the employers would tell him candidly that they have to treat the men with far less of that officialism that they are allowed to use in the east, or to bring it home more clearly, in Peterborough. A working man here has no need "to stand any dirt," and what is more, he will not. Is that the case in Peterborough? Is it not a fact that a great deal of "creeping" goes on in Peterborough to-day to keep on the "soft" side of the employer? Are the wages as high in Peterborough as they are here. Is there the same profit after a man has paid his board? What percentage of Peterborough working men own any real estate and what is the value of real estate around Peterborough compared with the west? Further, how many Peterborough working men can boast a banking account? No, no, Mr. Burnham, M.P., next time you write the press, for heaven's sake don't paint your picture without actually seeing the object. We in this western country know a great many working men return home dissatisfied But we generally find on analysis, that it is well they do return. They are either tied to their mother's apron strings and cannot imagine that the principal buildings of Peterborough would stand of an evening without their backs supporting them, or they are ne'er-do-wells; who are not wanted here. The police make daily visits round the bars here and eke out the undesirables, who afterwards get turned out of the city by the magistrate.

Mr. Burnham, M.P., says the straw of the wheat is short. Certainly it may be called short, but even if that is admitted which I doubt; is it not a fact that the quality of wheat and oats with short straw is better than the long straw? Anyway the farmers around here are not only more plentiful, but I am afraid have prospered to such an extent that they would want a lot of coaxing to go back to Ontario. There is too much money in circulation here to cause people to be homesick. Mr. Burnham, M.P., also makes an assertion, and, I suppose, we must take his assertion as representative of the opinion of the whole of Western Canada, that it is a new sensation for the westerner to be beaten at his own game by the "effete east." I have shown the letter to not a few of my friends and they have neither heard now experienced the sensation." In fact the western people would only be too pleased to see their "effete" eastern brethren liven up a little, and make themselves more worthy of classing themselves as empire-builders in this great dominion of ours.

The farmers' houses, he says, are the worst he has ever seen. Perhaps so, but I am sorry his travelling programme up to the present has been so limited. Don't go to the farm houses, Mr. Burnham, M.P. Just take a trip through the northern part of your own province—Cobalt and the Temiskaming district; then go in the heart of Toronto's business section; then in the foreign quarters of Montreal, and also in Quebec. In the last three named places, the structures may be a little better in comparison, but what of the interior—and what of the comfort which is produced by prosperity?

In conclusion let me ask Mr. Burnham, M.P., not to try to blindfold the eyes of his less fortunate townsmen who cannot afford the trip out west. Don't try to delude them into the idea that they are doing well when they are living from hand to mouth. Let them waken up to the fact that their lines are little better than those of slaves. Appended I give a cutting from to-night's Moose Jaw Evening Times, which speaks for itself, so far as wages and working conditions are concerned. Compare them with Peterborough:

Throughout the district surrounding Moose Jaw, scarcity of labor is being actually felt. The farmers and the contractors are at their wits' end to secure enough men to carry on the work of harvesting the crops, and the contractors cannot get enough men to do the construction work that is in progress in this district. There is hardly any labor coming in from the east, and the men who are here are not plentiful enough to supply the demand. The employment offices cannot fill anywhere near the amount of positions they have advertised, and the contractors are carrying on their work with about half the necessary force. The contractors on the flour mills are experiencing great trouble in keeping the men they have employed, and cannot get any more. The water construction work is progressing very slowly because there are little more than a quarter of the required number of men at work. Everywhere the same condition exists.

Wages are higher than they ever were before. There has been no appreciable raise in wages the last few days, but the employment men are of the opinion that within a short time the prices will soar sky-high. The C. P. R. is receiving a lot of criticism from all the west for the raise in the price of harvest excursions. The extra fare west of Winnipeg is said to be holding an enormous number of men east of that point

There are not any men idle in the West at present, outside of the class of undesirables. There seem to be a lot of men standing around town with nothing to do, but the greater part of them have either just arrived or have just finished some job, and are waiting till they secure another to their liking.

The price of harvesters remains at $3 per day, and teamsters on grade work 25c per hour and a bonus of 50c per day if they remain till the job is completed Married couples are commanding $60 to $70 per month, blacksmiths $75 per month, and blacksmith's helpers $45 to $50 per month. Common laborers inside the city are getting 35c per hour and their board furnished for $5.00 per week. Rough carpenters 30c. per hour, and their board at $4 per week. Teamsters on regular work are quoted at $3 per day without board, laborers on grade work 25c per hour and 50c per day bonus, steady farm hands, $50 per month; carpenters, 45c per hour; cranemen, $125 per month and board; expert painters, 40c per hour; steamfitters and helpers, $3 per day and up.

Apologizing for the length of this letter and thanking you in anticipation, I am, yours truly.

"WHERE THE MONEY IS."

HORSES AND COWS WEAR OVERALLS IN TEXAS

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 30.—Overalls and hats are fashionable among North Texas horses and cows now. Reports coming from Denison, Sherman, Denton and other towns say that there is a demand by farmers, stockmen and liverymen for big overalls and straw hats for their animals and that few are now seen on the streets unclad.

Millions of flies during the last week have attacked horses and cows in big swarms, many animals becoming maddened and running away.

CLERGYMAN WILL NOT MAKE APOLOGY

Made Bitter Attack on English Directors of Rubber Company Charged With Atrocities!

London, Aug. 30.—In a letter addressed to Canon Henson, the lawyers representing three English directors of the Peruvian Amazon Rubber company demanded immediate amends for the utterances made concerning the treatment of natives by the company at its plantations. The utterances were made by the reverend gentleman at Westminster Abbey a few days ago. In his sermon Canon Henson strongly denounced the company for the manner in which it treated the natives in its employ. The solicitors, while declaring that such charges were entirely baseless and without foundation, demanded that the clergyman make amends for his false statements. They affirm that the directors whom they represent have been in no way connected with the outrages on the natives of Putumayo.

In answer to the demands of the solicitors, Canon Henson replied that the sermon was entirely justified. When the company took over the rubber business, the clergyman maintained, it retained men in its employ who were absolutely self-confessed murderers, pirates and bandits. He therefore would not retract.

During the touring of a boat from the deck of the warship Superb at Portland the falls gave way and 15 to 18 men were precipitated in the water, two being drowned, the officers of the cutter and 14 men were saved.

TWO HEADED BABY BORN IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 30.—With two perfectly formed heads rising from a single neck and normal body, a three-days-old child is engaging the attention of physicians of Josephine Hospital.

Both heads are normally formed. There are two complete sets of eyes and ears, two noses and mouths. To-night it was reported that the child was living and taking nourishment. The mother was also doing well.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

Is practically a mutual one, with the protection afforded by a guarantee fund upon which interest is paid While such fund is only $60,000.00, the guarantors are liable for five times this amount; so that the position admirably reflects the best points of stock and mutual companies. The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

WHY

the stock of Trust Companies and Banks appeal to conservative investors.

The following are a few good reasons why you should invest NOW in the stock of the Acadia Trust Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C.:

1. It is showing remarkable growth, having earned seventy (70 p.c.) per cent. on its paid-up capital since its inception, November 26, 1911.

2. It is thoroughly established (with no promotion stock).

3. It is subject to advance without notice; and will very shortly be amongst the premier Trust Companies doing business in British Columbia.

4. Its profits will necessarily be large.

5. It will declare large bonus dividends to reduce the uncalled liability, thereby increasing the paid-up portion of your stock.

6. Prospects of an increase in value are excellent.

. . . .

A FEW FACTS OF INTEREST

The Acadia Trust Company Limited, was incorporated November 26, 1911, with an authorized capital of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000) Dollars, which is now being increased to One Million Dollars ($1,000,000.00); and the charter granted by this Province covers all business profitable to a Trust Company.

Trust Companies, under the B. C. Act, are required to render quarterly statements to the Minister of Finance, giving very detail of their assets and liabilities, thus affording absolute security to investors and depositors.

Britain took the second step and the King Edward class of ship was equipped with four 3.2-inch guns in their intermediate batteries. In the following year, 1904, the United States gave the Georgia class the same armament as Italy had adopted three years earlier, and followed up this step in the ensuing year by equipping the Connecticut class with 7-inch guns. In 1906 Great Britain launched the Lord Nelson and the Agamemnon provided with four 12-inch and ten 9.2-inch guns. This saw the end, as far as the Mother Country was concerned, of the principle of mixed armaments. Her naval experts, who had been carefully watching the situation, had already decided that the increase in the calibre of the secondary and intermediate batteries had proved the all-round effectiveness of an all-big-gun ship.

When Great Britain's Dreadnought, the first of her class, was launched with ten 12-inch guns, and when the design was repeated in the British ships which followed her, there came a pause in the progress of the world's naval construction. The powers stopped awhile to think over what this new engine of war meant. For eighteen months there was a whole lot of thinking done to fine the "answer." As might naturally be expected from the present situation Germany made the first reply and responded with four slightly larger ships of the Nassau type, armed with twelve 11-inch, twelve 5.9-inch, and sixteen 3.4 inch guns. The "answer" was by no means effective for two reasons. In the first place, it will be observed, Germany's 11-inch gun is inferior to Great Britain's 12-inch gun; and in the second place, although two more heavy guns are mounted, only eight, the same number as in Great Britain's Dreadnought, bear on the beam.

"Germany remedied the first of these faults in the subsequent construction of the ships of the Ostfriesland and Kaiser classes, which are equipped with 12 2 inch guns; but the maintained, eight only bearing on the original disposition of the guns in beam. The superiority of the German 12.2-inch gun to the British 12 inch gun is headily discounted by the fact that the latest type of the British 12 inch gunned ships can fire the whole ten guns on the broadside.

"It may be of interest here to quote Mr. Churchill's forecast of the number of Dreadnoughts and battle cruisers which will be in commission for Great Britain and Germany at the end of 1913, 1914 and 1915:

1913	18	8	13	4
1915	27	10	17	6

"There have been changes and improvements of course, in the armament of Dreadnoughts since 1906. One of the principle problems to be solved by the naval experts of the admiralty lay in the fact that adding to the number of guns increased the dimensions of the ship. It British design it was at first sought to avoid much of this increase, and at the same time to combine a powerful end-on fire with a full broadside, by placing two turrets diagonally across the deck. The system was abandaned. It was realized by the admiralty experts that Dreadnoughts being designed specially for broadside fighting, end-on fire was of infinitestimal importance; and also that in placing two turrets diagonally across the deck, the turret on one beam could cover only a very small angle on the opposite side.

"With the construction of the super-Dreadnought, Orion, laid down in November, 1909, launched in 1910, and now in commission, the all-guns-on-the-middle-line arrangement was finally adopted by the admiralty. The Orion shows a noteworthy advance over the Dreadnaught which gave the name to the all-gun-ships in 1906. She is of 22,500 tons with a length of 545 feet and carries 10 13.5-inch guns. All five turrets are on the middle line with two 'superposed,' that is, raised to a higher level so that another turret can be, so to speak, 'tucket away' under the overhanging of the guns. Two purposes are served by superposing the turrets—there is a saving of length in all important consideration in a battleship, and the efficiency of the two superposed turrets is increased by their greater freeboard."

Do you know that it takes seventeen times the effort to climb stairs that it does to cover the same distance on the level? Have your telephone calls brought to you.

GIRL AND LOVER COMMIT SUICIDE

Take Acid in Hotel After Writing Letters Telling of Their Intention

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 30.—A young woman believed to be Pearl Miley from Lafayette, Ind., and a young man believed to be Ross Morgan of Gilman, registering at the Commercial hotel as Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Long of Lafayette, committed suicide by swallowing carbolic acid. The act was premeditated, the couple having addressed unsigned letters to various friends telling them of the proposed intention.

The woman first swallowed the poison and the man rushed to the office, called for a doctor and rushed back to the room and swallowed a quantity of the acid.

COUPLE DIE IN EACH OTHER'S ARMS

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—Clasped in each others arms, the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Neuberg, an aged German couple, who have been in ill health for some time, were found in the bedroom of their home Sunday.

Five burners in the kitchen stove and two gas jets in the bedroom were open. Beside the couple were found two bottles that had contained carbolic acid.

REBUILDS FORTUNE WHILE IN PRISON

New York, Aug. 30.—Joseph C. Robin, who in the Tombs awaiting sentence on his conviction for grand larceny in connection with the wrecking of the Northern Bank, is said to have made another fortune through speculation which he carried on while a prisoner.

Robin, it was thought, could furnish valuable information in the case pending against former City Chamberlain Hyde, so the former president of the Northern Bank was not sentenced after his conviction, but was kept in the Tombs and during the daytime it is reported he occupied a room in the criminal court's building, which is equipped with a telephone and typewriter. Here, it is said, he has rebuilt his wrecked fortune.

TO WAGE CAMPAIGN AGAINST SOCIALISM

New York, Aug. 30.—Under the direction of Cardinal Farley, the Catholic churches of New York City will join next Sunday evening in a great labor demonstration, the first step in a campaign against Socialism. Invitations to take part have been sent to more than 100,000 laboring men.

It is declared that Cardinal Farley has in mind the establishment shortly of a college of labor and that he has concluded the workingmen should be educated and his mind trained to handle the labor cause intelligently.

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Predictions of lighter receipts next week in the southwest bore some of the responsibility for the bullish tempr that prevailed today in wheat. The market closed steady at a net advance of 1-4c to 3-8c to 5-8c. Corn wound up a shade to 1-4c to 3-8c above last night, oats with a gain of 1-8c to 1-8c to 1-4c, and provisions 2 1-2c to 17 1-2c increase in cost.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ¼d higher than yesterday on wheat, and unchanged on corn. Budapest wheat was ⅝c lower, Berlin ⅛c lower.

DREAM COMES TRUE, FIND GIRL'S BODY

Meredith, N.H., Aug. 30. — John Blake, of this town, dreamed Saturday night that he had found a body floating in lake Winnepesaukee and late Sunday, taking a policeman with him, found the body of Miss Blanche Sinclair, of Boston, who was drowned August 9. Miss Sinclair fell overboard while boating, and divers rearched in vain for the body for which there was a reward of $200.

"CORPSE" TO PAY FUNERAL EXPENSES

Man Supposed To Be Dead Turns Up Alive and Hearty.

Schenectady, N.Y., Aug. 30. — W. M. Clark, a former resident of this city, but now of Elizabeth, N.J., is in Schenectady this week to pay his burial expenses, he being supposedly dead and buried for more than six weeks.

Early in July a man was killed at Binghampton, who, through cards in his pocket, was thought to be Clark. His sister was notified, went to Binghampton and identified the body as being that of her brother. The burial was arranaged for and the sister paid the expenses.

Last week a friend who has been advised of the death met Clark on the street in Elizabeth and told him that he was dead and buried. Clark contradicted the statement, and being advised of the facts, hastened here.

TORONTO SUBURBAN PROPERTIES YEILDING HANDSOME PROFITS TO INVESTORS. THE CITY'S RAPID DEVELOPMENT CREATES THE DEMAND AND VALUES ARE RISING ACCORDINGLY.

Toronto is increasing in population at the rate of about 40,000 a year, and is destined to become one of, if not THE largest City in Canada

VISITORS TO THE TORONTO EXHIBITION should avail themselves of the opportunity to make a personal inspection of

Alexandra Gardens
AND Briar Hill Park

ALEXANDRA GARDENS created a sensation, so eager were investors to buy lots in this desirable section. Many investors in lots in Alexandra Gardens made several hundred per cent. on their investments. Few lots remain to be sold in Alexandra Gardens, and Briar Hill Park, an adjoining property and closer to the city, offers equal opportunity to the investor to-day.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

BRIAR HILL PARK and ALEXANDRA GARDENS offer no speculative uncertainty. They are right in the heart of the most desirable of the high class, suburban residential districts, just where the property demands are the greatest to-day, where the advance in values is certain, where the possibilities of any set back in growth are infinitismal, and where the history of investments in Alexandra Gardens is an almost absolute proof that the investor may make a handsome profit on an investment now in Alexandra Gardens and Briar Hill Park.

THE IDEAL HOMESITE

Alexandra Gardens and Briar Hill Park are the ideal choice for homesites. No situation one could select could be a more desirable one, and their permanency as well restricted properties, is assured. They have all the advantages of close proximity to the city, and its attractions, and at the same time offer the exhilaration, healthfulness, natural beauty and open freedom of country life.

THE LOCATION

Alexandra Gardens and Briar Hill Park are less than a half hour's car ride to the business section of the city, about 4 miles north of King Street half a mile North of Upper Canada College, a little West of Yonge Street, the most charming properties recently added to the city's residential districts.

THE ATTRACTIONS

Alexandra Gardens and Briar Hill Park are situated on one of the highest points in the North Toronto district and are possessed of unusual natural beauties, a great suburban park—excellent for situation affords an outlook and view that could not be excelled and hard to equal anywhere in or about the city. Many of the most handsome and costly houses in North Toronto are located in the Gardens. It is confidently expected that Briar Hill Park which has only been available to builders for a short period will be built at least as rapidly as the Gardens.

TRANSPORTATION

Alexandra Gardens and Briar Hill Park are among the most advantageously situated properties from the standpoint of transportation. The Metropolitan Line (Stop 19) Yonge Street passes the property on the East, it is regarded as a certainty that a line will be constructed on or near Avenue Road through the "Park" and Gardens and it is expected that a line will be constructed on Bathurst Street to the West of the property.

THE CONVENIENCES

Alexandra Gardens and Briar Hill Park residents will have available to them all city conveniences, sewers, water, gas, electric lights, granolithic walks, and paved streets, and the property is near to churches, schools, colleges, stores, bowling greens, and golf links.

THE PRICE

$15.00 A FOOT AND UPWARDS

And the terms of payment are reasonably easy. Lots in Alexandra Gardens have changed hands at greatly increased prices netting the investors handsome profits. A few lots in Alexandra Gardens are still available.

FLED FROM HIS BRIDE.

Romantic Story of the Marriage of General Sam Houston.

In "As I Remember—Recollections of American Society During the Nineteenth Century," is a romantic story of General Sam Houston, whose "appearance was patrician and courtesy that of the inborn gentleman."

"I have spoken of General Houston's appearance. I now wish to refer to his fine sense of honor. He was married on Jan. 22, 1829, to Miss Eliza Allen and separated from her directly after the marriage ceremony in, it is said, the most painful circumstances. The wedding guests had departed and General Houston and his bride were sitting alone by the fire when he suddenly discovered that she was weeping. He asked the cause of her tears and was told that she never loved him and never could, but had married him solely to please her father.

"'I love Dr. Douglas,' she added, 'but I will try my best to be a dutiful wife to you.'

"'Miss,' said General Houston, even waiving the fact that he had just married her, 'no white woman shall be my slave. Good night!'

"It is said that he mounted his horse and rode to Nashville, where he resigned at once his office as governor and departed for the Cherokee country, where and elsewhere his subsequent career is well known. Having procured a divorce from his wife, he married Margaret Moffette in the spring of 1840."

Bluejacket's Black Neckerchief.

It is not generally known that the bluejacket's black neckerchief, a survival of the service mourning for Nelson, is the best British silk obtainable and that the admiralty is a very fastidious customer. Two to each man are issued annually, and many thousands of these discarded scarfs have been subsequently worn by Jack's femininity. A pair of them make an excellent blouse.—Pall Mall Gazette

Spoiled Her Enthusiasm.

"Harry proposed last night! I was so"—

"I knew he would. I played a joke on him."

"What?"

"I told him you would inherit a fortune when you came of age."—Houston Post.

The Word "Expire."

"Expire" in its literal sense is breathing out. Inspiration and expiration together constitute respiration. Izaak Walton observed that "if the inspiring or expiring organ of any animal be stopt it suddenly dies." The Romans spoke of "breathing out" the breath of life instead of "dying" by way of euphemism, just as they said "vixit" (he has lived) instead of "he is dead." In all languages the reluctance frankly to say "dead" or "die" appears; hence such words and phrases as "pass away," "decease," "demise," "the departed," "defunct," "the late," "no more," "if anything should happen to me."

Speaking English.

Almost any one who speaks English might be put down successively in half a dozen places where English is supposed to be the mother tongue and hear as many dialects spoken, not one of which he would understand until it was interpreted. An old Lancashire worthy and a London lady were one day occupants of a railway carriage. The train had been waiting long at a certain station, and there was no appearance of it starting when the worthy remarked:

"They're a gly, tanglesome lot here."

"I beg your pardon," said the lady.

"I'm sayin' they're a gey daidlin' lot here."

"I really beg your pardon, sir."

"I'm observin' they are a vera dreich lot here the nicht."

"Really I must again beg your pardon. I don't comprehend you."

"I was just tryin' to say that the train was late."

"Indeed, sir, it is—very late," agreed the lady and then collapsed.—London Tit-Bits.

Department of Railways and Canals. Canada.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 187 miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 265 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Department of Militia and Defence.

NEW DRILL HALL, AT OSHAWA, ONT.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS, marked on envelope "Tender for Construction of Drill Hall, Oshawa, Ont.," and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Department of Militia and Defence, Ottawa, will be received until noon, September 17th, 1912, for the construction of a new Drill Hall at Oshawa, Ont.

Specifications may be seen and full particulars obtained at the offices of the General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division, Toronto, Ont., Officer Commanding "C" Company, 34th Regiment, Oshawa, Ont., Town Clerk, Oshawa, Ont., and the Director of Engineer Services, Headquarters, Ottawa.

Tenders must be made on the form supplied by the Department and accompanied by an accepted cheque on a Canadian Chartered Bank for ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, payable to the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence, which amount will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into, or fails to complete the contract in accordance with his tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Mark Twain's Profanity.

William Dean Howells read the "Tom Sawyer" manuscript and thought it the best story he had ever read. Clemens consulted him regarding the use of a certain vigorous expletive. Howells advised that it be cut out. Clemens wrote back:

Mrs. Clemens received the mail this morning, and the next minute she lit into the study with danger in her eyes and this demand on her tongue: "Where is the profanity Mr. Howells speaks of?" Then I had to miserably confess that I had left it out when reading the MS to her. Nothing but almost inspired lying got me out of this scrape with my scalp. Does your wife give you cats like that when you go a little one sided?—Harpers.

A Correction.

In a town of such size that every one knows every one else it is often customary to speak of people by their first names, even when one would not do so to their faces. The butcher is known as Joe Smith, the grocer as Frank Parsons, the lawyer as Will Andrews, and no offence is meant or taken. One day a friend was helping a teacher of the industrial school to put hats and coats on forty little members of the kindergarten class. Two little tow headed girls attracted her attention, and as she tied their hoods she asked:

"Are you Charlie Porter's little girls?" Two serious little blue eyes looked up as the elder replied:

"His name was Charlie when he was a little boy. He's Mr. Porter now."—Exchange.

ON THE GREAT WHITE WAY.

How New York's Grill Room Prices Hit the Blue Grass Brother.

After his brother had been in New York a little more than a year a Kentuckian decided to pay him a visit. Hoping to surprise his brother, the Kentuckian did not apprise his brother of his intentions. Arriving at 9 o'clock in the morning, he asked to be directed to a good eating house. The taxicab pilot steered his course for the largest, costliest and most fashionable hotel grill room on Broadway.

Being a stranger in a strange land and hungry, the Blue Grass brother ordered a regular home meal. When he got the check from the waiter its size staggered him. He wasn't accustomed to New York hotel prices.

After verifying the correctness of his bill at the cashier's desk and being insulted by the waiter for tipping him 25 cents, the visitor started out to look for his brother, whose office he found about 1 o'clock.

In response to his inquiry as to his brother's whereabouts a clerk said:

"He's over eating at the Blank hotel's new grill room."

"Go slow, friend. Only a millionaire could overeat at the Blank hotel. I know, because I had breakfast there myself this morning."—Louisville Times.

Old English Houses.

St. Albans, which claims the oldest inhabited house in England, now an inn, is rich in old hostelries. The Peahen there dates back to the fifteenth century, though the present building is modern, save for some old woodwork in the coffee room. The priory, too, in Holywell hill, was once the Bull Inn and as such was visited by Queen Elizabeth, while off the High street is the George Inn, dating from 1448, which at one time had its private chapel for the use of its guests.—London Chronicle.

Burnt Almonds.

Burnt almonds are a confection of purely French origin, owing their inception to the gluttony of a French merchant. One day, tradition has it, Marshal Duplessis-Pralin sent for Lassagne, the inventor of many toothsome dainties, and bade him concoct a new bonbon. Lassagne searched, reflected, combined, until he finally hit upon the confection of burnt almonds, which were baptised with the name of the old gourmet, the French for burnt almonds.

Stomach Always Baulked Had Constant Indigestion

Smell of Cooking Made Him Sick—Bilious Two Days a Week.

Cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Mr. Clemmons' experience is not unusual. Nowadays poor stomachs are more the rule than the exception. But the proper treatment is sure to make a quick cure. You can always depend on Dr. Hamilton's Pills, they reach the trouble at once, go right to business, work while you sleep and have you feeling better if not cured next morning.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemmons of Newbridge P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend who had been cured of a similar condition advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon grew within me. I can now eat, sleep and live like a live man."

Be advised—use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 25c. per box, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Game Case Closed.

Judgment has been rendered by Judge Huycke in the appeal case of Dixon vs. Eason, upholding the decision of Magistrate Dumble. The case arose over an alleged encroachment on Eason's property. Trespassing was charged and Dixon fined. He appealed. The case involved a question of law and interpretation of the Game Act, and served to a great extent to elucidate the correct construction of the Act.

To Open Fancy Goods Store.

Mrs. M. Simmons, of Frankfort, Ont., was in Peterborough, yesterday arranging to establish a sales department for fancy goods, fine needle work and miscellaneous wear for women. James O'Brien Buried.

The funeral of the late J. O'Brien, Aylmer street, took place from the Sacred Heart church yesterday morning to St. Peter's cemetery. The Rev. Dr. O'Brien, rector and son of the decedent, sang a requiem high mass. Rev. Fr. McColl, St. Peter's Cathedral; Rev. Fr. John O'Brien, Rev. Fr. Kelly of Norwood, and the Rev. Fr. John McCarthy of Trout Creek, assisted in the services. The sermon was preached by the Venerable Arch-deacon Casey, of Lindsay. Many friends followed the remains of the esteemed citizen to his last resting place.

To City Subscribers.

Some complaints have been received at The Times office from subscribers that they do not receive their paper regularly. Investigation discloses that in most cases complained of, the fault was caused by the carrier boys selling the papers they should have delivered. Regular carrier boys have not permission to sell The Times because they receive only the required number for regular delivery. Subscribers will confer a favor by informing The Times when they do not receive their paper regularly.

In Peterborough Canoe.

Messrs. J. K. Cornwall, M. P. P. for Peace River, and B. K. Miller, of Milwaukee, have just returned to Edmonton after a fortnight's trip down the Athabaska River from Fitzhugh, the present Grand Trunk Pacific western terminus, in a Peterborough canoe. Of the scenic grandeur of the route and its possibilities as a national playground, Mr. Miller, himself a well known globe trotter, is absolutely convinced. "The finest trip I have ever taken," he declared when interviewed. "The country between Hinton and Whitecourt impresses one with a sense of its absolute remoteness which is unrivalled by any country that I have yet visited, not excluding even the wilderness of the Congo, or even the steppes of Siberia. It is a country absolutely as nature.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Miss Orton, who has been visiting at the Y.W.C.A. has returned to her home in Hamilton.

Dr. and Mrs. Young and family have returned from Chemong where they spent the summer.

Dr. Jessie Birnie has returned to the city after three week's camping on Georgian Bay.

Mr. Hall, No. 1 Fleming Terrace, who has been spending the summer at Stoney Lave, has returned home.

Mrs. E. C. S. Huycke and two daughters, Rosamond and Audrey, are in Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield and Mrs. McIntosh motored from Hamilton, and are the guests of Mrs. Wm. Huston, 340 Charlotte street.

Mrs. J. J. Turner, Jr., and Miss Margaret Turner, of Peterborough, and Mrs. J. A. Vincent, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Cox at Dulce Domum, Stoney Lake.

Mr. Darrel Wainwright, of Chas. Rishor & Co., wholesale grocers, this city, left yesterday morning for Winnipeg on a six week's trip. During his western tour he will visit Calgary, Edmonton and other western points.

Mrs. Burch, and Master Herbert, who have been the guests of Mrs. Benjamin Shortley for the summer, at Stoney Lake and in the city, left yesterday for Toronto. She will be the guest of Mrs. Rothwell for a short time, before leaving for Winnipeg.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR AUGUST TOTALS $53,670.

Building permits aggregating $53,670 were issued in Peterborough during the month of August. Of these the Nicholls' Hospital addition involves $40,000.

Most of the permits were for dwelling houses, George Evans' house on Engleburn avenue involving the greatest individual cost, amounting to $2,500, while George Benton, Sr's house calls for an outlay of $2,000. The others range from $1,800 down.

The total amount of permits for buildings in the city for the eight months ended to-day is $[illegible],750. These figures demonstrate in a tangible way the continued expansion of Peterborough and serve as a criterion of the possibilities of the city's proportions in the next few years.

SHOWS ART IN SHOES AT KYLIE'S STORE.

What is art?

A glimpse at the display in Mr. John Kylie's window, Hunter street, will convince the most fastidious that here is art—art in window dressing; art in design in boots and shoes displayed and art in their making.

The unsurpassed fancy boots for ladies of the Helming & McKenzie manufacture, Cincinnati, furnish a feature in themselves. The Walk Easy make of Brockton, Mass., for men and women and numerous styles of American and Canadian make for both sexes and all ages, complete a display of footwear which for appearance, comfort and wear cannot be excelled.

BASEBALL

WHITE CAPS WIN DOUBLE HEADER FROM SENATORS.

The White Caps again demonstrated that they can play ball by taking two more games from the top notchers, making it five straights. The Ottawas might have saved their bacon on one game but they insisted on the double header, per schedule, and the Peterboro team went in with a vengeance, cleaning up the second by a score of 5 to a whitewash, in five innings.

In the first game Peterboro started off in sure enough league ball style, but the Senators were as wide awake as their godfathers at the Capitol on pay day. Two double plays in the fourth by the home team cut short bright promises for the visitors. The score was tied in the seventh, 3 to 3. Each of seven innings following resulted in a goose egg for each side. In the fourteenth with a White Cap on third, Brants slammed out a single, winning the game. The score:

First game:

	R.	H.	E.
Ottawa	3	15	2
Peterboro	4	12	2
Second:—
Ottawa	0	4	0
Peterboro	5	3	0

Batteries:—Herbert and Hopper; Tracey and Shea; Thompson and Hopper; Tracey and Shea.

CONFERENCE HEARS REPORTS OF PASTORS.

Free Methodist Labors of the Year and Condition of Circuits in Eastern Ontario are Told.

In their church on Aylmer street, the Free Methodists resumed their annual conference labors at 8.30 o'clock yesterday morning, Bishop Pearce presiding. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. R. Burnham.

Considerable routine business was transacted, consisting chiefly of reports from the pastors on the condition of their circuits, and the work which had been done during the year. Many interesting incidents were related of the hard toil, heroic struggles and self-sacrifices of the consecrated workers, who during the year had been so actively engaged in spreading abroad the principles of pure Christianity. Yet, notwithstanding all the difficulties encountered, the great Head of the Church has given them grand and glorious victories.

At the close of the morning session, Bishop Pearce gave another terse and most helpful address on "The Preacher and His Preparation." He spoke of the necessity of a clear call, a life of devotion and noted judgment.

The Rev. A. F. Ball, preached in the afternoon and Miss Lotta Reboce a former pastor of the church here, delivered the evening sermon.

WORLD'S RECORD OF 21 BULLSEYES.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—Captain A. W. Hay, of the 8th Royal Rifles, Quebec, made a world's record for rifle shooting at the D. R. A. this morning, with 21 straight bulls.

Captain C. R. Crowe, of the 30th, Guelph, last year's winner of the Governor-General's prize, scored 104 in the first stage of the same match, completed this morning, only one point behind Captain Hay's wonderful score.

Leading winners to-day were: Governor-General's competition, first stage, 200, 500 and 600 yards, seven shots at each; silver medal, Captain A. W. Hay, 8th Royal Rifles, Quebec; possible, 105.

DOMINION EXHIBITION OPENS SEPTEMBER 8TH

An event, long sought, and which may never be repeated, at least, not for a decade is the Dominion Exhibition in the Dominion Capital. This enterprise, which will be launched on September 5th, has developed into a magnitude unforeseen even by its ambitious promoters. The enormous volume of entries received from the nine provinces, attests active co-operation by the leading industrial and commercial interests throughout Canada. The unprecedented demand for admission tickets sold at six for a dollar up to the opening of the Exhibition gives promise of monster crowds of visitors from all parts of Central Canada.

Fortunately, the typhoid epidemic, which affected nearly one per cent of Ottawa's population, came to an end before it could interfere with attendance at the Exhibition, and the city is preparing to entertain thousands more than is the cause of the fever trouble had not been discovered and removed. The latest pronouncement on the city water by Dr. Shirreff, Medical Health Officer, is that it has been safe for drinking for the past six weeks, and must continue so, under the present method of safeguarding the supply.

The Dominion Exhibition will be in full swing from the morning of Saturday, September 7th, to the end of the Night Show on Saturday, September 14th. In addition to the daily programme of splendid attractions, which will be mailed on request many special features are billed for single days. The opening Saturday for instance has a half hour of fancy drill and physical exercises by 1,000 Baden Powell Boy Scouts. It is also the biggest racing day, with two $400 events. The Scots Guards Band which will appear in Rideau Rink, September 12th, makes that a conspicuous date. Live stock parades, horse shows, and jumping are distributed over the last four days of the Exhibition. For the final Saturday is billed the sensational high jumping to beat the Canadian outdoor record, the purse being $150. Railway rates are reduced to one-third the usual cost of travel, on the excursions, which will be run from all Canada, east of Port Arthur.

MILK TO COST SEVEN CENTS

Dealers Give Notice of Advance in Price to Consumer

The price of milk in Peterboro is to be advanced one cent a quart commencing Sept. 1, according to local dealers.

The present price is six cents a quart but, dealers say, the farmers have raised the wholesale quotation and consequently the consumer will have to pay seven cents to meet the advance.

The farmers supplying the milk declare that they can make more profit by turning their product into butter and cheese than by peddling it at 6 cents a quart and if the dealer must have the milk he must meet the price the farmer could derive from the sale of his milk in the form of butter, at 30 cents a pound, plus the profit on buttermilk.

All local dealers have not yet decided to advance the price to seven cents but a sufficient number have intimated their intention to rouse a protesting voice from many housewives.

In Port Hope where the price of milk is seven cents in bulk and eight cents in bottles the dealers have gone on strike against a town bylaw. The standard fixed by the council there is 12.5 per cent. solids, of which 3.5 per cent. shall be butter fat. The dealers ask that the standard be lowered to 12 per cent. solids, 3 p.c. butter fat. Meanwhile the babies can fatten on canned milk.

TENDERS FOR IRON POSTS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Iron Posts," will be received at the Department of the Interior, up to noon of the 20th day of September, 1912, for the furnishing of iron posts for use on the survey of Dominion Lands to be delivered as follows:—

At Winnipeg: twenty thousand small and three hundred large posts.

Forms of tender and detailed information may be obtained from the Surveyor General of Dominion Lands, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, payable to the order of the Deputy Minister of the Interior as follows:—

For the supply of posts at Winnipeg,—two hundred and fifty dollars.

This cheque will be forfeited if the party whose tender is accepted declines to enter into a contract to deliver the posts or fails to carry out the contract. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Newspapers copying this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid.

L. PEREIRA,
Acting Secretary.

YOUTHFUL, WRINKLELESS SKIN EASY TO HAVE

(Elberta Reid in Woman's Tribune).

You who desire to regain a youthful appearance will do well to make the acquaintance of the two simple, but valuable, prescriptions here given.

To make an effective wrinkle-chaser mix an ounce of saxolite and a half-pint witch hazel. Bathe the face in the solution—immediately every wrinkle is affected. It acts wonderfully on sagging facial muscles, also, the lotion possessing remarkable astringent and tonic properties.

To get rid of an aged, faded or discolored complexion, buy an ounce of common mercolized wax at any drug store and apply nightly as you would cold cream, erasing this mornings with soap and water. This will slowly absorb the undesirable surface skin, revealing the younger, brighter, healthier skin underneath. I know of nothing to equal this treatment as a facial rejuvenator.

VOTERS' LIST, 1912.

Notice is hereby given that I have transmitted or delivered to the persons mentioned in Sections 5 and 6 of the Ontario Voters' Lists Act, 1889, the copies required by said section to be so transmitted or delivered of the List, made pursuant to said Act, of all persons appearing by the said revised Assessment Roll of the said Municipality to be entitled to vote in the said Municipality at Elections for Members of the Legislative Assembly and at Municipal Elections; and that said list was first posted up at my office at Apsley on the 8th day of August, 1912, and remains there for inspection.

Electors are called upon to examine the said List, and if any omissions or any other errors are found therein, to take immediate proceedings to have the said errors corrected according to law.

LAKE KASAHOBOG HAS ADEQUATE WATER FOR TRENT CANAL EAST

Waters, Fully Conserved, Would Meet Requirements For All Time, Say Inspectors—Fish Abound in Lake 15 Miles Long and 3 Miles Wide

A permanent and adequate water supply for east end requirements of the Trent Valley Canal can be obtained from Lake Kasahobog. An inspection tour of the lakes north of Havelock by Supt. J. H. McClellan, Dr. Holdcroft, of Havelock, and Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., just completed, convinced the party that Kasahobog Lake, dammed and conserved, will furnish water power for the east end of the canal for all time. Operations for proper conservation of these waters undoubtedly will be undertaken by the government, it is believed, when the details of its extent, and adequacy, have been reported upon.

Supt. McClellan and party returned Saturday morning following a two days' inspection of possible water bases northeast.

Mr. McClellan states that Lake Kasahobog, which is in Metheun Township, is about fifteen miles long and averages three miles wide. It is deep and cold and numerous pretty islands rise in it.

It is at this point that water is conserved for the Havelock Light and Power Company; also the power for Marmora. And the power from this lake extends into Crow Bay and joins the Trent Canal there. Campbellford and Trenton power is affected by these waters, as well as navigation from Healey Falls to Trenton. There are other lakes in Metheun but Kasahobog alone forms a natural base for full conservation and at a desirable point.

Aside from its value to commerce Mr. McClellan states the lake is a natural summer resort, abounding in fish, principally bass, and has excellent camping sites.

There are only two cottages on the lake this season, one owned by Dr. Holdcroft, of Havelock, and the other by a Mr. Kitchener and family, of New York. Mr. Kitchener is a cousin to Lord Kitchener. The lake is literally loaded with bass, said the superintendent.

"While waiting for luncheon, Mr. Sexsmith threw in a fish line and in less than twenty minutes pulled out five fine bass."

For a very little expenditure, he added, a good road could be made from the north end of Stoney Lake into Kasahobog Lake, which would allow tourists and others on Stoney Lake to visit on Kasahobog which would add another excellent lake to the Kawartha group. The lake is 20 miles from Havelock.

ROOSEVELT EXPECTS TO CARRY VERMONT STATE IN NOVEMBER

Wonderful Wave of Roosevelt Sentiment Sweeps State That Has Been Regarded Safe For Taft

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Sept. 1.—If there is anything in political signs, Theodore Roosevelt should carry Vermont in November by a substantial majority. A bold prophecy is the inevitable comment on such a statement especially when it is realized that Vermont is one of the three or four states that the Progressives have been willing to concede to Taft and the old line Republicans.

"If the crowds come out on my western trip as they have done in Vermont I don', know that I will live through it," said Col. Roosevelt as he started out on the last day of his campaign in this state, prior to the state election next Tuesday. "I don't need to keep my hat in the ring now," he added, "There are too many bandanas." All through the Vermont trip Col. Roosevelt has seen bandanas wave by the thousands. Men and women wave them at the villages, houses are decorated with them.

Roosevelt in his two days here has stirred this state as it has never been stirred before in the lives of 90 per cent of its inhabitants. The men who line the fences as they wait for Roosevelt to go by in his auto, the men you talk to in the small stores, on the corners or in the small town street cars apparently regard the subject of politics as centreing entirely around Roosevelt and Wilson. It is an absolute fact that you do not find one man out of a hundred here who is for Taft. It is a truism of long standing that the easiest thing in the world is to find political sentiment to justify one's predispositions; men making political calculation have long ago learned that it is unwise to judge a real vote-getting ability by the size of the audience that he draws.

CAPT. MOLLER FACES ACTION

Master Known Here Is Sued By Buffalo Widow

Port Colborne, Ont., Sept. 1.—Captain Theodore Carl Lorenz Moller, of Toronto, a compass adjustor, faces an action for $20,000, as a result of his alleged failure to keep promises made to Mrs. Victoria Mulford, a young widow from Buffalo, whom he met while adjusting compasses on steamers here.

The woman alleges that Captain Moller brought her to Canada and later took her to Buffalo, promising to marry her. She became suspicious and declares that she found a marriage record in Buffalo which showed that Moller married Della Mulveney there in June, 1907, and that she has maintained a rather elaborate home in Toronto. Mrs. Mulford says she has letters in which Moller called her "dearest love," "little Bella" and "My best darling." She says she spent $2,000 trying to force Moller to marry her, and had to pawn her jewelry so that she is obliged now to go to work to get enough to pay her passage back to England. She has started an action for $20,000.

BOY FALLS 400 FEET

Caught in Balloon Rope, He Ascends High and is Dashed to Death.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 1.—Dangling at the end of one of the ropes attached to a balloon fully 400 feet in the air, while thousand of spectators stood transfixed with horror, Charles Betts, aged fourteen years, relaxed his hold and was dashed to death through the roof of a barn on East Court street.

The frightful accident happened while Prof. Amsdel was taking his final flight on the closing day of the Genesee County Fair. The Betts boy, with other bystanders, was helping to hold down the balloon as it was being inflated preparatory to the ascent.

As the word to release the balloon was given the monster bag shot skyward, and groans of anguish came from the crowd when it was seen carrying a youthful voyager, whose left leg had become entangled in one of the ropes. When about 400 feet up the lad let go his hold and started earthward with frightful rapidity.

STANDARD OIL OFFICIAL TELLS OF CONTRIBUTION TO ROOSEVELT CAMPAIGN FUND

JOHN D. ARCHBOLD.

John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil Company, told the Clapp Senatorial Committee his story of the corporation's contribution of $125,000 to the republican Presidential campaign fund of 1904. Not only did he back up Senator Penrose's charges that Colonel Roosevelt, the nominee of that year and who is now seeking a third term as President, knew of the giving of $100,000, but declared that it had been solicited and granted with an explicit understanding that it was "appreciated."

SHOWS SHOCKING FATE OF WHITE GIRLS IN FAR WEST

Montreal, Aug. 30.—The employment of white female labor by Chinese is a matter dealt with in a communication received by Rev. T. E. Bourke, Secretary of the United Methodist Social and Moral Reform Committees of this city from Rev. T. Albert Moore, general secretary of the Social and Moral Reform Department throughout Canada. Dr. Moore forwarded a copy of a letter written by a prominent citizen of Saskatoon in which the writer refers to this matter of female labor in Chinese establishments as constituting a grave moral peril.

MEET SAD FATE.

"Through the three prairie Provinces and British Columbia," he says "these Oriental almond-eyed anthropoids own a large proportion of our eating houses, and are found working side by side with white women in almost all our hotels and restaurants. In Western Canada our sisters, even our mothers, are working under these harpies and with them for sixteen and sometimes as many as eighteen hours a day. To my certain knowledge many of them afterwards go down into the underworld to suffer a fate worse than death. You who make a business of combatting social evils must take this one into consideration speedily. Each day's delay means scores of Canadian women lost to decency, and shames our country in the eyes of all moral nations."

SHOULD FACE QUESTION.

Rev. T. E. Bourke is of the opinion that social reformers should face the question of encouraging Chinamen to bring their wives by lowering the tax or debarring them altogether. He told a story of having a Chinaman come to him some months ago with a fine looking English-speaking girl to be married. He did nor perform the marriage and both parties left in great disappointment.

WEBB PAYS HIGH FOR HIS JOY RIDE

For entertaining himself with a joy ride in Dr. Robertson's automobile without the owner's permission, Chas. Webb was taxed in Police Court Saturday $20 for damages to the machine and $9.60 court costs. Also it was pointedly suggested to him by the court that he apply himself to a study of the fine discriminatory sense of the abstract words "right" and "wrong," that he may avoid a similar attack of autoretis in the future.

Sailing of the Big Liner

The White Star Line offices in Montreal have just received cable advices of the sailing of the "Olympic" from Southampton with one of the largest lists of cabin passengers ever carried by a Transatlantic liner in England and the United States. The undiminished popularity of this magnificent steamer proves beyond doubt that the big vessel has come to stay. The next return sailing of the "Olympic" from New York is scheduled for September 7th, when it is expected she will also have a very large list of passengers.

DIES AS DOCTOR ANSWERS CALL

Mrs. Robt. Mackie, Taken Ill Out Walking, Succumbs to Heart Failure

Mrs. Robert Mackie, 277 Thomas street, expired suddenly Saturday evening at a residence near Park and King streets where she had called to rest when taken ill. Heart failure is assigned as the cause.

Mrs. Mackie had been suffering from heart weakness but was not unusually depressed when she started out for a walk.

Dr. J. M. McCulloch was called but the patient died before aid could be administered.

The deceased is survived by her hus- Robt. Mackie, a millwright at the C.G.E. Co., had lived in the city about six months, residing with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cotton. The couple formerly lived in Hamilton thirty years, coming to Canada from the old country. Mrs. Mackie was born in Wylan-on-Tyne, England, and was in her sixty-second year at her death. Her maiden name was Sarah Dunne. Mr. Mackie's native home was in Ayr, Scotland.

The deceased is survived her her husband, Robt. Mackie, Mrs. Walter Cotton, this city, and one son, George Mackie, of Milwaukee. The latter is expected to reach the city to-day.

The funeral arrangements have not, as yet, been completed, but it is understood Mrs. Mackie's remains will rest in Peterborough.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—The eighth annual reunion of the Wing family of America, incorporated, began here Tuesday and will continue until Friday. Members of the family are in Chicago from many parts of the world. The organization is composed of descendants of John and Deborah Wing and numbers more than 100,000 in the United States alone.

THREE KILLED IN C.P.R. WRECK

Misplaced Switch Sends a Freight Into Siding at Mattawa

North Bay, Ont., Sept. 1.—Thomas Duncan, conductor, and T. Wallace, brakesmen, both of North Bay, were killed in a wreck which occurred on the C.P.R. at Mattawa, forty miles east of their native town Saturday morning.

A misplaced switch sent a fast through freight train into a siding, plunging with terrific impact into the caboose and boarding cars of a work train standing there. A cableman of Mattawa is also reported killed and W. A. Graham, brakeman of North Bay, seriously injured. A number of laborers on the work train were seriously injured. Engineer James Casey of the freight jumped with his brakeman and escaped injury.

The train had backed out of the Mattawa yard early with the caboose and boarding cars and flat cars ahead of the locomotive. About 6 o'clock, when two miles west of Mattawa, the through freight from North Bay, speeding eastward, crashed into the work train, demolishing the caboose and boarding cars and strewing the tracks with wreckage. Conductor Duncan of North Bay and Brakeman Wallace of Mattawa were caught in the caboose wreckage and almost instantly killed. A cableman, J. Desjardine, was crushed in the boarding car, and died of his injuries. J. McManus, foreman of the work train, and O'Donnell, Sears and B. Bangs, laborers, were injured.

RENFREW COUNTY MAN HELD FOR MURDER OF COBDEN STUDENT

Grant Appleby, Veterinary College Boy, is Victim of Row With Hector Collins, Who Says He Stabbed in Self-Defence.

Cobden, Renfrew County, Ont., Sept. 1.—Shortly after midnight Hector Collins, a young farmer of the district, was arrested on a charge of murder in causing the death by stabbing of Grant Appleby, a student of the Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, who was spending his vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Appleby, Ross Township.

The fatal row occurred shortly after six o'clock and immediately afterwards Collins disappeared. It was thought that he was fleeing from justice, but it is now learned that he did not know that the man was dead until he was told at the house of his brother. He made no resistence when arrested and said it was in self-defence.

The story told by Collins is that he was on his way to the farm of James Logan and that as he approached the Appleby home, the two Applebys, Grant, the victim of the killing, and his brother, Reuben, came at him to "lick" him. He says he was filling his pipe and had his pocket knife out in doing so. In the melee, he says he must have stabbed Appleby though he did not do so with the intention of killing him. That Collins received a rough handling is shown by his condition. One eye is blackened and almost closed. His face is bruised in several places and he is cut on the back of the head.

He explains the bruises on his face by saying that Appleby had a clevis in his hand which served the same purpose as knuckle irons.

Owing to the condition he was in, he went to the home of his brother, William Henry Collins, a mile and a half from the scene of the killing, and it was there that he was informed that the man was dead.

Constables Mulligan and Anderson, who had been scouring the country all evening, called at the brother's house after midnight. They found Collins praying and he made no resistance when arrested. An inquest was opened but adjourned.

SUN IN WEST HELPS CROP

Some Frost But Danger Now Thought To Be Past

Winnipeg, Sept. 1.—The weather has cleared over practically the whole of the Canadian prairie west and to-day it is fair with rising temperature.

Heavy winds in some districts have lodged some fields of grain but any loss this way is more than offset by the rapid drying of the ground. Work is being resumed at many points and if present conditions continue this week will account for a great slice of the crop.

Hravest labor is trickling in, but nothing like the requirement is available. In the average years men move from early districts to later ones, but delay in making a start has lost this advantage.

The temperature was low in most of the spring wheat country last night, with a degree or two of frost in some parts of central districts of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

MOB IN FRENCH VILLAGE HURL EGGS AT SELLERS OF BIBLES

Montreal, Sept. 1.—A disgraceful assault was made Friday night at Ville St. Pierre, a French village not far from this city on Bible-women and colporteurs who have for some time been distributing the scriptures and holding religious meetings in that district. A young man, recently arrived from France, was the chief object of attack. He had received intimations that unless he stopped his campaign there would be trouble, although he declares he carefully refrained from attacking the faith of the French-Canadians, and yesterday asked the municipal authorities for protection at the evening meeting. This was promised but in the middle of his address the electric light was shut off and he and the Bible-women accompanying him were bombarded with rocks, eggs and vegetables of all descriptions.

One of the women was struck in the face and badly cut, a little child was struck in the stomach and is being treated at the hospital, and several others were bruised and their clothing ruined.

On complaints being made the police of the municipality, it is alleged, told the women that it would be wise to cease selling bibles and preaching in that vicinity.

EXCUSE FOR MILK RAISE DON'T HOLD

Farmers Deny Wholesale Price Has Been Advanced and Put Question Up to Dealers.

The price of milk has been advanced to seven cents a quart in Peterborough. The reason given by some dealers is that they are now required to pay a higher wholesale price and that refusal to meet the farmer's price will result in the milk being turned into butter by the producer.

Farmers in town Saturday denied that the price has been advanced to the dealers. Three and a half and four cents a quart, they say, is the ruling wholesale figures. Moreover, they assert that the story of threats of turning the milk into butter instead of selling it outright is preposterous. There is double the profit in selling the milk, they assert, over that possible by selling it in the form of butter. They would be required to bring the butter to market, it is pointed out, and in many instances the profit would not pay for the wear and tear on the horses' shoes, if they had to come to town solely for the purpose of peddling butter.

Now that the excuse and implied reason for raising the price to the consumer has been exploded as a mere pretext on which to base their claims, the dealers may have the chance to explain more satisfactorily to housewives the cause of the price advance at a season of the year when pastures are excellent, fodder plentiful, roads good and an abundance of milk being produced.

NO PAPER TO-MORROW

This being Labor Day, there will be no issue of The Times Tuesday morning.

THE WEATHER.

To-day: Clear and warmer.

LOOK FOR AVERAGE CROPS IN MONAGHAN

Monaghan township farmers in town Saturday report harvesting well in hand. Most of the grain is cut but unfavorable weather has retarded garnering. An average yield of wheat and oats is anticipated.

Wm. Andrews, who threshed last week, reaped one hundred bushels of oats from two loads off less than two acres.

James Arnlott, of Monaghan, says in some instances the wheat is growing in the stook. In one case on his farm he observed a quarter of an inch growth after the grain had been cut. Mildew or rot is not feared, however, if a few successive days of dry, warm weather prevails this week.

Wheat in Monaghan township is expected to average 20 bushels to the acre and oats from 30 to 40 bushels.

Potatoes will be a good crop, farmers say, but the current class of weather is conducive to blight and tubers are ripening slowly. They were quoted at $1 a bag on the market Saturday.

Tomatoes also are ripening slowly and demand high prices as yet.

Corn is not progressing favorably on account of cold, wet weather.

Plums and apples are plentiful.

BUY RIVERDALE CHURCH

Newly Formed Anglican Parish Secure Mission Edifice—Rev. Mr. Price is Curate.

The newly-formed Anglican Parish at the extreme south end of the city has purchased the Riverdale mission church for the sum of $100.

The mission church was built a number of years ago by Protestants of the neighborhood and services were held there until a year ago when it was abandoned.

The Board of Trustees has decided to hold the $100 obtained for the building to apply on any similar protestant institution erected in the future in the same vicinity. The Rev. Mr. Price will be the curate for the Anglican congregation.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area in under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 388 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

FLOUR AND FEED.

WESTERN CRUSHED OATS—PRESSED Hay, Straw, Whole Corn, Cracked Corn, Wheat, Oats, Bran, Shorts, etc. High Grade Bread Flours—Purity, Cream of the West, Thistledown and Diamond Crown. Pastry Flours—Monarch, White Wonder and Crescent. For sale by the Peterborough Flour & Feed Co., cor. Simcoe and Bethune Sts. Entrance off Simcoe St. next railway track. Phone 681.

PAINTS.

THE LAW OF QUALITY IS AS SURE AS the law of Gravity. Gravity keeps both your feet on the ground. Quality informs your judgment when you are on the "Ground Floor" in the matter of value. Martin-Senour's Paint is the Ground Floor of paint value. It makes good every time. It flows freely, has great covering capacity, shows a beautiful finish, and wears like iron. It will more than meet your expectations in quality brilliancy and durability. Campbell & Reid, 134 Hunter St. Next to post office.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit? If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

In an African Jungle.

Coming from parts of Southern Nigeria where scarcely a white man, and certainly no white woman, has gone before, Mr. and Mrs. P. Amaury Talbot have just arrived in London, bringing over 2,000 varieties of botanical specimens, of which about ten per cent. are expected to prove new discoveries, and a hundred mammals, which have already provided two varieties new to science. Of the flowers many grew on trees at such a height that the only way to secure them was by shooting them down with a shot gun. Mr. and Mrs. Talbot started on their journey in August, 1910, and have been traveling about an almost unknown part of Southern Nigeria. They have discovered the Lake of the Dead, the abode, as the native believe, of the ghosts of the whole country. Mr. Talbot found, too, an immense series of vast caverns stretching under the earth so far that no man has ever reached their limit, and filled eternally with the roar of underground rivers and the screams of thousands of bats. The extraordinary hold of superstition upon the natives is one of the subjects which Mr. and Mrs. Talbot have studied with attention. Witchcraft is one of the greatest factors in the lives of the natives of West Africa, and the observance of rites for its defeat is among their greatest cares. The witch-doctors who profit by this disposition to fearfulness are undoubtedly possessed, according to the investigations of Mr. and Mrs. Talbot, of considerable powers of an ocult nature. They can, for instance, produce, whether by hypnotism or some other means, the appearance of a rainbow in the sky. Poisoning is carried by the natives of Southern Nigeria to such heights of art that no house is without its provisions of antidotes.

Diamonds Now.

Diamonds in Ungava is now the word and diamond rumors which have been floating about northern mining camps for some months now begin to take tangible shape. The other morning a prospecting party passed through North Bay on route to Ungava, where one of the party is said to have previously uncovered rich diamond deposits and brought out samples of genuine sparklers.

Sensible Advice.

A writer who had made a good bit of money at a single shake of the bag wrote to Charles Reade for advice as to investments. "Well," said Reade, "I should say put it in the best gilt-edged securities. Divide it among the first-class bonds of the first-class nations. It's better to sleep on 3 per cent. than to lie awake on 6."

A FRIEND OF THE FAMILY.

It Was Highly Prized as a Wonderful Money Saver.

When Miss Ann Pickett dropped in on her neighbor, Mrs. Spicer, and found her moping over the fragments of a gilt vase Miss Ann sympathized generously. "It must have been rather a costly vase," she said, looking admiringly at the pieces.

"No, it only cost six bits," Mrs. Spicer acknowledged. "'Tain't that I feel so bad about."

"Maybe it was a gift that you prized because of associations?"

Mrs. Spicer shook her head. "Jim and I bought it over in Tompkinsville a long time ago. I prized it because it was such a saving to the family. The first year we had it I kept it on the front shelf for a general ornament. Then when Jim's birthday came and I hadn't anything else handy to give I gave him the vase for his own. Next Christmas, instead of paying out good money to buy something new, he gave it back to me for a Christmas present. Then I gave it to Jim junior on his birthday, and he gave it to Sue Belle on hers.

"The next spring all the kinfolks got up a birthday party for old Aunt Sallie Spicer, and we took her the vase. After she'd kep' it a good bit she gave it to Jim's sister Jane for a weddin' present, and afterward Jane gave it to me and Jim when we had our china weddin'. I was countin' on givin' it to Jim again on his next birthday, and now here it is smashed to flinders.

"I tell you, Miss Ann, it most makes me cry to think of losing such a useful family article—so near Jim's birthday too!"—Youth's Companion.

Cause Enough.

"When I was shipwrecked in South America," said Captain Bowsprit, "I came across a tribe of wild women who had no tongues."

"Mercy!" cried one of his listeners of the fair sex. "How could they talk?"

"They couldn't!" snapped the old salt. "That's what made 'em wild."

Borneo Brides.

In Borneo the bride and groom sit on metal logs before the priest, who gives them cigars and betel while he blesses them. He waves above them two fowls bound together. The bridegroom then places the betel in his bride's mouth and a cigar between her lips. They are married.

Gilded Eggs.

In Persia it is the custom to make present of eggs richly gilded and painted. The Persians give presents of eggs on the first day of the new year, "because the egg marks the beginning of things."

A Mis-Directed Appeal.

The late Sir John Carling was one of London's most popular citizens, and although his business as brewer did not recommend him to the strenuous temperance workers, he was held in high esteem for his personal qualities. On the occasion of a semi-missionary meeting in what was then called Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, in the "eighties," Sir John was asked to take the chair. One of the speakers was an eloquent Indian from the far west, who spoke strongly against the sale of "fire-water" to his people, describing its frightful ravages in picturesque language. He concluded by calling upon the chairman and all other Christian persons to put down the liquor traffic with a firm hand. Sir John smiled graciously on the orator, but the audience was not slow to appreciate the irony of the situation.—Saturday Night.

Child Emigrants.

Speaking at a meeting held at the Mansion House in connection with the child emigration work of the Salvation Army, Earl Grey said a greater kindness could not be done to the state-aided children in England than by removing them from the Poor Law conditions of this country to the freer, more wholesome life in Canada or any of the Overseas Dominions.

People in this country could hardly realise how large was the number of good homes in which people were longing for the entrance of an imported child. Last year the number of children imported into Canada was 2,400, and the number of applications for children for whose care the state was responsible was over 18,000—eight applications for every child.

There was not the slightest difficulty in securing for the imported child the certainty of a good home in Canada. If the demands of the Canadian homes that required children were met in two years this country would save a million of money on its rate-aided children. That would help the rates, would help Canada, and would help the Empire, but that threefold assistance would be nothing compared with the good it would do the children.

Railway Gives Scholarships.

Four free scholarships, each covering four years' tuition in the faculty of applied science of McGill University, are offered by the Grand Trunk Railway System, subject to competitive examinations, to apprentices and other employes of the company under twenty-one years of age, and to minor sons of employes. The competitive examinations, which will be the regular entrance matriculation examination provided for in the annual calendar of the university, will be held at the university, Montreal, and other centres, beginning June 12, 1912. The four candidates making the highest average and complying with the requirements of admission will be awarded the scholarships and have the option of taking a course in any department of the faculty of applied science.

NATIONALIST MOVEMENT DYING?

Is the Nationalist movement in Quebec dying? The Conservatives repudiate it, and it is becoming more and more apparent that the Liberals have no use for it.

As a last straw Mr. Bourassa is praying for the downfall of Bureau in Three Rivers that, by the gambler's chance of "possible," he may re-enter the Federal field of politics through that door. Meanwhile he is driven into a corner to such an extent that he is advocating annexation with the United States. In this he is merely isolating himself still more, for few French Canadians will listen to this argument, let alone support it.

These observations are not the deductions of this newspaper alone, but are the expressed convictions of such close students of Quebec politics as Senator Louis Lavergne, of Arthanaska, Que. All indications point to the sign that Mr. Bourassa has lost his grip as a factor in Canadian politics.

THE CRAZE FOR MONEY.

If we could blot out the mental impression that money necessarily brings happiness, how much better a place this great wealthy country might be to live in; how much happier many lives would be! But almost everything—health, peace of mind, beautiful surroundings, all that makes life enjoyable, is but second to the eternal struggle for the almighty dollar. Men become so absorbed in the chase that they forget all about the great golden rule of life, to do unto others as they would be done by, and quarrel with neighbors and friends for the possession of that of which no one has any use for more than a moderate quantity. In the end, their lives warped by the struggle, they are killed by it long before they would have otherwise reached the end of earthly existence. Wealth, meaning that which makes existence possible, becomes the curse of life.

It is drummed into our ears from childhood, that getting money is the proof of successful living, that the man deserving of our imitation is one who by any means has massed a million dollars. So we have books on Success and How to Win It,—pages of warmed-over platitudes unctuous with the oil of patronage. We listen open mouthed to stories of real estate sales where the profits reached almost fabulous percentages. We look even reverently upon the vulgar pile of brick and stone some financial marvel has erected, under the false impression that it is a "home." Magazines print portraits of millionaires by the twelve of a gross. We get life-stories of successful men, column after column. Is it any wonder that the great majority of our young people begin to believe that the ability to own a six-cylinder car or to wear diamond buckles on their suspenders is the stamp of true nobility?

Canada is an expanding country. Opportunities for wealth getting are plentiful. Any man with a modicum of business sense and with decent treatment can do well, can live in peace and plenty, and can acquire enough to assure him against penury in his declining years. Hundreds of men with the genius for money-making will pile up great fortunes. But money is not the end of living. Neither is it necessary for our peace of mind that we should have everything that the heart desires. The child with the most toys is the least contented. And in this case above all others the child is the father of the man.

Men and women are forever wanting. A new car, a new house, a new horse, or a new franchise, a new set of furs, or a new hat, and in the United States particularly a new husband or a new wife. And when the want is gratified the happiness it brings is momentary and selfish.

Unquestionably it is true that rich people are becoming more plentiful than ladies and gentlemen. Vulgar individuals decorated with precious stones sail down our streets or crowd our drawing rooms. And our eyes are so dazzled that we overlook their defects as men and women and yearn to go and do likewise. The country is full of people who are cultivating a champagne taste on the beer salary. Their determination to get rich overrides all morality, all reason — and there are consequences, often rude and terrible.

Stops a Cough IN ONE NIGHT

CATARRH AND WEAK THROAT NOW CURED WITHOUT SWALLOWING DANGEROUS DRUGS

By Breathing the Soothing, Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone All Throat and Catarrhal Trouble is Quickly Cured.

It's simply wonderful to think how quickly a bad throat or Catarrh can be cured with Catarrhozone. Its rich balsamic vapor is carried along with the breath into the innermost recesses of the lungs, bronchial tubes and chest, making it impossible for the germ of any disease to live. Thus soreness in the chest is at once alleviated—phlegm is loosened and ejected from the throat, old-standing coughs are removed.

"I suffered from an irritable, weak throat for three years. I had a severe cough, pain over the eyes, constant bad taste in my mouth, and noises in my ears. It was chronic catarrh. Nothing gave me permanent relief till I used Catarrhozone. In one hour it relieved, and in a few weeks drove all trace of Catarrh from my system.

"TIMOTHEUS A. SALMON.
"No. 6 Lopez street, Kingston, Ja."

REMEMBER THIS—You breathe Catarrhozone and it will cure any throat, chest or bronchial cold. Large size, guaranteed, costs $1.00, and lasts two months; smaller sizes, 25c and 50c. Beware of imitations and insist on "CATARRHOZONE" only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

From reliable sources it is learned that there is not much glut of Canadian securities on the London market, notwithstanding warnings of certain papers, pretending to be posted. The present amount of British capital invested in Canada will aggregate two billion dollars.

Before the Senate investigating committee, Chairman Archbold, of the Standard Oil directorate, charged that Col. Roosevelt, through his attacks on Standard Oil, after having been turned down for a second contribution to his campaign was directly responsible for the death of Henry H. Rogers, the Standard's head. Roosevelt is now itching to tell the committee what Archbold is responsible for. Needless to say his answer will be from the first chapter of Ananias.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

THE CHIMES ON JULY 12th.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see that the bigots of Peterborough are unwilling to let the small matter of ringing the chimes on July 12th rest, surely they do not desire to bring on a religious war, by kicking up this internal noise, that is so distressing to everybody. I think Rev. Mr. Davidson and the churchwardens were perfectly within their rights in refusing to take part with the "ribbon men" on what they are pleased to call the glorious (?) Twelfth.

I hope this silly matter will be allowed to drop. I, for one, am heartily sick of it.

—Decency.

Reply—The Times, in order not to be accused of unfairness, prints the above very unfair and untruthful letter. No one deplores the feeling of religious bitterness that unfortunately to some extent exists, that we do, but there appears to be no help for it until our Roman Catholic friends see fit to change their present aggressive methods. The spirit which causes strife is the ambition of the priests and the dignitaries "higher up" in the Roman Catholic church, to rule the Dominion. In their efforts to do so they unfortunately carry their activities to a point beyond all reason. So far as the Orangemen are concerned, they are neither bigots or "ribbon men," and are not demanding any privileges or favor for themselves that they are unwilling to extend to all others. Surely as a matter of purely local sentiment and decency, the chimes should have been heard when the city was filled to overflowing with strangers. That they were not rung can only be regarded as a gratuitous insult not only to the Orangemen, but also to every right-minded man and woman in the community.—Ed. Times.

NEW S. A. HEAD IS PRACTICAL

Bramwell Booth is Regarded Capable Man to Lead Army

The man who is the new general of the Salvation Army is an unknown man. Though he has been chief of the staff since he was almost a lad, his fame has been limited to the ranks of the movement, which he has served with great ability, rare devotion to his father, and with consummate skill as an executive officer.

The international headquarters of the Army, situated in Queen Victoria street, in the heart of London—right under the shadow of St. Paul's Cathedral—is monumental proof of his managerial power. If he had only that achievement to his credit it would have placed him, on his merits, in the running for the generalship. The late Justice Rigby, the shrewdest man of the world that ever ascended the King's Bench, described the headquarters of the Army as a commercial college at which any young man who graduated there would establish a reputation for any business position in the city of London. Bramwell Booth, the new general, conceived it, and during a long and strenuous career, often checkmated by poverty and harassed by the cares of the organization, has made the building a hive of interests.

Is Good Financier.

He has made it a good financial investment. By letting on long leases the ground floor to outside firms he secured a revenue that chipped off a big slice of the immense cost of the freehold, estimated at £150,000. The banking, assurance, trade and other secular departments of the Army have their headquarters under the same roof, and these are charged rental at a rate which is in harmony with the market value of the site, or as near as it is possible to levy the same. That yields a handsome revenue. Non-commercial departments such as the foreign office, the British home department, property department, audit, editorial, publicity cashier's and other offices contribute their quota toward the payment of interest and the discharge of the sinking fund.

His Good Advisers.

Bramwell Booth aims at being a friend of the nation through legislation. He has dabbled with the poor law. His wife is an authority on the feeble-minded problem, and Colonel Lamb is the greatest authority in the Army upon emigration, and the general question of transportation. Commissioner Carleton is a financier. Commissioner Howard is a cautious statesman, so that the new general starts with the advantage that he has men in whom he can place the head departments of the concern.

Bramwell Booth may yet surprise the world. In any case, there is no one else in the ranks who can compete with him for the position. He is superlatively the first and only man who could hold the Army in its international disposition together. No one wants to see him fail. One's respect for General Booth inspires the hope that the son may succeed. He ought, in fact, to succeed, for the man who stood side by side with William T. Stead in the great campaign for the emancipation of the young girls bondage to the vilest forms of the white slave traffic should have the grit to go for present-day evils.

LIGHTNING STRIKES TWO BRITISH SHIPS

Members of Crew, Thrown to Deck, Quit in Panic.

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 31.—During the electrical storm in Mobile Monday night lightning struck the British steamer Olive Grove, loading timber for London, England, damaging the vessel slightly and throwing five men to the deck, rendering them partially unconscious. The men became so badly frightened that panic followed and they quit work and would not resume work until Tuesday.

The British schooner M.A. Achorn that was lying near the steamer was also struck by the same bolt and her crew thrown to the deck and the vessel slightly damaged.

REAL GERMAN PERIL IS SEEN

Sir Geo. Armstrong, Regarded As Naval Expert, Has Strong Words

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—Sir George Armstrong, who accompanies the party of British statesmen, at present visiting Winnipeg, is regarded as a naval expert and has made valuable contributions to naval literature. Born Jan. 19, 1866, his love for the sea was more or less inbred, as he received his education on H.M.S. "Britannia." From the "Old Brit" he entered the navy in 1878, and was gazetted lieutenant in 1890. He saw a bit of the world while following the sea," for he served in the Mediterranean, North America, West Indies, Channel and China stations. Resigning in 1891, Sir George embarked on a journalistic career, joining the staff of the Globe, later for a period of 12 years, acted as its editor. He is part proprietor of The People, but has never entirely forsaken his old love, as his name is on the emergency list of officers of "The King's Navee."

Interviewed, Sir George preferring to leave politics in general to his fellow travellers, was nothing loth to expound his opinion as a naval man on the naval question. "The menace which Germany offers at the present moment," he said, "and the enormous increase of the burden of naval armament on the Mother Country, renders it essential that the empire should realize, that, if we are to maintain our position in the world and our supremacy at sea, the colonies must unite with the Homeland, to meet this contretemps. During the last few years, Germany has made the most extraordinary efforts to provide herself with a fleet which must be counted a rival to our own, under the provisions of the German navy law. She announced her intention before all the world of having such a navy, that in the event of hostilities with England, she could imperil our supremacy at sea. So great has German pressure become on the North sea, that England has been forced to abandon the Mediterranean, so far as her battleships are concerned, and the decision of the British government to send some of the latest armored cruisers out there has been brought about entirely by the pressure of public opinion at home, and not because Eng-

The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

WHY

the stock of Trust Companies and Banks appeal to conservative investors.

The following are a few good reasons why you should invest NOW in the stock of the Acadia Trust Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C.:

1. It is showing remarkable growth, having earned seventy (70 p.c.) per cent. on its paid-up capital since its inception, November 26, 1911.

2. It is thoroughly established (with no promotion stock).

3. It is subject to advance without notice; and will very shortly be amongst the premier Trust Companies doing business in British Columbia.

4. Its profits will necessarily be large.

5. It will declare large bonus dividends to reduce the uncalled liability, thereby increasing the paid-up portion of your stock.

6. Prospects of an increase in value are excellent.

SHOWS PEACE TERMS ASKED IN TRIPOLI

Constantinople, Aug. 31.—Although nothing yet has transpired with reference to the instructions given by the government to the Turkish delegates entrusted with the semi-official peace negotiations with Italy, nevertheless, it is believed the Ottoman delegates will propose that the Hinterland of Tripoli, with an outlet to the Mediterranean shall be left to Turkey, the rest of the territory, including the coast line, remaining in the possession of Italy.

In diplomatic circles here, however, the success of this scheme is doubted. Indeed, it is the belief of persons conversant with the situation that peace is not yet in sight. In any case, nothing definite is expected to be done by the Porte until after the forthcoming parliamentary elections.

SEPARATED FROM WIFE.

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 30.—Despondent on account of separation from his wife, who is said to be in Paris, France, Charles S. Babbitt, committed suicide at Rossland yesterday with a 22 toy pistol. Beside him was a picture of his wife. He was 36 or 37 years old and a native of New Brunswick.

A POPULAR PROMOTION.

Phil Wade, for ten years C. P. R. roadmaster at Nelson, has been promoted to be general roadmaster between Field and Kamloops, with headquarters at Revelstoke. This is one of the most important divisions on the systems for a roadmaster, as rock-ballasting over the entire stretch of the line is to commence at once. Wade is license commissioner and president of the Conservative association at Nelson.

PIANO EXPERIMENTS.

Playing by Sweeping the Strings With a Feather.

Open wide your piano so that the wires are exposed. Over the wires place sheets of music, and when you strike a tone you will find that it has a rattling sound. If now you play a tune in the same manner, with the sheets of music still lying on the strings, it will sound as if the instrument were a banjo. Anyhow, it is a good imitation.

Now remove the music sheets and press down gently but firmly the keys belonging to any chord. Take the simple chord C, E, G, for example. The keys must be pressed down without sounding them and held down while some one gently brushes the strings with a feather or a straw. The effect will be as if the chord were played far away and is heard by you as very soft tones.

Change the chord, always pressing down the keys without sounding them, while the feather still sweeps the strings lightly. In this way you may modulate or play a slow piece, and the effect will be very beautiful indeed, as if heard from a great distance.

The reason of this is that ordinarily a damper rests against each string, but when the corresponding key is struck or pressed down the damper is raised. In sweeping the strings with the feather lightly only the strings that are undampered sound, the others being held mute by the dampers, but if the touch of the feather is too heavy even the other strings may sound, so your care must be in making a light and delicate touch.

Now press down a key gently and hold it. Strike very hard the octave above this key, but do not hold it after striking the tone. When the wire of the tone struck has been sufficiently dampered, so that it does not sound so loud, the pressed down key will be heard to "sing" clearly, even though it was not struck. This is because every note struck is composed of several notes, being in reality a chord in itself, and each note contained in that chord causes the corresponding note in the keyboard to vibrate, or "sing," in sympathy if held down in like manner.

The other notes that will sound under these conditions will always be the fifth above the octave, the second octave, and the third and fifth above that, and these tones that sound are called "overtones."

For illustration, if C in the lower part of the piano be struck, any or all of the notes that follow will sound if their keys are first pressed and held down.

The Wedding Ring.

Why should the wedding ring be placed on the third finger of the left hand? The custom has existed for ages, and the reason therefor has been given as follows: Our ancestors found the left hand more convenient for such ornaments than the right, for the reason that it is generally less employed than the latter. For the same reason they chose the third instead of another finger. The third digit is not only less used than the others, but it better adapted to guard a ring against bruises, since that finger has this quality peculiar to itself—it cannot be extended but in company with some other finger, whereas the rest may be singly stretched to their full length.

POSSE FAILS TO OVERTAKE NEGRO

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 31.—News from Collinsville Tuesday morning reports that the force of nearly 1,000 men armed with all descriptions of firearms is still pursuing the negro burglar who shot and wounded Oliver and Charles Hall, who discovered him in a store at Collinsville.

Fresh bloodhounds were sent from Chattanooga early Tuesday morning and they are following the negro's trail through the mountains near Branch, on the Southern Railway.

A report that the elder Murphy, member of the force, who was wounded Monday, was dead, has been received, but lacks confirmation.

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Prospects of an increase in the visible supply bore down to-day on the price of wheat. There was a heavy tone at the close, with the market 5-8c to 1 1-8c to 1-4c under last night. Corn finished unaltered to 3-8c up, oats off 1-4c to 5-8c to 3-4c, and provisions varying from 10c to 15 1-2c down to 10c advance.

The Liverpool market closed today 1-8d to 3-8d higher than yesterday on wheat, and 1-4c lower on corn. Wheat at Berlin closed ½c higher. Budapest ¾c lower.

Winnipeg Grain.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 30.—Trading in futures was quiet and prices steady, fluctuations being narrow. Opening figures were unchanged, following which there was an advance of ⅛c on the two near months, but later declined, closing ⅛c lower for October, and ⅛c lower for December and May. The cash demand was good for all grades, with active enquiry from exporters, while the offerings were nil.

There was a good demand for cash oats for the eastern trade, which stiffened prices of futures to some extent. Flax was sold at 2c higher than Thursday's close. Receipts were 25 cars today.

BURLEIGH and ANSTRUTHER COURT OF REVISION

Notice is hereby given that a court will be held, pursuant to "The Ontario Voters' Lists Act," by His Honor, the Judge of the County Court of the County of Peterboro, at Burleigh Falls, on the 18th day of September, 1912, at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon, to hear and determine complaints of errors and omissions in the Voters' List of the Municipality of Burleigh and Anstruther for 1912.

WM. GALLON.
Clerk of Burleigh and Anstruther.
Apsley, Aug. 29th, 1912.

Growing Use of Thermite.

Among the many improvements within recent years in railway construction in Germany is the welding together of rail ends, whereby practically continuous rails are secured. The heating substance thermite has greatly facilitated this process. Thermite is formed by the union of finely pulverized aluminium with oxygen. When this mixture is ignited, chemical combination takes place with an extraordinary development of heat, not much less than that of the electric arc. In welding rails the molten thermite is poured into the joints, and the softened rail ends are then forced closer together. The resulting weld is very firm.

Soap Made the Boat Go.

A writer in Science tells of an ingenius little skiff about two inches long which he constructed and provided with a piece of soap for the motor. The boat was of wood, paraffined to repel the water. The soap formed the stern board of the skiff. The boat was placed on still water in a bathtub and began to move as soon as the water came in contact with the soap. After gathering headway it reached a velocity of two inches a second. The power was derived from the potential energy of the surface water film set free by the diminution of surface tension, this reduction being due to solution of the soap.

A Habit That Pleased.

"So you have thought it over carefully and decided that young Moneyblower is the man you must marry?" said her father gravely.

"Yes, father" the young woman replied.

"Are you sure that his habits are such as will make for a happy married life?"

"Yes, indeed. He buys a new motorcar every year, and that's just the sort of habit I want my husband to have."

Poetic Gems to Attract Business to Shops in Peking.

W. Simpson in "Meeting the Sun" writes: "I saw in Peking a list of signboards, and a few samples of them will illustrate their general character: 'Shop of Heaven Sent Luck,' 'Shop of Celestial Principles,' 'The Nine Felicities Prolonged,' 'Mutton Shop of Morning Twilight,' 'The Ten Virtues All Complete,' 'Flowers Rise to the Milky Way.'

"In these signs we can see that the Chinese can combine the soul of a poet with the pocket of a shopman. Contrast such efforts with 'The Noted Eelpie House' of the London streets, and one must feel that we are outer barbarians. Carlyle quotes a Chinese signboard, 'No Cheating Here,' but I could not find anything like it in the list. 'Good and Just According to Heaven' ought to satisfy the ideal notions of the author of 'Sartor Resartus.'"

"The Honest Pen Shop of Li" implies that other pen shops are not honest. The "Steel Shop of the Pockmarked Wang" suggests that any peculiarity of a shopman may be used to impress the memory of customers. Snub noses, squint eyes, lame legs and hump backs might all be used in this way.

A charcoal shop calls itself the "Fountain of Beauty," and a place for the sale of coal indulges in the title of "Heavenly Embroidery." An oil and wine establishment is the "Neighborhood of Chief Beauty," a description the realization of which it is hard to conceive anywhere in Peking. "The Thrice Righteous" one would scarcely expect from an opium shop.—London Globe

From Jail to the Bench.

Francis Pemberton (1625-97) was imprisoned in the Fleet for debts contracted during a period of youthful extravagance. While in jail he applied himself to the study of law and came to be regarded as a kind of legal oracle by his fellow prisoners, who nicknamed him "counselor." With the fees they gave him for legal advice he bought books to continue his studies. He then prevailed upon his creditors to grant his release from prison that he might the sooner earn money to pay off his debts. Called to the bar in 1654, after a brilliant career in the palace court at Westminster and subsequently in the house of lords, he became a puisne judge. He was knighted in 1675 and ultimately, on the dismissal of Scroggs, was made lord chief justice in 1681.—London Standard.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or tomorrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S
PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF
ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilised world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyse, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

Easiest and Cheapest Way to Procure Government Publications.

No doubt most people interested in useful reading matter will thank us for information, obtained through official sources, as to how public documents can be procured with least trouble and at trifling expense.

The idea that prevails most generally—that this class of literature may be secured through the courtesy of members of congress—is correct only in so slight a degree that it had best be corrected. There are nearly 500 senators and representatives; hence an edition of several thousand copies, if distributed pro rata, gives to each only a few copies. Some of these the senator or representative needs for reference, the few left over are soon exhausted, and those constituents who then write for them are necessarily disappointed, through no fault of the public man whom they have addressed.

Now, as a general proposition, the reader who is interested in a government publication will serve himself best by addressing the official known as the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, who is authorized to have reprinted any government publication for which there is a demand, and sell the same at cost to all applicants. He will mail price lists, divided by subjects, free upon application, and remittance can then, as required by law authorizing such sales, accompany the order.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Peas and Lentils.

The word "pea" is derived from Pisa, a Greek city of Elis, which seems to have been the center of the pea growing industry for years before the time of Christ. The antiquarians aver that the "mess pottage," for which Esau sold his birthright, was a dish of peas. In those times they were called "lentils," and even at the present day the English common people of several of the English shires, notably Middlesex as well as Oxfordshire, call them "tils," dropping the "len." In the time of Mary they were called "peasons," and in the time of Charles I. "pease."

Friendship.

It is a common observation that differences of taste, understanding and disposition are no impediments to friendship and that the closest intimacies often exist between minds each of which supplies what is wanting in the other.—Lord Macaulay.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 160 miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 246 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $250,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

L. K. JONES.
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

TENDERS FOR IRON POSTS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Iron Posts," will be received at the Department of the Interior, up to noon of the 25th day of September, 1912, for the furnishing of iron posts for use on the survey of Dominion Lands to be delivered as follows:—

At Winnipeg: twenty thousand small and three hundred large posts.

Forms of tender and detailed information may be obtained from the Surveyor General of Dominion Lands, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, payable to the order of the Deputy Minister of the Interior as follows:—

For the supply of posts at Winnipeg,—two hundred and fifty dollars.

This cheque will be forfeited if the party whose tender is accepted declines to enter into a contract to deliver the posts or fails to carry out the contract. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Newspapers copying this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid.

Canvey Island.

Canvey Island is one of the most un-English spots in the kingdom. The island was almost submerged until 1622, when the owner, Sir Henry Appleton, agreed to give one-third of it to Joas Croppenburg, a Dutchman skilled in the making of dikes, on condition that he "inned" it. This the Dutchman did by the erection of a sea wall twenty miles in length. Many of the workmen whom Croppenburg brought over settled on the reclaimed land. Some of the old Dutch houses still remain, and the whole aspect of the flat, almost treeless island is suggestive of the banks of the Zuyder [illegible]

From Jail to the Bench.

Francis Pemberton (1625-97) was imprisoned in the Fleet for debts contracted during a period of youthful extravagance. While in jail he applied himself to the study of law and came to be regarded as a kind of legal oracle by his fellow prisoners, who nicknamed him "counselor." With the fees they gave him for legal advice he bought books to continue his studies. He then prevailed upon his creditors to grant his release from prison that he might the sooner earn money to pay off his debts. Called to the bar in 1654, after a brilliant career in the palace court at Westminster and subsequently in the house of lords, he became a puisne judge. He was knighted in 1675 and ultimately, on the dismissal of Scroggs, was made lord chief justice in 1681.—London Standard.

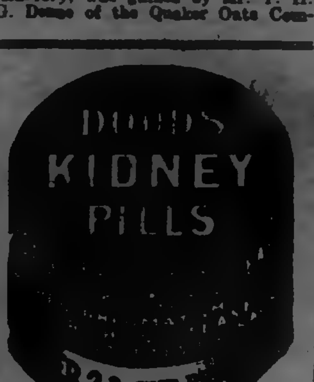
Harvest Good, Says Denne.

A convincing impression that the yield and quality of this year's prairie province harvest will be satisfactory, was gained by Mr. T. H. G. Denne of the Quaker Oats Company, on his recent inspection trip to the west. A $300,000,000 crop in the Northwest is Mr. Denne's prediction.



Any Headache Cured, Tired Systems Re-Toned

WHEN YOU'RE DULL, TIRED, RESTLESS DAY AND NIGHT SOMETHING IS WRONG IN THE STOMACH.

Headaches never come to those who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and this fact is vouched for by the Assistant Manager of the Poultry Success Magazine, of Springfield, O., Mr. J. H. Callander, who writes: "No better medicine than Dr. Hamilton's Pills. We use them regularly and know of marvelous cures that resisted everything else. They cleanse the whole system, act as a tonic on the blood, enliven digestion, help the stomach, and make you feel strong and well. For headaches, indigestion and stomach disorders I am confident that the one pre prescription is Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Being composed of natural vegetable remedies, Dr. Hamilton's Pills possess great power, yet they are harmless. They aid all organs connected with the stomach, liver, and bowels. In consequence, food is properly digested, the blood is pure and nourishing, the body is kept strong and resists disease. Druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, 5 for $1.00, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Mr. Paul Gilmore, actor, appeared at the Grand Opera House this city Saturday in his successful play, "The Havoc." Large crowds attended the drama at the matinee and evening performances and expressions of satisfaction were freely voiced.

Runaway Is Lucky.

On Saturday evening about six o'clock, a horse attached to a delivery rig in which was seated a lad about five years old, ran along Brock street at a terrific clip, turned the corner of Aylmer running south, narrowly escaping collision with several rigs. The horse, it is understood, belongs to Jones' livery. The animal headed direct for his stable and reached its stall without causing any damage, aside from scaring the lad in the wagon.

Good Fishing.

John Martin and Harry Austin returned from a fishing trip Saturday. They paddled from Bridgenorth to Lakefield, and during the trip caught seven 'lunge, one weighing 19½ lbs., and another 29 1-3 lbs. The latter was brought to the city, and will be handed to a taxedermist, so that its size may be preserved. In addition to the above, about 20 bass were caught along the route. The party used two trawling lines.

Ernie Marks Coming.

Ernie Marks will be at the Grand Opera House for three nights, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 5th, 6th and 7th, with an entire new company of first class artists. As Mr. Marks is well known to the people of Peterborough, it is to be hoped that the Grand Opera House will be packed each night as the prices are reasonable, and within the reach of all. The play and specialties are all new and good, so forget your trouble for a time and see Ernie Marks.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

More Farm Laborers wanted. Not nearly enough gone forward to fill labor demands. Additional excursions will be run from Peterborough on Sept. 4th and 6th, same conditions and rates as on other excursions. Leave Peterborough 4.10 p. m. or 4.30 p.m., above dates. Toronto 10.30 p.m. Secure tickets and all information from W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough, Ont.

Football in England.

The official football season in the old country opened Saturday. From now until the cup final is played at the Crystal Palace, London, football enthusiasts and nearly every man in Britain is a keen follower of the game—will eagerly watch the futures of the clubs in the Association or League. As the time for the semi-finals draws near the interest grows and reaches its climax when the semi-finals being played, the two teams left to play for the "cup" meet on the celebrated grounds at the "Palace," where thousands watch the final game.

GIVE PURSE OF GOLD TO TRACY AND TROUT

Peterborough Men Show in Tangible Form Their Appreciation of White Cap Ball Players.

A purse of gold to Pitcher Tracey and Catcher Trout was the tangible token of Peterborough men's appreciation of the good work of these players at the conclusion of Saturday's victory over the Senators.

Peterborough took the fourth and last game of the home series from Ottawa by a score of 14 to 5.

The success of the White Caps in outplaying the leaders, in the series just ended has done much to encourage the Peterboroughs and their supporters and stimulate new interest in the game in this city. The tailenders this year may transfer their position to the first division, and possibly the lead, next season. This change is just as possible as was the theatrical advance of the Washington club in the National League.

Peterborough fans have confidence in their team's capabilities and that confidence will help the club to win more games.

The White Caps play two games in Ottawa to-day.

MUST NOT BE PERMITTED

Now is the turn of the German Roman Catholics of the West to make demands for special privileges which they call their "inalienable rights," says the Sentinel. The resolution adopted among others things reject the public school and demand denominational schools as rights according to the Canadian constitution.

Those who attribute such a phrase to the ignorance of the German leaders are probably mistaken. While matters of education are entirely within the powers of the province, an effort is being made to read into the Act of Confederation guarantees for sectarian schools in every province.

These Germans want to perpetuate their mother tongue by having it used as the language of instruction in the German schools of Saskatchewan. A more pernicious thing than this it would be difficult to conceive. We doubt very much weather it would in the long run be found advantageous to those who are promoting it.

The movement is under the control of priests whose object is to strengthen the influence of the Roman Church in the public affairs of the West. But in organizing these different nationalities in this way we think the Roman Catholic Church is laying up for itself at least as much trouble as it would be the lot of Protestants to incur from such activity.

It is not to the advantage of any church, of any province, nor of the Dominion, to have many different languages employed in every-day affairs. The aim of both churches and state should be to have one language from ocean to ocean. Certainly those who are anxious that Canada should take its place among the great nations of the world must view with apprehension the constant efforts that are being made to divide the people into colonies, which, by reason of the different languages spoken, as they should for the building up of a united Canada.

QUEEN COLONEL SWEDISH ARMY

Simplicity of Swedish Royalty Combined With Military Ardor

Stockholm, Aug. 31.—To many visitors of the Swedish capital during the the Olympic games the simplicity of life of the Swedish royal family came as a relevation. Yet while their habits are democratic they are all imbued with enthusiasm for the army, and all are attached to one or more regiments.

The Queen herself sets the example by acting as honorary commanding officer of the 34th Pommeranian Fusiliers, whose uniform she dons on ceremonial occasions.

Not only are her sons and brother-in-law equally prominent in encouraging Swedish military ardor, but the Crown Prince's eldest son, Prince Gustave, though only six years old, is the merry honorary lieutenant of a cavalry regiment and is ambitious already to become commander-in-chief of the army. The Military tendency in his case is hereditary on both sides for his mother is the eldest daughter of the Duke of Connaught and tremendously popular in Sweden. Her second son, little Prince Sigvard, aged five, also has military aspirations.

Just as England is ever haunted by the spectre of a German invasion, so many Scandinavians believe that if Sweden's army comes to a clash it will be with the forces of the Czar, bent on making an outlet for Russia on the open Atlantic. But this fact does not minimize the popularity of the Russian wife of the Queen's second son, Prince Charles Wilhelm.

REAL PERIL IN GERMAN NAVY

land was really in a position to afford it. As a matter of fact, the sending of the armored cruisers to the Mediterranean deprives the commander-in-chief in home waters of a most vital adjunct to his fleet, a something that could ill be spared. Still beggars cannot be choosers and the absence of these ships can only be looked upon as the temporary alleviation of an intolerable situation. Nothing could be more disquieting or more grave than the admissions of the prime minister and the first lord of the admiralty in the house of commons when introducing the supplementary naval estimates, the other day, yet having pointed out the state of affairs, they had nothing tangible to offer the country as a remedy, being evidently reluctant to ask England herself to add to the already overpowering burden. What that burden is may be understood when it is realized that even without making allowance for urgent measures of the moment the navy estimates in Britain for next year must amount to £52,000,000, and this at a time when the government of the day refuses to have access to fresh sources of taxation, by means of protection and prederential tariffs.

May Lose Empire.

"The time has come when students of naval affairs must realize that we hold our great Empire by the world's sufferance, and not by the strength of our right arm, and unless the empire as a whole rises to the proper perception of the position, the day will inevitably come, sooner than most of us realize, when our empire may be wrestled from us by a jealous and envious world. It is impossible for us to exist merely on prestige. The prizes which the British crown possesses all over the world are looked on with covetous eyes by our rivals in Europe, and by Germany in particular—Germany a great and virile nation which is seeking outlets for expansion, and is determined to get them if she can, by force of arms, and the great navy she has been building is an earnest of her intentions. But time presses, and the situation is become so critical that unless we move more quickly we may find we are too late."

Asked a question anent Winston Churchill as first sea lord, Sir George remarked that the sentiments expressed by the former in the house of commons regarding the naval needs of the empire were excellent and obvious, but having placed the situation before the country, he has offered no remedy, purely and simply because the cabinet, of which he was a member shirked the expense. The efficiency of the navy itself, Sir George also answered, as far as the officers and men were concerned, was of a very high standard, but that an unfair responsibility was placed upon that personnel, by placing in their hands an inadequate weapon. "The margin of sea power has fallen to a perilous point; we can afford to take no risks, for defeat at sea means ruin and disgrace, and inability on the part of Canada and the rest of the empire to carve out its own destiny." Continuing he said, "The warning of Lord Charles Beresford, so consistently put by him before his countrymen have been justified up to the hilt and if we had grappled with the problem four or five years ago in a courageous and statesmanlike manner we should be confronted with the crisis of these days." Returning to the question of efficiency, Sir George said: "The navy is efficient as far as it goes, but it is lamentably lacking in personnel, and the serious part of that is, that to augment it, cannot be done in a month or a year, as some considerable time must be devoted to training."

VOL. XXXIX, NO. 207. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO. WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 4, 1912. PRICE, TWO CENTS.

THE ROLLER RINK WILL BE TAXED $100 A YEAR LICENSE

Covered Ice Rinks Come Under Same Head. License Fee For Moving Picture Shows Increased by Council From $40 to $75 Per Annum

The City Fathers last night fixed the licenses for moving picture shows at $75 a year. They also passed a resolution taxing a license of $100 a year onto the roller skating rink.

In regard to the Finance Committee's recommendation that the license fee for moving picture shows be increased from $40 per annum to $75, Alderman Graham opposed the measure on the ground that such amusement houses have a hard time to make ends meet under present conditions.

Alderman Gordon pointed out that the operating expenses of one of the 5 cents shows in town amount to $24 a day, and the same house with a capacity of about 200 cannot take in more than $15 in an afternoon, which some must be considerably augmented at night to assure any dividend. He contended that such places of entertainment offer clean, censor-passed amusement to poor families and little ones unable to afford patronage to the opera house. At the same time he would support a reasonable license of say $50 a year, with an additional tax, perhaps on vaudeville.

Ald. Morgan thought the picture shows had a little gold mine. The Red Mill proprietor evidently was making money at even 5 cents admission, and on holidays and Saturday nights he raised his prices to 10c. He strongly advocated the passage of the $75 license fee proposed by the Finance Committee.

Ald. Gordon here moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Duffus, that the license fee be fixed at $50 per annum.

Ald. Anderson agreed with Alderman Morgan that the 5c shows are regular gold mines. He thought the children had too much of this sort of amusement, to say nothing of baseball and other games to the detriment of their school studies. He here moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan that the Finance Committee's recommendatian of a tax of $75 a year on moving picture shows be adopted.

Ald. Gordon's amendment that the fee be $50 was lost.

The original motion that the license be $75 a year was then voted on and carried.

AFTER THE ROLLER RINK.

Aldermen Gordon and Anderson here moved that a by-law be prepared to fix the license fee of $100 a year for roller skating rinks. This motion was lost.

Ald. Morgan—"That resolution was pretty far-fetched. Why not tax an ice as well as a roller rink?"

Ald. Gordon—"On that principle we should tax the curling rink."

Ald. Duffus—"That is not an earning power."

Ald. Anderson—"Yes, it is."

Ald. Anderson—"The roller rink should pay a license; it has been a complained of nuisance for years, and ought to be taxed.

Ald. Duffus—"My idea is that if the roller rink is a nuisance it should be closed up entirely."

Ald. Gordon here could not see what distinction his colleagues recognized in fixing a heavy license fee of $75 for moving picture shows (popular amusement houses) and throwing down his resolution re licensing the roller skating rink (a money-making concern). He would like to see this inconsistency adjusted.

Ald. Johnston argued that if the roller rink was taxed all resorts for recreation should be taxed also to which he would not agree, however.

Discussion at this juncture raised the question why ice-skating rinks should not be taxed as well as roller rinks.

Ald. Gordon—"The covered ice rink and the roller rink are controlled by the same management; and in taxing one, we should tax both."

The Council agreed to this view of the situation, and

Ald. Gordon moved, seconded by Ald. Anderson,—That the City Solicitor prepare a by-law to fix a license fee for all covered skating rinks (ice or roller) at $100 per annum.—Carried.

WILL PETERBOROUGH SEE ANY STREET PAVING DONE THIS YEAR?

The Removal of Poles Causing Delay in Regard to George Street—Tenders Will, However, be Invited for Concrete Paving Two Sections of Streets Already Petitioned For

At last night's Council meeting, his worship replied to Ald. Gordon that the matter of paving George and Charlotte streets remains in abeyance pending the removal of poles.

It appears that originally the G. N.W. Co. had agreed to remove 14 poles from off George street at a cost of $350 to the city. Subsequently, however, it transpired that three of the poles are owned by the C.P. R., with whom satisfactory arrangements have not yet been concluded for their removal. And contractors had advise that paving be not done until all poles are cleared away.

Ald. Johnston—"I think Council should get to work and chop those three poles down."

His Worship—"We can't, Ald. Johnston."

Ald. Johnston—"My goodness, don't we control our streets."

His Worship—"Unfortunately we do not in regard to those poles. Such action as you suggest would call for appeal to the Board of Railway Commissioners and perhaps the Privy Council."

Ald. Johnston—"That's the trouble in this country; there is too much Commission and Privy Council."

Ald. Graham and Johnston thought the Council should give evidence of its earnestness in this regard by having the eleven poles removed at once.

His Worship—"Are you prepared to pay $350 for the removal of the G.N.W's eleven poles?"

Ald. Morgan—"Yes, Mr. Mayor; I'll move in that direction."

Ald. Duffus—"I won't agree to that. If we pay $350 for the removal of eleven poles, we may have to pay a like sum to get rid of the other three."

Council finally decided that the Mayor should again take up the question of removal of the C.P.R's three poles from off George street, with the company; also to pave Chambers street and a section of Hunter at an early date.

Moved by Ald. Duffus, seconded by Ald. Gordon,—That the City Engineer be instructed to invite tenders for concrete paving Chambers street, and Hunter, from Park to Belmont avenue, which work has been petitioned for by interested ratepayers.—Carried.

THE WHITE ELEPHANT.

To Ald. Johnston, his worship thought there would never be any end to the Romaine street sewer "white elephant." The Board of works is doing the best they can but fresh leaks in the pipes are continually cropping up; just now that section on Aylmer street is showing signs of leakage and is evidently sinking.

TO OPEN NEW STREET.

Moved by Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Gordon,—That Aldermen Duffus and Johnston be a special committee to enquire into the proposition of acquiring a street from Patterson to Bolivar street.—Carried.

NEW SEWERAGE SCHEME.

In regard to the sanitary disposal of sewage to any further pollution of the river as insisted upon by adjacent townships, Council is in communication with several consulting engineers, and in all probability a sewerage system approved of by the Provincial Board of Health will be installed at the earliest possible date.

MORE IMPRESSIONS oF THE WEST

This will be the last of my "impressions" before returning by the G.T.P. to Winnipeg

I came from Calgary up through Alberta to this city. Calgary is full of "people" for the stampede. Most of the visitors are the toughest-looking lot I have seen anywhere, and that's "going some." It is a lively town but we must remember that the west is a land of promise. The realization is yet to come. The blight upon it is not even the dreaded frost but the real estate fakir. I do not mean the real estate agent, but the fakir who is more numerous than the sands of the sea. Strange to say you see advertisements of other places filling the windows of the various "cities." In a word, it is always the distant hill that looks greenest (to the green).

SEES PETERBOROUGH MEN.

I I saw Croyland Yokome, of the News-Telegram at Calgary and his chief told me that he was a treasure. He is a son of Mr. Yokome of the Examiner. Walter Davidson and Cyril Hill are both very well situated. Trained men are at a premium in the West in all callings.

I had always supposed that Alberta was flat prairie. It is no more so than Otonabee or Smith and the extensive strips of poplar give the country a familiar wooded appearance. The "sunny" character departs with the "woods." It is the open unwooded prairie that reflects the sunlight in the way I noted in a former letter. It is not rarity of the atmosphere.

THE EAST STILL LEADS.

After all, I find a growing respect and wonder for the "boom" in the East, as it is called. Trade returns, population and building returns with stocks and finance show the people that "the" place in Canada is yet by long odds not the West, but the East. Summer frosts and unmixed farming means danger always for this country (the middle West). The people frankly admit it. Edmonton is poorly built but magnificently situated in the high banks of a large river. Just as I was leaving Calgary the distinguished head of an eastern university said. "Well, Burnham, what do you thinki so far as you have seen?"

ENERGY IS WASTED.

He knew the west from end to end intimately and when I remarked that taking it all round I could not see where Ontario was excelled, he answered, "Right! There is no finer province in the Dominion than Ontario."

It is a good thing, I suppose, to spread our butter thinly over much bread, but why people rush from Manitoba to Saskatchewan and then on to Alberta, thence on to the coast and on to Vancouver Island and again to the Yukon, etc., it is difficult to explain. To me it is a great waste of energy. Surely concentration like extensive farming is better than rushing like mad over the wide waste of land.

British Columbia has 250,000 population, with, as one prominent B.C. man remarked, 200,000 of them in the cities. That leaves 50,000 in the province and yet they talk of going somewhere else.

AMERICANS ON CANAL.

I met many Americans and I have yet to find one who approves the Panama Canal bill or who did not smile when I introduced a discussion on Reciprocity.

It rained heavily last night which stopped what promised to be a hard frost. The general fear seemed to be not so much that it woulh damage the wheat as that it would damage the crop of eastern "investors."

CANADIAN GRAIN HIGHEST.

Canadian grain prices still continue to "put it over" American, and Reciprocity is dead accordingly here as elsewhere in our great Dominion.

BOARD MEETS, HEARS REPORTS

Complaint Against School System Made—Other Matters Up

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education held last evening a communication from Mr. W. H. Pitty relative to the management of East City School was read. Mr. Pitty called the attention of the Board to certain matters he regarded as irregular. The subject was discussed but no action decided upon.

Contractor Moore appeared before the Board to elucidate his side of the problem of deciding on the class and weight of felt paper to be used in connection with the building of the new school. He alleges that the architect declined to specify the exact material required. After some discussion it was decided to have the architect submit definite specifications and that tenders should be based on these.

It was resolved to grant soil to the Horticultural Society to fill in depressions on the grounds. The matter of improving the collegiate grounds by cutting down certain trees and making other alterations for the purpose of further beautifying the collegiate grounds, was referred to the property committee.

A letter from Messrs. Might and Taylor soliciting insurance on the new school was referred to the Finance Committee.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of accounts totalling $327.21, the largest item being $236.55 to W. Blackwell.

It was moved by Mr. R. Fair and seconded by Col. J. W. Miller that payment of accounts amounting to $14,315.66 be confirmed. The largest items in these accounts were $9,000 for the Ward school and $5,000 for the new institution.

Money received:

Municipal grant, $6,500; Do., $1,-$1,500; rent Cedar St. house, $10; Government grant (Collegiate Institute, $1,291.51; special Government grant re qualification and experience of teachers, $565; Government grant (Public schools), $1,262.

Chairman John Crane presided.

WILL PETERBOROUGH HAVE HYDRO--ELECTRIC POWER OR NOT?

City Fathers Anxious For a Definite Settlement of This Question—Money Bylaw May go to the People at an Early Date

The city fathers met in regular session last night. There were present Mayor W. H. Bradburn; Aldermen Duncan, Gordon, Duffus, Johnston, Graham, Anderson and Margain.

Messrs. Peck, Kerr and McEllderv wrote on behalf of their client, Mr. Isaac Eastwood, asking council to reconsider its decision that Mr. Eastwood's new building over the creek on Hunter street must be reconstructed to comply with the special permit granted to permit of the building's erection. This communication was received, and no action will be taken.

Messrs. Peck, Kerr and McEllderv wrote, urging the speedy adoption of a new system for the disposal of sewage otherwise, by command of adjoining townships, proceedings will be instituted to restrain the city from polluting the Otonabee waters with its sewage. Received.

Mr. A. D. Cartwright, solicitor for the Grand Trunk Railway Company, wrote that the Railway Commission had awarded that the city shall pay 10 per cent. of the cost of installation and maintenance of the gates to be placed at Sherbrooke and Bethune streets railway crossing, and 15 per cent. of the cost of installing and maintaining gates at King street crossing. Received.

THE CHIEF'S POWERS.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee's recommendation that the Fire Chief should have power to hire and discharge his men, subject to the approval of the Mayor and Chairman of the committee, was adopted on motion of Ald. Gordon and Ald. Duffus

Ald. Duncan however, thought the Chief should have absolute control of the Fire Hall, without any riders whatever attached.

Moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Graham,—in amendment,—that the chief have absolute control with power to hire and discharge his men without any reference whatever to other city officials, was lost prior to the original motion's adoption.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER.

Ald. Gordon here enquired of the Mayor if it were not high time the public had an opportunity on voting on a definite scheme for providing hydro-electric power for power for Peterborough.

Ald. Morgan waxed warm on the question, and offered that the public might as well be taken into the Council's confidence, as the figures submitted by the Hon. Adam Beck for the supply of hydro-electric power had become more or less generally known. "People on the streets can give the prices for power tendered by the hon. gentleman."

The Mayor—"Who are they?"

Ald. Morgan—"Lots of people."

His Worship—"Well, they know more than I do, and you, Ald. Morgan are acquainted with whatever

LOCAL NIMRODS GET DUCKS; ALSO THEY GET LOST AND RUN AMUCK

Six Sportsmen Who Sailed to Idlewild Labor Day Have Much Sport and Some Excitement on Return Voyage in Foggy Darkness

A Labor Day sail to Idlewild netted six city nimrods a string of bass and 'lunge, several braces of ducks and an experience which, though a little untoward for a time, served at length as just enough excitement to make the occasion memorable and to create a yearning for more.

The hunters were Herb Routley, Peter Lang, Reg. Brown, Allan Ray, Cyril Loch and Arthur Graham. At an advantageous point they anchored cast their lines and cocked their guns. The weather was calm and few ducks were seen. Only the blacks are coming in so far and the boys got all of those that came their way. Meanwhile the bass were nibbling and a good day's sport was had.

On the return journey a heavy fog fell over the water, which, combined with the darkness, made navigating a precarious business. But with skippers Cyril Loch and Allan Ray at the wheel neither icebergs nor collisions were feared.

Suddenly, however, in the gloom of the night the new moon,—which couldn't be seen,—reflected in their path, revealing to the man in the crow's nest huge trees and embankments close on either side.

"Ship ahoy," cried the watch. "Stop!" hard astern." The ship was halted. The chart showed no such passage as the one the boat was passing through.

"I have it," cried Brown, who had sailed the Magdalen perils. "We're in Hell Creek, 40 knots around the horn." There was nothing to do but flash a wireless for a tug to turn the cruiser in its perilous waters and sail back to the deep.

On through the night they came regardless of fog and darkness, for two old salts were at the helm. At last they sighted a light. "It's the second pier off Port Peterborough," cried the watch. "All's well," returned the first officer. Then, in another moment, came a crash, a rebound and a dull hissing sound like the suction following the sinking of a Titanic. The light seen was in a farmer's house. For a jiffy all was confusion, but cool and reliable heads were at the helm? The engines were stopped, the fish restrung, the ducks counted and the journey resumed. They had merely run head-on into the second pier down the river—a mere incident, not an accident.

Five miles down stream their boat passed the Geneva, which had tied up on account of the fog.

The six undaunted sportsmen reached port safely at 2.30 o'clock yesterday morning, their game and systems intact. They pronounced the trip one of recreation and profitable experience.

RESULTS AT BABY SHOW

Judging the beauty and intelligence of babies was, perhaps, the most difficult event on the Labor Day programme. Messrs. G. M. Graham, Frank Russell and Alderman Anderson, bolstered courage to "sit in judgment,"—but its safe to bet they were on their feet ready to make a get-away should an irate mother rise to object. First prize in class No. 1, infants under six months, was awarded to G. Robinson; second, D. Hoolihan. Class No. 2—Baby Barrie, eight months, and F. Underwood, six months. Wee Jessie Simons was adjudged the prettiest girl in a special contest.

AN ENGLISH GENTLEMAN writes that he read the little book "The Road to Wellville" and at a meeting of the Victoria Physchological Society of London (of which he is President) he urges the members to read it carefully for, as he writes: "I think it the finest little book of Physchological Knowledge I have ever seen."

He is Mr. T. A. Wilson, 22 Hamburg St., Richmond England.

The relation of body, food and mind are explained in a simple way in "The Road to Wellville," and a miniature copy is placed in small envelope and attached to every third package of GRAPE-NUTS in order to extend its circulation, in such cases, free.

If interested, you can instruct your grocer to [illegible] up a package with the little envelope attached.

The little book is certainly interesting and well worth reading.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 46 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., [illegible] George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

PAINTS.

THE LAW OF QUALITY IS AS SURE AS the law of Gravity. Gravity keeps both your feet on the ground. Quality informs your judgment when you are on the "Ground Floor" in the matter of value. Martin-Senour's Paint is the Ground Floor of paint value. It makes good every time. It flows freely, has great covering capacity, shows a beautiful finish, and wears like iron. It will more than meet your expectations in quality brilliancy and durability. Campbell & Hunt, 134 Hunter St. Next to post office.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here Is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

Stock Exchange Strike.

There are just 18,000 seconds in a day's work on the London Stock Exchange, during every one of which thousands of pounds change hands. The Stock Exchange is always feverishly impatient to hear news of itself, and is, therefore, connected by thousands of private telephone wires with all parts of the kingdom. In addition it has a wonderful little newspaper issued ten times an hour. This, of course, contains the most recent financial quotations. About fifty special newsboys are employed to dash with lightning speed with copies immediatey they leave the machine to various financiers, stockbrokers, etc.

On one occasion a well-organised strike of these lads completely paralysed the working of the Exchange for over an hour. As a delay of seconds in distributing news bearing upon the market often causes serious fluctuations in prices, the lads' terms were accepted. Members have, however, provided very effectually against a second strike taking place, by keeping a double relay of lads, neither of the shifts ever being allowed to know the other. So if one struck, the other could be immediately requisitioned.

A Lawsuit In Cricket.

Kentish cricketers once sought to enliven a match by a lawsuit. The story is told in a newspaper of 1726. "On Monday is to be determined a suit at law on Dartford Heath by a cricket match between the men of Chingford and Mr. Steed's men; they had a hearing about two years ago before Lord Chief Justice Pratt, when the merits of the case appeared to be that at a match between the abovesaid players the Chingford men refused to play on the game at a time the others had the advantage. The judge referred the said case back to Dartford Heath to be played on where they left off."

Quebec's Minerals.

The report of the Mines Branch of the Province of Quebec, showing that last year the value of the production of the Quebec mines amounted to $8,679,786. This is an increase of $1,280,803 as compared with the preceding year. From about $2,000,000 in 1896, the value of minerals has climbed to over $8,000,000—an increase of more than 300 per cent. In 1911 the mines of the province produce asbestos, copper ore, iron ores, mica, graphite, magnetite, and all kinds of articles for structural materials.

LIFELESS RIDERS.

Thrilling Episodes Culled From the Horrors of War.

A veteran of the British army in India once saw a strange sight on a battlefield. As he tells the story a squadron of cavalry had been held in reserve under cover of a field battery and an infantry regiment. The artillery duel had ended. The assault of the enemy in overwhelming numbers had been repulsed by the steadiness of the infantry. While a cloud of smoke hung over the field the cavalry received an order to charge with drawn sabers.

The troopers started in close order for the enemy's line. Midway they met a destructive fire from earthworks in front of them and from the woods on their flank. A young cavalryman, with his saber drawn, was shot in the heart while leading in the first file. The horse halted, swerved to the right and turned back, but the rider kept his seat without flinching. The other troopers went on, carried the earthwork by storm, rode at full gallop after the retreating force and converted defeat into rout.

The dead trooper meanwhile was returning with white face and with the blood streaming from his wound. Under his nerveless hand the horse received neither check nor leading and made its own way toward the infantry, which was now advancing rapidly. As the smoke lifted the soldiers saw the solitary rider coming, with one hand in a death grip upon the saddle, while the other still held the sword rigidly clasped.

It was a sight never to be forgotten—the galloping horse, with the dead cavalryman still mounted and looking grim and fierce. It was not until the rider had gone fifty yards from the spot where he had been killed that he rolled off the horse.

A similar story is told of Captain Nolan, who delivered the fatal blundering order for the charge of the famous Light Brigade. He was seen on the field of Balaklava, riding from the hills where the staff officers were drawn up to the quarter where the brigade was stationed. The charge began, and what was left of the brigade returned in broken groups.

At last Captain Nolan was seen galloping rapidly toward the centre of the field. He was firmly seated, straight as an arrow and riding well. Suddenly the horse swerved and the rider toppled over.

The officers who were nearest rushed forward, but when they lifted him from the ground they found him lifeless. Like the Indian saberman, he had been shot and instantly killed, but his horse had carried him safely across the field, out of the reach of the pursuing Cossacks.

The Sacred Bo Tree.

On the night of October 7, 1887, the tree worshipers of Ceylon met with an irreparable calamity. During one of the worst storms that ever raged on the island their sacred bo tree was thrown to the ground. The oldest written description of this wonderful tree known to exist is that of Fa Hiam, a Chinese historian and traveler, who visited the tree in the year 414 A. D. According to the learned Chinaman, it was then 702 years old, having been planted by King Devinipiatissa in the year 288 before our era began. If the above data be correct, and there is no reason for doubting it, the bo tree was more than 2,175 years old when the storm ended its career on the date mentioned above.

Relieved the Situation.

Once when Justin McCarthy had called on Dean Stanley and they were conversing Matthew Arnold was announced, and the dean, addressing the new arrival, said, "Come here, Matt, and let me bring you face to face with the man who says you are only a miniature Goethe." McCarthy was naturally embarrassed at the repetition of a remark that seemed to be ill-natured. "Oh, come, now, I didn't say only a miniature Goethe," he stammered, but Arnold promptly relieved the situation by remarking with a winning smile, "If he could only convince me that I am a miniature Goethe how proud of myself he would make me."

Manchuria.

A petty clan of the Suchan family, springing from the narrow, beautiful, but savage glens southwest of Changbalshan, founded the Manchu dynasty, which for more than 260 years ruled China. They took the dynastic name of Manju or Manchu, in their own language meaning "clear." To this the Europeans have added a termination and we have Manchuria, the "country of the Manchus."

An Ancient Conduit.

Pointing out how often ancient monuments are lost, Mr. W. Martin, honorary secretary of the Congress of Archaeological Societies, told the joint Parliamentary committee on the preservation of ancient monuments that the White Conduit, which has recently been destroyed, had existed in Queen's square, Bloomsbury, from the time of Henry III. The conduit was part of the water system which supplied the Grey Friars of Newgate street. Owing to the extension of a big hotel in Bloomsbury the pipe had gone entirely within the last few months. He had received a letter from the secretary of the Derbyshire Archaeological and Natural History Society quoting the case of a disused church in Derbyshire which in all probability would go to ruin and disappear unless its preservation was shortly taken in hand. The curator of the Maidstone Museum had also informed him that the ancient hall of the Corpus Christi foundation in Maidstone, which dated from about the year 1,477, was now desecrated by being used as part of a brewery, although it was at present in good hands so far as its preservation was concerned. He also mentioned the case of an old tithe barn in the district, which was now in the open market.

The Enemies of Success.

Bright, cheerful, hopeful thoughts and a strong belief in one's own ability to accomplish the thing undertaken are friends that will insure success. The ambitious person should learn as early in life as possible to pick out the friends and enemies of success, and in many cases it will be found that the greatest enemy resides within himself. Morbid thoughts, for example, are infinitely greater hindrances to success than opposition from outside, and no health, no beauty, no harmony, no real success, can exist in the atmosphere of abnormal melancholy or morbid ideas. Overcome the enemies to success within yourself and you will have done much toward reaching the goal of your ambition.

THE FORUM

Organization has emancipated workingmen in twenty-five years.

If New York would rid itself of criminals it should first deport the police.

If rainy weather must continue some enterprising Peterborough man might make good by starting an umbrella factory.

Dr. Wiley, the U. S. pure food expert, says Roosevelt possesses the greatest capacity for lying of any man on earth. And Terrible Teddy just grins.

Whether it is a coincidence or an effect we cannot say, but whenever the moon is full a certain number of local men are seen in the same condition.

The Review refers to a certain brand of women as idle gossipers. This is a misnomer. This g. f. j. is of opinion that wherever gossipers are found they are too busy gossiping to be idle.

A Harvard professor has succeeded in manufacturing "hot ice." It may be interesting as a chemical curiosity but it will never be in demand for the head that aches on the morning after. Still why not? We already have hot air, hot dogs, hot times, hot days, and—yes, hot heads.

The Centenary of the launching of the first passenger steamboat in European waters was celebrated in Glasgow Saturday last. It is just 100 years since Harry Bell's Comet left the slips on the Clyde, and a great review of shipping took place Saturday in memory of the event. The engine of the original Comet is now in South Kensington Museum, London.

PROBLEM OF DEFENCE.

The problems of defence that confront Great Britain also confronts the British Empire, and therefore include Canada. Great Britain's only duty is to counter when others attack. And when she is attacked, whenever the test of the Empire's supremacy is threatened, Canada, as in the past, will be in evidence to help her. This, we believe, is the national sentiment, in spite of jingo expressions that would convey the idea that Canada is reluctant to aid in the naval and military development of the Empire.

PORT HOPE'S GRIEF.

Port Hope milk venders have obeyed the mandate of the Town Council and resumed deliveries according to the standard set by the municipality. But Port Hope has still another grievance. This time it is the water—not the water in the milk, but the water in the chlorine, or the chlorine in the water. An overdose is reported to have been dissolved in the aqua pura with the result that citizens have sustained puckered mouths, upturned noses and a nauseating cough. The water is described as having a very "rich" flavor, a terrible aroma and a worse taste. Truly, Port Hope is getting its share of fall fair advertising.

Natural Cure for Catarrh Obviates Taking Drugs

It Has Superseded the Old-Fashioned Stomach-dosing Remedies, and Invariably Cures Quickly.

It was their inability to reach the real source of catarrh and bronchitis that caused the medical profession to drop liquid cough medicines and adopt "Catarrhozone" instead. Catarrhozone provides a method of breathing right into the lungs certain rare medicinal vapors which are so healing and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and throat trouble in a very short time.

The most wonderful thing about Catarrhozone is that no matter where the germs of bronchitis or catarrh are hidden, Catarrhozone will reach and destroy them.

"About five years ago I took a cold in the head and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds I kept putting off getting anything until at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, Catarrhozone and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing. I am recommending Catarrhozone to all who have catarrh, etc.

"(Signed) Everton L. Wassan,
Blair P. O., Queen's Co., N.B.

Catarrhozone has made an astonishing record of cures. Its method is right; no drugs; just healing balsamic vapors, that bring instant relief to Catarrh and all throat, bronchial and chest colds. Get the large size, last two months, is sure to cure you, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; sample or trial size, 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y and Kingston, Ont.

CO-OPERATION WITHIN THE EMPIRE.

The practical mind of Mr. Bonar Law, the British Unionist leader, is apparent in his direct words on the naval defence question. Speaking at the banquet tendered to Premier Borden at the London Carlton Club last month, Mr. Law said that serious as the situation was without respect to national defence, it had at least one advantage, that the pressure from without naturally tended, and was tending now, to weld the different parts of the Empire more closely together. Then entering more fully into the seriousness of the situation, the British Conservative leader said:

"We were engaged with Germany, not indeed in war, and if we were, wise there never would be war, but we were engaged in a war of armaments, and in the long run victory would rest with the nation which had the greater resources and which employed the more steadfastly the working of those resources. If, therefore, any one chose to consider quietly the change in the position of Germany and this country, to consider the growth of Germany during the last generation, in population, in wealth and in power, and to contrast it with the growth during the same period of the United Kingdom, then it was evident that if we had to rely upon the resources of these islands alone the time would come, and would come soon, when it would be utterly impossible for us to bear the burden of that supreme navy which was necessary to our national existence. But we should not stand alone.

"The British Empire contained resources greater far than those of any other nation, and if we could utilize and concentrate those resources then we should not only be safe now but we could look forward to the certainty that our country in years to come would play a part not less glorious than that which she had played in the centuries that had gone. It was that union which was now of vital necessity. What we needed was, in the words used by the Prime Minister the other day—and however strong a party man he might be he enjoined to hear Mr. Asquith used the expression—'Co-operation within the Empire in peace and in war.'

"The goal to which they looked forward—and not merely Unionists, but, he thought, the great bulk of their countrymen—was the time when each of the self-governing Dominions, in proportion to their population would not only share in burdens of the Empire, but, as equal members of the Imperial Parliament, would share in the responsibility, and, as he thought the glory of governing the British Empire. That was their goal, and he ventured to hope that it was not far distant. The difficulties, indeed, were great, but they were not half so great in his opinion, as those which Hamilton overcame when he formed the Union of the United States. What was wanted was patience indeed, but courage was wanted too, and he hoped and believed the time was not far distant—and he should, indeed, be proud if he were permitted in any way, however humble, to hasten it forward—when the whole of the British Empire would be in reality, as well as in name one united nation."

Mr. Borden, in replying, said that the Dominions were prepared to take their share in the work of binding securely together all portions of the Empire, and thus preserve a great force in the cause of humanity, justice and peace throughout the world.

"HE'S A TRAMP NO MORE."

Harry Bulger Has Won Fame in Musical Comedy, and Appears In "The Flirting Princess" Here on Sept. 9th.

Harry Bulger, whom Mort H. Singer is starring this season in "The Flirting Princess," is getting farther and farther away from the "tramp" characters with which managers burdened him for years. Bulger originated more funny tramps than any man on the stage.

But Bulger made the leap away from "tramp" roles a few seasons ago, and now he is enjoying more success than ever in "The Flirting Princess." Mr. Singer presents him as the honest driver of a taxicab whose troubles are numerous as they are comical.

When Bulger quit school he joined the German Brothers' minstrels, and later went with Al G. Fields' minstrels. Then he formed a partnership with J. Sheridan Matthews, and as Matthews & Bulger the team made a name for itself all over the country. Bulger became one of the leading players in "Beauty and the Beast," and since that time has scored heavily as the comedian of several musical comedy successes, such as "The Man From Now," "Noah's Ark," George Ade's "The Night of the Fourth," "The Dairymaids," and "Algeria." In "The Flirting Princess," Mort H. Singer has had the leading part especially written for Bulger, who says his role is the funniest and most satisfying of his career. WILL BATTLE CURRENT EVILS OF NATION

Free Methodists Adjourn, Pledging to Fight All Corruption

The last sitting of the seventeenth annual session of the East Ontario Conference of the Free Methodist Church was concluded Saturday. The time was occupied with reports of committees and other miscellaneous business.

These reports show the uncompromising position of the church on all moral issues. The liquor traffic, corrupt politics, the white slave traffic, and the modern move in the religious world, away from confidence in the inspiration of the scriptures, as well as other subjects, were discussed, and the conference pledged itself to continue to oppose these and all other evils, as it has ever done.

Salvation from all sin, through simple faith in Christ, is the main issue.

Miss Lotta Babcock was re-elected Sunday-school secretary, and Rev. Wm. Zurbrigg, conference treasurer.

Appointments—Kingston and Campbellford districts—W. H. Reynolds, district elder; Kingston, E. Snyder; Odessa, Norman Perry; Gananoque, C. Goodrich; Verona, W. Zurbrigg; Westport, to be supplied; Enterprise, A. M. Gunter; Vennacher, Samuel Loshaw; Picton, Edith Sears, Annie Slack; Warkworth, W. H. Gregory; Campbellford, A. F Ball; Cordova, M. Harp, J. W. Potter, A. Sims, H. Smith, supernumeraries.

C. F. Appleton, missionary to China.

F. F. Prior given certificate of good standing in view of transfer to the Western Canada conference.

The Sunday services were well attended. Bishop Pearce preached a very able sermon in the morning and another in the evening. Dr. Backenstone gave a very interesting missionary address in the afternoon. About two hundred dollars were raised for missionary and other purposes The next session is to be held in Kingston.

REAL CAUSE OF MILK PRICE ADVANCE TOLD

Dealer Says Lightning Turned Fluid Into Cottage Cheese and He Had to Get Even.

Now we know the real cause of the advance in the price of milk in Peterborough.

A dealer tells us that during a recent electrical storm the lightning slipped one of its bolts into a can of milk he was peddling and churned it into a ball of cottage cheese. He couldn't realize on the cheese so had to raise the price of milk to even up

"I believe it, and my fear of a similar attack prompted me to advance the price," said another dealer. "Lightenin' do play havoc," he continued.

"Why, I can remember once when the infarnal pitchfork brand o' lightenin' in this here county struck a new cheese on my farm and bored it full o' holes like a Swiss sandwich. The same bolt struck a pile of wood split a cord of it, and buried most o' it into the cellar. It also pulled the cap off a bottle o' ale the hired man was about to 'throw away.'"

A customer who had been arguing with the milk dealer over the increased price agreed at this point in the conversation that the advance was justified. And, he, too, recalled a freak of lightning act right here in the city. He said he once saw the lightning strike a switch — presumably blonde — and it left an odorific effect of burning hair that prompted somebody to turn in a fire alarm.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY COMPLEXION BEAUTIFIER

(From the Home Maker.)

Because of its peculiar power of absorption, also because it serves every emollient purpose, ordinary mercolized wax is perhaps the most valuable complexion beautifier discovered within recent years. If one uses this she needs no toilet cream. Some use powder afterward, but this is not necessary and is inadvisable particularly when one perspires freely. This rule for applying mercolized wax has been found very satisfactory: Wash the face with warm water, drying lightly. Before thoroughly dry, anoint face and neck with the wax, but don't rub it in. The favorite way is to use before retiring, allowing it to remain on all night and washing it off in the morning with warm water. All druggists have this wax in original one-ounce packages.

For the removal of a wrinkled or flabby condition there's nothing better than to bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel, Beneficial results are quickly noticeable.

WILL PETERBORO HAVE HYDRO-ELECTRIC?

has passed between the Hon Adam Beck and Council as well as I am. But tell me, who are the people who know so much?"

Ald. Morgan—"I know, but I will not tell."

In this connection it appears that the Hon. Adam Beck has submitted an estimate of the probable price of power when generated and sold to Peterborough, which price, however, may fluctuate one way or the other after the scheme has been eventually worked out on the operating basis. The Alderman, however, when submitting the question of whether Peterborough should use hydro-electric power or not, pledged themselves not to enter into any binding contract without first submitting to the people a by-law embodying the actual prices such power will be sold at when eventually generated. And apparently they now find it a difficult matter to secure sufficiently detailed information to warrant them in submitting a money-by-law to the ratepayers.

Ald. Morgan, however, supported by Ald. Gordon, thought it time the question should go to the people in whatever shape it stands at present. "I think," he said, "Hon. Adam Beck is disgusted with us. I'm satisfied to submit to the people the aggregate price he has given us."

Ald. Johnston said he was tired of the delay. Council should wait upon the hon. gentleman in a body and demand enough concrete information to justify a money by-law being voted on at the earliest possible moment.

It was generally admitted that the Mayor had been commendably active in this matter, and Ald. Gordon offered that the whole Council could do no more that the Power Committee had done. As a whole, the Council apparently leaned to the view that Hon. Adam Beck's proposition to hand is as explicit as similar ones submitted to other municipalities, and hence, further delay is unnecessary.

His Worship, however, promised to phone the hon. gentleman to-day and try and arrange for an interview with him by the Council, in the hope of a definite understanding being reached, so that an intelligent money by-law may be drafted for submittal to the ratepayers.

NEW WHARF IS NEARLY READY

George Street Water Craft Facilities Supplies Needed Dock

The new government wharf at George and Rink streets is nearing completion and will be ready for regular service in two or three weeks. This wharf, which was commenced last October, under the supervision of Messrs. Grant and Easton, resident engineers for the Dominion, and under the superintendency of Mr. T. F. Wade, will serve a much needed facility in Peterborough and will be appreciated by transportation concerns, shippers and the public. Its cost approximates $25,000.

The wharf, beginning on George street, immediately south of the Matthews & Lang packing plant, extends 330 feet in length to Rink street and is 100 feet deep on Rink street from George street to the water. It also provides a 100-foot slip dock on the north end. A Clamshell dredge is now at work and the mean depth of the water at the wharf will be ten feet at normal, extending to the river channel. The wharf proper is constructed of concrete built on crib work. On the water side of the dock holes have been made 15 feet apart in the concrete in which will be fastened supports for a chain, fashioned in loops for life-saving purposes. The chain will extend the full length of the wharf and will hang within a few inches of the water's surface. The wharf is arranged to accommodate all kinds of traffic and all classes of craft from a canoe to the largest boat that may seek to dock here.

On excursion days it is anticipated that from six to ten boats, passenger and freight, will arrive and depart from the new dock.

The landing space will be hard-coated with gravel or cinders, and will accommodate many automobiles and other vehicles.

The vehicular entrance is from the north end on George street and the exit on Rink street.

The north public entrance is four feet wide, of concrete, and the general entrance, where cars will stop, is of the same material twelve feet wide down ten steps.

Along the Rink street landing three steps, the length of the wharf, are built to the water's edge to accommodate canoes, launches, etc.

The entire extent of the wharf on George street is sodded and terraced down twenty-four feet to the level, and a dozen large willow trees along this space furnish shade in summer for waiting passengers and others to rest. Suitable seating accommodation will be provided. Later, it is anticipated, a pavilion will be erected to add to the comfort of persons patronizing the wharf. The new boat facilities are a credit to the designers and the city. The old Wolfe street dock will be used in future principally for scows and for loading and unloading rough material.

Harbor Master James Rummett will, it is understood, have supervision over the new wharf when it is turned over for regular service.

RT. HON SIR GEO. REID URGES CANADA TO DEFEND EMPIRE

High Commissioner Declares That Nation That is Unprepared Is The One To Be First Attacked

"We of Australia do not come to offer you advice. It is not for us to tell you what to do or how you should do it. But whatever is to be done by Canada to aid the Empire in the matter of building up the British fleet should be done at once."

This was the closing sentence of an eloquent speech delivered by Sir George Reid, Australian High Commissioner in London, at the Fair Directors' luncheon to-day. Sir Geo. told the Canadians what Australia was doing to aid the Empire and left his story to points its moral.

"In Australia everybody at the age of 14 years wears the King's uniform. We have a compulsory system of military training under which young men remain until they are 26. It is made as light as possible so that it need not interfere with the battle of life which they must fight.

"We have been talking about a fleet for a long time, just as you have been doing. Your confederation is 45 years old and ours is only 12, but we have already a fleet unit, and it flies the grand old flag. We do not aim to use it for the purposes of war, for bloody work, but in time of peace we should be prepared for war. To use a homely illustration, it is not the professional pugilist who is the victim of an attack. The man who is not able to defend himself is the man attacked."

MUST BE READY TO FIGHT

"One naval engagement might shatter the fleet of Britain. And do your suppose our conquerors would allow us to build up another fleet to make ourselves strong again? No, therefore, we must be ready to fight any nation."

LABOR DAY SPORTS

Labor Day celebrations in Peterborough consisted of a parade headed by the band of the 57th Regt., and athletic sports at Riverside Park. In spite of an intermittent rain a good sized crowd attended the events.

J. J. Thompson, George Ahearn and others on the management committee facilitated the movement of sport numbers and the program was carried out without delay.

Young Cavanah won from Taylor and Mirty the base running contest for boys over 16 years.

Running high jump—Michael O'Brien, first; Jim McMartin, second.

100 yards dash—Arthur Flowers, first; Hy. Wood, second; Mike O'Brien, third. Time, 10 4-5 seconds. First prize, a gold watch; second a berry bowl, third a big ben clock.

100 yards, married men, over 40 years—A. Sheward, first, prize, $10; second, Geo. Ahearn, prize, $6 clock; A. Giles, third.

440 yards—Jas. McMartin, first; W. J. Mahoney, second; Hy. Wood, third

The C.G.E. team won the football match from the All Stars by a score of 5 to 2.

TO REFORM THE PRIVY COUNCIL

London, Sept. 3.—The Canadian press is informed that a second attempt to strengthen the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, whose decisions in the past have been far from satisfactory to the colonies, will be made shortly after the reassembling of Parliament. Reports which appear in the Canadian Press claiming that Lord Chancellor Haldane proposed to add the name of Chief Justice Fitzpatrick to the active body, are purely imaginary. The personnel of the Committee will apparently remain the same. To meet the particular needs of the dominions it is understood that assessors possessing special knowledge of the points at issue will be admitted and will assist their Lordships in arriving at decisions.

Wandering Youth.

Sudden disappearances of men and women unhappily are a pronounced feature in the life of all great cities, but London has been the first of the world's maelstroms to attempt a tabulation and classification. Last year 2,676 women over 16 years of age were swallowed up in the insatiate vortex of that metropolis without immediate trace. More startling and pregnant with thought to all who are concerned with the problem of safeguarding the young is that, during the same year, 1,118 girls between the ages of 10 and 16 were reported to the metropolitan police as missing. The ultimate tracing of these victims of the dangers of a large city to adolescent womanhood resulted in sad revelations to parents and friends. Some of the missing are still missing and will be. The moral is clear. He who runs may read. Watch, guide and help the youths, girls and boys, who have reached or passed the critical time of maturity. "The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 169 miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a bistance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

TENDERS FOR IRON POSTS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Iron Posts," will be received at the Department of the Interior, up to noon of the 25th day of September, 1912, for the furnishing of iron posts for use on the survey of Dominion Lands to be delivered as follows:—

At Winnipeg: twenty thousand small and three hundred large posts.

Forms of tender and detailed information may be obtained from the Surveyor General of Dominion Lands, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, payable to the order of the Deputy Minister of the Interior as follows:—

For the supply of posts at Winnipeg,—two hundred and fifty dollars.

This cheque will be forfeited if the party whose tender is accepted declines to enter into a contract to deliver the posts or fails to carry out the contract. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Newspapers copying this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid.

WORLD'S WHEAT MAY BE RECORD

Crop Estimates Place Canada Sixth—Needs Greater—Promise Good

An estimate of the world's wheat crop of the current season makes the grand total 3,438,800,000 bushels. If realized this will beat all former records, being 15,100,000 bushels greater than the former record crop of 1906. The United States leads the world with 680,000,000 bushels and Canada ranks sixth with 208,000,000 bushels, Russia, India, France and Austria-Hungary standing higher in the order given.

These figures compared with those of 1906, the record crop year up to that date, show that Canada has outstripped four rival wheat-growing countries, and the estimate for Canada ranked tenth in wheat production. Since, she has outstripped Germany, Spain, Italy and finally Argentina and Uruguay together. We are already close on the heels of Austria and France. India's production is half again as great as ours, while both the United States and Russia grow about treble the amount. This is good evidence of the progress this country has made.

On this basis the world will produce this year from seventy to eighty million bushels over last. But requirements will increase in even greater proportion, as the quality of much wheat this year is inferior and stocks have been unusually depleted. The United States promises to have a surplus over home needs of 60,000,000. Estimate for Canada is about 3,000,000 bushels less than that of last year.

England's crop placed at 50,000,000 bushels, is comparatively small, but recent weather has proved fatal to much of the promised crop. The harvest in France promises to be slightly larger than that of last year, while the other countries of Europe, excepting Russia, promise less. Indications are that the crop in Russia will be considerably in excess of a year ago, when it was poor.

With regard to prices, the same report indicates that generally speaking, they will be well maintained, because the margin of supply over requirements will be small, because freight charges are on the increase, because of political complications in Europe, and because increase has been general in the values of most other staple products.

IS WEARING OF HATS PASSING

Dame Fashion Says "Yes," the Raker Says "No"; What Do Wearers Say?

Is the dictator, Fashion, going to urge the "passing of the hat?" Such is the rumor from Paris where they make both hats and fashions.

Entirely unnecessary, we think. The hat has already passed—that is, the straw variety in Peterborough. People in Lindsay, Toronto and other obscure hamlets may yet be seen topped off with a straw chapeau but the goat food lid passed precisely on time in this modernly paved, streets-without-poles-and-wires city. In fact, the hat has passed here so triumphantly that nobody has anything left to fill it excepting possibly some new arrival.

But, seriously speaking, is the hat a necessary nuisance? The manufacturer will say, "yes." But we are not talking to him.

In olden times hats were not worn—they were not even felt,—to say nothing of straw. But civilization sprouted and with it the skypiece. And it grew. It developed all ways for Sunday till the chivalrous knights had adorned their cocoanuts with a helmet as big as a footbath and as heavy as a chariot. They were hard-headed in those days. When Queen Anne went walking she wore a bird's nest as large and commodious as a fall umbrella. There are Queen Annes to-day, too.

Nevertheless, scores of men and women go hatless to-day. Men carry their hats in their hands,—some fear they may grow bald if they wear them. Girls go hatless to show their pretty, fluffy hair—store or otherwise or to gain the seaside tan, or well, just because its fashionable. Whatever the reason, hats are less worn than in former years, it is said.

The human race might well get along without hats, but the same might be said of other things. For instance, the row of buttons on a man's coat sleeve or the longer row the man has to button down the back of Genevieve? Then, too, one might dispense with the collar and tie, yes, the coat, west and trousers, and don a tunic instead. That would be getting right back to nature with the Romans. One might also dispense with sugar in his tea—if he were in jail?

But we're getting away from the oat subject. Let's all go down and view the fall styles.

BRAVED WILDS TO DIE AT HANDBALL

New York, Sept. 3.—Ezra K. Bartlett, millionaire clubman, ex-cowboy, two-gun-man, mine owner and retired broker, who faced death a hundred times in Arizona, is dead in his 48th year, because he played handball at the New York Athletic Club immediately after eating. He wrested a million from the ranges and deserts of Arizona in 20 years and every year of it a fight, and to-day he is dead from the effects of a simple game.

Bartlett, who had joined the N.Y. A.C. last October, ate a hearty meal and went to the handball court. In everything he was vigorous, and in handball he exerted himself straining and leaping. After reaching for a low ball he fell on the floor and lay doubled up. As Dr. Hamilton T. Burch, the club physician reached him Bartlett became unconscious. He died five minutes later.

GOLF TWO MILES UP.

Thibet Has the Highest Course in the World.

The chief claim to fame that Gyantse possesses is the part it played in the Thibetan mission of 1904; in time, perhaps, this fame may be eclipsed by the fact that it boasts the highest golf course in the world. The next highest is the course of Gulmerg, in the Himalayas, which is only 8,800 feet above the sea level, but Gyantse, standing at a height of 13,160 feet, easily bears off the palm for golf at a high altitude. Gyantse does not, to the casual observer, suggest golf, nor does it even appear to be able to furnish room for golf courses; but where Scotchmen congregate, though their total number be only three, a course had to be made, and it has been.

Provided the caddies are willing, golf is possible all the year round, the unsuitable months being January, February and March, these being the months of the famous, or rather infamous, dust storms. The course is one of nine holes, situated on the right bank of the Niang Chu River; the average length of the holes is 250 yards, the longest being over 500 yards and the shortest 120 yards. There is no grass on the course, the whole surface being a hard baked clay, over which, especially in winter, a film of sand is blown; where this sand drifts a "bunker" is formed. The chief hazards are collections of stones, pits, withered trees, wild irises and sand; out of the two last named not even a Braid could play, and it is here that the advantage of the local rules is seen. Some of these may be of interest:

No ball can be lost in Gyantse; if not found within a reasonable time another is put down where the first one is thought to have been lost, without penalty.

The lie of the ball in sand can be improved by scraping round it with hand or club. (Even then the difficulty of the shot has to be experienced to be appreciated.)

Bath Day in Agra Jail.

One of the humorous sights of India, says a contributor to the August Wide World Magazine, is the daily bathing parade in a native prison. In the one we witnessed were youthful habitual criminals, varying in age from 9 to 15 years, taking their daily dip at Agra jail. While the governor watches proceedings from the shade of a tree, the prisoners, each man fettered and carrying a bowl of beaten brass or steel, are led out in double file to a stone pavement, on each side of which runs a shallow trough of water. At the command of a native warder, bowls are filled and waist-cloths are washed. At a second order the prisoners scoop water over themselves and then sink smartly to their haunches, one behind another, in parallel lines. Again comes a snappy order from the warder, and each man begins vigorously to rub the back of the fellow in front of him. When the warder judges the "massage" is complete his voice brings the two lines to a smart right-about-face, still on their haunches, and the vigorous rubbing begins again, each man doing for his fellow what his fellow did for him. The process, while comical, is a genuine illustration of the saying, "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours," except, of course, to the prisoners whose fate brings them to the head or tail of the line, where they receive only half the "treatment" of their fellows.

RISKY POSTAL SERVICE.

In Russia the Government Opens All Suspicious Packages.

Our own service of mails is well organized. There is little doubt in the mind of the average person that when he posts a letter it will reach its destination.

But in other lands he might well fear for its safety. In Russia, for instance, any letter or parcel that is regarded with suspicion is immediately opened and its contents noted. A clever machine gums it up again, so that the recipient does not know that it has been tampered with.

In Lapland the mails are carried in sledges drawn by reindeers. In the wilds of the Caucasus the postman holds a post of danger. He must be protected against brigands and against the weather, for he often has to climb mountains more than 12,000 feet high.

Asiatic Russia, which is apt to be marshy, has the buffalo post, and, of course, the progress made is very slow. Buffaloes are more powerful than oxen, and they are also used in Siberia for carrying the mail.

Other postmen in foreign lands are the swimming postman of India and the skiing letter carrier of the Andes. For the latter place the Argentine government specially imports Norwegians.—Exchange.

Mexico's Smoking Mountain.

In 1807 I climbed two volcanoes in Mexico, Popocatepetl, or "the smoking mountain," about 17,800 feet, and Orizaba, the former the most famous because within view from Mexico City and thus a source of especial pride and admiration to the inhabitants, who have been loath to believe that any other of their mountains could be higher. Popo has a really splendid crater, about half a mile across and 1,000 feet deep. The walls are generally vertical, but in one or two places it is possible to descend. When workers are engaged in collecting sulphur machinery is used to hoist them up and down. From Popo's summit there is a glorious prospect, not alone of the immense crater, but of the beautiful "White Lady" (Istaccihuatl) reclining a thousand feet below, of Orizaba on the far horizon and of the charming valley of Mexico.—Annie S. Peck in Christian Herald.

Wellington's Integrity.

The Duke of Wellington was noted for his rigid integrity. Here is an instance which occurred in reference to his large estate. Some farm adjoining his lands was for sale, and his agent negotiated for him for the purchase. Having concluded the business, he went to the duke and told him he had made a capital bargain. "What do you mean?" asked the duke. "Why, your grace, I have got the farm for so much, and I know it to be worth at least so much more." "Are you quite sure of that?" "Quite sure, your grace, for I have carefully surveyed it." "Very well, then; pay the gentleman from me the balance between what you have already given and the real value of the estate."

Record Apple Shipments.

Complete Canadian statistics of the season's export of apples and their points of destination, together with comparisons for each season running back to 1880-81, have been compiled. A striking feature is the record made by Halifax, N.S. That port, in the season of 1911-12, exported almost as much as did New York, Boston and Portland combined. Never before in its history had it come anywhere near exporting such a quantity of apples, the nearest approach being made in 1909-10, when the Nova Scotia shipments reached 682,513 barrels.

An Imprisoned Tailor Strikes.

The latest Australian strike is one of the Gilbertian order. A prisoner in Fremantle prison, a tailor by trade, refused to work on the ground that it would be contrary to his principles as a trade unionist. He sent a letter to the Tailors' Union officially notifying it of his action, but that body expressed neither sympathy nor disapproval, preferring silence.

Population of England.

The census of England and Wales for 1911, the first volume of a detailed report of which is just completed, shows a total population of 36,070,492, with 1,179,276 more females than males. The density of population is 618 to the square mile. It is, of course, the most dense in London, where the population is [illegible] to the square mile.

Old Glory.

I have seen the glories of art and architecture and of river and mountain. I have seen the sunset on the Jungfrau and the moon rise over Mont Blanc. But the fairest vision on which these eyes ever rested was the flag of my country in a foreign port. Beautiful as a flower to those who love it, terrible as a meteor to those who hate it, it is the symbol of the power and the glory and the honor of fifty millions of Americans.—George F. Hoar.

A Unique Coal Mine.

What is perhaps the most extraordinary coal mine in the world may be found on a tiny island in the Japan Sea, near Nagasaki. This island has just sufficient room upon its surface for the shafts and the hoisting machinery. The workings, which are very extensive, reach out in all directions under the sea.

The Cause of Earthquakes.

When there is an earthquake the Tibetans know just how it happened. There are evil spirits. "Some of them are gigantic brutes a mile in height, with tiny mouths which prevent them swallowing even the smallest crumb of any kind of food. Naturally they suffer from hunger, and in their agonised writhings they are the immediate cause of earthquakes."

MORLEY AND JOURNALISM.

He Has Criticisms to Make Regarding the Modern Press.

What Lord Morley called "a remarkable gathering" met at the Hotel Cecil recently, when Sir Edward Cook was entertained by his fellow-journalists in commemoration of the honor of knighthood which his Majesty has lately been pleased to confer upon him.

Journalists of all schools of thought gathered under the chairmanship of Lord Morley on whose right hand sat the guest of the evening and on whose left was Viscount Milner.

In the course of his speech proposing the health of Sir Edward Cook, Lord Morley said: "I met Ruskin once, and then my idol was Mill. I need hardly say that I never met Ruskin again. (Laughter.) I have often wondered, when looking at what came later, whether we unitarians were not happier, and whether it was not an advantage to know where we really were.

"In these days," said Lord Morley, "the narrator, as apart from the leader-writer or publicist, has grown into enormous prominence. That is a very delicate subject for me to touch upon—but we are now in the Palace of Truth. (Laughter.)

"It is a question whether the news editor is or is not making an advance on the writer of leading articles. And I would suggest that what we call the 'unrest' of the age—whether some of it does not arise from the flaming and garish colors, from the emphasis, from the Brobdignagian type of all kinds in which our news is displayed.

May it not be that the tremendous mechanical improvements in news production are in themselves responsible for some of this? Some of us, however, in these days of gramophones and megaphones, still reserve our admiration for Beethoven and Mozart.

"Fletcher of Saltoun had once talked about making the ballads of the people. I am sometimes tempted to say I don't mind who writes the leading articles if you will give me full control of the black type and the big headlines.

We are all living in times of enormous difficulty. I do not care what party you belong to but everybody knows that in every Chancellery of Europe there are misgivings as to the future. One cause of this difficulty—I may say the main cause—arises from the press.

"The prime duty of the press all over Europe is to abate, assuage, and minimise, and, so far as we can, remove international susceptibilities, instead of warming these hateful things into a hateful life.

A Quaint Epitaph.

To the Memory of Thomas Tipper who Departed this life May ye 14
1785 Aged 54 years.

Reader with kind regards this grave survey
Nor heedless pass where Tippers ashes lay
Honest he was ingenuous blunt and kind
And dared do what few dare do speak his mind
Philosophy & history well he knew
Was versed in physick & in surgery too
The best old Stingo he both brewed and sold
Nor did one knavish act to get his gold
He played through life a varied comic part
And knew immortal Hudibras by heart
Reader in real truth such was the man
Be better wiser laugh more if you can.

Nestor of the Commons.

The home rule debates have brought to the front a remarkable personality in Mr. Samuel Young, the member for East Cavan. Not that the Nestor of Parliament needs any introduction to the House of Commons, but he so seldom obtrudes on public notice that he is apt to be eclipsed by more loquacious members.

Mr. Young was born near Belfast in 1822, and he has enjoyed the unusual distinction of having lived through the reigns of five monarchs. He did not embark on a Parliamentary career until he had attained his three-score years and ten, and he was successful at his first election, defeating the Unionist candidate by no less a majority than 3,609.

Though he has attained the ripe old age of ninety, Mr. Young has the buoyancy of youth. He is neither a teetotaler nor a non-smoker, and he laughs at the maxims which are supposed to conduce to old age.

Pinero's Art.

Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, whose clever comedy "The 'Mind the Paint' Girl" is still drawing large London audiences, is recognized both in this country and on the continent as one of our greatest playwrights. In his early days he was an actor—a fact that explains his wonderful mastery of stage-craft.

Sir Arthur Pinero has made a fortune by his pen, and his plays have been produced in all parts of the globe. Such masterpieces as "Sweet Lavender," "The Gay Lord Quex," "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," and "His House in Order," are familiar to millions of playgoers, and as Sir Arthur Pinero is still in the fifties, other masterpieces may be expected from his pen.

SWIFT AND THE BROOMSTICK.

Joke Played by Famous Wit and Satirist Upon Lady Berkeley.

The well-known humorist, Jonathan Swift (1745), was dean of St. Patrick's Church in Dublin. As such, he often visited the wife of his church-patron, Lady Berkeley. This lady always requested Swift, before he went away, to read to her a chapter from her favorite book of devotion, Meditations, by Boyle. This was a task entirely incompatible with Swift's indestructible humor. He was determined to take revenge on Boyle, whom he disliked very much on account of the tiresome 15 minutes it took to read the chapter from his book. This he did by writing a parody on Boyle's treatment of a popular subject. The title of this parody was Devotional Meditations on a Broomstick, and he had it printed on exactly the same kind of paper, with the same type, and the same size as Boyle's book. These he pasted, when his patroness had left the room, very skillfully between the pages of the book.

When the time for his departure came, the lady, as usual, requested Swift to read to her a chapter from Boyle. Swift opened the book at the correct page, and read with the greatest seriousness and a solemn face, the title, Devotional Meditations on a Broomstick.

The lady interrupted him. "Please, Mr. Swift," she said, "no bad jokes with me."

"Jokes? I assure you, my lady, I am not joking. I read as it is printed here. You can see for yourself." He handed her the book and she read, Devotional Meditations on a Broomstick.

"Sure enough," said the lady, "there it is. But I can't understand it. I have never seen that chapter. A remarkable subject. I must say. But read it to me. Boyle is so full of deep thoughts, that I think he can make that subject very devotional, even if the title sounds so strange."

And Swift read with great seriousness his original comparison of man with a broomstick. With great eloquence the words came from his lips: "And this broomstick, that stands so despised in the corner, was once a beautiful green blooming decoration of the forest. Do you recognize the conformity with your own fate?"

"Oh, my great incomparable Boyle!" cried the listener. "How admirably he carries out his point! How he makes, from an insignificant object like a broomstick, such sublime truths! But by this I know my Boyle, whatever he touches he transforms into gold. Oh, he is a great man!"

Swift, with the most serious face possible, acknowledged his approval and went home.

On the following evening, Lord and Lady Berkeley had company. As soon as the guests were all assembled, Lady Berkeley related her experience with the wonderful treatise of Boyle's Meditations on a Broomstick. Some of the guests could not suppress skeptical laughter.

"How can you laugh about such a sublime subject," said Lady Berkeley somewhat offended. "I am surprised that you don't know more about your Boyle. His Meditations on a Broomstick are absolutely worthy of such a great moralist as Boyle." She went out and brought the book.

"Are you now convinced, ladies and gentlemen?" she said triumphantly, opening the book at the Meditations on a Broomstick. "I see you are still surprised and can't comprehend it. But I will admit I was at first equally as skeptical. I too had never seen this wonderful chapter, until our dear Swift read it to me."

"What, Swift had discovered it?" cried the guests, laughing heartily. "That explains everything. He has played one of his roguish tricks on you, Lady Berkeley."

"We only need to compare this book with another one of the same kind," said one of the guests, a neighbor. "I will go and bring mine."

Soon he returned with the book, and when it was examined, the Devotional Meditations on a Broomstick could not be found. The company went wild with laughter. Lady Berkeley was the only one that did not join in the laughter. She never forgave Swift the joke he played on her. She did not say this to him, but she never again requested him to read her a chapter from Boyle. And that was just the thing Swift wanted.

Ready To Take Up the Role.

Mr. F. R. Benson, the well-known English Shakespearean actor, has always been passionately addicted to outdoor sports. In his 'Varsity days he achieved fame as a runner, and when touring with his companies he makes a practice of organizing athletic contests.

The actor's fondness for athletics once led to a humorous misunderstanding. Mr. Benson desired to ascertain if a certain young actor could take up a part in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" at Rugby, so he wired, "Can you play Rugby? If so come at once." Back came the reply: "Arrive at 4 p.m. Played half-back for Stratford."

Simplified Spelling In Australia.

Simplified spelling is progressing in Australia. The education department of Victoria has issued a circular to its teachers embodying a list of words that must be taught in future on "nu spelin" principles. The "u" is to be dropped out of all such words as "honour" and "favour." Plough is to become "plow" and centre is to be changed into "center."

A LITTLE GUNNER.

Brown Spider Causes Consternation In a Cape Town Castle.

The smallest creature ever known to become a gunner in the world came into prominence in Cape Town, South Africa, not so long ago. At the castle situated in that place there is a large gun worked by electricity and used for giving the midday and evening time.

All the military and civilians in Cape Town were astonished to hear the gun go off one fine morning at 10.30, an hour and a half before the proper time, 12 being the usual hour for firing.

Messengers came from the general commanding officers of each regiment and battery stationed in Cape Town, and from everybody interested, but the answer was that no person had been near the gun, nor had anybody interfered with the wires, battery or source from which it was fired.

All the officials were fearfully puzzled at the extraordinary occurrence, but could give no explanation whatever. The general in command of the station became furious and said that there was mismanagement somewhere and gave orders for a strict search to be made by the officials for the guilty party.

Search was made, but nothing resulted to throw any light on the extraordinary affair, although the greatest possible pains were taken to solve the mystery.

They had practically given the search up, when suddenly the news came from the officials stating that the culprit had been caught and arrested. It seems the electric current for firing off the gun is supplied by the Royal Observatory of Cape Town, and goes there by means of an instrument known as a relay that is in the central telegraph office of the station, the distance being about 500 yards.

The action of the current going through the instrument's main moves a sort of light tongue, which is very finely set—so fine that the least little thing would affect it. This forces the current directly into what they term the time fuses, which have the power of firing the gun at the castle.

On examining the instrument one of the officials found a big brown spider inside. It appears that while having an exploring trip around the instrument the unfortunate spider must have touched this tongue sufficiently to move it, and consequently it fired off the gun. The general commanding the station sent the spider to the Cape Town Museum, where he is now to be seen with a card underneath him entitling him the "Little Gunner," and giving a full account of his adventure with the Cape Town midday time gun, which proved his last adventure, however.

Women Guests at the Commons.

The invasion of the House of Commons by women, writes "T.P." in T.P.s Weekly, has gone on increasing with almost every year. I remember the smile of incredulity with which I heard from the daughter of a member, in the year 1880, that there was a room in which you could venture to ask a lady to take a sandwich and a cup of tea.

When she insisted, I went in search of this room, of the existence of which I had up to that conversation been ignorant, and, sure enough, there was such a room, but what a room! It was one of those dark, almost subterranean, chambers of which the House was then full; the furniture was scanty and squalid; and it reveals the attitude of the House at that time to the cause of women that this room was given up to them and, at the same time, to the messengers and attendants of the House. The ladies, like the musicians of an older epoch, were put into the servants hall.

An Invisible Airship Invented.

Baron Adam Roenne, a well-known airship and naval engineer, has taken out a patent in England for an invisible airship. Invisibility is to be achieved by making the outer case or envelope of chromium, a metal capable of receiving a high polish, which will be permanently maintained by means of a covering of transparent varnish. The outer cover will thus, to all intents, be converted into a mirror, and the theory is that invisibility will be achieved by reflection.

The baron claims that there will be no recurring shade shown at the bottom of the keel, as it is proposed that the latter shall taper to a point. The airship will then always take the color of the surrounding elements, and though larger than the biggest liner, will be invisible at any height above twenty-five hundred feet. Special silencing devices are proposed for the engines.

Breaking the Bank at Monte Carlo.

A distinguished steward of the Jockey Club is Lord Villiers, the son and heir of Earl Jersey. The family has long been connected in a prominent manner with the turf, for the Jersey colors were registered so long ago as 1807.

Lord Villiers first registered his own colors in 1904, since which date he has gained many popular successes. He has also been responsible for a sensation at Monte Carlo, for playing on a system he converted a capital of $12,500 into $175,000.

This popular racing man, who is not yet forty, can boast of royal blood, for an ancestress of his was a sister of Henry VIII., and Queen-Dowager of France. Lord Villiers is an excellent polo player, and is often found in the hunting field.

Sergeant-Major Under General French

Veteran of Boer War Who Lost His Health on the Veldt Tells Experience.

Good Advice for All Who Have Indigestion or Stomach Disorders.

In his home at Waldegrove, N. S., no one is better known than Sergt.-Major Cross, late of the 4th Queen's Own Hussars. Speaking of the ill-effects of a campaign upon a man's constitution, the Sergt.-Major writes: "I served under General French during the late Boer war, in the capacity of Sergt.-Major. It was perhaps owing to a continued diet of bully beef, hard tack, and bad water, but at any rate my stomach entirely gave out. I was in such a state that I could eat nothing without the greatest suffering. The army doctors did not help me much, and since leaving the service I have been very miserable. Some few months ago a friend told me he had been a great sufferer from indigestion until he tried Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they cured him. I confess it was without much faith I bought a box, but the first dose made me feel better than I had been for a long time. Dr. Hamilton's Pills completely cured, and now, I can eat everything and anything. I have recommended them to others and in every case the result has been similar to mine."

Quick, sure results attend the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They cure disorders of the stomach, correct indigestion, make you feel uplifted and strengthened. To renew or maintain health, Dr. Hamilton's Pills always prove a good prescription. 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Mr. J. Comstock, president of the club, made the presentation on behalf of the members.

Money and Beef Stolden.

A roll of bills containing $27 mysteriously disappeared from the home of Robt. Murduff, 267 Townsend St., Saturday last. A roast of beef also was found missing by a resident in the same vicinity Saturday. No clue to the money or meat has, as yet, developed.

Ray Moffatt Loses Foot.

While walking on the G.T.R. tracks near the Quaker Oats power house yesterday morning, Ray Moffatt, 176 Smith street, caught foot between a rail and a crossing plank. An engine was approaching at the time and before he could withdraw the member the wheels were upon it and severed the foot at the ankle. He was removed to the Nicholls hospital.

Fog Delays Excursion.

The steamer Stoney Lake bearing the Orangemen's excursion party from Young's Point and Lakefield via Burleigh Falls and to Chemong, Labor Day, encountered a dense fog on the return trip, delaying the boat more than an hour. Capt. Scollard felt his way cautiously, however, and no alarm was felt among the passengers. The boat was due at Lakefield at 9.15 p.m., and reached port at 10.40 o'clock.

BLIND PIGS RAIDED.

Cobalt, Ont., Sept. 3.—The biggest blind pig raid in the history of this district took place Monday when the Provincial police gathered in fourteen defendants on charges of selling in this no license district. Many of them are second offenders, which will mean certain imprisonment. Friday night one man paid five hundred dollars fine, the largest ever collected in this district.

Three Bag 35 Ducks.

Thirty-five ducks were bagged on the opening day of the season by Messrs. Ernie Rahmel, Samuel Wainwright and Albert Mitchell who chose Pigeon Creek as their hunting ground. Ernie Rahmel, who was considered a novice at the game by some of his friends, surprised the talent by bringing down the greater number of birds. Ducks are not very plentiful as yet, the sportsmen say. They are not flying in flocks but in scattered numbers. The party also caught six 'lunge.

The Canadian National Exhibition.

Persons intending visiting the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, can procure from any agent of the C. P.R., copy of the official programme booklet, which contains train service, hotel information, and principal attraction at the Exhibition.

The management of the Exhibition has put forth every effort to make this year the grandest in the history of the Fair, and the attractions are of the very highest standard. The public should take advantage of the low rates offered by the Canadian Pacific to see the "Imperial Year" of the splendid exhibition.

For Rural Mail Route.

Complaints have reached The Times regarding the plans of the contemplated Otonabee rural mail route, No. 7. The route talked of is via Graham's Hill, omitting the Sixth line. In winter there is no road over Graham's Hill, so that trouble seems inevitable if that route is chosen. If present plans are adopted a number of residents expecting to be served will be ignored. The more practical plans proposed is to have the route lie from Peterborough down Norwood road to Hope's Corner, hence across and up the Seventh line, one concession, double a mile on the Seventh, then round the Eighth, and up the Block road, to Peterborough. This would alter present plans only by doubling the Seventh. It would only be a mile further; would be over a good road and serve six additional homes.

BULL MOOSE GAIN IN VERMONT SPELLS VICTORY FOR WILSON

New York Newspapers Regard It As Showing Only That Roosevelt's Candidacy Will Help Democrat To White House

New York, Sept. 4.—The Tribune (Rep.) says: "The results of the election in Vermont must be distinctly disappointing to third term partisans. They have certainly thrown the election of the Governor into the Legislature, where the Republican candidate will doubtless be chosen. But they have not cast a vote, as they predicted, by several thousand. It is clear from the returns that Roosevelt has organized a movement encouraging to the Democrats, but one quite incapable of placing him in the White House. If in other states the Democrats can hold their vote together as well as they have done in Vermont, and if the Progressives can divide the opposition in the same proportion, they will probably give the victory to Wilson."

Will Be a Poor Third.

The Herald (Ind. and anti-Roosevelt) says: "Bull Moose leaders held out Vermont as the true 'barometer state' this year, rather than Maine. They cited the fact that Maine Republicans were united on state issues while a very considerable schism existed in Vermont. The barometer has registered, but gives cold comfort to a third term aspirant and his following. Taking Vermont as a fair criterion, it may safely be predicted that the Bull Moose will be a poor third in the race throughout the country, and that his vote will come wholly from the ranks of disgruntled Republicans except for a small sprinkling of Socialists."

Makes Dems. Rejoice.

The Times (Ind. Dem.) says: "Taft Republicans and Roosevelt Progressives may share between them the disappointments of the voting in Vermont yesterday, and for them they are bitter enough. For the Democrats the figures justify not merely the hope but the firm belief and full confidence that Wilson will be elected President in November. In general, the result has been precisely what has been foreseen from the moment of Roosevelt's bolt at Chicago."

The World (Dem.) says: If the Vermont verdict means anything, it means a landslide in November. Democrats have more than held their own, and when they can do this in Vermont they can do it in every State in the Union. As for Roosevelt's Progressive party, on the basis of its Vermont showing, it will not poll enough votes to make it a formidable factor in the election, but it will poll enough votes to overwhelm the regular Republican party in disaster.

The Word of Fate.

The American (Dem.) says: For the first time since the birth of the Republican party in 1856, the voters of Vermonti in a presidential year, refused to give that party a majority. Vermont has uttered the word of fate. The Republican party is to be organized after 1912 on progressive lines—or buried.

HOPE TO SEE CANADIAN UNIT ADDED TO THE PACIFIC FLEET

London, Sept. 4.—The Times recently published a leading article anticipating the possible eventual use of the Australian squadron to enforce an independent Commonwealth policy in the Pacific. This, telegraphed the Sydney correspondent of The Times would mean the abandonment of the naval policy of 1909.

"Such a course," he says, "is not expected here. On the contrary, in view of Canada's interest in the Pacific, it is hoped that a Canadian unit will be added to the fleet in the near future. Secondly, in the Australian view, the squadron is defensive only and not aggressive, except when co-operating as part of a fleet under Imperial command. Thirdly, the external policy of Australia with regard to the Pacific is equally unaggressive.

"The Federal Cabinet is most anxious to deal with all matters of external policy in consultation with the Imperial Government. Regarding the Panama rates as a grievance it has twice communicated with the Imperial Government seeking information and asking to be associated in any protest, but this still remains unanswered."

MR. BURNHAM IN THE WEST

Is Interviewed By An Edmonton Paper

The Edmonton Journal of 25th ult. publishes the following:

"Hampden Burnham, member of Parliament for West Peterborough, was recently in this city. What distinguishes him from other brilliant eastern parliamentarians is that he is a suffragist.

Of course, he is other things too. He is a lawyer and he is an author—incidentally, I might say—for so little of his time is spent in that way, though he has written a number of excellent books, among which is "Jack Ralston," a story of the Northwest and "Marcelle," the latter being one of the best Canadian historical novels ever written. Mr. Burnham's style is, in the very finest sense, literary, and not only in "Marcelle," has he written a charming romance, but he has observed historical accuracy in every detail. Mr. Burnham's hobby is golf.

"Of course, I am a suffragist," said Mr. Burnham, in a tone that suggested surprise at any other idea entering my head regarding him; and then he proceeded to tell me of a convention of women, at which he presided in Ottawa not long ago, where a number of the speakers astonished him—he admitted—with ability.

Mrs. Leathes—a Toronto woman—he particularly praised. She spoke in a broad way, said Mr. Burnham, advocating woman's cause in the abstract and proving, in the only way that any case can be proven, that according to general principles, woman is entitled to equal standing with men in any community.

"Sir Richard McBride said the other day," continued Mr. Burnham, keen on the subject, "that women of British Columbia had not yet been disturbed over the suffrage question; but he paid them the compliment (or rather, did them the justice) of saying that in hospitals, charities and all works leading to the comfort and solace of mankind, woman was pre-eminent."

"Had Sir Richard been a little more advanced in his views," added Mr. Burnham, on his own account, "and stated further that where women have proved themselves so capable, wherever their capabilities have been put to the test, they should not be denied a voice in the management, he would have given his remarks the proper logical conclusion; for it is impossible to contend that where man is inferior, they should have the management of women who are admittedly superior.

"Therefore, since this branch of human affairs is at least half that of the state," argued Mr. Burnham, "it follows that we ought to be sensible, and reason that women should be given the power of saying at the polls how they think these matters should be carried out. At the present time they are hampered in their work largely by bad management, and yet are robbed of their privileges

"This, of course, cannot last. The public mind will shake off its absurd prejudices and give women the right (in some respects at any rate) of saying how affairs should be managed where she alone is really competent to judge.

"Women are not anxious to enter the army, nor are men keen to enter the nursing profession; and it as idiotic to contend that women are not entitled to vote because they can't become soldiers as it is that men should not vote because they cannot be nurses."

ATE TOADSTOOLS AND TWO ARE DEAD.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 4.—Two women are dead and one man and two children are seriously ill as a result of a dinner on toadstools. The dead are Mrs. Nora Phelps and Mrs. Joseph Sabo, all of Montrose, near this city. Mr. Sabo is in the General Hospital, hovering between life and death, and his two children have [illegible] even chance of recovering.

FRENCH SOLDIERS ARRAYED IN GAUDY NEW UNIFORMS

NEW UNIFORMS OF THE FRENCH ARMY

In the illustration is shown the latest type of the French soldier. On the left is a soldier wearing the new reseda green tunic, red trousers, puttees and burnished steel helmet. On the right is a soldier wearing the new reseda (or mignonette) green tunic and reseda cloth helmet.

AGAINST BILINGUALISM

Bullying tactics adopted by the French Educational association toward the policy of Sir James Whitney may explode as a boomerang. This association assumes the representation of all Roman Catholics in regard to school politics. As a matter of fact it does not represent the ideas nor sentiments of ALL Catholics by far. In his policy to curtail the use of French in schools and to give every child a thorough English education in Ontario, Premier Whitney carries with him a vast majority of the electors, including a multitude of Roman Catholics. If there is one thing more definite in his policy than another it is that that policy is calculated to benefit the French children themselves.

Sir James Whitney agrees with the Roman Catholic Bishop of London that the bilingual system is detrimental to education and a menace to the welfare of the province.

The threats of political defeat and resistance to the announced purposes of the ministry will only serve to strengthen the determination of the Premier to carry out the policy he has decided as necessary to the welfare of the people. This means the maintenance of an efficient public school system.

The journal, La Justice, of Ottawa, says "Resist the new regulations." It urges priests to form committees to stimulate timid trustees—in other words to browbeat those who decline to defy the government. The editor of that journal urges the French to risk the loss of school grants for violating school regulations. He is in an up-hill fight with no reward even though he should succeed in influencing all Catholics to oppose the Whitney policy regarding schools. But the majority of French Catholics think for themselves these days.

300 IN BATTLE AT VANCOUVER

Chinese Factions Clash Following Rumors From Orient

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 4.—Agitated by rumors of a battle in China, representatives of the two Chinese factions in Vancouver rioted in Market Lane last night. Throughout the day the Orientals had hovered about the bulletin boards and their excitement increased toward evening, until finally about three hundred of them gave combat, using clubs and stones with disastrous effect.

Numerous heads were broken and windows in Chinatown were smashed indiscriminately. Although many of the combatants were carried away disabled by members of their respective Tongs, it is believed none was killed.

THE WEATHER.

Moderate to fresh easterly to southerly winds, showers or thunderstorms in some localities, but partly fair and warm.

PETERBOROUGH BALL PLAYERS DISBAND

OTTAWAS MADE MONEY

Capital City Baseball Club Handled Over $15,000 First Years of Its Existence.

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—The Ottawa Baseball Club has disbanded after a successful season. Financially the Ottawa team has been a success. Over $15,000 passed through the books of the club, but the locals had the highest salary list in the Canadian league. The receipts here were away above expectations, but on the road the team did not quite pay expenses. The railway companies carried off about $3,000 and doctor's bills formed an item of $400. The Exhibition Association pulled down $1,200 for the use of the grounds at Lansdowne Park and the Ottawas turned about $1,800 into the coffers of the Canadian League.

C.G.E. TROPHIES ARE ON DISPLAY

Silver Cups Won By Peterboro Football Champions At Yeotes

The display of trophies won by the Canadian General Electric Soccer team of this city, in the window of Yeotes Cigar Store, reflects a vast amount of credit on "Billey" Patterson's boys; for to win six championships within three years of the club's existence is certainly something to be mighty proud of. The cups on exhibition are all fine specimens of silverware and combined with the photograph of the team, cannot but appeal to the passer-by as something to be much appreciated.

The J. R. Stratton cup, of the Midland Ontario championship, was won outright by the club this season and stands out conspicuously by its beauty and elegance. The Warkworth cup was won on three consecutive seasons in 1910. The Hall cup, of the championship of Peterborough County has been won two years in succession. The game to be played on the 14th inst., during Peterborough's Exhibition, will decide whether the C.G.E. will win this handsome trophy outright. Doubtless, if the team continues as it has done in the past, little trouble will be experienced on gathering in this coveted soccer prize again for "keeps.".

The cup won by the club on Labor Day which was presented by Mr. E. A. Peck, M.P.P., will be on exhibition in Mr. Yeotes' window within a few days.

Mr. Patterson, manager of the team, speaking to The Times last night, remarked on the absence of sympathy which has somewhat retarded the efforts of the team because of the handicap experienced in securing practise grounds; also the enthusiasm of the players was not particularly augmented by the spirit of "cheerful giving," on the part of patrons of the game.

Peterborough has a real, live, winning football team, and it merits financial encouragement to help maintain it at the high standard obtained.

DUKE OPENS NEW PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS WITH A GOLDEN KEY

Governor-General At Edmonton is Assured of Loyalty—Civic Address Makes Reference to Reciprocity

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 4.—(On board the C.P.R. Royal Special)—Shortly after noon rain began to fall heavily and it continued steadily throughout the afternoon, sadly detracting from the picturesqueness of the ceremonial connected with the opening by the Duke of Connaught of the new Provincial Legislature Buildings, which occupy a commanding position overlooking the Saskatchewan river.

After the delivery of the address of welcome by the Premier, the Governor-General opened the door of the building with a golden key and the Royal party proceeded on a tour of the buildings.

Premier Sifton, in his address of welcome to the Duke on behalf of the Provincial Government, said:

"I can assure your Royal Highness that nowhere in the Dominion of Canada, nowhere in the British realm, is to be found a people more sincerely loyal to his Majesty the King than those who are now converting the lands of this Province from an expanse of prairie, forest, and mountain, into one of the richest storehouses of the Empire. From every part of the world for years, intense with energy, the people have poured themselves into this land, but short indeed is the time before these erstwhile aliens rival us in reverence and love for the flag which is the symbol of our common citizenship."

Refers to Reciprocity.

The civic address presented by Mayor Armstrong in the morning, contained a significant allusion to reciprocity. The address contained the following passage:

"For many years Canadians have demonstrated to the world their attachment and loyalty to the Mother Land by giving a decided preference and a decided ease of entrance to British wares and British manufactures, and we in Western Canada at all events are willing, nay, anxious to further emphasize our practical loyalty of advocating a further increase of that preference. We believe that such increase would be mutually beneficial to Canada, the British Isles, cognizant, however, of the fact that this young nation, mainly agricultural, is but on the very threshold of its tremendous possibilities as to production, it is incumbent upon us, if we are true to our best interests, to use all lawful endeavors to enlarge our commercial bounds in order that a ready market may be obtained for our ever-increasing products of the soil, to the end that our people may know that they are subject to only fair, commercial and economic laws and in order that the very best results may be obtained, for thus, and thus only, shall content and loyalty rest upon permanent and abiding basis."

Ignored Politics.

In his reply the Duke made no reference to this passage, doubtless on the ground that it savored too much of politics.

BRITAIN TO BUILD MOST POWERFUL OF WARSHIPS

Portsmouth, Eng., Sept. 4.—The most powerful battleships yet ordered to be laid down here in November by the British Admiralty.

She is to be 700 feet in length and is to displace 30,000 tons, while her high-powered turbine engines are to develop a speed of 29 knots.

It is reported that the new vessel is to be armed with 14-in. guns, the first tried in the British navy.

WILL OFFICER GIVE FACTS TO WHITMAN?

Said That Police Inspector Hayes May Decide to Tell What He Knows.

New York, Sept. 4.—Before leaving for Albany yesterday to confer with Governor Dix relative to summoning another panel from which to select an extraordinary Grand Jury, District Attorney Whitman declined to say anything about his conference of Tuesday night with Cornelius G. Hayes, the demoted police inspector.

"I can say nothing just now," said the District Attorney. "I am bound by an agreement to say nothing."

Hayes was likewise silent. It had been rumored for some time that he would come over to the District Attorney. His break with Commissioner Waldo, who accuses him of making a false statement in saying that Waldo had instructed him not to molest disorderly houses unless the raids were sanctioned by Waldo, brought about the inspector's demotion to the grade of captain, his removal from the Tenderloin to State Island, and the preferring of charges on which he is to be tried. In this situation it is said that Hayes decided to go to Mr. Whitman and tell all that he knows of the so-called system. As an inspector in the police department he was familiar with its workings, and, if he so desired, it is said that he could give the District Attorney valuable information to be used in the graft investigation.

SECOND CLAIM AGAINST CITY

Damages Asked Is For Similar Case Sometime Ago In Peterboro

A claim for $7 damages against the city to compensate for injuries to his horse and rig, is understood to have been filed by Dr. King. The claim arises from a mishap which resulted when his horse became frightened at city street machines on Charlotte street.

This is something of a similar case to that in which Mr. G. W. Halton experienced and for which he was awarded damages.

After the accident to Mr. Halton, the Council in clear language, made it plain that when operations were in progress in any street, that the thoroughfare should be closed to traffic.

Now the Council will endeavor to find out who was negligent, and the matter goes before the Board of Works.

1,000 HOMELESS AT LOS ANGELES

Fire Destroys 150 Buildings At Ocean Park—Loss $2,500,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 4.—Fully one thousand persons are hunting homes as the result of the fire which destroyed 150 buildings in Ocean Park Tuesday night, causing a loss estimated at $2,500,000 with insurance of only ten per cent. So far as is known, only one man lost his life.

The burned area extends from Raymond avenue on the north of Ozone avenue on the south, a distance of seven blocks, and from Ocean west to midway between the Speedway and Trolley-way on the east, everything was wiped out.

THIRTEEN YEARS

Unlucky Number for Dakota Woman.

The question whether the number "13" is really more unlucky than any other number has never been entirely settled.

A So. Dak. woman, after thirteen years of misery from drinking coffee, found a way to break the "unlucky spell." Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the drug in coffee. She writes.

"For thirteen years I have been a nervous wreck from drinking coffee. My system being actually poisoned by it.

"Last year I was confined to my bed for six months. Finally it dawned on me that coffee caused the trouble. Then I began using Postum instead of coffee, but with little faith as my mind was in such a condition that I hardly knew what to do next.

"Extreme nervousness and failing eyesight caused me to lose all courage. In about two weeks after I quit coffee and began to use Postum. I was able to read and my head felt clear. I am improving all the time and I will be a strong, well woman yet.

"I have fooled more than one person with a delicious cup of Postum. Mrs. S. wanted to know where I brought my fine coffee. I told her my grocer had it and when she found out it was Postum she has used it ever since, and her nerves are building up fine.

"My brain is strong, my nerves steady, my appetite good, and best of all, I enjoy such sound, pleasant sleep." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Get the little book in pkg., "The Road to Wellville." "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address All. PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood—arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street. in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

*Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?

Beating of Dead Hearts

Hearts of cold-blooded animals will beat for a comparatively long time after death or removal from the body (if kept cold and moist) because of powerful internal collections of nerves known as ganglia, whose automatic impulses cause the regular contractions of the muscles. Similar ganglia exist in man and other warm-blooded animals, but their action is less prolonged. Scientists have ascertained that a turtle's heart will beat after removal if put on a piece of glass, kept cool and moist and covered with a bell jar. I believe it has been known to beat thirty-six or even forty-eight hours. Twelve or fourteen hours is a common record.

Boulevard and Esplanade.

Both "esplanade" and "boulevard" are military terms by origin. The original "boulevard" was a bulwark or horizontal part of the rampart, and an "esplanade" was originally the glacis or slope of the counterscarp of a fortified place. A writer 200 years ago noted that the word boulevard was "now chiefly taken for the void space between the glacis of a citadel and the first houses of a town"; hence its extension to other "void spaces" suitable for promenading. The old French "esplanade" was defined by Cotgrave as "a planing, leveling, evening of ways," from Latin "explanare," to smooth or flatten out, whence the English words "explain" and "explanation."

GERMANY AND ALSACE.

A Very Suspicious Doll and a Ruse That Saved a Life.

For many years after it was taken over by the Germans the province of Alsace had many difficulties. Every possible precaution was taken to guard against any demonstration of the French national spirit, and, though the children were allowed to learn the language of their ancestors, they were not allowed to be taught it by French instructors. The following instances indicate the extent to which the Government carried its practice of watching the people:

A little girl was seen playing with a doll which was dressed in red, white and blue. The suspicions of the official were aroused, for it certainly was dreadful to see the power of the German empire so boldly threatened. The child was tracked to its home, and there the officer learned that the doll was a present. He immediately proceeded to the woman who had given it to the child and obtained the address of the shop where the dangerous plaything had been bought. It was a modest little establishment, but the officer found it at last and then discovered that the doll had been made and dressed in Leipzig. This was a surprise, but the matter did not end here, for the manufacturer in Leipzig was officially requested not to send any more red, white and blue dolls to Alsace.

The other story is that two Germans were walking one cold day on the banks of a large pond when one of them fell in. He could not swim and screamed for aid. The other, who was an officer, did not feel inclined to take so cold a plunge and calmly watched the struggles of the sinking man. All at once the man in the water began to sing a verse of the "Marseillaise," and the officer jumped in forthwith, for his strict orders were to arrest any person whom he heard singing that famous song. The unfortunate citizen was imprisoned for eight months, but that was better than drowning.

A Modest Judge.

Alvo Yusuph, chief judge of Bagdad, was remarkable for the modesty which accompanies wisdom. Once, after a long investigation of the facts of a case, he publicly confessed that his knowledge was not sufficient to enable him to decide it. "Pray," said a pert courtier, "do you expect the caliph to pay you for your ignorance?" "I do not," meekly answered the judge. "The caliph pays me well for what I know. If he were to attempt to pay me for what I do not know the treasures of his empire would not suffice."

A CHANCERY ROMANCE.

Helping a Friend, He Unearthed a Fortune For Himself.

Perhaps there is no more curious chapter in the history of the chancery courts than that of two Pittsburgh men. The first had a claim to a small estate abroad, but he did not have the money to pay the claim agency to make a search, so he got a friend to back him.

This friend's name was Peterman, and the money he advanced was like a grub stake—he was gambling on his friend's claim proving up.

One day when Peterman was at the claim agency office he came upon this advertisement in the agency files: "Peterman (Albertus), musician, born in Amsterdam in 1820, son of Charles Frederick and Henrietta Susanna Gesman. Left for Liverpool in 1854. He is sought for inheritance by M. Comtet, avocat, 21 Boulevard St. Germain, Paris."

That was the inception of the famous "Kinsey docks" case, the name coming from the fact that the original Peterman was last seen at Kinsey docks, in Liverpool. The claim agency took the matter in hand, traced Peterman's lineage back and enabled him to establish a good claim to an inheritance of $200,000.

That was a case of fortune being thrust upon a man. — Lewis Edwin Theiss in Harper's Weekly.

JOBS FOR THE INDIGENT.

Swiss Method of Solving the Problem of the Unemployed.

In Switzerland the people act upon the theory that a man who is unemployed is, if left to himself, liable to become a waste by being a subject of charity and a tax upon the community. Therefore the problem is considered as an economic question.

The purpose is to assist the unfortunate unemployed to secure work, not only for the sake of his family, but in the interests of the state. There is no toleration for the loafer. Begging is prohibited by the law, and vagrancy is classified as a crime.

If an unemployed person does not make a serious effort to find work the authorities will find it for him, and he is compelled to perform it. If he refuses he is placed in the workhouse, where strict discipline is maintained and every inmate is required to work to his full capacity, receiving therefor his board and lodging and from 5 to 10 cents a day in wages.

There are also institutions where temporary employment is furnished to persons out of work, through no fault of their own, and comfortable accommodations and some money compensation given until they can find more remunerative wages.—Chicago Tribune.

Incongruous.

A clerical correspondent of one of the London church papers relates that a certain prelate had great difficulty in suppressing his laughter at the consecration of a church the other day owing to the device on one of the school banners which were carried in the procession before the service. This banner was adorned with a very fierce looking lion, with terrible claws and teeth, while underneath him was the legend, "Suffer little children to come unto me."

The First Knitting Machine.

Historic mention of hand knitting is first found in the books of the time of Queen Elizabeth, though it is known that it was one of the arts of the Pompeians. The first machine for knitting was the invention of William Lee, who made application for a patent in England in 1589. On being refused a patent by the English authorities he departed for France and soon afterward set up a large factory at Rouen.

Piano Keys.

A soft rag moistened with lemon juice and then dipped in silver whiting will be found excellent for cleaning piano keys.

Yew Trees.

The yew tree, almost destitute of branches or bark, grows in the Caucasus to a height of from fifty to sixty feet and a diameter of a little over two feet. It is considered superior to mahogany and is almost indestructible except by fire.

Fighting Seasickness.

There is one place in a ship where the voyager may be at rest. This writer discovered it during a mid-Atlantic storm when he went down to the bathroom, tumbled into a warm sea bath and floated. The vessel was performing the most amazing antics, but the water in the bath kept its usual gravity, and the bather floated with a smile upon its bosom.—London Tatler.

Such Is Life.

"It's a hard struggle to conduct one's business without plenty of capital," observed the man with the fast growing chin.

"You're right," agreed the man with the mange nose. "If a fellow hasn't got plenty of backing he has to do a lot of sidestepping."

Sir James' Humor.

A well-known newspaper man who writes the political leaders for a Bay street daily in Toronto tells the following story on himself:

The editorial writer has a familiar surname of the same class as Brown, but he has enough given names to fill a small clothes line. During the last provincial elections he had occasion to call up Sir James Whitney over the 'phone. Sir James is celebrated for his blunt, brusque manner of speech, and in the conversation which follows he was true to his reputation.

"This is Brown speaking," the editorial writer began—"Brown, Sir James, Mr H. D. Y. P. Brown. Brown of The ——."

"What's that, what's that?" inquired the Premier, in rapid, sharp, brusque tones.

"This is Brown, editorial writer of The ——. Mr. H. D. Y. P. Brown, editorial writer—you know—H. D. Y. P. Brown, of The ——, you know," the newspaper man explained repeatedly and slowly.

"Brown, a-a-a-hem—Brown, you say—let me see, Brown, editorial—Oh, yes, Brown, of The ——, yes, yes, yes," said Sir James. "I suppose you use all your other names to DIS[illegible] the Brown, eh?"—Toronto

THE FORUM

Eight more days and then the Fair!

Roosevelt's ego eclipses the peacock and his subterfuges outdo Bourassa's

Farmers say hay will be high this winter. Hay fever marketable at any old terms.

Most of the summer seems to the farmer and not a few of the city folk to have been made up of one damp day after another.

How much silver shot was fired the first day of duck shooting no living soul can tell but the hunters, and even they won't tell.

When a man reaches his first voting year no prospect satisfies him but a brilliant career. At forty he is often thankful to have a job.

Double deck street cars are being tried out in Pittsburg and New York. The report doesn't say whether they make provision against the end seat hog habit.

The tax collector may think it strange that some folk hint they do not care to see him as, in truth, when he does call he is frequently bidden to call again.

Roosevelt says he knew nothing about the recall when he first started to advocate it. But he seems to think the people will recall him to the White House in spite of his ignorance.

An Ohio instructor in agriculture milked President Taft's cow in his straw hat. The hat was ruined. Another commission may be expected to be appointed to determine which was the inferior stuff, the milk or the hat.

The Town Council of Port Hope threatens to go into the milk business if the striking dealers do hot at once resume deliveries on the basis of the town's standard. That should be easy. Councilmen always have been regarded as good milkers.

A bath in wine is fortifying and hygenic, says one who pretends to know and the same tubful will serve 100 times. But how long would it last the man who needed an internal as well as an external douse the morning after? Also it is recalled that the Duke of Clarence drowned in a butt of Malmsey.

A report, supposedly eminating from a scientific source, says: For years there has been a decrease in the damage done by lightning in the large cities, attributed to the presence of wires in the city streets. This sounds rather strange when one pauses to reflect there are no wires in the large city streets except trolley lines.

The New Westminster, B. C., Council has placed the cow's social standing on a par with that of the horse, which permits it to be stabled within twenty-five feet of a residence. Judging from the general agitation for pure milk there are doubtless communities that would countenance the stabling of the cow right in the summer kitchen if they could be fully assured of the unadulterated product.

The Council has decided to urge the removal of certain telegraph poles in the city. This is a step in the right direction. Nothing sought, nothing gained. The realization of the absence of all street poles will be effected the sooner a start is made.

You May Have Catarrh And Not Know It

HEAD AND THROAT BECOME DISEASED WITH CATARRH FROM NEGLECTING COLDS AND COUGHS

Catarrh is Treacherous—When Fully Developed is a Horror—Note Its Symptoms.

"Is your breath bad?"
"Is your throat sore?"
"Do you cough at night?"
"Is your voice raspy?"
"Does your nose stop up?"
"Have you nasal discharge?"
"Do you spit up phlegm?"
"Has your nose an itchy feeling?"
"Have you pain across the eyes?"
"Is your throat irritable, weak?"
"Dou you sleep with mouth open?"
"Are you subject to sneezing fits?"
"Do your ears roar and buzz?"
"Are you hard of hearing?"

If you have any of these indications of Catarrh, cure the trouble now—stop it before it gets into the lungs or bronchial tubes—then it may be too late. The remedy is "Catarrhozone," a direct breathable cure that places antiseptic balsams and healing medication on every spot that's tainted by caterrhal germs.

There can be no failure with Catarrhozone—for years it has successfully cured cases that resisted other remedies. "No one can know better than I the enormous benefit one gets from the very first day's use of Catarrhozone," writes T. T. Hopkins, of Westvale, P.Q. "I had for years a stubborn case of Bronchial Catarrh, ear noises, headache, sore eyes, stopped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrhozone cured quickly."

Get Catarrhozone, use it, and you are sure of cure—beware of imitations and substitutes. Large size Catarrhozone, with hard rubber inhaler, lasts two months, and is guaranteed. Price $1.00, at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

A total of $650.00 was collected from three blind pig liquor dealers in Sudbury recently. The illicit dealers are contributing as much liquor revenue as licensed hotels in many places in the north. A single fine of $500 was imposed in one instance up Cobalt way the other day. And still the illegal traffic flourishes, which is the best evidence of the enormous profit accruing when men take such chances. That the stuff called whiskey and sold in remote places is made in the morning and peddled at night is the logical explanation of legitimate dealers.

LOYALTY AND LOYALTY.

Sir George Reid says that in Canada we talk loyalty just as well as they do in Australia. Just as well! If Australia fancies herself in this line let her send a team of twelve picked loyalty talkers to meet a like team see which will bring home whatever from Canada at Shepherd's Bush and royal guineas may be offered as the prize.—Toronto Star.

PROTECTING WORKMEN.

The Department of Labor has sent a circular out to various contractors on government work. This circular contains certain regulations calculated to protect men employed on such work and it requires that all contractors and other employers of labor shall keep a complete record of names, nationalities, place of birth and latest address in Canada, together with addresses and name of local addresses of nearest relative of employees.

In the past such record has not been kept, and as a result many foreign laborers with families at home, in case of death, have been buried unidentified. Under the new regulations the names, addresses, etc., will be forwarded to the Department of Labor for reference in case of death.

It is to be hoped the observance of the regulation will be more conspicuous than its neglect.

LIQUOR AND THE WEST.

There are 263,783,836 gallons of whiskey in distilleries and bonded warehouses in the United States—enough to give every man, woman and child two and one-half gallons each.

"One "cheering" ray out of the high cost of living clouds is the report that the price of this valuable fluid food is to be cheapened. John Barleycorn is a generous soul, and will not see men die of thirst. In fact, it always has been easier to get a jug of booze than a jug of stove wood or a square meal. In this connection a new gigantic brewing establishment is contemplated in the West, to help slake the thirst of the millions pouring into that region to develop the country and advance their own welfare.

What benefit these home-seekers will derive from an extra 100,000 barrels of beer a year at $10 a barrel, as contemplated, is a question for the people of the West themselves to answer.

A large proportion of the population of the West is foreign. And perhaps it is the humanitarian idea of the far-seeing promoters of a giant hop mill to see that these foreigners are not deprived by allowing this country to fall behind any old-world country in the consumption of beer.

—CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS —

The Globe points out that the Liberal party in Ontario has adopted a plank in its platform to prohibit corporations, seeking favors from the government, from giving campaign contributions to either party. The Globe is right, if it is sincere, in advocating such a reform, but who ever heard of any righteous indignation being manifested in the office of the chief Liberal organ at the reception of huge campaign contributions when its own party was in a position to demand the giving? We hope that this policy may prevail, so that when The Globe's friends return to office in the probable distant future, it may not be embarrassed.

—U. S. SENSE OF HONOR —

Nobody will be disposed to judge the people of the United States by the lax moral of the nineteen grafting Detroit aldermen, or the crooks of the New York police force.

But one can hardly be blamed for expressing the opinion that the sense of honor exhibited by some men in high positions in that country is sadly dimmed. We have President Taft, who no doubt, deprecates the grafting methods of the Detroit Aldermen, and the murderous instincts of the police boodlers of the Metropolis, offending against the high code of morals adopted by the nations, by attempting to excuse a breach of faith in respect to the ships of foreign nations passing thru the Panama Canal. It is a glorious thing to know that the leading newspapers of the States, of both politics, roundly condemn the President in this matter.

Mr. Taft has fallen upon evil days. His record has been a long course of blundering, and his last act of appending his signature to the violation of a sacred treaty, is the climax to a term crammed full of mistakes.—Toronto Sunday World.

—MOVING PICTURE SHOWS —

Alderman Anderson is right in declaring that many productions in moving picture shows give a false idea of life to the youth. These films come from the United States, where the idea of humor is based on the bizarre, and all is exaggerated. Most of the pictures reaching this country that are calculated as serious, bearing pathetic scenes, and calculated to arouse human sympathies of man for men, are, in reality, merely maudlin, grotesque productions and do not faithfully portray the ups and downs of every day life.

On the street Tuesday evening a lad approached a Time's man and begged for a nickel. He was munching a bun. "Are you hungry?" he was asked. "Naw; I want to go to the five cent show. There's a cowboy show there to-night."

A reckless display of guns and knives by a wild-eyed, bandana-necked leather shapped cowboy, with liquor signs in the perspective, even in picture, cannot be conducive, either as an instructive or moral lesson to young minds. Neither do they portray or reflect the real cowboy life of the plains.

—FOR PARLIAMENTARIANS —

No one can fail to observe that the prestige of the House of Commons is declining. The members of the Cabinet are members of the House, but their membership is often quite incidental. In the present government we find Hon J. D. Hazen, Hon. W. T. White, Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. Robert Rogers, none of whom were elected to Parliament at the last general election. In going outside the House for cabinet material, Mr. Borden followed the example of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in bringing Messrs. Fielding, Blair, Mowat and Sifton, from the successful administration of provincial affairs to the larger area of Dominion politics. In theory, the cabinet is a committee of the House, selected by the House, but in practise the people look to the prime minister as the real head of the country, and give him a free hand in appointing and removing his colleagues.

If private members were appointed to special committees, which could sit during the recess and examine into the big questions liable to come up, at the next session there would be a freer interchange of views between the government and its supporters, and a keener interest in legislation. It might also be well to supersede many royal commissions by parliamentary committees.

DISARMAMENT ONLY BEAUTIFUL DREAM

This is Opinion of the German Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Berlin, Sept. 4.—An enterprising French journalist has taken advantage of the quiet holiday season to beard the German minister of foreign affairs in his forest lair and has succeeded in making that most cautious of diplomats make some very interesting statements in regard to relations between Germany and France.

Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter said that he was quite convinced France desired nothing more than peace, but that she was erratic like a woman and nobody knew what she would do next.

In regard to disarmament the minister said that it was at present merely a beautiful dream.

"Do you think," he asked, "that in order to realize a general disarmament it would be sufficient for two or three states to proclaim it? And if a fourth, for one reason or another, should refuse to consent, how could compulsion be exercised unless a force sufficient to impose it had been kept in reserve? Thus we come back by a roundabout way, to the idea of a force organized not for war, but for peace. Again, think of this: I suppose that we should both agree to disarm. I say to you: "You are forty millions of people; we are sixty-three. You shall have 200,000 men, and we shall have 300,000.' Would you agree to this? However we agree that each shall have 250,000. Only you have two years' service and we three years. Thus in the end you will have more trained men than we, or vice versa. You see how many practical difficulties arise as soon as one examines the problem, as soon as one examines the problem."

COUNTRY GIRL'S NAME ON TWO EGGS

Roommates Unknown To Each Other Propose; Both Accepted.

Hackensack, N.J., Sept. 4.—A girl on a farm near Topeka, Kan., whence eggs are shipped as far East as Hackensack, has a fondness for the romance of eggshell acquaintances. Her name and address on two eggs fell into the hands of Theodore Sidore and George Zile, warm friends, who room and board together. Neither of the young men told the other of the discovery but started a correspondence, which resulted in each receiving the girl's photograph and many letters. Finally two proposals were sent westward and each brought a letter of acceptance.

One evening recently each of the men accused the other of being lovesick, whereupon the confessions were forthcoming that each was the victim of the same eggshell romance. Neither conceding that the other had really won the girl's heart both are making preparations to go West and let her decide which it will be. The loser is to be the best man.

RAISE THE LICENSE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see there is an effort being made by the moving picture show people to bring pressure to bear on the Council to have the licenses remain at the present insignificant figure, viz., $40. I know there are many—(I believe 90 per cent. of the people)—who would like to see all such places pay a license of at least $500. This is sure to become a live question at the next municipal elections, and I would warn the aldermen that they are being watched in connection with this very matter.

I happen to know of several young people, who are supposed to assist in supporting their homes, who spend a large part of their wages at the picture shows. There are hundreds such in Peterborough and to think that the Council would decline to clap on a license that would put at least two of them out of business, is hardly capable of reasonable explanation.

Let the Council, instead of making the licenses $75 as proposed, with $25 extra for vaudeville, increase their figure to $250 a year, and $100 extra for vaudeville.

The Times is to be thanked for starting the agitation for higher licenses, and I hope your paper will keep right on until at least one or two of these resorts are forced to close their doors.

A Mother.

THE CHIMES ON JULY 12th

Sir,—I was much pleased with your reply to "Decency," in Monday's issue. We are fortunate in having one newspaper in the city, that is not afraid to speak "for the cause that needs assistance, or against the wrong that needs resistance." So-called Decency expresses his opinion in no very mild form about the "small matter," as he is pleased to call it, concerning the non-ringing of the chimes on July 12th. If it is such a small thing, why do not the Wardens of St. John's or Canon Davidson explain or apologize, and so exterminate the infernal noise, which otherwise will not silence. No fear of a religious war; religion has little to do with the abuse and insult dealt out to those whose only offence is that they expected the chimes to ring for them. Perhaps "Decency" was trying to pour oil on the troubled waters by calling such concilatory names as "bigot" and "Ribbon Men." The real bigots were those who hindered the chiming, and if the chimes will not ring for Orange men as well as others, then it is up to Orangemen and all real Protestants to know the reason why.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your splendid paper, I am, yours sincerely.

RANCHER BECOMES NEW BRITISH PEER

Death of Baron Grey-de-Ruthyn Makes Montana Cattle Man Member of House of Lords.

London, Sept. 4.—A Montana rancher becomes a British peer by the death to-day of Baron Grey de Ruthyn, in his 54th year. He is succeeded in the title by his brother Cecil Talbot Clifton, of Northfields ranch, Montana.

The dead lord was the twenty-fourth baron of his line, the first lord of the same title having been created in 1324. The title carries the hereditary right to bear the gold spurs at the King's coronation.

The combined stores of Peterborough can easily outrival any two city departmental stores in the stocks carried, the prices offered, and the quality of goods sold.

Investigation will prove this point beyond dispute.

When you have ALL the big store stocks here to choose from you have more variety than any city departmental can give you in any one line.

By trading here you have the opportunity of inspecting the goods and comparing values on the spot.

You save the time, trouble, postage, express, and disappointment.

You have immense stocks of new goods to choose from.

You have the reputation of business men who are here all the time to back up the quality of what you buy.

You are not trading sight unseen. You see the goods you buy, and buy the goods you see.

It Will Pay You to Trade in Peterboro

Just make that comparison once or twice and convince yourself. In the meantime, read the advertisements in this issue; there are some great bargains offered. See the goods, get the prices, examine the stocks, and the rest may safely be left to your good judgment.

Read The Times each day and week. It contains the fresh, bright store news of all the leading advertisers in Peterborough. You will get up-to-date news about stocks, goods and prices. CELEBRATED RETORTS

WITTY REPLIES IN PARLIAMENT AND ON STUMP.

The Repartee of the Sons of Erin Very Frequently Enlivens the Debates of the British Commons—Mixed Metaphors of Speakers Also Contribute to the General Gayety From Time to Time.

More often than not it is Irish wit which scores in the House of Commons, and many a time during an exciting debate both Conservatives and Liberals have been nonplussed by the ready repartee of M.P.'s from the Emerald Isle. There was one memorable occasion, however—and it is recalled by George W. Smalley in "Anglo-American Memories" — when Irish members were for the moment stricken dumb by the retort of a member who could not afterwards be identified. Mr. Chamberlain, while speaking on the home rule question, said something regarding the Duke of Devonshire, whereupon a Nationalist member asked, "How long is it since the Duke of Devonshire has been in Ireland?" and from across the floor came the answer, like a flash of lightning, "Not since his brother was murdered in Phoenix Park."

Mr. Smalley considers this retort worthy to rank with Col. Sanderson's answer to a demand for his reasons against home rule. "There are," answered the gallant colonel, promptly, "in this House sixty-nine good and sufficient reasons against home rule, and there they sit."

Against this one might set the retort of Major O'Gorman, a genial and burly Irish member, who is said to have been the only man who could be relied on to make "Dizzy's" Sphinx-like face relax into a smile! "Why are the Irish always laying bare the wrongs of their country?" querulously demanded a member in the House. "Because," thundered O'Gorman, "they want them redressed."

And apropos of the great Irish question one might recall the retort to a speaker at a public meeting in Ireland in 1881, when Parnell and other Irish leaders were arrested. "How would you retaliate?" the speaker asked a crowded audience, and, after a dramatic pause, answered his own question thus: "I'll tell you. The landlords will never get a penny of rent from you until your brave leaders are released." "Well, may they never be let out, then!" cried someone who could conceive no better prospect than that of never paying rent.

It was the irrepressible Mr. Tim Healy who provided another illustration of his witty sarcasm during a debate on the South African War, when the Boers were winning battle after battle. There was much criticism regarding the capabilities of officers and leaders, and some member put the question to Mr. Brodrick (now Viscount Midleton), then Minister for War, as to how many horses he had despatched to South Africa. He gave an answer, whereupon Mr. Tim Healy got up and put a supplementary question: "Would the honorable gentleman kindly inform the House how many asses he has sent to South Africa?"

Mention of asses reminds one of the Irish M.P. who once interrupted the oratory of an enemy of his country by ejaculating "Ass!" "The honorable member," came the lightning retort, "flatters me too much in claiming me as kinsman." And then there was the occasion when a scion of a noble house, defending his order, asked, "Is it not right that, in order to hand down to posterity the virtues of those who have been eminent for their services to the country, their descendants should enjoy the honors conferred on them as a reward for such services?" "By the same rule," chimed in the late Mr. Labouchere, "if a man is hanged for his misdeeds, all his posterity should be hanged too."

At election times the strenuousness of political strife is considerably enlivened by apt retorts from the crowd and the platform. The heckler, of course, is much in evidence. Sometimes he scores, but usually the candidate comes off best in the bandy of words. The apt retort of Mr. Winston Churchill, who, during the first election he fought, was asked by one of the crowd, who intended to ridicule Mr. Churchill's youthful appearance, "Does your mother know you're out?" To which the future Cabinet Minister retorted, "Yes, and by Thursday she will know I'm in!" has often been quoted, and it reminds one of the retort of the Hon. Neil Primrose, who, when he was putting up for the Wisbech division of Cambridgeshire, was heckled at one meeting by a man in the crowd, who suddenly reminded him that he was supporting Lloyd George's budget, which his father, Lord Rosebery, opposed. Ultimately the candidate was asked whether this action on the part of his father did not amount to hitting below the belt. "Exactly," said Mr. Primrose; "but when one's father does hit one, it generally is below the belt."

It was during an election, when a leading member of the Irish Bar was putting up as candidate, that, during an eloquent speech upon the woes and injustices of his native land, he sought to impress his audience still further by squeezing out a few tears, which trickled over his extensive cheeks. But the sublime was turned to the ridiculous when one of the gallery remarked, "Shure, bhoys, there's a fine field for hydraulics." This was as disconcerting as the reply made to Sir Richard Temple, who on one occasion returned post haste from his duties in India to contest a seat. In the course of a speech he remarked that he had traveled 6,000 miles and surrendered $25,000 "for the privilege of representing this great constituency," and the audience was impressed until a remark, in a loud voice, came from the crowd, "Oh, what a fool!"

Sir William Hart Dyke once said that "Mr. Lowther had caught a big fish in his net, and went to the top of the tree for it."

THE GNU IS A PUZZLE.

It Seems to Be a Cross Between the Horse, Cow and Deer.

Did you ever hear of a horned horse? It is called the gnu and is a native of South Africa. The gnu is a puzzle. We have called it a horse, but it is more like a cow. It really seems to be a cross between the horse, the cow and the deer. It has the head and horns of a cow, the tail, the mane and withers of the horse and the legs of a deer. Altogether the gnu is one of the most singular creatures on earth.

The gnu inhabits the hilly districts of South Africa, roaming all over the country in vast herds. As far as travelers have yet penetrated it is found, and it is fortunate that it is so, for the flesh of the gnu forms excellent food. Gnus are, however, extremely wild and, being very quick in their movements, are difficult to shoot. Upon the first alarm the whole herd scampers away in single file, following a leader. When seen from a distance they look like a troop of horses.

Their speed is very great, and when first disturbed they do not exert it, but kick out their heels and begin butting at anything that comes in their way, exhibiting the greatest fury. Unless hard pressed they seldom show fight, but when brought to bay they will defend themselves desperately. They dart forward upon their enemy with great fury, and unless he remains cool and collected he probably will not escape.

STEALING A RAILROAD.

Not In a Financial Way, but by Carrying It Off Bodily.

No stranger theft was ever committed than the "lifting" of an entire railroad, twelve and one half miles in length, which once connected Birr and Portumna, in Ireland.

The line had cost $450,000, and for years it did service for the Great Southern and Western Railway company until the year 1878, when the company, which had been running it at a loss, washed its hands of it. The line was derelict. Nobody wanted it. For a few years it stretched its useless length through north Tipperary. Then its neighbors began to turn covetous eyes on it.

Bolts and screws and other portable trifles began to vanish. A few prosecutions were instituted, but the charges were withdrawn. Nobody seemed to care. The thieves, thus encouraged, grew bolder. Farmers brought their carts and horses and loaded them with spoils of rails, sleepers, switches and semaphores. One goodly station vanished, to its last brick and door, in a single night.

They were great times for Tipperary. Boatloads of booty, hundreds of tons of rails, were sent away from Portumna by unlicensed "contractors," and the work of spoliation went on until not as much as a turntable was left.—Argonaut.

Dickens' Den.

Dickens' care for his material surroundings did not end with his bedroom. His favorite writing place at Gadshill was a Swiss chalet in the shrubbery, and this he fitted up in a most ingenious fashion. "I have put mirrors in the chalet where I write," he says in one of his letters, "and they reflect and refract in all kinds of ways the leaves that are quivering at the windows and the great fields of waving corn and the sail dotted river. My room is up among the branches of the trees, and the birds and the butterflies fly in and out, and the green branches shoot in at the open windows, and the lights and the shadows of the clouds come and go with the rest of the company. The scent of the flowers and indeed of everything that is growing for miles and miles is most delicious."
—London Chronicle.

Judging the Colt.

The Arabs have two methods of estimating the height to which a colt will grow, the first being to stretch a cord from the nostril over the ears and down along the neck and compare this measurement with that from the withers to the feet and the other method being to compare the distance between the knee and the withers with that from the knee to the coronet. In the first method it is considered that a colt will grow as much taller as the first measurement exceeds that of the second, and in the second method, if the proportion is as two to one, the horse will grow no taller.

Pedestrians.

A teacher in a primary school was endeavoring to make clear to her class the meaning of the words "equestrianism" and "pedestrianism" when she put this query to one small boy:

"What is a pedestrian?"

"He is one of those fellows," said the boy, "who makes an awful kick when an automobile runs him down."
—New York Press.

No Further Delay.

Abner Slopoak (desperately)—M-may I name the day? Jemima Jones (decisively)—No! Abner Slopoak (in alarm)—Why? Jemima Jones (frankly)—Because if you put it off as long you did your proposal we never will be married. I'll name the day myself!—Cleveland Leader.

Harmonious.

"They say Mrs. Jolliffe has given up that pet white poodle of hers," said Mrs. Johnson.

"Yes," said Mrs. Whilliger. "She's in deep mourning for Mr. Jolliffe, you know, so she has exchanged Tobey for a black and tan."—Harper's Weekly.

The resources of the scholar are proportioned to his confidence in the attributes of the intellect.

NEATER AND MORE OBEDIENT.

Girl Messengers In London Are Leaving Their Brothers In the Shade.

In London little rosy-cheeked, pig-tailed English girls are threatening to oust from their time-honored field of endeavor the messenger boys whose good-natured slackness has become a tradition and proved their undoing, at last. No longer are telegraph agencies expending their energy in seeking to instil into the sanguine and unsettled minds of youths anywhere from 12 to 16 the precepts of success. Rather, they are basking in the contentment which comes of hiring placidly obedient little girl-damsels who have no desire to wander from the paths of duty and to whom craps and marbles and top-spinning offer not the slightest temptation.

"Our girl messengers are certainly all that can be desired," said a London telegraph agency manager, not long ago as he gazed complacently at a row of grave-eyed lassies waiting for orders. "The boys aren't in it. Street accidents and road mending operations have no fascination for them but our girls may be trusted to pass calmly and quickly by such inducements to loafing. Leapfrog helps the boy messengers to banish the monotony of delivering messages and sometimes a good thrilling penny-dreadful, perused while sauntering along Fleet street, stimulates a boy messenger's brain, but does not quicken his footsteps.

"But the girls—they have none of these pernicious habits. They go straight about their business without talking or idling. They even refuse to linger at the beautiful hat shops in St. Paul's churchyard, they are so conscientious. We have three dozen girl messengers at work during the day. Of course, we employ boy messengers for night work.

"The girls wear neat blue uniforms and plain straw hats with black bands and at their waists they carry telegram pouches.

"The girls are neater, quicker and more obedient than the boys. That is why I prefer them," the manager said.

A Master of Fiction.

Mr. Thomas Hardy is the grand old man of literature. Though he is no longer able to do much creative work he maintains a very keen interest in current problems, and is alive to the literary tendencies of the age. He is undoubtedly our greatest living novelist, and at least one of his novels is likely to endure as long as the English language.

Originally intended for an architect, he devoted his attention to literature, and soon created a great impression by his wonderful delineations of Dorset life. Such books as "Tess of the D'Urebrvilles," "Far From the Madding Crowd," and "The Return of the Native," are treasured by lovers of literature throughout the civilised world, and Thomas Hardy enjoys an international reputation.

King George is a very great admirer of Mr. Hardy's works, and it was largely owing to his influence, when Prince of Wales, that the novelist was enabled to obtain the crown lands near Dorset, upon which he erected his house. Every spot of the surrounding country has been rendered famous by his novels, and enthusiastic admirers come from all parts of the globe to view the original sites which are depicted with such masterly skill in the novels.

LAYING OUT A ROAD.

Billings Was In No Hurry, So the Work Was Done Right.

A good many years ago C. K. G. Billings, who made his millions in Chicago gas, bought a good sized plot of ground on the heights overlooking the Hudson river at the upper end of Manhattan Island. Some time later he put up a house which still remains the pride of "seeing New York" guides.

When the land had been bought the question arose as to the best means of laying out a roadway up the steep and rocky hill, at the crest of which the house was to stand. Mr. Billings was puzzled. He wanted to make it as easy a climb as he could. He mentioned the problem to his friend W. C. Muschenheim, a New York hotel proprietor. Mr. Muschenheim, [illegible] familiar with the hills and dales of that part of New York, gave the following advice:

"You aren't in any great hurry, so why don't you have it done right? Put one of your cows on that land and give her time to lay out a path up that hill. Trust her to find the easiest and most comfortable grade."

Mr. Billings followed the suggestion, and in the course of time the cow made a path which has long since been developed into a permanent, winding, slowly ascending roadway.—Saturday Evening Post.

BIRTH OF A LETTER.

The Way "W" Came to Take the Place of the Old "VV."

The printers and language makers of the latter part of the sixteenth century began to recognize the fact that there was a sound in spoken English which was without a representative in the shape of an alphabetical sign or character, as in the first sound in the word "wet."

Prior to that time it had always been spelled as "vet," the v having the long sound of u or of two u's together. In order to convey an idea of the new sound they began to spell such words as "wet," "weather," "web," etc., with two u's, and as the u of that date was a typical v the three words above looked like this: "Vvet," "vveather," "vveb."

After awhile the typefounders recognized the fact that the double u had come to stay, so they joined the two u's together and made the character now so well known as w. There are books in which three forms of the w are given. The first is an old double v (vv); the next is one in which the last stroke of the first v crosses the first stroke of the second, and the third is the common w we use today.

Real Literary Crumbs.

The librarian opened the book wide and shook it hard.

"Looking for possible love letters and mementos?" a visitor asked.

"No; breadcrumbs," said the librarian. "Subsequent readers do not mind love letters, but they do object to breadcrumbs. Half the books brought back have crumbs tucked away between the leaves. That shows what a studious town we are. Our people are so enamored of literature that they can't stop reading long enough to eat; also it shows what a lonely town we are. Only people who live alone a great deal read anything except the newspaper at mealtime. And it shows what a slovenly town we are. In the interests of hygiene and aesthetics those voracious readers who cram their heads and their stomachs at the same time ought to clean their books of crumbs, but they never do."—New York Press.

Hindu Caste.

The four grades of society among the Hindus are the Brahmans or sacerdotal class, who are said at the moment of creation to have issued from the mouth of Brahma; the Kshatrya or Chuttsee or military class, sprung from the arm of Brahma; the Vaisya or Bais or mercantile class, from the thigh of Brahma, and Sudras or Sooders or servile class, from the foot of Brahma. The business of the Sudras is to serve the three superior classes, more especially the Brahmans. Their condition is never to be improved. They are not to accumulate property and are unable by any means to approach the dignity of the higher classes. These divisions are hereditary, impassable and indefeasible.

War Experiments.

Near Okehampton the other day a dummy village that had been especially built for the purpose was blown to pieces by shell fire from a battery of heavy guns placed some distance away, the object of the curious and costly experiment being, of course, to find out exactly what would happen to a real village in similar circumstances. Says Pearsons Weekly:

The idea, which is not exactly a new one, was borrowed originally from Germany, where some very elaborate experiments on similar lines have been conducted.

First Steam Trawler.

The death took place recently at South Shields of Mr. David Allan, who was seventy-two years of age. The deceased, a native of Leith, was credited with being the designer, builder, and sailer of the first successful steam fishing vessel ever put into the water. After much experimenting he launched at Leith, in 1877, a vessel which he named Onward. This is claimed as the first steam drifter and the only one afloat at the time.

Precedent For "Governess."

Albert VII., archduke of Austria, married Isabella Clara Eugenia, infanta of Spain, who brought to him as dowry the sovereignty of the Low Countries, etc. When Philip IV. of Spain ascended the throne in 1621 he took from his aunt the sovereignty of the Low Countries, but left her the title of governess. Her husband died soon after, whereon she took the veil, though still retaining the reins of government. She died at Brussels in 1633, aged sixty-six. Here there is precedent for the use of the word governess when a lady holds the post.—London Notes and Queries.

Franklin on Long Graces.

Ben Franklin found the long graces used by his father before and after meals very tedious. One day after the winter's provision had been salted he said, "I think, father, if you were to say grace over the whole cask once for all it would be a great saving of time."
—Life.

No Danger.

Blobbs—I heard Tightwad boasting today that he had money to burn. Slobbs—Well, I wouldn't be in any hurry to call out the fire department if I were you.—Philadelphia Record.

The Largest Described Snake.

Speke in his narrative of the journey to the source of the Nile described the largest snake that has ever been seen by man. "I shuddered," he says, "as I looked upon the effects of his tremendous dying strength. For yards around where he lay grass, bushes and saplings—in fact, everything except full grown trees—were cut clean off, as if they had been trimmed with an immense scythe. The monster when measured was fifty-one feet two and one-half inches in extreme length, while around the thickest portions of its body the girth was nearly three feet."

Looking Ahead.

It was the first night of a new play.

"I say," remarked the author to the manager, "that scene shifter over there is a most peculiar looking fellow."

"Yes; he's an Eskimo," said the manager.

"An Eskimo! What on earth made you take him on?"

"Oh, I thought it would be a comfort to see one happy face if the play turns out to be a frost!"

Cases in Point.

Rivers—Brooks, that's the second time I've heard you use the phrase "aching void." I wish you would tell me how a void can ache.

Brooks—Well, not to speak of a hollow tooth, don't you sometimes have a headache?—London Telegraph.

In the Mountains.

Climb the mountains and get their good tidings. Nature's peace will flow into you as sunshine flows into trees. The winds will blow their own freshness into you, and the storms their energy, while cares will drop off like autumn leaves.—John Muir.

Punishment For Whom?

Boss Barber—What? You have cut the gentleman four times? Well, just for punishment you must shave him all over again right away!—Fliegende Blatter.

Blind Workers First.

It was the recruit's first fire. A piano factory was burning. Said the battalion chief to the recruit:

"Find out where the tuning room is and make for that."

The recruit obeyed. Afterward he asked why.

"Because during working hours you are likely to find several blind men there," said the chief. "Many piano tuners are blind, and in case of fire they need first help in getting out. When fighting fire in a piano factory always bear that in mind."—New York Press.

A Definition.

The teacher was explaining the meaning of the words "ex-president" to the little folks and told them that it was a man who was formerly president, but had retired to private life. The next day the class was asked the meaning of the word "export." A little hand went up. "Well," said the teacher, "what is the meaning of the word export?" "It's a feller that used to be a sport," replied the young American.—Kansas City Star.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately [illegible] miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately [illegible] miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $[illegible] made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid if this advertisement is inserted without authority from the Department.

TENDERS FOR IRON POSTS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Iron Posts," will be received at the Department of the Interior, up to noon of the 25th day of September, 1912, for the furnishing of iron posts for use on the survey of Dominion Lands to be delivered as follows:—

At Winnipeg: twenty thousand small and three hundred large posts.

Forms of tender and detailed information may be obtained from the Surveyor General of Dominion Lands, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, payable to the order of the Deputy Minister of the Interior as follows:—

For the supply of posts at Winnipeg,—two hundred and fifty dollars.

This cheque will be forfeited if the party whose tender is accepted declines to enter into a contract to deliver the posts or fails to carry out the contract. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Newspapers copying this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid.

The Drunkard's Cloak.

In the time of the Commonwealth in England the magistrates of Newcastle-upon-Tyne punished drunkards by making them carry a tub called the drunkard's cloak. This tub was worn bottom upward, there being a hole at the bottom for the head and two smaller holes in the sides for the hands to pass through, and thus ridiculously attired the delinquent was made to walk through the streets of the town for as long a time as the magistrates thought proper to order, according to the grossness of the offence.

FLOCKING TO ONTARIO FARMS

Thousands of Farm Laborers From the Old Land

Toronto, Sept. 4.—Figures given out by the local Dominion Immigration officials this morning show that since January 1st 34,530 men, women and children have passed through the Immigration Offices at the Union Station, an increase of 300 per cent. over any previous year. May registered the largest number of arrivals, the books showing that 7,506 embargo Canadian citizens passed through Toronto on their way either to the Golden West or to the farming districts of Ontario.

The most satisfactory figures are those showing that, out of the total of 34,530 who arrived in Toronto, 6,841 were placed on Ontario farms, something like five times the number who took up the pursuit of agriculture in this Province during the year 1902.

During the month of August, 1911, 142 immigrants were placed on the farms of the Dominion's premier Province. Since the first of the present month 1,167 have secured places, an increase of over 800 per cent.

HEBERT CASE TO COME UP AGAIN

Appeal Will Be Considered at Next Sittings of Court of Review Third Week of September.

Montreal, Sept. 4.—The appeal in the Hebert case will be considered at the court of review, sitting from September 16 to September 20. The belief exists in outside points that the appeal will deal with the whole question of marriage of two Catholics by a Protestant minister. At present the court is only being asked by Hebert's lawyer to say that Judge Charbonneau had no right to continue with the appeal against Judge Laurendeau's decision civilly quashing the marriage when the husband had withdrawn from the suit.

REUNITED AFTER NINETEEN YEARS

Father Sees His Grown Daughter First Time.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 4.—After having been separated nineteen years, S. D. Wagner of Bluffton, Ind., and his daughter Edna, of Cleveland, were reunited here Tuesday night. Their meeting came after telephone conversation when Wagner in Bluffton, heard Edna speaking in Cleveland in a woman's voice that, when he had last heard it, had been that of a baby.

When the child was two years old the mother died and the father placed Edna in a Cleveland orphanage, whence she was transferred to that of the Sisters of Charity in Toledo. She was taken from there by a preacher who kept her several years at his home in Henry county, Ohio. Thence she came to Cleveland, and it was here that some one told her of an advertisement for his lost child which had been made by S. D. Wagner of Bluffton. She called Wagner identity, and the reunion plans followed.

PET KITTEN SAVES GIRL FROM DEATH

Mother Follows "Meowing" Cat To Pier; Child Hangs By Spike.

Venice, Cal., Sept. 4.—A pet kitten saved 13-year-old Olive Henderson, of this place, from probable death Tuesday.

The child and the kitten had gone for a walk, and after a time the kitten returned alone. When it saw the girl's mother it began to "meow" and stareed away. Mrs. Henderson did not follow and the kitten returned and renew its complaining and again started away. At last the mother followed.

The kitten led the way to the end of an amusement pier, where the child was found hanging head downward from a large spike. She had fallen from the pier and her clothing had caught on the spike.

Life guards rescued the girl. She was barely conscious and was unable to make an outcry loud enough to be heard by promendaders on the pier.

BLOOD OF HIS WIFE SAVES BALL PLAYER

Baltimore, Sept. 4.—Harry Aubrey, the ball player, formerly of the Boston Nationals and now captain of the Worcester, Mass., team, has the heroism of his wife, Mrs. Margaret Aubrey, and the skill of Johns Hopkins Hospital surgeons to thank for his life.

Lying side by side on the operating table with her artery attached to the vein in the arms, her blood flowed into the life of the man with whom she was one. For an hour the transfusion went on, until the man was considered strong enough to stand an operation. He had a tumor on the bladder. It had been bleeding profusely and his condition was pitably low. He went to the hospital nearly dead.

It was a certainty that without the the transfusion he could never have survived the operation. The knife was not used. Instead, an electric wire was introduced, and by means of the cystoscope, fastened around the tumor. Then the current was turned on, and as the wire heated white, it ate its way through and cut out the tumor. The patient in this case recovered rapidly and is now in fine condition.

SPEND TEN MILLION ON IMPROVEMENTS

C. N. R. Big Plans to Develope In Vancouver.

Vancouver, Sept. 4. — Representatives of the Canadian Northern Railway Company have formally applied to the city for a grant of that part of the bed of False Creek which has notbeen used as the site of the terminals of the Great Northern Railway here. Two hundred acres will be reclaimed by the Canadian Northern Railway if given the land and the railway agrees to spend ten million dollars in improvements. The company will enter by means of a four-mile tunnel and proposes to spend a million and a half on depot buildings. Its line between Vancouver, New Westminster and Port Mann, which is about 16 miles out will be electrified.

BANK OF ENGLAND

Tragic and Romantic Episodes In Its Historic Career.

DEADLY BATTLE WITH A MOB.

The Bloody Climax to the Attempted Raid by the Lord Gordon Rioters—A Financial Coup That Was Spoiled by the Duchess of Marlborough.

No other banking institution has so romantic a history as that pertaining to the Bank of England, the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street."

One of the bloody episodes in the history of the bank is that embraced in the story of Charles Walter Godfrey, one of its early partners in the bank. It appears that Godfrey while crossing the channel in the midst of a terrific storm and laden with £60,000 in drafts for the aid of King William, who was just then besieging Namur against the forces of Louis XIV., insisted upon his right to deliver the warrant for the money into the hands of the king, then in the trenches under hot fire. As he handed the document to the king, saying, in response to William's growl of remonstrance, "Am I, then, more exposed to danger than your majesty?" a cannon ball swept away his head.

Not so very many years ago there stood over the massive fireplace in the directors' room of the bank three rusty specimens of the old "Brown Bess," together with a number of roughly shaped bullets. In these relics was embodied a picture of the November night in 1780 when the mob of Gordon rioters marched down from Newgate, setting fire to every Catholic chapel on the way and advancing with a force of 5,000 upon the bank itself.

The clerks, armed with muskets, were unprovided with shot. Before them lay rows of leaden inkstands, suggesting the possibilities of a new use. In less than half an hour the inkstands had been melted and turned into bullets. The muskets were loaded. At every window of the bank stood two marksmen, their guns trained on the mob below. Yet the rioters came on until they were within ten yards of the bank gates. Then sharp and clear above the frightful din rose the order to fire, and from the windows poured a deadly volley. When the smoke finally cleared away 230 lay dead or dying in the open space now covered by the esplanade of the Royal Exchange. The attacking army wavered, stopped, broke line and fled, and the Gordon riots were at an end.

During the first part of the reign of George II. it was the practice of all banks to give a receipt in payment of a deposit, the receipts being passed from hand to hand and serving the same purpose as the check of today.

At that time Childs' bank, a private concern, which had the backing of a great part of the English nobility, exhibited such signs of future greatness that the Bank of England became greatly alarmed, especially in view of the fact that the "Old Lady's" notes were at a discount of 10 per cent. So little by little, through their agents, the managers of the Bank of England bought up every receipt bearing the Childs signature, allowing the collections to accumulate each year until the time should be ripe, during a shortage of gold, to present the receipts in one great mass for payment. It was deemed a certainty that Childs' would not be able to meet the demand and would thus be ruined.

The principal figure in the drama that ensued was no other than the famous Sarah Jennings, in whom Childs' bank found its stanchest supporter. One night there came a wild clanging at the bell of the great gate of the town of Blenheim—a clanging that soon awakened every one in the town. A white faced, travel stained man staggered into the ducal hall, begging an audience with her grace. When the duchess, in her dressing gown, appeared, demanding to know the reason for this unseemly visitation, the man explained that the Bank of England held the Childs' receipts in the amount of £620,000, that those receipts would be presented for payment at noon following, that there was not at Childs' enough gold to meet them, that unless the demand could be satisfied within eight hours Childs' was ruined and that there was but one person in the world—her grace—to whom they might turn.

Whereupon the redoubtable duchess sat down and wrote out a check, which she handed to the agent. It was an order on the Bank of England for the payment of £700,000. He was instructed to take this check to the Bank of England and to say that if it hesitated for a single instant in paying it the duchess would proclaim it as a defaulter.

At 12 o'clock that day there appeared at the Childs' counter an agent of the Bank of England bearing a big bag ful of receipts and blandly suggesting immediate payment. At the same moment the Childs' agent was in Threadneedle street receiving cash on the check of the duchess.

The cashiers at Childs' naturally took their own time in scrutinizing the receipts, spending fully half an hour over the first batch alone. They were at the end of the first hundred when their messenger arrived. Then they quickened the procedure a little, and within ten minutes the Bank of England had been paid in its own coin. The net result was that Childs' was many thousands of pounds richer.—Harper's.

We never see the target a man aims at in life. We see only the target he hits.—Jordan.

"Three Bloomin' Knights."

In addition to painting many famous pictures, Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema designed scenes and costumes on several occasions for some of the leading actors and actresses of the day, and there is a story of a stage hand who was reading a preliminary announcement of a production of "Coriolanus" at the Lyceum. The following words appeared in the notice: "Coriolanus—Sir Henry Irving. Incidental music by Sir A. C. Mackenzie. Scenes designed by Sir L. Alma-Tadema." "There y'are," remarked the stage hand, in a disdainful tone, to a fellow-employe; "three bloomin' knights, and that's about as long as it will run."

Albanians' Queer Duels.

Albanians used to practice a peculiar form of duelling. Sir Richard Burton, who once commanded a corps of bashi-bazouks, writes that "the Albanian contingent, who generally fight when they are drunk, had a peculiar style of monomachy. The principals, attended by their seconds and by all their friends, stood close opposite, each holding a cocked pistol in his right hand and a glass of raki or spirits of wine in the left. The first to drain his draft had the right to fire and generally blazed away with fatal effect. It would have been useless to discourage this practice, but I insisted on fair play."

Sons of Clergymen.

An English newspaper, noting the fact that Wilbur Wright was the son of a clergyman, agrees with a French authority that clergymen's sons have played an enormous part in the history of the British nation. A few names picked out at hazard are Nelson, Tennyson, Dryden, Coleridge, Cecil Rhodes, Sir Christopher Wren, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Matthew Arnold, Brontes and the Wesleys. John Galsworthy, one of the foremost English writers of the present, is also the son of a clergyman.

THE WHITE RABBIT.

Lord Pelham Had to Wait For His Chance to Sell.

Lord Pelham lived in a castle not very far from London, near the banks of the Thames. He had the habit of walking quite often, all alone, to the city. One day, in the year 1811, when on his way to London, he saw a man coming towards him.

"My lord," said the man, "can't you buy a white rabbit from me?"

Lord Pelham shook his head and went his way without another word.

The unknown followed him and said, "My lord, you must buy my white rabbit."

"What shall I do with it?" replied the lord in surprise.

"I am certain, my lord, that you will buy my white rabbit," said the man, placing a revolver on my lord's breast.

"Well, I see I am in your power, and must buy the rabbit. How much do you want for it?"

"One hundred pounds sterling, my lord."

"One hundred pounds for a rabbit?"

"Not a shilling less! And I am sure you will give it to me."

"You shall have the money, but I don't carry so much cash with me."

"I believe it, but your signature is sufficient; I know your banker."

"But I must have—"

"Paper, pen and ink. Here it is, my lord. I thought of everything."

Lord Pelham, who saw only too well that there was no escape from this man, sat down and wrote the check. Then he wanted to continue his walk to the city, but the unknown stepped in his way with the revolver and said: "You are mistaken, my lord, this is the road that leads to your castle. You must now bring your purchase home. Good-bye, my lord. There is your way and this is mine."

Pelham did not consider it advisable to continue this discourse. He took the rabbit, returned to the castle, and never said anything about the price he had paid for it.

Ten years later, in 1821, shortly before his death, Lord Pelham took a walk through one of the liveliest streets to a suburb of London. His attention was drawn to a large brilliantly lighted meat market. The owner stood behind the counter. Pelham thought he had seen that face before. He stepped into the shop, heard the man talk, and, after a few unimportant questions, retraced his steps and went home.

Next morning Lord Pelham, very plainly dressed, and with a basket on his arm, entered the meat market again and demanded to see the proprietor. He was shown into an adjoining room, where the man sat at his desk. As soon as they were alone, Lord Pelham said: "My dear sir! Don't you want to buy a white rabbit of me?"

The man was terrified and stared at Lord Pelham.

"I am certain you will buy my little white rabbit this moment," said the lord.

"Oh, with the greatest pleasure," said the butcher who had recognised his former victim.

"What is the price of it "

"What I had to pay you for it once—a hundred pounds.

"In cash or in a check?"

"I prefer cash."

The butcher counted out the money on the counter, Lord Pelham put it in his pocket, placed the basket with the rabbit on the counter and—their bills were evenly settled.

THE REGENCY BALL.

London For a Night Went Back to Good Old Days.

English society witnessed a brief reincarnation of the joyous extravagant days of the Regency, last month, when the Albert Hall, London, was the scene of the greatest and most brilliant ball of the season—a most successful attempt to revive the sartorial glories of the age of the Dandies, of "bucks" and beaux, of mincing macaronis and wonderfully-dressed fops, of powder and patches and poke bonnets. The "Hundred Years Ago" ball, as it was styled consisted of a series of beautifully-schemed quadrilles such as were danced in the days when the vicious, heartless, and grossly licentious Prince Regent, afterward George IV. of infamous memory, "the first gentleman in Europe," held his dissolute and drunken court at the Pavilion, Brighton, with his morganatic, but excellent wife, the beautiful Mrs. Fitzherbert. His life has supplied as much foul material for scandal as any in English history. Thackeray bitterly describes a buckle he invented as his single contribution to the riches of the world. But there was a certain charm about those hazy illusive days of a century ago. Society was virile and on the whole wholesomely gay, notwithstanding the profligacy of "the fount of honor" and the arbiter of fashion. Waterloo was three years distant in the future, but the long life-and-death struggle with Napoleon had cast over the land a tinge of chivalry and of heroic patriotism.

The waltz had just made its appearance in the salons of London but had not become popular. The stately minuet and the ancient English gavotte were departing into oblivion. The quadrille was supreme. The presentation of the life of a hundred years ago, correctly staged as to dress, manners, and environment, formed a great and delightful spectacle. The dresses rivalled one another in splendor. Among the richer types the most beautiful were the regal-looking Napoleonic dresses, with rich gold embroidery and ermine trimming, but the charm of Arcadian simplicity was not missing. Naturally in that period of strife, social gatherings took on a military aspect, and, at the Albert Hall, the beautiful costumes of the ladies mingled with the brilliant uniforms of every nation in Europe and the extravagant modes of the Dandies. The famous gardens at Vauxhall, the celebrated Almack's, the club where Pitt and Sheridan and Charles Fox and many more drank deep and gambled recklessly, the splendid regiments of the time and other characteristic features of the "merry past," were commemorated in the naming of the different quadrilles. The famous men and women, who cast lustre on that period of England's history, were represented to the life. The "Iron Duke" of Wellington was a prominent figure in the "Waterloo" quadrille, as were also the intellectual Madame de Stael, the "Rousseau in petticoats," and the Duchess of Richmond, who gave the celebrated ball at Brussels, two nights before the battle of Waterloo, when "there was a sound of revelry by night," interrupted by the note of dread reality, "the cannon's opening roar." The energy and good taste of the organizers of this memorable ball and the enthusiasm of the participants resulted in an unqualified success.

TIED UP IN RED TAPE

SOME BLUNDERS THAT COME FROM TOO MUCH SYSTEM.

Army, Navy and Other Services in the Empire Have Occasional Farcical Episodes Arising Out of Absurd Actions of Officials—Lists of Spare Parts Hard to Secure — Had to Prove He Was Alive.

An example of army red-tape has come to light so extraordinary that it is worthy of comment, not because any issue whatever is concerned, but on account of the fine sample it affords of the brand of tape still kept in stock. In the matter of red-tape the Ordinance Department have always been hard to beat, and it is only seemly that the present choice piece should emanate from the Ordinance yard at Woolwich.

Each Territorial unit that possesses a Maxim gun is supposed to be also in possession of a spare-part box. Inside the lid of this box is pasted a paper, on which the contents thereof are set forth in print. From time to time additions and erasures have had to be made to this list to keep it up to date. Recently the Ordinance people were beset with the happy inspiration of printing a revised list. All that was necessary was to send this bit of paper round to each unit in possession of a spare-part box, so that it might be pasted in position.

But that is not the way they do things in the A.O.D. They prefer to publish abroad in Army Orders that such a list has been printed, and that units must apply—through the usual channels and in triplicate—for the bit of paper.

First of all in the orderly-room the requisition has to be made out in triplicate and signed (in triplicate) by the colonel, it must then be forwarded, with a covering official letter, to the brigadier, who, after minuting it, sends it to the divisional commander, who also minutes it, and sends it to the General Officer commanding the district, who sends it (with a minute, of course.) to Woolwich. Then the paper indented for is sent back through the same channels, and duly get stuck inside the lid of the spare-part box. Cost in stamps 8d., and in labor some ninety minutes of various clerks and senior staff officers.

The whole thing could have been done better and in infinitely less time by sticking the paper in a halfpenny envelope and posting it direct to all units possessed of spare-part boxes.

This, of course, is by no means the first occasion upon which the army officials have so distinguished themselves; they have a glorious record of comic absurdities!

That, for example, was a smart piece of work which happened in Dublin a year or two ago. A certain cavalry regiment stationed there was conducting one of their annual pioneer instruction classes. Part of the week consisted of building temporary bridges, the material used being principally poles, lashed together by rope.

At the commencement of the class no poles were in stock, so some were applied for from the Engineer Department, Chatham. This department replied that poles were to be purchased locally, which was accordingly done; but the articles so obtained had to be shipped to Chatham for issue to the troops. So that after they were received in Dublin they were shipped at the North Wall for Chatham, and there transhipped and sent back to Dublin for use, arriving a week after the class for which they had been intended had been dismissed.

The last South African war was responsible for an enormous display of red tape. One of the most amusing instances concerned the fitting-up of troopships to take "Tommy," to the front. A certain amount of air-space was specified for each man, but in some of the ships utilised the space in the cabins and steerage slightly exceeded the specifications. One would imagine that this was a fault on the right side, but for some reason for which nobody understood, false ceilings had to be put up to reduce the air space to Government allowance per man.

An Indian Government official once had a most extraordinary experience of red-tape methods, and which he thought was "going a bit too far." He had been "on leave to the hills," invalided, for over three months, but owing to the exacting formalities of the Accounts Department he had been unable to procure the necessary requisites to complete the forms for drawing his salary for that period.

These being at last sent in for sanction, imagine his chagrin when, in course of time, an order for June's pay only was received, accompanied by the information that he had only sent in a certificate stating that he was alive on the 1st of July, and that, before sanction for the drawing of his salary for the previous two months, a certificate signed by the medico of the station must be submitted, proving that he was alive on the 1st June and 1st May respectively!

A gallant officer in a famous corps managed to get even with "the powers that be" upon one occasion. Having been despatched by the authorities on important business, he sent in a claim to Whitehall for about $200. Among the items appeared, "Cab 2s. 6d.; porter, 3d." After much delay and the bandying of many documents, he was told that his claim could not be paid as it stood commissariat expenses not being allowed.

The officer explained that "porter" referred to a man, not to drinks; then after more delay, he received another red-tape missive to say that the item in that case should have been entered as "porterage," and that his only course was to make out another and correct list. Determined to be in the right this time, the officer's next claim appeared before My Lords as: "Porter or porterage, 3d.; cab or cabbage, 2s. 6d."

Refined Rooting.

The English root very politely. When a cricketer lands a fly the bleacherites yell: "Oh, jolly well caught! Oh, very well caught indeed." Sometimes when a player plays unusually well they write him a note the next day.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Well Satisfied.

First Negro—I heah that Andrew Jackson Jones am run over by an automobile. Did he get any satisfaction? Second Negro—He suttinly did. He took de machine's number, played policy wif it an' won $10!—Satire.

A Bad Heart, Its Cause and Cure

Many, Firmly Convinced They Are Dying of Heart Trouble, Have Often the Strongest Hearts.

Sometimes you wake you wake up at night, heart throbbing like a steam engine. Your breathing is short and irregular; pains shoot through the chest and abdomen, and cause horrible anxiety.

Your trouble isn't with the heart at all. These sensations are the outcome of indigestion, which has caused gas to form on the stomach and press against the heart.

Just read what happened to Isaac Malloux, of Belle River, Ont.:

"Three months ago I was a weak sickly man. My appetite was poor, food fermented in my stomach, I had sour risings and indigestion. At night I would often weaken with gas in the stomach and heart palpitation.

"I consulted my doctor and used remedies that my friends advised. Nothing helped.

"One day I received a sample of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and my cure commenced. To-day I have a vigorous appetite, strong heart action, and no sign of indigestion. I feel younger and healthier than ever before."

Your druggist or storekeeper sells Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Special Car Exhibit.

The special car by which the Department of Agriculture has been advertising the resources of Northern Ontario will start upon its annual round on September 15th. The points at which the car will stop have not been decided upon definitely but the tour will cover the eastern counties. Last Fall Western Ontario was given an opportunity to see what the north could produce.

A Correction.

By mistake we credited Ald. Anderson in yesterday morning's report of the debate of Aldermen re licensing rinks, with saying, "the Curling rink is a money-making power. The report should have read, "the curling rink is not a money-making concern." Our Council's capable Finance Minister does not wish to be understood as advocating the imposition of a license fee upon the curling rink, as he would strenuously oppose any such measure.

UNKNOWN FATHER PURSUES DAUGHTER

Girl's Arrest Caused by Parent whom She Never Saw Before.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 4.—On a warrant sworn out by her father, whom she never remembered seeing, Isolina Crocetti, a 17-year-old girl, of 30 Melvin avenue, Lynn, was arrested by Patrolman Sherry yesterday afternoon, charged with being a stubborn child. The arrest came as a distinct surprise to the young girl, who did not even know that her father was living.

She told the police that the father, Angelo Crocetti, who is a resident of Salem, had deserted her mother in Italy when the daughter was but 7 months old. He never returned to Italy. A few years ago the mother died and the girl came to America and lived with relatives in Lynn. The only explanation for the arrest that she could give was that her father was probably anxious to show that he was still her legal guardian.

Relatives of the girl furnished bail for her.

GIRLS ATTACKED BY RAT.

Two Were Wounded on the Face and Arms by Rodents.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 4.—Cries of his two little girls, Mary and Anna., aged 5 and 7 years, early yesterday morning, awakened Arthur Gething at his home in Nanticoke. Rushing to their bed, he found them bleeding profusely from wounds on the face and arms, and fighting desperately the attacks of a large rat, which was gnawing their flesh.

PORT NELSON TO BE TERMINAL FOR THE HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

Gives Ontario Direct Access Over T. & N. O.—New Line Will Be 418 Miles—Work to be Pushed

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—The government will proceed at once with the laying out of Port Nelson harbor, which has been decided upon as the terminal of the Hudson Bay Railway. To this end 15 buoys and other necessary equipment, are being sent forth by the steamer Boethic, which sails for Port Nelson Sunday.

The selection of this port as the terminal removes some doubt as to whether it or Fort Churchill would be the final choice. The importance of this decision for Ontario lies in the fact that the Province will now have direct access to the Hudson Bay Railway over its own territory.

Has Five-Mile Right of Way.

In the adjustment of the boundaries between Ontario and Manitoba, Ontario exerted all its influence with the authorities at Ottawa to secure a Hudson Bay port. To Manitoba, however, which resisted the demand successfully, both Fort Churchill and Port Nelson were awarded. But Ontario through an ingenious compromise, secured a five-mile right of way from its boundary to Port Nelson, which guarantees of ample accommodation for terminal facilities and dockage. The design of Ontario now will be to extend the Provincial Railway from Cochrane northward to Port Nelson as a necessary condition to colonization and as a means of access to the timber, fisheries and minerals of the territory.

From Le Pas Mission.

The Hudson Bay Railroad starts from the crossing of the Saskatchewan river at the Pas Mission. The great bridge across the river is under construction. A branch of the Canadian Northern Railway now runs from Prince Albert northerly 100 miles to the Mission, almost on the 54th parallel. It is intended that the Hudson Bay road shall run from the Pas Northerly to the Bay.

To Port Nelson the distance is 416 miles, and the engineers favored it as the terminus. They reported that the distance was shorter than to Fort Churchill by 80 miles; that the natural difficulties of the route were less serious; that construction would be less costly; that a better country would be traversed and a better harbor secured.

Cost of $30,000,000.

The Port Nelson route gives gradients of 21 ft. in the mile both north ward and southward. The cost is estimated at $17,000,000 to Nelson. There must be added from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 for harbor works, for the exploration, lighting, buoying of Hudson Bay and for other necessary assistance to navigation. Probably the final cost of the whole enterprise will not fall below $30,000,000.

HOW NATIONS SEEK TO DISCOURAGE RACE SUICIDE

British Chancellor of Exchequer Has Good Old Examples To Work From In Attempts To Improve Birth Rate

London, Sept. 5.—In 1801, the French Parliament had before it a bill proposing to divide the whole nation into five classes. In the first were to be the parents of ten children, who were to be honored by wearing a tricolor ribbon in their hats. On the other hand, bachelors were to suffer all kinds of disabilities. No bachelor was to be allowed to dispose of property at death; he was not to be permitted to attend any public meetings; and he was to be compelled to wear a green and yellow cockade in his hat whenever he went along the streets.

Germany, too, has the trouble long years ago, and curious measures were put forward as remedies for it. A motion was introduced to make unmarried men pay so many taxes that it would be impossible for them to live in the State. Another suggestion was that half the income of childless should be taken from them, and that they should be forced to dress in official costume of a drab brown which would make them the scorn and scoff of all other people!

Germany proposed that all married folk who had more than eight children should live with payment of but a third of the ordinary taxes, while, if a courageous husband and wife managed to have more than a dozen children, they were to have a house provided by the municipality free of all rent and rates!

That famous ruler of France, the Grand Monarch, went even further than this in his efforts to mitigate the much-declining birthrate of his time. From an edict issued at Tournay it is found that the State actually offered very decent pensions to all parents who did their duty manfully (and womanfully) by having their quivers, as sayeth the Psalmist. Fathers of ten children were to be exempt from all taxes and rates whatever, if such men belonged to the peasant class; if they belonged to the aristocratic class they were to receive a yearly pension of $5,000. Should parents of this class contrive to have a dozen children they were to be given $10,000, as an annual gift from the State for life.

Sweden long ago had to face a similar problem. Her rulers found that if the birth rate did not materially improve, before many more years things would be so serious that the little nation would be in danger of being overwhelmed by fierce rivals and surrounding foes who had long wanted the Baltic coast as their own. So Sweden offered many advantages to parents who managed to have a certain number of little ones; and her benefits were arranged in a regular scale, increasing by something like a geometrical progression in value, after the lowest limit of six children was passed.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lloyd-George, has, then, many good old examples to work from in his present attempts to improve the birth rate in these islands. The Kaiser is equally anxious and keen in Germany to-day for a similar tendency is manifesting itself strongly there with respect to the declining number of births.

WOMEN OFTEN INVOKE CODE

Swords, Revolvers and Boxing Gloves Used To Vindicate Honor

SPANISH GIRLS WORST

Gloves Discarded and Cold Steel Used to Draw Blood.

Madrid, Sept. 5.—Duels among women are pretty frequent in Spain, Portugal and in the Austrian provinces of Italy. The ladies fight with swords, revolvers and sometimes boxing gloves.

A boxing glove duel was fought out in a small town near this city the other day between two girls heretofore the most intimate friends. The ladies went about it with all the punctiliousness employed by Boni Castellane and his friends in Paris. There were seconds, witnesses and a doctor. Ten rounds were fought and neither of the ladies was knocked out but both were tired to death.

"The rapiers," they demanded simultaneously. Rapiers were brought, and an exciting scene ensued. As in the celebrated painting, the girls shed their waists, but kept on their corsets, which was a precaution the doctor insisted upon. They had four bouts. One of the women received a stab in the shoulder, the other a slight cut in the left breast.

After they were patched up, they fell upon each other necks and kissed and promised to be good friends in the future, if either left the other's husband alone.

In Triest, two female students fought a duel; one was an Austrian, the other a girl from Roumania. They fought with swords, and the Austrian was wounded under the right arm.

The famous female boxer, Bellona, has issued an address to the women and girls of Europe, in which she advocates the code of honor and the duel.

"Like the men, we have our honor to defend, and, as a rule, get scant relief in the courts. Accordingly we must help ourselves, and, if necessary enforce our views upon others, sword in hand. Personally, I prefer to knock out my antagonists in the ring."

WOMAN DEAD IN HOUSE ON FIRE

Oshawa Tailor Is Arrested Following Finding Of Body

Oshawa, Sept. 5.—John Bateman, an aged tailor of Cedardale, a suburb of this place, was arrested yesterday morning and is being held by the police pending an investigation into the death of his wife, who was found dead on her bedroom floor this morning with wounds on her head.

About seven o'clock to-day a boy in a grocery store across the street from the Bateman home noticed smoke issuing from a window of the house. He sent a call to both the fire and police departments, and when Policeman Carl Stevens entered the house a few minutes later he found the woman lying dead on the floor. The disarrangement of the furniture indicated that there had been a struggle.

The accused man does not attempt to account for the death of the woman or for the wounds on her head, except to say that they had been quarreling and that she may have come in contact with some of the furniture.

The fire Bateman says started from an overturned lamp over which his wife was curling her hair.

Bateman is 77 years of age and the dead woman was 78.

SMALL BOYS INTOXICATED.

Toronto, Sept. 5.—A number of boys in a more or less intoxicated condition, attracted the attention of the police at Church and King street Wednesday. None of the victims of alcoholism was over 14 years of age, and the officers, curious to learn where they had procured the intoxicants, prosecuted a diligent search.

As a result, a bootblack in the Boulevard Hotel was brought before Commissioner Starr in the Juvenile Court this morning and fined $10 for supplying the lads with drink. The boys were lectured and then paroled.

QUARREL ENDS IN SHOOTING

Peterborough Man Sends Bullet At Wife's Head—He's Arrested

Following a quarrel with his wife, William Edward Raynor Leal shot her in the head about 8 o'clock yesterday morning at their home, 247 Aylmer street.

The bullet, fired from a 22 calibre rifle, struck the rim of the woman's glasses and plowed a furrow along the top of her left cheek bone. Running screaming from the house, she took refuge at the home of Mr. T. Rush, a neighbor, and later walked to Dr. J. B. Mann's office, Sherbrooke street, where the wound, which is not thought to be dangerous, was dressed.

Chief of Police Thompson received a telephone message reporting the shooting at 8.30 o'clock and assigned Constable Sill to arrest the husband. The officer found Leal in bed and took him to the station. An hour later he faced Deputy Magistrate Armstrong on a charge of attempting murder. He was remanded till Monday next. On the way to the jail he broke down and appeared deeply penitent.

The shooting is the culmination of a series of quarrels, it is said, growing out of trivial matters during spells of moroseness the prisoner is said to have been subject to.

The couple came from England two or three years ago and resided in Tweed before coming here. Leal is a machinist, 50 years of age, and, because of ill-health, it is stated, he has not had regular employment for several months.

Plumbers working in the upper story of the house, heard the quarreling and the rifle report. Upon starting down to ascertain the trouble, they were told to retreat or they also would be shot.

Mrs. Leal appeared more anxious about her husband's predicament than her own and freely expressed a willingness to condone his murderous attack.

CHEMONG PARK HOTEL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire, which is supposed to have started from a defective chimney, at noon yesterday, destroyed the Chemong Park Hotel, located seven miles from the city. The hotel was the property of Mr. Wm. Irwin, of Peterborough. Insurance to the amount of $1,200 on the building and $600 on the contents is reported. The ground floor contents were saved.

There was but one man remaining of the summer guests, Mr. A. Charles of Montreal. He saved his personal effects.

The blaze started near the kitchen roof, making it impossible to fight it effectively. Following the verandah the flames soon enveloped the brick-veneered structure and in half an hour only the broken walls remained.

Mr. R. E. Davis, proprietor of the hostelry, had planned to keep the hotel open this winter.

HARVESTING WHEAT AT NIGHT IN THE WEST

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 5.—Harvest conditions to-day throughout the West are much in advance of the same date in other years. Wednesday was one of the warmest days of the year and binders worked until late at night.

Two more weeks will see all grain cut and much of it threshed. It is showery to-day in many parts of the West.

Cutting In Alberta.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 5.—Harvesting was resumed with the return of fair weather. Only a small percentage of the crop has been cut.

Slight Frost In Calgary.

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 5.—The weather is dull, but fair. A light frost Wednesday night caused slight damage. Harvesting is general again.

U. S. COMMISSION COMING TO INSPECT TRENT VALLEY CANAL

New Canadian Waterway's Advantage Realized by Americans—Brings Liverpool 400 Miles Closer—Power and Tourist Facilities of Great Value—Mr. Cochrane's Efforts Bear Fruit

That the United States realizes the coming importance of the Trent Canal, as a competing factor in the Western grain traffic, there is no longer any doubt. The best evidence of America's fear that the Erie Canal is to lose the great Canadian trade it now enjoys lies in the fact that the New York State Commission on barge canal operations is coming to Canada this month to inspect the Trent waterway and gain information relative to its possibilities. The Commission will include Mr. Truman, chairman; Mr. Winslow Mead, secretary and Messrs. Benson, Peck and Partridge. The party will be conducted over the canal by Supt. J. H. McClellan.

The Trent Canal will shorten the haul of grain from the Soo to Montreal by 250 miles and as the Montreal route to Liverpool will thus be 400 miles shorter than via New York the economic advantage gained by using the Trent Canal route to tidewater is apparent. In other words the completion of the Trent Canal will mean the diverting of practically all the grain at present shipped for export via the Welland and Erie canal for New York to the Trent Canal via Montreal. It brings Liverpool 250 miles closer to the shipper from the Canadian Atlantic port and 400 miles closer than from the American seaboard. The following mileage figures tell the story:

Soo to Montreal, via Trent Canal, 703 miles.

Soo to Kingston, via Welland, 782 miles.

Economic Features.

The shorter haul not only means a more expeditious transportation route, but a corresponding reduction in the cost of transportation. This, following out the economic scale of advantage obviously means cheaper flour to the consumer in Great Britain.

Thus two distinct advantages stand out as a result of the operation of the canal. The one is a greater transportation business in Canada, the other a cheaper flour for the consumer across the Atlantic.

Attracts U. S. Attention.

The United States has planned to expend one hundred million dollars in shortening, deepening and otherwise improving the Erie Canal. It is easily understood therefore, that with the completion of the Trent Canal in sight, affording these great advantages, the Americans give pause to view the prospect. In fact an inspection of the Trent and its facilities may have the effect of persuading the New York Commission that in face of the Canadian advantage it would be folly to expend a hundred million on the Erie Canal, with a decreased business in sight. Equal grain rates apply from Montreal and New York to Liverpool.

Mr. Cochrane's Push.

Canadians themselves are only awakening to the commercial and economic value of the Trent Canal, which, under the energetic efforts of Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals, is less than two years from its official opening birthday. To Mr. Cochrane's push in connection with the Canal is due largely the prospect of opening what will prove to be one of the most important waterways on the continent.

The canal will accommodate boats drawing 8 feet 4 inches of water, carrying 30,000 bushels each.

Develops Great Power.

Aside from the canal's commercial advantages it develops 110,000 horse power available at more than a dozen towns and cities from its surplus-conserved waters. One idea of the value of this auxiliary asset may be gained from the fact that without it cities and industries would be sending out at least four million dollars annually to the United States for coal to generate power. The average cost per horse power developed by steam is $40.

Promise for Tourists.

The canal will be open to all classes of craft that its depth will accommodate and promises to become a great tourist route. It wends through a country of beautiful scenery. City, forest, hill, dale and a multitude of lakes lie along its route affording unsurpassed camping sites, fishing grounds and boating and bathing.

HOME MARKET BEST FOR GRAIN

J. H. Burnham, M.P., Says Natural Laws Favor The Canadians

(The Winnipeg Telegram.)

The Telegram is in receipt of a letter from J. H. Burnham, member of Parliament for West Peterborough bearing on the grain price situation. Mr. Burnham's communication is of peculiar interest at this time. It follows:

"I am very much interested in the grain-tariff question as now being threshed out in the present one-sided controversy between you and your confreres. I say 'one-sided' because I have gone into the matter myself, straight to the facts, and I found to my astonishment that the Canadian grain market, instead of being equal to the American grain market, was much in access of it grain for grain and age for age, and I am not misled by different grading or in any other way. Though not a farmer, but merely an eastern tenderfoot, I felt it my duty as a member of Parliament to see things at first hand and this is one of the things I have seen at first hand.

Winnipeg Cash Market.

"I found that the Winnipeg cash grain market was far in access of the Minneapolis cash market, and that the local transactions were large and, in fact, the whole affair absolutely bonafide. Also I have found that American wheat is being bought in large quantities and brought into Canada. This was still more unexpected. But it is so. Possibly in coarse grains for cattle feeding purposes the American market is a large consuming market. But do we propose in this country to furnish the American with fertilizer and a cattle trade at our own expense?

Facing the Facts.

"If the reciprocity newspapers will abandon their patronizing or ominous tone and face the fact that the law of supply and demand is now operating in favor of the Canadian market, and if the followers of the leader of the opposition will also recognize the fact that much as we know in Canada, the old land may possibly know its own business best, and is entitled to go unadvised by him or them on its wilful way of putting its means of naval defence in proper shape, two happy consummations will be reached. But if naval defence is bosh, as Sir Wilfrid says, what of the Laurier navy?

Worse Than Useless.

"A poor navy, unlike a poor excuse, is worse than none, and that is why the Laurier navy idea went up in "Niobe." But let me say one more thing and I am done. The east is just as keen for the welfare of the west as I hope the west is for the east, and the country at large, here or elsewhere is capable of great things in the hands of a united, broad-minded and truly patriotic people, which I am sure we all are."

THREE CLIENTS MEET STRANGE FATE IN N. Y.

New York, Sept. 5.—Consular representatives of two foreign nations interested themselves in the case of Burton W. Gibson, a New York lawyer, against whom the Austrian Consulate started proceedings to have him removed as executor of the will of Mrs. Rosa Szabo, a widow. She drowned not long ago in Greenwood Lake, Orange County, while in company with Gibson in a row boat. She left an estate of $10,000.

According to John J. Broderick, the acting Council General for Great Britain, Mr. Gibson was Counsel and adviser for John Rice O'Neill, a British subject, who disappeared more than a year ago after winning a $10,000 damage suit from a railroad company for the loss of a leg. The British consulate made efforts several months ago to trace O'Neill, but without avail.

NOTHING TO SAY.

Mr. Gibson, whose home is at Rutherford, N.J., not far from New York, has been on a motor trip up state, but he appeared at his law office in down town New York and said that he had no statement to make.

"I have nothing to say," he said, "I may have something to say later."

In 1906, Gibson was counsel for Mrs. Alice Kinnan, who was killed in her home in the Bronx. The murder was never solved. On the recommendation of the coroner's jury, Gibson was held in $25,000 bail pending investigation of the case, but he was released on a habeas corpus writ and the matter was dropped. He subsequently brought suit for false arrest.

DIPHTHERIA TAKES 30 IN TORONTO IN 6 MONTHS

Toronto, Sept. 5.—Toronto's health department recorded fifteen deaths from diptheria in August. Of the 15 nine were from the St. Vincent's Infants' Home.

The records of the City Hall show that there have been 30 deaths from diptheria in the infants' home since February—an appalling record.

peatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a desperate financial condition, and the State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 46 Cecil street, Toronto D-6 in J4

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 388 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

ALPINE LIFE LINES.

The Ropes Are Selected For Strength, Flexibility and Lightness.

The ropes used by Alpine climbers is of special manufacture, combining as far as possible the differing qualities of strength, flexibility and lightness.

Three qualities are in general use, being made from sisal, Italian and Manila hemps respectively, and occasionally, when cost is not a consideration, of silk. The latter, though very light and strong, is not so durable as the others. That which finds most favor among British mountaineers is known as Buckingham's Alpine rope. It is made of the best Manila hemp.

In the year 1864, Mr. McLeish recalls, a committee of the Alpine club made tests upon a number of ropes suitable for mountaineering. Of the two that were approved one was made of Italian hemp and the other of Manila. They both had a breaking strain of two tons and sustained the weight of a twelve stone man after falling from a height of ten feet.

Nonmountaineers have sometimes considered this insufficient, but it is highly problematical whether the human anatomy could survive the sudden compression of a thin rope arising from any greater fall.—Fry's Magazine.

A BULL RING BEGGAR.

The Intruder Wanted Bread, but He Got "Thumbs Down."

Sometimes the bullfight in Spain is used to compel the attention of the authorities to grievances that would otherwise go unnoticed, as is seen in the following incident described by Harry A. Franck in "Four Months Afoot In Spain:"

"The newcomer will long remember his first bull—certainly if, as in my own case, the first banderillero slips at the moment of thrusting his barbed darts and is booted like a soccer football half around the ring by the snorting animal. Still less shall I forget the chill that shot through me when, with the fifth bull at the height of his fury, a gaunt and awkward boy of fifteen sprang suddenly over the barriers and shook his ragged blouse a dozen times in the animal's face. As many times he escaped a goring by the closest margin.

"The toreros did not for a moment lose their heads. Calmly and dexterously they maneuvered until one of them drew the bull off, when another caught the intruder by the arm and marched him across the ring to the shade of the mayor's box. There the youth, who had taken this means of gaining an audience, lifted up a mournful voice and asked for food, asserting that he was starving—a statement that seemed by no means improbable. The response was thumbs down. But he gained his point, in a way, for he was given a fortnight in prison.

"Incidents of the sort had grown so frequent of late in Seville as to make necessary a new law, promulgated in large letters on that day's program. Printed words in all probability meant nothing to this neglected son of Seville."

Riches and Contentment.

"Contentment is better than riches," said the ready made philosopher.

"True," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "but my observation is that a man who is rich has a better chance of becoming content than a man who is contented has of becoming rich."—Washington Star.

IRVING'S STAGE EFFECTS.

Silence, Light and Just One Other Essential Produced Them.

Wendell Phillips Dodge relates in the London Strand Magazine an incident growing out of the first meeting of Robert Mantell with Sir Henry Irving back in 1882, when both were playing Romeo in London. There were reviewers who found Irving too old for the youthful Romeo, and one advised that he should make way for "the young fellow over at the Olympic."

Irving prepared a special afternoon performance in the Lyceum, to which all the players in London were invited. After it was over Mantell went back of the stage, and Irving asked him how he liked the performance. "It has been like an afternoon at school with congenial lessons," replied Mantell. "How do you do it? How do you manage effects? How do you get such atmosphere, such a realization of the glory of the tragedy, with such little effort? Is there no recipe?"

"There is—indeed, there is," answered Irving; "simple, too—only three things to remember. The first is silence and plenty of it behind the scenes, so that the actor may be at ease, with nothing to distract when striving for his shadings. The second is light, regulated as far as possible so that nature is counterfeited, and that, young man, is the recipe."

"But," protested Mantell, "you said there were three things to remember. You have mentioned but two. Is there a third?"

"Did I say a third?" asked Irving. "Um—perhaps I did, perhaps I did, but what could I have had in mind? Let me see. Ah, yes, silence, light and—um, shall I say—actors? Remember that, my boy, actors. Silence, light and—actors, that is the third."

What Jane Said.

"Did you hear the satirical reply Jane Sharp made to Tommy Glider?"

"No; what was it?"

"He said, 'It wouldn't be my money you would marry me for, would it?'"

"And what did Jane say?"

"She said, 'What awful conceit!'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Precautionary.

Slobbs—Why do you strike Harduppe for a loan every time you meet him? You know he never has any money. Slobbs — Merely in self defense, my boy. If I didn't strike him he'd strike me.—Philadelphia Record.

The highest compact we can make with our fellow is, Let there be truth between us forevermore.—Emerson.

Brazil Nuts.

The Brazil nut is a rich food, 60 per cent of it being oil.

A Hungarian Fire Eater.

A famous Hungarian duelist celebrated in 1886 his thirty-fifth encounter. He gave a banquet to which only those were bidden who could prove six duels. An exception was made in favor of a woman who had met and killed her man.

POWER OF THE OCTOPUS.

The Force Exerted by Its Formidable Sucker Lined Arms.

Both the octopus and the cuttlefish have arms that are clothed with a formidable array of suckers, which are wonderful pieces of mechanism. When the sucker comes into contact with an object the central piston, having previously been raised so as to completely fill the cavity of the sucker, is at once withdrawn and a perfect vacuum produced, explaining the great tenacity with which the suckers cling. They number upward of 100 pairs to each arm of the octopus, and once they obtain a grip on the victim, unless the arm is actually torn away from the body of the octopus, it is practically impossible for its prey to disentangle itself.

In addition to these suckers the octopus has a powerful pair of jaws, shaped like the beak of a parrot, behind which is a formidable armor plated tongue used as a rasping organ. The octopus will attack and kill crabs and lobsters of considerable size, ripping open the body by means of its powerful jaws and devouring the contents. In spite of being a creature of such awe inspiring looks the octopus has several enemies in various species of whales, sharks and conger eels. In fact, the latter are particularly fond of devouring the smaller octopuses.

Conger eels hunt for the octopus and when found proceed to browse on its limbs. The octopus tries to hug the slippery, slimy conger tight, but in vain, and, finding its limbs growing less, discharges its ink in the face of the foe and under cover of the turbid water beats a hasty retreat. It is to escape the too pressing attention of its foes that the octopus possesses the power of changing its color to correspond with that of its surroundings.

The Putrid Sea.

There is a body of water called Sivash or Putrid Sea. It is really a lagoon on the east coast of the Crimea, separated from the sea of Azov by a narrow sand bar called the tongue of Arabat. The lagoon is sixty-eight miles long, varying in width from two to fourteen miles. The water is very shallow, stagnant and exceedingly salt.

Result of His Joy.

"I have here a reprieve for you from the home secretary," said the governor of the prison to the callous murderer.

"Ah!" replied the latter. "No news is good news, as the proverb says."—London Answers.

Odd English Customs.

England can boast of more quaint customs and ceremonies that have been handed down from century to century than any other civilized nation. The sounding of the mayor's horn at Ripon is one of the most ancient customs in the kingdom. It formerly announced the setting of the watch, but it has now lapsed into the formality of three blasts given at 9 o'clock every evening at the mayor's residence by his official hornblower and three more at the market cross.

A German emissary is in Canada trying to invest millions. Does that look warlike?

The Duke carried sunshine with him to the West or did it follow him? Anyhow it's there at last.

Barbershop regulations in New Westminster require the customer to take along his own razor, mug and soap. Looks more like a plan to regulate the patron than the barber.

The Sultan of Morocco, revelling in his freedom from the cares of a throne amid the delights of France, must excite the envy of poor Mr. Taft and the wondering contempt of Mr. Roosevelt.

A prospector named Millions died en route with the rush to stake a claim in New Ontario. Evidence showed that his net capital was $2, apparently illustrating that there is nothing in a name.

A Guelph man reported having killed a snake eight feet long and as big around as a stove pipe. His story might have stuck had he not added that there were two of them and one got away.

A certain cult holds that hell is not a place of fire and brimstone, but a region where lost souls suffer intense cold. If the fact can be established it will explode the theory that hell never freezes over.

A Tennessee man helped a tramp nineteen years ago, and now falls heir to the tramps $2,000,000 estate. This g.f. j. knows of other men who helped tramps nineteen years ago and are still $2,000,000 shy.

A local philosopher says that a man's idea of solid comfort is to sit down some place where he can get his heels higher than his head, and a woman's idea of comfort is to be in some place where she can take off her corsets and scratch her ribs.

It is sad, but it is true, that the average young man who takes a vacation spends the larger part of his time taking more drinks that is good for him, and is foolish enough to think that he is benefited by the recreation.

When ex-President Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard, confesses to being 'on the fence" in regard to choosing a presidential candidate, what can the common mentality of the United States electorate hope to accomplish in the task of selection?

Those street poles must go. In Ottawa they solved the question by the city paying most of the cost of removing the poles and putting the wires underground, and in return was granted the use of the conduits for city electric wires and other wire connections.

"Bows on the Panama Canal spades have been trumps, but in the last deal clubs seem to have it. Don't discard your hearts, though. They will yet win the game."—Ottawa Citizen. Yes, but Uncle Sam's long suit is diamonds.—Toronto Star. Yes, and he got it on a four-flush.

As an observing tourist Mr. J. H. Burnham M.P. has proved an enjoyable surprise to the readers of the Times. His letters are as full of information about the West as an egg is of meat. Mr. Burnham knows how to write as well as speak.

A further reduction in cable rates is promised. If operating and maintenance expenses have materially increased, as is claimed, and still the cable companies can afford to make a second reduction in rates within two years, one may well wonder what were the profits before the rate reduction and increased cost of operation.

There appears to be the usual shortage of harvest hands in the West. Two months hence we will hear, the usual stories of stranded workers who went west cherishing the delusion that the owners of the harvest would be in dire need of their assistance and would pay generous wages to all comers. Our Eastern youths will do well to take a good many of these harvest stories with the proverbial grain of salt.

CLOSING IN ON TURKEY

Things are coming to a head in European Turkey. Bulgaria and Montenegro were already openly hostile. Servia completes the chain of foes on the northern border. Within rebellion rages through Albania and Macedonia. Only Greece is calm.

The Turkish raid on the Servian town of Sienitza was an almost incredible act of folly and barbarity. The Turkish government is making a show of proceedings to punish the butchers of Bulgarians at Kotchana, and will no doubt take like steps with reference to the Servian incident; but these events show that the Government either connives at the barbarities of its soldiery or is unable to check them.

How will it end? Count Von Berchthold, the Austrian foreign minister, posing as the disinterested friend of Turkey, urges perseverance, which, according to him, Turkey has begun. It needs an altruistic Austrian statesman to discover any method in Turkey's present courses. But what the count means is that Turkey should give the Balkan provinces practical independence. This must come sooner or later. The sooner the better.

NEW FIELD OF INVESTIGATION.

Medical "authorities" are continually discovering something new in regard to the ailments and diseases the flesh is heir to. Their latest "discovery" is that "writers' cramp" and other conditions of muscular paralysis are actually due, not to the tiring of the muscles, but to brain fag. It appears that the particular part of the movements of writing or the working of a telegraph key, tends to become more quickly exhausted in some persons than others. Such exhaustion leads to a state in which the brain is actually unable to send out its necessary messages to the hands and fingers to write, tap a key, hold a violin bow, and other similar actions of the fingers. It is declared further that once the nerve cells, the batteries of the brain, get run down, it is not easy to restore their energy. This new view of the matter is interesting. Heretofore it has been held that all troubles of the kind were due simply to overtiring of the muscles concerned. But now that this new field of investigation is opened, undoubtedly the savants will glean a great deal of knowledge concerning nerves and brain. This subject, like that of the stomach and digestion, is still in its infancy.

A MOVE IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—The proposal to increase the picture show from $40 to $75 per year is move in the right direction. The only thing about it is that it does not go nearly far enough. The licenses should be $500 at least, with $500 extra for vaudeville. This would probably reduce the play houses, which are taking all the loose change that children as well as older ones can raise to one place only. It is a downright shame that three show houses are being maintained in our midst. They are harmful in their effects, for they not only take all small money in sight, but they get our young people in the habit of keeping late hours. It is usually nearly midnight when they close.

I am glad to see The Times has had the courage to take this matter up, and press it upon the council. Keep right on until you succeed in putting an end to this great evil, is the earnest wish of

A Special Building to Contain a Thimbleful of Metal.

London, Sept. 5.—The Radium "palace," which is to be built in Paris for the use of Madame Curie and the Pasteur Institute, will, it is said, cost $80,000. Probably all the radium it will contain when finished could be accommodated in a thimble, though necessitating an expenditure greater than the cost of the "palace" The elaborate precaution against burglary which are to be taken scarcely seem necessary; no burglar would waste his time stealing a few grains of dirty-looking salt which could be disposed of in no channel he could safe in which the radium is to be kept are all essential, for lead offers the most effective resistance to the passage of the potent rays, which night and day radium shoots out in every direction. And, curiously enough, lead appears to be the final product resulting from the successive transformations the wonderful element undergoes.

ONE LOST EYE AND OTHER MINUS EAR

Desperate Fight Between Two Berlin Society Women.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—The rivalry in love between two society women, the Baroness Cecilia von Schendel and Frau Sybilla von Nordhausen, has just had its sequel at the Court of First Instance at Schoneberg, Berlin.

They had previously been intimate friends, but fell in love with a young cavalry officer, and from that moment they became the bitterest of foes.

The two ladies frequently met at social functions, and many angry scenes ensued. To put an end to an intolerable situation, Frau von Nordhause sent a telephone message to the baroness requesting a final interview, at which dice were to be cast for the officer's preference.

The interview was duly arranged at the baroness' residence, but shortly after the two women had met they came to blows.

After a fierce tooth and nail encounter the adversaries had recourse to a hatpin and a pair of scissors, the consequence being that the baroness had an eye put out and her enemy an ear literally torn from her head.

At the hearing of the case Baroness von Schendel produced a neatly-folded paper packet, from which she took a bunch of her adversary's hair, which she flourished before the judge's eyes with the triumphant cry: "I have had my revenge and have damaged her beauty."

The baroness who has lost the sight of an eye; was awarded $100 damages.

ANGRY ELEPHANT KILLS A HUNTER

Knelt on Him and Reduced Him to Shapeless Mass.

Nombasa, Sept. 5.—Details have been received regarding the death of R. P. Filler Maitland, of Lumbwa. Mr. Maitland was hunting elephant near Imjemps, in the Baringo district, when he came across a herd.

Having selected his elephant, he managed to get eight shots into it without inflicting a fatal wound. The elephant at once made for the thick bush, whither Mr. Maitland followed, notwithstanding the warnings of his Somali porters. The elephant turned on him, and as it charged, he hit the beast twice more. Neither shot proved fatal, and the elephant picked up its victim, flung him against a tree and knelt upon him, reducing the body to a shapeless mass. The body was later taken into Baringo and there buried.

PLAN REGULATION FOR SAFETY AT SEA

London, Sept. 5.—On what may be described as good authority it is stated that the Dutch government has decided to convene at an early date a conference of the Powers in order to plan and enforce a universal shipping law—i. e., uniform measures and regulations for ensuring the safety of ships, crews, passengers and cargoes. The idea has arisen from the wreck of the Titanic, and other disasters, showing that if similar precautions and similar means of rescue were adopted all the world over such calamities would be considerably reduced in number and consequences, or perhaps prevented altogether. The Hague being the center of the unification of peace, arbitration and other international lawmaking, it has appeared to the Dutch government that no place is so well equipped for the elaboration of maritime rules of the kind.

WOMEN NO LONGER THE WEAKER SEX

Result of Careful Investigation of Scientists—Interesting Conclusions Arrived at.

Paris, Sept. 5.—In a paper submitted to the congress of the society for the Advancement of Science, sitting at Nimes, a delegate has declared that in general the female oyster is more vigorous than the male.

In a contribution to the science of eugenics which he has just submitted Professor Carvallo puts forward a similar claim on behalf of the female of the human species. Woman, he said, is no longer the weaker sex. She is the stronger. The professor's investigations have been confined chiefly to France. Farseeing Nature, he declares, is seeking to re-establish a sex equilibrium. That is why the ratio of female births has increased, and why women are the more vigorous of the sexes.

Discussing the question of climatic influences upon the determination of sex, Professor Carvallo has ascertained that more babies of the masculine sex are born in the country than in the city, and more at the seaside than inland. With mothers aged 40 the proportion of masculine births is higher than in the case of much younger mothers.

Baby Boys, are physically more fragile than their infant sisters, and consequently the rate of mortality is much higher among boys.

MORTGAGES ON LAND.

Why It Is Essential That They Should Be Recorded.

As the value of land to the owner increases so does the security of mortgage investments given on that land increase. A mortgage may be considered as a deed of the land which revests the title in the original owner or his successor on the paying off of the mortgage or the bond or note which the mortgage secures.

Mortgages are recorded in public offices, called registers, recorders or county clerks' offices, in much the same way that deeds are, so that any one buying the land is bound to take notice of them, and the land is bound by them, no matter to whom the land is conveyed, and no one has a right to say that he bought the land not knowing that a mortgage was on it, for he is presumed by law to know such facts, as a search of the title in these public offices would reveal.

If, however, the holder of the mortgage does not cause the mortgage to be recorded then any innocent purchaser of the land can take it clear of the lien of the mortgage.

In no particular has the law of this country gone further than in the effort to secure the title of the landowner and the security of the mortgage holder, and no investments are more highly regarded by the conservative business man than those founded on the imperishable surface of the earth.—Christian Herald.

UMBRELLA HANDLES.

In France They Shape Them as They Grow In Nurseries.

Most of the handles of canes, alpenstocks, parasols and umbrellas used in France are grown in nurseries. Ash, maple, oak, chestnut and other woods are used. In the early part of the first year after planting the young trees are cut near the ground to bring about the formation of numerous sprouts. The lower branches are removed, and only a plume of leaves is left.

Early in the spring the sprouts are subjected to a surgical operation. Their bark is cut, and the wood is carved in different designs, which are swollen by the sap and grow in high relief as the tree develops. Special instruments are used for the cutting and designing. Thus carved, the sprouts grow for three years.

At the end of the third year the forest of umbrella handles is cut, and the cuts are dried in the sun and then given a vapor bath, after which they are put into the hands of skilled workmen, who peel them with one quick movement.

When skinned the peelers cut them to the required lengths and send them to the umbrella maker, who varnishes them. If the shape desired is a ring or other open form a ring or oval or square is grafted to the natural stalk, bound closely, and left to grow into place.—Harper's.

Extra Buttons.

"It takes stout people to break all rules regulating the number of buttons on a coat or waistcoat," said the tailor. "They can't follow the fashion; their size won't let them.

"'Three buttons on a coat this year,' tailors' conventions may decree, or two or four or five, or whatever number they think proper, but the man with a figure that is constantly trying to escape its environment does not care about conventions. What he wants is buttons enough to keep his clothes in shape.

"'Put 'em closer together,' he says, 'so the strain won't all come on two or three buttons.'

"So we put them closer together, and the result is that stout people frequently have twice as many buttons on their clothes as fashion calls for."—New York Times.

An Able Manager.

A western senator was telling a story about an able campaign manager.

"He is a remarkably economical chap," said the senator. "He can make a dollar go further in a campaign than any man I know. They tell a story about him—a story that shows what a manager he is. It seems he went into a cigar store one day to get a light. Well, as he was lighting up a man entered and bought three five-cent cigars. As soon as the man left our friend said quickly:

"'Those cigars are six for a quarter, ain't they?'

"'Yes, sir,' said the salesman.

"Our friend laid down a dime.

"'Gimme,' he said, 'the other three then.'"—New York Tribune.

A Ghost Story.

A London daily tells a short modern ghost story. A man was traveling on a northbound train out of London. Opposite him was a silent stranger, his only companion. Between London and Derby no word passed. Then, as the train drew out of Derby, he said pleasantly, "Good line, this, sir, eh?" The stranger replied, "I think it's a beastly bad line. I was killed on it two years ago."

He Shouldn't.

A man with a donkey for sale, hearing that a friend wanted to buy one, sent him the following, written on a postal card:

"Dear Jack. If you are looking for a really good donkey, please don't forget me."—Exchange.

FIRE DANGER AT SEA.

How Flames Can Sweep the Inside of Even a Metal Ship.

The danger from fire on a transatlantic liner is more serious than is generally believed. It is much greater than the danger from collision and is becoming more and more dangerous with the increased outlay upon luxury and display. The main structure of the ship and most of its essential parts are of metal, but many of the fittings, nearly every feature of ornament and every trapping of luxury, are highly inflammable.

No one who has not been aboard the Spanish wrecks at Santiago can conceive how fire can sweep the inside of even a metal ship. Admiral Cervera described to me the experience on board the Teresa in these words: "The second shot that came on board set us on fire. The fire main was damaged. Soon we were unable to cope with the fire. It swept through her from bow to stern. There was not a space as big as the palm of your hand where life could have been sustained. An insect could not have lived on board. We had to get overboard or be burned."

It is true the Spaniards had not cut out their woodwork and thrown overboard all unnecessary inflammables, as we had in the American fleet, but the inflammability of one of their warships was much less than that of a luxurious ocean liner.—Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson in Engineering Magazine.

PINEAPPLE PLANTS.

They Do Not Die After Fruiting, but Reproduce Themselves.

Pineapples do not grow on trees. Imagine a plant four feet in extreme height from the ground to the tip of leaves, a single stalk at the surface, but dividing at once into swordlike blades or leaves, fifteen in number, from the center of which appears a stiff, upright stem, at the top of which is the fruit. This stem is short, and the crown of the fruit when fully grown is a foot or more below the points of the leaves.

At the end of a year and a half from planting each plant produces a single fruit, even as a cabbage plant produces a single head. But the pineapple does not die after fruiting once. Down on the stem below the fruit and among the long, narrow leaves a sucker appears. If allowed to remain this will soon become the head of the plant, and within another year it will yield another fruit. This process may go on for a term of years. In the meantime, however, other suckers will make their appearance.

These are broken off, and when stuck into the ground they put out roots and become other plants. Thus a single pineapple plant may produce a dozen or more others while it is yielding fruit from year to year.

The Intruder.

A certain boat coming up the Mississippi one day during a flood lost her way and bumped up against a frame house. She hadn't more than touched it before an old darky rammed his head up through a hole in the roof, where the chimney once came out, and yelled at the captain on the roof: "Whar's you gwine wid dat boat? Can't you see nothin'? Fust thing you knows you gwine to turn dis house ober, spill de old woman an' de chil'en out in de flood an' drown 'em. What you doin' out here in de country wid your boat, anyhow? Go on back yander froo de co'nfields an' get back into de ribber whar you b'longs. Ain't got no business sev'n miles out in the country foolin' roun' people's houses nohow!" And the boat backed out.—Life.

Blue Blood.

An Irish chauffeur, when near the House of Lords, had the misfortune to run his car over an old man who had a bottle of blue inside his coat. Jumping from his car, and seeing the fluid rapidly staining the old fellow's breast, he cried to his friend:

"Finnegan, it'll go harrud wid us! We've killed won o' thim blue-blooded aristocrats that Lloyd George is always talking about!"

Nipped Himself.

A political speaker accused a rival of "unfathomable meanness" and then, rising to the occasion, said, "I warn him not to persist in his disgraceful course or he'll find that two of us can play at that game."

DISTRICT NEWS

APSPEY.

A meeting of the municipal council was held in the Town hall, Apsley Saturday, August 31st. Present, Wm. Tucker, reeve in the chair, and Councillors Harris, McIlmoyle, McCauley and Hales. Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

Communication from Dr. Anderson, Coe Hill, re account, for attending S. Steele; account ordered to be paid

From Thos. Hill, asking for grant on his road to Dummer. Left over until next meeting.

A by-law to levy and collect the rates and taxes for 1912, and for a by-law to levy and collect the school rates for 1912, and to appoint a collector of rates and taxes. These received their several readings and were sealed and signed by the Reeve and clerk.

Moved by Coun. Harris, sec. by Coun. McCauley, that Thomas McIlmoyle be re-appointed collector for 1912.—Carried.

A petition was presented to the council by Wm. Hales, demanding a vote on local option at the municipal election next January, and there being a sufficient number of names of the electors it was moved by Coun. McIlmoyle, sec. by Coun. Harris, that the clerk prepare a by-law to be submitted to the electors.—Carried.

Moved by Coun. McCauley, seconded by Coun. Harris, that the council purchase 20 bags of cement to finish sidewalk, and that A. Windsor be appointed overseer of the week.

Moved by Coun. McCauley, seconded by Coun. Harris, that the Council grant the sum of $200 towards opening a road on the boundary between Burleigh and Harvey, from the Burleigh road to the farm of Wm. Bolton; $50 to be expended each year for four years, and agreements to be made with W. G. Stone and Wm. Hicks, as to right of way across any part of their lands whereon the road may pass, and that Thos. Northey be appointed to oversee the work done this year.—Carried.

OTHER MATTERS

If it would be any news, might say we have had more than our share of rain up here, and one night's frost, that put garden stuff out of business in a great many places.

Mr. Stubbs gave an entertainment in the new Orange hall Saturday night, August 31, of his limelight views, which was largely patronized. The hall was filled and all seemed to enjoy the show. Half of the proceeds were donated to the fund of the hall.

IN MEMORIUM

Of George Ernest Simpson, Who Died September 3rd, 1911, Aged Four Years and Ten Months.

Sleep on in all the beauty,
Thou sweet angelic child,
By sorrow unblighted,
By sin undefiled.

Like a dove to the ark,
Thou hast flown to thy rest,
From the wild sea of strife,
To the home of the blest.

We loved him, oh so dearly,
But angels loved him more,
And they sweetly called him,
To yonder shining shore.

The golden gates were opened,
A gentle voice said "Come,"
And with farewells unshaken,
He calmly entered home.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 165 miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES.
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

TENDERS FOR IRON POSTS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Iron Posts," will be received at the Department of the Interior, up to noon of the 26th day of September, 1912, for the furnishing of iron posts for use on the survey of Dominion Lands to be delivered as follows:—

At Winnipeg: twenty thousand small and three hundred large posts.

At Saskatoon: ten thousand small and one hundred and fifty large posts.

At Edmonton: fifteen thousand small and one hundred and fifty large posts.

Forms of tender and detailed information may be obtained from the Surveyor General of Dominion Lands, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, payable to the order of the Deputy Minister of the Interior as follows:—

For the supply of posts at Winnipeg,—two hundred and fifty dollars.

For the supply of posts at Edmonton,—one hundred and eighty-five dollars.

This cheque will be forfeited if the party whose tender is accepted declines to enter into a contract to deliver the posts or fails to carry out the contract. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Newspapers copying this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

"You don't say so! Is he going to stay?"

"I guess so," very thoughtfully. "He's got his things off."

CLAYTON-BULWER TREATY WAS BASED ON ALARM IN REPUBLIC

Active in Central America, Great Britain Was Growing Strong There—Did Not Withdraw Protectorate—History of Panama Canal Controversy

There are several questions which are constantly being asked in connection with the Panama Canal embroglio.

"We built the canal. We own it. Why should we not be allowed to regulate it as seems best to us?" is the question that the United States is never tired of asking. What is the answer to this?

Great Britain gave up certain rights in order that the United States might be unhampered in the work. In exchange for these rights she is getting absolutely no consideration. What were these rights?

The exemption of coast-wise vessels of United States is a violation of the United States' colemn obligations, according to the majority of people. How much truth is there is this?

What will be the result of a refusal on the part of the United States to submit the question of canal tolls to The Hague Tribunal?

Getting back to the first of these questions: What rights had Great Britain in Central America that were abrogated, and that might be considered as giving her certain claims?

To get the answer to this one must go back as far as 1815, or even earlier, when Spain was still a factor in Central America, and when the United States, unwilling herself to interfere in any way in the always delicate situation on that part of the American continent, was afraid of the influence of any other power. Out of this fear grew the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, which existed from 1850 till 1901.

British rights in Nicaragua originated in a somewhat hazy protectorate over the Mosquito Indians, a small tribe which inhabited a strip of coast in the north-western part of Nicaragua, known as Mosquito. Behind the figure of Mosquito "kings," which she herself created, Britain was able to extend her territories. An example of this is to be found in the seizure of a mosquito "king" of the town of San Juan, which was rechristened Greytown. The United States watched every move that Great Britain made in this district with great and ever-growing jealousy. The project of an inter-oceanic canal had often been discussed, but the United States was in no position financially to undertake it. Once or twice the suspicion and jealousy of Great Britain in the United States flamed up on the verge of war.

The Treaty of 1850.

The Clayton-Bulwer treaty, signed in 1850 between tae United States and Great Britain, was not an agreement to do anything, but rather to refrain from doing anything. The one and only object of the treaty was to prevent either of the signatories from acquiring an exclusive control over the proposed canal zone. Things had gone so far that both countries had seized small bits of Nicaraguan territory, and the danger of war had become acute when Great Britain seized some islands that had been in the possession of the United States. Clayton, the United States representative, fearing war, pushed the treaty through, concealing the actual condition of things, and allowing Great Britain to secure an important diplomatic victory. Neither power was to have exclusive rights over the proposed canal, the canal zone was to be neutral, neither power was to fortify it, neither party was to extend its territories or alliances, and assistance was to be granted to any responsible canal company.

War Clouds Gathered.

It is interesting to note that by the terms of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, Great Britain did not withdraw her protectorate over the Mosquito coast. It had been thought that the proclamation of neutrality would ipso facto do away with the protective idea, but this was a mistake. It was not till some time later, when the two countries having again come to the verge of war, and Great Britain having fired across the bows of a United States vessel, a compromise agreement was reached by the two countries, part of which involved the withdrawal of Great Britain of the protectorate idea.

The Mosquito protectorate was the only actual right, if right it could be called, which Great Britain ever enjoyed in this part of America. The withdrawal was a distinct concession by Great Britain.

SAY HUDSON BAY ROUTE NOT FEASIBLE

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—Navigation conditions on Hudson's Bay are not in the most favorable even late in the summer, according to reports received at the Naval Service branch from the government steamers Minto and Arctic, and the Beothic owned by the Clergue interests. On August 10th, while on her way from Nelson to Moose Factory, the Beothic encountered packed ice for eight days along the southern shore of the Bay. The vessel carried three survey parties for the Nootoway river district, and provisions for the mounted police at Fort Churchill, and left Montreal on July 16th. Icebergs were encountered at Belle Isle and off Labrador. In Hudson Straits there were more icebergs, but in the Bay proper ice was met only occasionally. Churchill was reached on July 22, and Nelson on the 25th. At the latter point a party of surveyors were landed to make a plan for the new harbor.

There is a scheme to build a railway from Port Nelson to the outlet of the Nottaway river, but the investigation into ice conditions there in summer is apparently against it.

KEEPING THE LOG.

Simple System by Which the Mariner Records Weather Conditions.

How many landsmen know how a logbook is written up? It seems just as complicated as double entry bookkeeping when one does not know, but after a little careful attention and study it's as easy to keep a logbook as to eat hot gingerbread. There is a list of letters arranged, and they look like so much Greek to the uneducated.

The letter b, for instance, stands for blue sky, whether there be clear or hazy atmosphere. C means cloudy or detached, opening clouds; d denotes drizzling rain; a small j, fog; capital F, thick fog; g, gloomy, dark weather; h, hail; l lightning, and m, misty or hazy so as to interfere with the view.

The letter o represents overcast or when the whole sky is covered with one impenetrable cloud. Passing showers are noted by the letter p, and q indicates the weather to be squally. Continuous rain is indicated by an r, snow by an s and thunder by a t. Any ugly, threatening appearance in the weather calls for the letter u, and visibility of distant objects, whether the sky be cloudy or not, is represented by the letter v. A small w is wet dew. A full point or dot under any letter denotes an extraordinary degree.

As an example of how the letters are used take q p d l t. This reads very hard squalls and showers of drizzle, accompanied by lightning, with very heavy thunder. Numerals denote the force of the wind.

A cipher indicates calm, 1 light air, 2 light breeze, 3 gentle breeze, 4 moderate breeze, 5 fresh breeze, 6 strong breeze, 7 moderate gale, 8 fresh gale, 9 strong gale, 10 whole gale, 11 storm, 12 hurricane. This system of abbreviation is generally adhered to on all merchant vessels.

England's Merchant Fleet.

An idea of the rapidity with which the sailing fleet is disappearing is conveyed in figures recently made public in London. The world's sailing fleet now totals little more than 4,000,000 tons, whereas the merchant steamers of the globe are in excess of 40,000,000 tons. On the assumption that one ton of steam is equal to three of sail, steamships now do 30 times as much of the carrying trade of the world as sailing ships.

Of this huge total of steam shipping the British flag boasts practically one-half, as much as 17,700,000 tons being registered in the United Kingdom, and 1,600,000 tons in British colonies. It may be conjectured too that the British half comprises the newer and more economically worked moiety.

While 360,000 tons of shipping has been added to the United Kingdom register since 1911, Germany has increased her tonnage by 162,000. Japan by 141,000 and Norway by 138,000.

Taking!

Actor—What, back so soon? Didn't the play take?

Actress—Yes, the play took, the manager took the receipts, the sheriff took the scenery, the landlord took the trunks, and the author took to drink!

Animal Species.

Geologists declare that in prehistoric times there were on this planet 31,600,000 different animal forms. Naturalists have classified 312,000 species, and there are now 470,000 forms, of which 60 per cent. are insects.

Handsome Goethe.

Goethe was pronounced "the handsomest man of Europe." He was a little over six feet in height, but so well proportioned that he did not seem tall. His features were of the Roman type, his hair rather light than dark, his whole appearance commanding. Even to extreme old age he retained a large share of the personal good looks that earlier in life had made him so attractive.

The Unexpected.

Prizefighter (entering school with his son)—You give this boy o' mine a thrashing yesterday, didn't yer? Schoolmaster (very nervous)—Well—I—er—perhaps— Prizefighter—Well, give us your 'and. You're a champion. I can't do nothin' with 'im myself.—London Punch.

Its Characteristics.

"The principal characters in that play are a baby and a horse."

"That dramatist is evidently doing things with mite and mane."—Baltimore American.

Merely a Brother.

Young Lady—Please show me some ties. Clerk—A gentleman's tie? Young Lady—Oh, no; it's for my brother.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Power of the Eye.

An eye can threaten like a loaded and leveled gun or can insult like hissing or kicking, or, in its altered mood, by beams of kindness it can make the heart dance with joy.—Emerson's "Conduct of Life."

Wonder If This Is So?

If you put two persons in the same bedroom, one of whom has the toothache and the other is in love, you will find that the person who has the toothache will go to sleep first. Isn't it curious?

MERELY COINCIDENCE?

CURIOUS EXAMPLES OF THINGS THAT CAME TRUE.

Flamsteed Was an Astronomer, But His Astrology Worked Out All Right—Mr. Williams' Dream of the Murder of Mr. Perceval In British Commons Was Fulfilled—Story of Lord Lyttleton's Ghost.

Most of us have had more or less striking coincidences happen within our own personal experience. Some of the most memorable instances published are to be found in these remarkable series of circumstances which form chains of evidence, on the strength of which many innocent men have been convicted.

Humor is to be found in coincidence, too. In the days of Flamsteed, a former Astronomer-Royal, astrologers were much in request by the public, who looked upon the Astronomer-Royal as the most potent of them all, and often consulted him in time of trouble. One day an old lady called on Flamsteed and asked him to exercise his art by discovering the whereabouts of a basket of linen she had lost. Flamsteed pretended to consult the stars, and then told his visitor that if she went to a certain field she would find her belongings. The woman went to the place indicated, and, much to the astronomer's astonishment found her basket of linen intact.

One of the most remarkable instances of this kind—a vision prior to or simultaneous with an historical occurrence represented in the vision—was Mr. Williams' dream of the murder of Mr. Perceval in the lobby of the House of Commons on May 11th, 1812. Mr. Williams was a native of Redruth in Cornwall. On the night of the 2nd or 3rd of May he dreamt that he saw a little man whom he afterwards learned was Mr. Perceval, the Prime Minister, shot by another man whose dress he described, and who took a pistol from under his coat. The tragedy took place in the lobby of the House of Commons, and the murderer was laid hold of by several gentlemen present. Such in brief, was Mr. Williams' dream, and he dreamt it no fewer then three times that same night. This made such an impression on him that he wished to journey up to London, to warn Mr. Perceval. But his friends dissuaded him, pointing out that he would probably be laughed at for his pains. Williams yielded, but watched the newspapers. He wrote afterwards:

"On the evening of the 13th of May . . . . my second son, returning from Truro, came in a hurried way into the room where I was sitting and exclaimed, 'Oh, father, your dream has come true! Mr. Perceval has been shot in the lobby of the House of Commons; there is an account come from London to Truro written after the newspapers were printed.'" Mr. Perceval, as we know, was assassinated on the 11th. Another very curious circumstance in connection with this affair was that a rumor or report of the assassination of Mr. Perceval reached Bude Kirk, a village near Annan, in Scotland, on the night of Sunday, May 10th, the day before the crime was committed! This was mentioned in The Times of May 25th, 1812, and was confirmed by Rev. Mr. Yorstoun, of Hoddam, who visited Bude Kirk a short time afterwards.

A somewhat similar affair which was generally known as Lord Lyttleton's ghost — although nobody knew what the ghost was or whether there was any spectre at all—was said by Dr. Johnson to have been "the most extraordinary thing that has happened in my day." Thomas Lord Lyttleton was born in 1774. As a young man he played the prodigal at home and abroad, until at the age of 30 he took his seat in the House of Lords. In November, 1804, his party went into Opposition. On Thursday, November 25, he denounced the Government in a notable speech. Referring to a sinecure which he held, he said, "Perhaps I shall not keep it long!"

On the previous night Lyttleton had seen the ghost, or apparition, or whatever it was, and had been told that he would die in three days. He mentioned it to Rowan Hamilton on the 26th, and also to a Captain Ascough, through whom it reached Mrs Thrale, who chronicled it. On the same day he went to Epsom with some friends and mentioned the visitation to them. About midnight on the 28th November Lord Lyttleton died suddenly in bed, his valet having left him for a moment. The cause of death was not stated and there was no inquest. Most of the narrators, including Mrs. Thrale, who recorded the warning before news of his lordship's death reached her, called the affair a dream, but the coincidence of its fulfilment is the mysterious and significant part of it.

Still another example of the long arm of coincidence is given by Dr. Ebers, the head of a great lunatic asylum. He had been waiting at the station for a friend who had not arrived when an old Scotchwoman rushed up to him, "Oh, sir!" she cried, "Thank God you've come. Now take me to him."

The doctor was naturally astonished, and the woman explained that she had not heard of her sailor son for months. She had been warned in a dream to go to London and wait at the station, where an old gentleman would meet her and take her to where her son was. "And you are the old gentleman," she concluded.

Still Dr. Ebers was no wiser. He took her story to his wife. Suddenly he recollected that some months previously a man was sent to the asylum. He had fallen from aloft, cracked his skull and was then only recovering from an operation. Next day a meeting was arranged, and sure enough the injured man was the old lady's sailor son. In a very short time they both returned to Scotland, both convinced that their reunion was a special dispensation of Providence.

Nearly 8,500 steamers, with a gross tonnage of over 17,000,000, sail under the British flag.

The Vital Question.

This overheard conversation is full of matter for consideration. The speakers were girls, one apparently young, the other trying to appear young. Get the subtle distinction? Well, one of them was saying: "I met Jimmy Teppid yesterday. You know Jimmy, don't you?"

"Sure I know him, or I used to. Did you tell him I was going to be married soon?"

"I sure did!"

"Did he ask how soon?"

"Well, he asked something like that."

"Didn't he say, 'How soon?'"

"No, dearie; he said, 'How long?'"

WOMEN IN PORTUGAL.

They Do All the Hard Work While Lazy Men Loll and Smoke.

The lot of women in Portugal is not an enviable one, according to Mr. Aubrey F. G. Bell, who in his book, "In Portugal," thus describes the labor that falls to their share:

"Portuguese men are so notoriously indolent that it is no exaggeration to say that two-thirds of the work of Portugal is done by women. To them the Portuguese word mourejar is really applicable, since, in fact, they work like Moors or slaves. They work in the fields and appear to bear the brunt of the labor.

"In one field the woman in the heat of the day draws up bucket after bucket of water while the man sits perched in a shady olive tree. In the neighboring field a man watches six women at work among the maize. In a third a group of women stand working in the summer sun while a group of men sit at the same work under a vine trellis.

"Everywhere are to be seen women with huge loads of immense weight, while the men accompany them empty handed. The man lies in his ox cart and must have a cigarro and a cope of wine or brandy after his hard day's work, or he sits at his counter and bids his wife go out into the cruel sunshine to fetch a heavy bilha of water or other provisions. Women work in the quarries. Women row heavy barges. Wherever there is hard work women are to be found."

THE RISE OF NEW YORK.

It Dates From the Time That the Erie Canal Was Opened.

If we seek the original creator of landed wealth in New York we must look over the heads of Astor and the Goelets to De Witt Clinton, the man who in 1825 pushed to completion the Erie canal.

Up to that time New York was not inevitably marked out for the American metropolis. In 1800 Philadelphia was actually a larger city, and Baltimore, with its splendid harbor and its inland river communication, confidently expected to grasp the nation's commercial leadership.

But the Erie canal changed the situation in a twinkling. It placed the city in communication with inland New York—an agricultural empire in itself, whose wealth had previously flowed by way of the Susquehanna river to Baltimore—and New York became the seaport for the agricultural states bordering on the great lakes.

Until the Erie canal was opened it had cost $88 a ton to transport wheat from Buffalo to Albany. With this new waterway the cost fell to something more than $5. A string of cities, several of which became large ones, sprang up along its course, all tributary to New York.—Burton J. Hendrick in McClure's Magazine.

Unconscious Bravery.

At a place called Angbin, about forty miles south of Bangkok, a Chinaman and his wife cultivated a small sugar cane plantation. The man had been greatly annoyed by having his cane eaten by his neighbors' buffalo calves. Coming home one evening just at dark, he saw what he thought was one of the marauders at work on the cane. Stealing silently up behind it, he struck it a mighty blow with a heavy club. The animal dropped without a sound. The Chinaman told his wife what he had done and added, "That calf will steal no more of my cane." In the morning he found that the "calf" was a full grown tiger. He had killed it by breaking its neck, just as the woman of Nam had done. And John was so much impressed with his own narrow escape that he took to his bed and was sick for a week.—Youth's Companion.

A Glass Needle Stiletto.

As diabolical a specimen of murderous ingenuity as ever was discovered by the police was found one day in the possession of a Chinaman who had been working in a laundry in New Orleans and who was believed to have intended using it upon his employer. It was a tiny stiletto, with a handle about as thick as a carpenter's pencil and a blade four inches long of glass, pointed as keenly as a needle. A tiny groove had been filed around the blade close to the hilt. Suppose it was driven into a man's body. It would be certain to break off at the groove and leave three inches of glass deep in his flesh. What is more, the puncture would be so tiny that it would probably close at once and show no mark, not even a single drop of blood.

Motherly Advice.

"My dear, you mustn't be so sharp with strange young men. You know you may give them a wrong impression." [illegible]

"What's the [illegible] now, [illegible]"

"You scarcely spoke a word to that young man you were introduced to last evening."

"I didn't like his way, mother."

"Did you know him?"

"No; I'd never met him before."

"Do you know anything about him?"

"Nothing, except that he seemed to me to be very impertinent."

"Still, you shouldn't have snubbed him, at least until you had learned more about him. Once I snubbed a young man that way without knowing who he was, and I regretted it ever after, because I found out later that he was very rich. I might have married him if I had been more careful."—Detroit Free Press.

Why Bruises Become Black and Blue.

The color of blood is due chiefly to iron in the little blood cells. When the iron is kept in these little blood cells, which are living and traveling around in the blood vessels, the color is red. Hit the skin hard enough to break some of the little blood vessels beneath the surface and the little red cells escape from the injured blood vessels, wander about for awhile in the tissues and die. When they die the iron that made them red before then changes to black and blue coloring. After awhile this iron is taken up by the glands called the lymphatics and made over again into nice red cells. The iron is taken up very much more quickly by the lymphatics if the black and blue spot is rubbed and massaged.—St. Nicholas.

Weak, Tired Folks Given New Vigor

Strength Returns, Health Renewed, Vitality of Youth Re-created.

Exhaustion and Bodily Tiredness Every Day Being Turned Into Vigor and Ambition by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

From Cheboque, Pt., N.S., comes the following from Mrs. W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, hollow-cheeked, and had black rings around my eyes. I really felt as if the charm of life had left me and when springtime arrived Iwas in the 'blues.' I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and got five boxes at once.

"Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home."

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it. The maintenace and source of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

The Best Paper.

"I just dropped in to say to you that the Times is by far the best paper in Peterborough, by long odds. The others are not in its class." This was the remarks made last night in our office by a local newspaper man. Coming from the source it did, we naturally felt flattered, for both our local contemporaries are creditable productions, typographically and otherwise. Of course, we ourselves were always aware of the truth of the statement made by our newspaper friend; Nevertheless, it was pleasant to hear that others, and especially newspaper men, were also admitting the fact.

CHURCHMEN GAMBLE

Wm. J. Bryan Says Big Religious Bodies Harbor Stock Jugglers.

Winona Lake, Ind., Sept. 5.—William Jennings Bryan, at the close of the big Bible conference here, denounced Wall street gambling. Mr. Bryan, who has just accepted the presidency of the Winona assembly, was greeted by an audience of five thousand. He said: "Down in New York they are all in a ferment now.

"They are finding that some have been selling the privilege of gambling and it has resulted in a death, but after they get fully straightened up, after they find out they are dealing with a band of men who did not hesitate to take human life to carry out their vicious practices, I hope they will find out that there is not a big church in New York city that does not harbor men who juggle the stock market who did not hesitate to take human life raise.

"These men make gambling respectable in this country and they don't have to go out of the church to do the harm in this country, and the difficulty we have in reaching the small criminal is due to the fact that we stand in awe of the big criminal. Would that we had in the pulpits throughout this land men like Elijah to speak out and rebuke wickedness."

MR. KNOX HONORED

Former Reeve of Havelock Banquetted by the Citizens on the Occasion of His Removal to Peterborough.

Mr. J. Knox, former Reeve of Havelock, was tendered a complimentary banquet last night in that village, by the citizens, the occasion being his departure for Peterborough where he will reside in future.

During his residence in Havelock, Mr. Knox has acceptably filled the office of reeve of the municipality, and has taken a leading part in public affairs. When he retired from the council to fill an important position on the staff of the Trent Canal, general regret was felt, as it was known that it would be difficult to secure a suitable successor. In Mr. J. J. Joyce, however, the present reeve, the village has a gentleman who ably takes up the onerous public duties of the office, where Mr. Knox left off.

The banquet was a success in every way, being attended by many of the leading citizens.

BIRDS NO LONGER IN DREAD.

They Do Not Now Fear the Wonderful Aeroplane.

London, Sept. 5.—The Minister of Agriculture has received, in connecseason, a report from a forester which seasan, areport from a forester which throws a curious light on the instinct of quails and partridges. For several years there has been in the district of the minister's correspondent continual complaints about the increasing rarity of game. The forester instituted an inquiry and established the fact that game decreased wherever aerodromes were established. This year, however, there is no ground for complaint. Partridges and quail are as plentiful as ever.

The inference drawn by the forester is that the birds, when unaccustomed to aeroplanes, took them to be some strange winged beasts of prey, and prudently decamped from their vicinity. Reassured now as to the harmlessness of these new denizens of the air, they have returned to their old haunts.

MAN'S LEG IS WASHED UP NEAR WHIRLPOOL

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 5.—The left leg of a man was found washed up on the American shore of the Niagara River, just above the Whirlpool, Wednesday afternoon by Harry Scott, of Lewiston, a Gorge route employe. The only clothing found on the leg was a brown cotton sock and a Hamilton Brown shoe, size 6. According to Coroner Walter A. Scott, the leg was that of a young man. It was well formed and had been in the water less than four days.

A POPULAR COMEDIAN.

Ernie Marks Opens a Three-Day Engagement at the Grand.

The Ernie Marks Stock Company opened a three-day and Saturday matinee engagement at the Grand Opera House yesterday evening with the four act comedy drama "For Love and Honor." The play is a Western military production, and found appreciative acceptance from its audience. Mr. Marks, in Irish wit and humor, made a very acceptable comedy lead, while the heavy dramatic lines were well handled by Mr. Albert Worton and Mr. Beaumont Claxton. Miss Kitty Marks, is a favorite comedienne in this city and admirably sustained her reputation as such last evening. The company is a well balanced repertoire one, and should meet with crowded houses the remainder of its engagement. There is no waiting between acts, when high class specialties are introduced. Hogan & Mack, in Highland character song and dance brought down the house.

To-night, the great four act drama, "A Hero of the Hills," will be presented: also new specialties. Popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents, box seats 50c.

TAFT AND T. R. MAY WITHDRAW TO SAVE PARTY

Predicted Wilson Will Have Walkover Unless They Compromise

New York, Sept. 6.—The Vermont election has given rise to gossip and predictions aplenty among local and visiting statesmen. Of course, the Vermont result was the one big topic of discussion, and out of it grew an expression of belief that before another moon comes and goes both President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt would retire from the Presidential race and give way to a man both factions of the Republican party can agree upon.

This was the conviction of some experienced politicians in view of the Vermont. All agreed that the Vermont election, unless there be a radical change in the line-up, means a walk-over for Wilson.

It was even asserted that preliminary steps looking to some compromise had been taken, and Senator Murry Crane, of Massachusetts, was named as the Taft advance agent. The opinion was expressed that the success of these saviors of the Republican party would depend upon the mental state of Colonel Roosevelt who, it is said, alone can pass upon the Bull Moose attitude toward an armistice. None would suggest the name of a compromise candidate.

NEW QUARTERS CREDIT TO CITY

Court House and Police Station To Be Ready in a Month

The new Police Court and Station is expected to be completed and turned over to the city by Oct. 1.

The design of the new quarters provides for a well-lighted, airy court-room, private chambers for the Magistrate, Chief of Police and Clerk of the Court, and a reception room. The detention station opens off the sergeants' office and is being constructed on modern sanitary lines. Accommodation for male adults, females and juvenile prisoners is provided. A lounging room for officers off duty or awaiting assignment will be fitted out in keeping with the dignity of their vocation. The department will be steam heated, well ventilated and as far as possible, possess an appearance, accommodation and atmosphere in contrast to the sombre, crypt-like jail-house complained of in some Canadian cities.

The new quarters reflect especial credit on the constructive genius of Chief-of-Police Thompson, whose ideas have been closely followed in the matter of arrangement of the respective departments.

SCENES ATTENDING TRIAL OF ALLEGED COREAN CONSPIRATORS AND ONE OF THE ACCUSED.

COURT SCENE AT SEOUL.

BARON YUN CHI-HO.

PRISONERS LEAVING THE COURT, AT SEOUL.

Accused of conspiracy to assassinate Count Terauchi, 133 Coreans are now on trial in Seoul, and the case is attracting widespread attention. Baron Yun-Chi-Ho, a missionary, is the alleged chief conspirator, but he has steadfastly protested his innocence. The prisoners have charged the Japanese officials with severe torture during the progress of investigation.

Mr. Okubo, the Japanese attorney for several of the prisoners, warned the Court it could not afford to overlook the torture charges.

Mr. Takahashi, another Japanese attorney, declared that this is the most important case which has ever come up in the Japanese courts. "Japan is on trial," he said. Mr. Takahashi compared Prince Ito's civil rule with what he characterized as Count Terauchi's military rule. "Now," he said, "we find the army is supreme and the Coreans must assent or die."

DO THE PUBLIC KNOW HOW TO RING IN FIRE ALARM?

Fire, Water and Light Committee Think They Do. If Not, Notice of Instructions Can be Published in the Press

The City's Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night, with Ald. Gillespie presiding. There were also present his worship Mayor W. H. Bradburn and Aldermen Gordon and Buller.

The committee will recommend that the Finance Committee pay Chief Howard's membership fee to the International Association of Fire Engineers—$5.

No action was taken in regard to J. J. Turner & Sons' suggestion that a legible notice of instructions as to how to ring in an alarm, be placed above each fire alarm box at a cost of 60 cents each. It was thought the money could be spent to better advantage in other ways and that notices of how to send in alarms from the fire boxes could be advertised in the press if necessary. Committee, however, thought that the general public knows how to send in an alarm.

The matter of sending a delegation to attend the Fourth Annual Convention of the Provincial Association of Fire Chiefs, to be held in Woodstock on September 12th and 13th, was left in the chairman's hands with power to act. The importance of Chief Howard being present was admitted, and he will in all probability be asked to attend.

PETERBORO FINISHED WELL; PROMISES GOOD

Superior pitching won the pennant for Ottawa in the Canadian League this season. The champions finished second in fielding and third in batting. Next season the promoter and part owner of the Senators, now manager of the Fort Wayne Club, will be in the line-up with his own team. Shaughnessy is a big support to any team.

Peterborough needn't be discouraged, however. Another season means another chance. Brant's sensational finish; Tracey's great work, and Trout's steady reliable playing, are features that in themselves give greater promise another year.

When one considers that Peterborough won 16 games to 9 lost from August 9, it can be figured as nothing, if not remarkable for a tail-end aggregation so badly organized earlier in the season.

100 Paroled Prisoners.

Kingston, Sept. 6.—The number of prisoners in the Provincial Penitentiary at present is 402. Thirteen years ago, before the parole system went into force, there were 630 inmates. Just now there are over one hundred on parole.

"Keep To The Right" Law is Violated

Five horse-drawn vehicles and two automobiles passed along the wrong side of the drive on George street yesterday afternoon within twenty minutes. Two carriages turned corners to the left or the wrong side, one narrowly averting a collision with a bicycle.

Disregard for the rules of the road, to keep to the right appears to be increasing in Peterborough.

With the increased vehicular and pedestrian traffic bound to obtain in the city next week occasioned by the exhibition attraction, a check on this practice is imperative.

Short cuts sometimes lead to the Police Court.

THE WEATHER.

Mostly fair and about the same temperature.

ALL STAR MUSICAL ARTISTS ARE COMING

An "All Star" artists musicale, in three concerts, has been arranged for Peterborough music lovers by Messrs R. M. Glover, W. Stocker and J. Crane of this city.

The first concert will be under the direction of Mr. David Bispham, the second by Miss Lillian Mordica and the final by Mme May Hallock, the noted pianiste, all suitably supported by competent assistants. The dates will be announced later.

C. P. R. HAS DEFENCE FOR HIGH RATES

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—Claiming that the apparent discrimination which exists against Western points is compared with rates to those in the East is due to geographical and economic condition over which the company has no control, the Canadian Pacific Railway has now prepared its case for presentation at the hearing of the Western freight rates before the Railway Commission here in October next. In connection with the company's recent application to the Government for permission to increase its capital stock of $60,000,000, the defence which it will put up is of especial interest.

F. H. Chrysler, K.C., of Ottawa, and E. W. Beatty, chief counsel for the company, Montreal, will probably present the C. P. R. case. They will contend that between the East and the West there is a big stretch of unsettled country north of Lake Superior, where local traffic does not pay for the operation of the line and where railway conditions are difficult. The long haul to the head of the Great Lakes, as compared with the shorter haul of American roads to Duluth, the Canadian duty on soft coal and steel rails and cars will also be advanced. In order to meet the decided shortage of cars which existed last year, for instance, the C. P. R. will have to pay an immense duty on its orders given to United States firms, for there are not sufficient facilities in Canada to fill the demand.

PRIVATE ZONE FOR THE CZAR

Warships Enforce Privacy For Russian Monarch

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—The emperor and his family, living on their great yacht in Finnish waters, haven't a good time this summer. The people are hostile to them, and it has been necessary to add thousands of secret service men to the large army of the Czar's protectors. No boat is allowed to come within three miles of the Czar's yacht, which is surrounded by warships while a mosquito fleet of torpedo boats is forever patrolling the waterways North and South, East and West.

The warships and torpedo boats have orders to fire at the least suspicious sign, and to keep up special watch for aeroplanes. If an unhappy aeroplane was driven by the wind within a couple of miles of the yacht it would be quickly destroyed.

The government laid arrest on half a dozen little islands in the sound for the use of the imperial family. Their inhabitants were either bought off or driven away, and the Czar and his family frequently invade one of these islands, and think themselves in paradise because no human soul but their guards can see them.

TOO SMALL A HOLE.

GREAT WELCOME HOME ACCORDED RT. HON. R. L. BORDEN AT QUEBEC

Premier of Canada Is Enthusiastically Received After Trip Abroad—Cabinet Ministers On Hand—Civic Address Given—Naval Policy Discussed

Quebec, Sept. 6.—Interviewed on the Victorian, Mr. Borden said in reference to the Panama Canal Bill that the matter was in the hands of Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, with whom he had discussed the question. He had every confidence that the Foreign Secretary would see justice done to all the overseas Dominions.

In regard to the naval policy, Mr. Borden said, it would be decided when the full facts and details of the British situation could be laid before the Cabinet

The Premier admitted that there were two phases to the question, viz.: an emergency contribution and a permanent naval policy. He could not discuss the alleged German scare nor any further conferences that the Admiralty might hold. He said he had not changed his attitude on the naval issue.

Quebec, Sept. 6.—If Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden's reception here yesterday afternoon on his return from his mission in Great Britain is not considered a success it will not be the fault of the weather man, who would appear to have Conservative leanings. After days of cold, rain and wind, this morning broke glorious with the sun and warmth, and the ancient city woke from her chilly torpor and prepared to receive the returning Premier. Flags were run up on the main streets and the City Hall and King's Wharf, where Mr. Borden landed, were gay with bunting.

It had been planned that the Cabinet representatives would embark on the Lady Grey and run down the riber to Grossie Isle, take the Premier off the Victorian there and bring him to Quebec in triumph. But the enthusiasm of the local Conservatives got a rude check. They had made their plans without consulting the members of the Cabinet. Word came that the honorable gentleman would prefer a little later hour and the well laid plans of the Quebeckers went glimmering.

Limited the Cruise.

The upshot of it was that it was decided to limit the length of the Lady Grey's cruise. She left the King's Wharf some time before noon, ran down about as far as the head of the Isle of Orleans, escorting the Victorian back as far as the breakwater. There she took the Premier and the Postmaster-General off and landed them at King's Wharf in its attendent splendor.

Mr. Borden was driven at once from the wharf to the City Hall, where the usual addresses of welcome were received and replied to. The usual amount of hand-shaking was indulged in at the informal reception which followed the civic welcome. The city fathers of Quebec, resplendent in silk hats and very nervous, arrived early at the Chateau Frontenac, and there met the Ottawa contingent. Hon. Messrs. Perley, Nantel, Reid, Doherty and Rogers, together with several prominent Quebec members.

Nationalist on Hand.

Deputy Speaker Blondin was on hand, as was Paul Etienne Lamarche

Mr. Borden is scheduled for a big reception in Montreal to-night, and there is to be a celebration at Three Rivers on the way. The party will go up the river on the Lady Gre probably leaving here sometime in the evening, anchoring in the river and pulling into Three Rivers at 11 a.m.

The presence of several members of the Nationalist wing of his Cabinet together with a number of Nationalist members, shows the interest that the Quebec politicians are taking, and their intention to get the first possible inkling of Mr. Borden's plans with regard to the Canadian naval policy. The Premier will keep his lips tight on the question till he gathers his colleagues around him at the round table in the east block at Ottawa.

Text of Address.

The following address was presented to Mr. Borden on behalf of the city:

To the Riht Hon. R. L. Borden
Prime Minister of Canada, Memoer of the Privy Council:

Sir,—The ancient capital of the Province of Quebec prides itself on the privilege it enjoys of being the first to greet the distinguished personages who land on the shores of our great river.

In accordance with this custam, the citizens of Quebec welcome you to-day on your return from the important journey you have taken, and they are all the more pleased to perform this act of courtesy that its object is the distinguished gentleman who now fills the high position of Prime Minister of this country. Every man who is alive to the duty imposed on him by love for his country and its institutions feels that his esteem and respect are due to those whom the voice of the people has called to administer public affairs. The responsibility and labor inherent in that office fully deserve the people's gratitude, and it is but fair that when opportunity presents itself, they should publicly testify to it.

Therefore, Sir, the citizens of Quebec, animated by the same feeling—one of lofty pride in the position their country occupies in the Empire—are happy to welcome in you their eminent representative in the memorable conference you attended.

We are also pleased to welcome the return of your honorable colleagues who accompanied you in your mission and more especially the honorable Mr. Pelletier, a son of Quebec, as we are, whose devotedness to our city's interests will not fail to aid in the realization of our fervent hopes for its progress and prosperity.

Special Attention to Quebec.

The citizens of Quebec, with the entire population of Canada, appreciate the zeal displayed by your colleagues and yourself in devoting your ability, your energy, and your constant labor to the administration of public affairs. We are aware that your aim is not only to foster and develop our natural resources and riches in general, but that you so give special attention to the needs of every section of the country, and particularly to the region and city of Quebec.

We have confidence in the good intention, expressed by your honorable colleagues and yourself, to develop in our midst one of the most important centres of trade and industry in Canada, and to make our port one of the best, not only of our great River St. Lawrence, but also of the whole world.

While tendering you their respects and best wishes, the citizens of Quebec beg you to convey the same to the members of your family, and especially to Mrs. Borden, your distinguished life companion, who adds to the brilliancy of your public career all the charm and grace which the women of Canada display, not only in their homes, but also in every sphere of society.

Such, sir, are the feelings which animate the citizens of Quebec.

KING'S JEWELS MUST BE SOLD

Creditor of Royal Spendthrift To Auction off Portugal's Collection

Lisbon, Sept. 6.—The Bank of Portugal is about to auction off the pawned jewels of the late Queen Maria Pia, grandmother of ex-King Manuel. There are tiaras and necklaces, brooches, anklets, bracelets and rings in great profusion, and there are also golden hairpins, sleeve buttons and shoe buckles—everything that may properly go into a woman's jewel

The late queen married very young—she was scarcely fourteen—and she never acquired any real notion about the value of money. She thought as a queen she had a right to spend all she could lay her hands on, and then go for more to the public treasury. That went on for some time, but eventually credit was absolutely refused, and she had began pawning things to obtain even a single thousand franc note. First she gave to the bank the great jewels of state, worn only on great occasions. As they were of great value she received nearly a million francs. It lasted about two weeks, or twenty days. Twenty-one days after getting the loan she was broke again, with hundreds and hundreds of creditors clamoring for their money.

Later on, the smaller jewels went to the pawn shop and during the last few years of her grandson's reign she actually pawned hairpins and shoe buckles to obtain some loose change when driving out.

When the queen had to attend occasions of State, the bank lent her the jewels for the afternoon or evening on condition that its representative remain in the same room with her all the time. Of course, the bank's man dressed up like a courtier or royal "flunky."

FOOTBALL.

Scottish and English Champions Each Scored One Goal in First Match.

London, Sept. 6.—The first International Soccer match of the season was played Wednesday when the English and Scottish champions met at Glasgow. The result was a tie, the game ending with one goal for each team. Barnsley started in fine fashion, and looked much the better team, but the Celtic forwards gave an exhibition of dribbling that was effective. Moore scored the first goal for Barnsley within a minute of the interval. Later in the game the Celtics equalized as the result of a penalty by Loney.

In the second Division of the English league Huddersfield defeated Bury by 4 goals to nil and Grimsby and Blackpool played a draw.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 45 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 75c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take the medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's. Sarsaparilla sold at 75c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, wakens the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives brightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 355 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit?
If Not, Here is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

BURIED LIVING PERSONS

Horrible Custom of Japanese Prior to Year 646 A. D.

Prior to the year 646 A. D. the Japanese had one of the most horrible burial customs that can be imagined—that of burying all the immediate friends and retainers of a prince or other person of note in a standing position around the potentate's grave and leaving them in the earth up to their necks to perish of thirst and hunger.

The custom cannot be said to have been general as late as the date given, for the Japanese records prove that in the time of the Emperor Suinin (97-30 B. C.) the burial rites of royal personages were so modified as to partially abolish former cruelties. Speaking of a young brother of Suinin, who died and had his retinue buried standing around his grave, the old record says: "For many days they died not, but wept and cried aloud. At last they died. Dogs and crows assembled and ate off their heads. The emperor's compassion was aroused, and he desired to change the manner of burial. When the empress died, soon after, the mikado inquired of his officers if something in the way of a change could not be suggested, and one proposed to make clay figures of men and bury them as substitutes."

That this did not entirely do away with the former custom is proved by an edict issued in the year 646 A. D., the date given first above, which forbade the burial of living persons and provided a penalty for further adherence to the awful rite.—St. Louis Republic.

A Gilbert Mot.

The following is said to be about the choicest mot in the long W. S. Gilbert list of mots:

After several days' absence from London, Gilbert walked into the Savage Club one day, and somebody shouted a greeting.

"Hello, Gilbert! Where have you been?"

"I've been up to Birmingham to see Wilson Barrett as Hamlet," Gilbert cried.

"The deuce you say! How was it?" asked his friend.

"Oh, very funny—and not at all vulgar," was the answer.

Smoking and Eyesight.

Giving evidence in a High Court case, Mr. William Long, an ophthalmic surgeon of Cavendish square, London, told the court that if he smoked half an ounce of tobacco daily for forty years—which meant that he would have to smoke about four hundredweight—his sight would probably be affected

Especially in the Subways.

"There ain't but one trouble with this here city air," said Uncle Eben, sniffing the atmosphere speculatively; "it do need ventilatin.'"—Holland's Magazine.

His Reason.

"Why do you always leave the house, James, when I begin to sing the old songs?" pouted Mrs. Howitt.

"Fresh air," said Howitt.—Harper's Weekly.

He who has the truth in his heart need never fear the want of persuasion on his tongue.—Ruskin.

OUR WORLD AS A MOON.

Fine Display a Full Earth Would Give to the Selenites.

Were we transported to the planet Venus a peculiar set of views could be obtained of our earth, enabling us to see ourselves, to some extent at least, as others see us. Venus is about the same size as the earth, is somewhat closer to the sun and has more atmosphere than the earth. When the earth and Venus are nearest together they are, of course, on the same side of the sun, and in consequence of this the earth does not see more than a very small part of Venus illuminated, but Venus, on the other hand, sees all of one side of the earth illuminated and is therefore able to claim she has something that takes the place of a moon, for the earth to Venus at this time looks very large and bright, almost as much so as our moon does to us.

If we could see all the illuminated surface of Venus on these occasions we should have quite a distinct second moon. When we do see all of her illuminated surface she is on the opposite side of the sun from us and consequently at an enormous distance, yet she is so brilliant as to prevent us from seeing her surface distinctly.

But to our own moon we appear in the best light as a moon. A full earth as seen from the moon, according to Todd and other astronomers, is a very inspiring sight. It can at once be seen why this is necessarily true. The earth is several times larger than the moon and would appear in the heavens as a disk about fourteen times the size of the moon. It would probably shine with a variable light, due to the shifting clouds of the earth, though the light is, of course, reflected from the sun, and the reflection is due in part to the upper surfaces of the clouds.

The outlines of the continents of the earth appear very clearly to the moon as if they were formed in papier mache on a globe. Cities of comparatively large size could be made out with ease in case observers were there to make them out. The intensity of the reflected earth light would be as much as fourteen moons and would enable the Selenites, if such there were, to read or work in comparative daylight.—Harper's Weekly.

A Point of Law.

The boat began to roll and pitch.
  The judge clung to the rail.
He didn't like the bounding waves;
  His solemn face grew pale.
But happily a clever thought
  Came to his legal brain.
He overruled the motion
  And felt all right again.   —Life.

Persuasive.

"Will the ladies move up front, please?" said the conductor on a car crowded with matinee girls.

There was little response, so he spoke again.

"Move forward, please, ladies; the motorman is a great deal better looking man than I am."

Smiling, the ladies moved up.—Boston Transcript.

Cleverly Evaded.

A wealthy Australian squatter in order to protect his six daughters from fortune hunters left his property to them in equal shares, but decreed that if either of them married without the consent of the trustees she should forfeit her share to her sisters. When the case came up at Sydney it was found that all six sisters had all married without permission and thus each had forfeited her share in the property to her sisters, a state of affairs which the ladies doubtless considered highly satisfactory.

THE FORUM

Marriage may be a tie, but it is seldom tongue-tied.

When a woman hand paints peaches on china and her husband mistakes them for tomatoes, what's the answer?

A good man is one who is willing to admit that he isn't.

Most economical men have quietly fourned their straw hats for next season.

Canada does not produce enough butter for her own use we are told. The price seems high enough to encourage production. But does enough of the profit go to the producer?

A moving picture of the movements of the moving picture managers in Peterborough trying to move out of reach of a higher license, would be the most humorous production yet flashed in this town

About 400 drunks faced the Toronto Courts the day after Labor Day—or, one for every policeman. They might have rounded up 150 more if that extra batch of coppers hired had been on beats. However, its a fairly good catch for a single day right in the home of the Lord's Day Alliance, the city that boasts of its purity and the town of meddlesome preachers.

Colonel Roosevelt is telling the good citizens of Iowa that the results in Vermont forecasts his election to the Presidency. This was expected. The significant thing is that, on receipt of news of the Vermont polling, the Colonel at once began to specialize on appeals to honest Democrats. The mantle of Jefferson and of Jackson has been hidden away in the attic for many years and one Theodore Roosevelt is entitled to its sole use by virtue of discovery.

CANADA'S NAVAL POLICY.

Premier Borden's return from his trip abroad signalizes the real beginning of the solution of perplexing national problems in Canada at present held in obeyance.

Of these propositions the government's attitude relative to naval defence is the question most discussed. And the Liberal press see to it that agitation on the subject is not allowed to expire. In fact the assertion is made by the opposition, that the naval contribution will be the issue of the next election. But how can this come about if the whole problem is solved satisfactorily to Canadians and to Britain in the interim?

Canada will not hesitate to supply substantial equipment in aid of the Empire's defence. And such aid will serve to weld closer the filial bonds of the new and the old country. Canada may at times be prone to display a petulant spirit, even a boyish contempt toward England, but at the sign of attack upon the parent country the Dominion would be ready to fight for her. To be prepared to offer practical aid is a problem confronting Canada. And no one who has studied the situation can believe that Right Hon. R. L. Borden returned from England without a definite naval programme most, suitable to Canada, based on the experience and wisdom of British naval students and statesmen, plus the knowledge of Canadians, of what seems most expedient to the Dominion and the Mother Country. In all probabilities Mr. Borden will remain non-committal on the subject till the new parliament convenes. It is a state secret and is wisely locked up till the program can be placed before the representatives of the sovereign people of Canada in parliament.

That the Chief Magistrate's naval policy may favor in part the Liberal party's ideas will serve merely to reflect credit on both parties and facilitate the establishment of Canada's permanent policy on the question.

At the moment the Liberal party, holding that another election is impending, hopes to win an opportunist victory on naval defence, with the aid of the west voting for reciprocity. The naval defence problem will be settled before another election is held—and under a programme that will disarm attacv on this subject.

THE RECIPROCITY CLAMOR.

As for reciprocity and "wider markets," the West faces a tangible lesson every day. The difference between the Western Canada farmer's grain market and that of the U. S., i.e., Minneapolis, ranges from 5 to 7c. a bushel in favor of Winnipeg. In other words, with a reciprocal trade pact obtaining, Winnipeg prices would drop to the level of Minneapolis and the farmer would receive 7c a bushel less for his wheat. This serves as but one illustration out of many. Moreover, recent developments at Washington have conveyed to Canadians and the world that the United States is not to be relied upon to faithfully keep its treaties when its commercial interests may be advanced by subverting an agreement and violating a trade pact. Reciprocity is a thorn in the flesh of the Liberal party.

TRANSFER OF PUBLIC DOMAIN.

There are other matters of deep concern to the government and the West. One is the question of the transfer of the public domain of the prairie provinces. This matter, however, can well bide a wee. The prairies were not developed in a day. Nevertheless, they will be accorded all powers pledged by the Conservative party.

TARIFF REFORM.

In the matter of tariff reform, if it is found that the situation justifies the suspension of the duty on cement to further expediate building operations in the West, the government undoubtedly will see that the interests of the West are served in this respect. Other tariff matters also will be considered.

Sir Wilfrid's forthcoming tour of the West may gain him additional personal friends. But his party, with its disabling alliances and tissue policy cannot rally support to return the "Old Cock" to the premiership roost.

It is unlikely that the new parliament will be convened before January. In the meanwhile Mr. Borden and his ministers will have ample time to organize affairs so that when these problems are taken up in conjunction with the representatives of the people of Canada, their satisfactory solution may be expected to be found in the plans of the Conservative party.

Cures Old Folk's Coughs

Doesn't Disturb the Stomach, Eases at Once and Cures Thoroughly.

"CATARRHOZONE" A BOON TO MANY THOUSANDS.

Because you are old is no reason for suffering with everlasting coughing — those terrible chest troubles and difficult breathing can be thoroughly cured with CATARRHOZONE You simply breathe the healing vapor of Catarrhozone, and instantly its rich balsamic fumes are carried by your breath into the tiniest recesses of the nose, throat, chest, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Just think of it—a direct breathable medicine, full of soothing antiseptic pine essences that reaches every sore, congested membrane in two seconds. No drugs to take—nothing to harm or sicken the stomach, because Catarrhozone is the purest, safest cough, catarrh and cold remedy ever devised.

"For many years," writes Richard McCallum, Stirling, Ont., "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed, irritable condition.

"Doctors' medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good.

"I heard Catarrhozone favorably spoken of, and tried it. Really it benefitted me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so-called remedies.

"Receiving such immense benefit, I continued using Catarrhozone, and in a few weeks I was completely cured of Catarrh and throat trouble."

Get Catarrhozone to-day. Large size costs $1.00, and lasts two months. Smaller sizes, 25c. and 50. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

MOST COMPLETE DICTIONARY EVER PRINTED IS READY

It is Really an Encyclopaedia Too, and Is to Be Obtained Easily

HAS ALL THE NEW WORDS

Splendidly Illustrated, With Easy and Correct Pronunciation

The most complete dictionary ever printed, containing a greater variety of carefully compiled and intelligently presented information than ever has been included in any like publication, is just off the press. It is called Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary and is based upon Noah Webster's Dictionary, revised and brought up to date in accordance with the most recent eminent English and American authorities and definition. The work is designed to meet the popular demand for a convenient, complete and reliable dictionary.

This dictionary can be obtained by subscribers to The Times on presentation of six coupons printed in another part of the paper. By an arrangement with the publishers the book is offered free of charge, the only expense to the subscribers being the cost of packing, shipping and other small necessary expense items.

The book may be called an encyclopedia as well as a dictionary. It will make an exceedingly valuable addition to any library, especially in homes where there are children attending school. The pupil who has a knotty problem to unravel can find the solution here. The information and knowledge that is needed in everyday life are presented in a book of convenient size, which can be kept at the elbow for ready reference. For example, there are thirty-two pages with illustrations in color, containing educational features, such as the flags of all varieties in their natural colors, costumes worn in the last 400 years down to the hobble skirt. Indeed, nothing appears to have been omitted.

The work contains all the words of the English language that are not peculiarly appropriate to a dictionary of technical terms. The spelling and pronunciation of plurals are given, and the use of capitals and small letters in writing every word in the language indicated. The book gives the past tense and participles of all verbs not regularly formed by the addition of "d," "ed" and "ing." The pronunciation of each word is plainly indicated by phonetic spelling, and the definitions are presented in a most comprehensive, yet concise, accurate and reliable manner.

As a kind of preface to the dictionary proper is a treatise on abbreviations of the parts of speech and their grammitical composition and derivation of the English language. As a means of promoting the correctness of speech, booth spoken and written, an analysis of the "Principles of Grammar" is given. The rules are given by the Simplified Spelling Board are given under the head of words spelled in two ways, of which the Board of Simplified Spelling recommends tae simpler spelling. There is also a complete key to pronunciation, which is invaluable to one who would speak the language properly.

Every new word recently coined and adopted by custom has been included. For example, the word "Oslerize," taken from Professor Osler, who would chloroform people at the age of 45, when, according to his theory, they have outlived their usefulness. Also there are aviator and biplane and brainstorm and stovaine and taxicab and equilibrator, all of which have recently come into use by stress of necessity.

If you would enrich your vocabulary, this is the book for you to get. It includes proverbs and colloquial expressions, foreign words and phrases, Christian names of men and women, the metric system of weights and measures, the value of foreign coins in Canada, time differences all over the world, the electoral vote, the 1910 census of Canada, language of flowers, language of games, the origin and meaning of the names of states, commercial and legal terms, familiar allusions, famous characters, decisive battles of the world's history, and, in fact, nothing seems to have been overlooked. The work is in reality an encyclopedia.

The dictionary is in three styles of binding, and all are included in the offer made through The Times.

No. 1 is a beautiful book bound in full limp leather, flexible and stamped in gold on back and sides. It is printed on strong Bible paper with red edges and with rounded corners. It makes a handsome appearance and is durable. This book would ornament any library or desk. It is compact and small enough not to be cumbersome. Besides the subjects described above, this edition contains over 600 illustrations in three collars, nearly fifty subjects by monotone and sixteen pages of charts in two collars. The latest Canadian census is also included.

No. 2 is the same book as No. 1 except in style of binding. It is in half leather, with olive edges and and square corners.

No. 3 is bound in plain, serviceable cloth and is stamped in gold and black. It is printed on the same strong Bible paper, but does not contain the beautiful colored plates and charts which illustrate and other two volumes. The illustrations are in black and white. It is complete as to contents.

Everybody needs and should have this dictionary.

RIVAL HER DAUGHTER IN YOUTHFUL BEAUTY

(From Social Register.)

A well-known society woman whose youthful beauty is so well preserved that she is regarded as her daughter's rival in this respect—though she does not pose as such—attributes her girlish complexion chiefly to two things. She says:

"I am convinced that creams, by overloading the skin and pores, tend to age the complexion. Mercolized wax has just the opposite effect. It keeps the pores clean, permitting them to breathe, and removes dead particles of cuticle which are constantly appearing and which give the complexion that faded look. Whenever my skin begins to get the least bit off-color, I go to my druggist's for an ounce of mercolized wax; I apply this nightly, like cold cream, for a wev or so, washing it off mornings. This is what keeps my complexion so fresh, white and velvety.

"The absence of wrinkles and flabbiness I owe to the use of a simple face bath prepared by dissolving one ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This keeps the skin 'tight' and firm."

BABY BONUS NEWEST OUT

Australian Taxpayers Are Greatly Alarmed

Limits of Social Subsidies Discussed From New Standpoint.

Melbourne, Australia, Sept. 6. — The announcement by the Federal Labor government of the details of its maternity grant scheme—or "baby bonus," as it is termed—has set Australia discussing the limits of social subsidies from a new standpoint.

The popularity of the plan under which every needy mother is to receive $25.00 on the registration af a newly-born child is undoubted.

"LOW-DOWN BRIBE"

It is fiercely denounced by Fusion politicians as a "low-down bribe" to the women, and as a kind of offset to the Labor party's abolition of postal voting. But thoughtful Liberal leaders, like Mr. Deakin, do not take this line; they recognize the justice of some aid at the maternity period of the life of a woman whose husband is so poor as to be unable to give her essential comforts. It is an open secret that long before the Labor ministry's announcement several leading Liberals were quietly feeling their way towards a workable scheme.

As it is, at least one Liberal organization has made public its ideas concerning an alternative. Only to-day, at the second annual conference of the Tasmanian Liberal league, at which 120 delegates were present, it was unanimously agreed that a state fund be established for the relief of poor widows left with young children. Gradually the principle of state-aid is being conceded, and the discussion is converging on safeguards from fraud and questions of thrift contributions, and above all, cost.

WARNING NOTE SOUNDED.

All Australian taxpayers are alarmed at the prospective cost o, the fulfilment of Labor's dreams. The Labor party has turned its back on the German and Lloyd George social insurance systems because they involve personal contributions. All its own schemes are free doles from the treasury — extensions of the invalid and old age pensions. Public men outside the Labor ranks, are, therefore, vigorously sounding a warning note. A few days ago, stepping straight from the state into the federal arena, the new Premier, of Victoria, Mr. Watt, delivered a speech in which this note rang from end to end of a vigorous deliverance.

Mr. Watt's theme centred in a re- effects of the "grants system" as applied to the pockets of the 1,940,000 bread-winners of Australia. His calculation was based on very low markable calculation of the financial charges for the keeping and feeding of children, and was not extravagant in other details. Yet, when he had finished, the "grants system" produced a bill of nearly $85,000,000 a year for the taxpayer to pay — and this without the "baby bonus"!

The widespread circulation of these figures is having a marked influence on electors, and unless they can be broken down by detailed analysis they will have a material effect on the next Federal elections when the Labor party will ask for a further lease of power.

Liberals will meet the situation with an adaptation to Australian conditions of the Imperial parliament's great insurance act.

GIRL IS RESCUED BY HOMELESS DOG

Fastens Teeth in Waist of Drowning Lass; Takes Her Ashore.

New Brunswick, N.J., Sept. 6. — A homeless, homely, half-breed Newfoundland dog limped forlornly through south Boundbrook a few days ago and lingered under a boat-house on the Raritan river. Hector, as some one called it, was lying on the pier Wednesday afternoon, looking hopeless when Miss Bertha Thompson put out in her canoe.

When she was fifty feet from the pier she dropped her paddle and in trying to recover it upset the canoe. The next instant the dog had plunged off the pier and was swimming swiftly toward her. As she came up the second time Hector fastened his teeth in her waist and in a few minutes had her safely on shore. Hector is no longer a homeless dog.

THE MARKETS

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Wheat to-day closed heavy after touching the lowest price of the season, 91c a bushel. An estimate that this year's crop in the United States would be 107,000,000 bushels larger than the yield twelve months back was mainly responsible. Final sales ranged from 1c to 1⅛c under last night. Corn finished at a net decline of 1⅛c to 1½c, oats off ⅛c to ½c, and provisions down 5c to 32½c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅜d higher than yesterday on wheat, and ⅜d to ½c higher on corn. Antwerp closed ⅜c lower, Buda-Pest, ½c lower.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—[illegible] foreign bids for wheat came [illegible] higher and others were unchanged from yesterday, but even on the decline in Winnipeg very little business was worked, owing to the fact that prices in Winnipeg are held so much above American wheat values that exporters of the latter have been and are still getting large quantities for export. The ocean freight room from here and United States ports is now well booked up to the end of December and what little is left is at very high rates. As far as tramp steamers are concerned, they are difficult to obtain at any price. The situation therefore is that the prospects for moving any large quantity of this year's northwest wheat crop before the close of navigation are poor. The foreign demand for oats is good and sales for quick shipment were made at advanced prices.

There was some demand for new crop spring wheat flour and sales of several thousand sacks were made at [illegible] November shipment. Demand for millfeed is good and prices have advanced [illegible] per ton. The tone of the butter market is strong. Cheese fairly active. [illegible] firm.

The Judge and "Barmaids Blush."

Judicial ignorance is generally assumed, but there are occasions when a judge is honestly lacking in knowledge. The other day a witness in an Australian court casually mentioned that a certain thing occurred just after he had a "barmaid's blush." Judge and counsel were for the moment "stuck up" by this hitherto unheard of phrase, but the fact was gradually elicited that it meant a drink compounded of beer and raspberry vinegar.—London Chronicle.

Ladies' Orchestra.

"The English Ladies' Orchestral Society is a full band of women only, consisting of wood, wind, and brass instruments, as well as strings. It plays for charities, and has handed to them considerably over $10,000 since its foundation in 1888. It is an amateur society."

Prize Plumes.

Fancy prices have recently been paid for prize winning ostrich plumes in South Africa, the highest being $487 a pound, far above the ordinary market value.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately 185 miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $190,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

L. K. JONES.
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

Department of Militia and Defence.

NEW DRILL HALL, AT OSHAWA, ONT.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS, marked on envelope "Tender for Construction of Drill Hall, Oshawa, Ont.," and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Department of Militia and Defence, Ottawa, will be received until noon, September 17th, 1912, for the construction of a new Drill Hall at Oshawa, Ont.

Specifications may be seen and full particulars obtained at the offices of the General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division, Toronto, Ont., Officer Commanding "C" Company, 34th Regiment, Oshawa, Ont., Town Clerk, Oshawa, Ont., and the Director of Engineer Services, Headquarters, Ottawa.

Tenders must be made on the form supplied by the Department and accompanied by an accepted cheque on a Canadian Chartered Bank for ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, payable to the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence, which amount will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into, or fails to complete the contract in accordance with his tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

EUGENE FISET, Colonel,
Deputy Minister.
Department of Militia and Defence,
Ottawa, August 22, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid if this advertisement is inserted without authority from the Department.

TENDERS FOR IRON POSTS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Iron Posts," will be received at the Department of the Interior, up to noon of the 25th day of September, 1912, for the furnishing of iron posts for use on the survey of Dominion Lands to be delivered as follows:—

At Winnipeg: twenty thousand small and three hundred large posts.

At Saskatoon: ten thousand small and one hundred and fifty large posts.

At Edmonton: fifteen thousand small and one hundred and fifty large posts.

A separate tender is required for the supply of posts at each place.

Forms of tender and detailed information may be obtained from the Surveyor General of Dominion Lands, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, payable to the order of the Deputy Minister of the Interior as follows:—

For the supply of posts at Winnipeg,—two hundred and fifty dollars.

For the supply of posts at Saskatoon,—one hundred and twenty-five dollars.

For the supply of posts at Edmonton,—one hundred and eighty-five dollars.

This cheque will be forfeited if the party whose tender is accepted declines to enter into a contract to deliver the posts or fails to carry out the contract. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Newspapers copying this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid.

L. PEREIRA,
Acting Secretary.
Department of the Interior,
—28001 Ottawa, August 15th, 1912.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

Written in Slang.

Matthew Henry's commentary on the Bible was written for the common people and in the slang of the day. In commenting on Judges is he says "We are here told by what acts Abimelech got into the saddle. He hired for his service all the scum and scoundrels of the country. Jotham was really a fine gentleman. The Shechemites were the first to kick him off. They said all the ill they could of him in their table talk. They drank health to his confusion."

NETWORK OF S.S. LINES TO BIND UP EMPIRE

London, Sept. 6.—The Daily Telegraph gives prominence to the communication of a correspondent, whose opinion, it says, should carry some weight, and who is in close touch with the financial situation.

The financial papers, he declares, have been at great pains in endeavoring to explain the causes of the recent fluctuations in shipping shares, but they have struck wide of the mark. After referring to the visit of Premier Borden of Canada, he says.

"It is not necessary for all the chief members of the Cabinet to spend their holidays together without some real reason. We may rely upon this shipping problem between the Mother Country and the various colonies having been thoroughly threshed out. We are on the eve of a statement from some authoritative person who will propound a new theory as regards the relation between this country and her dependencies. It forms part of the naval scheme, and has for its ultimate object the linking up of the colonies with the heart of the Empire.

"The British Government must control, or nominally control, all shipping of which the chief ports are in this country. It is a gigantic scheme but when the various amalgamations which have taken place and those which are propounded are fully gone into, it will be seen that the shipping of this Kingdom forms an unbroken and unbreakable line around the world, guarded by the greatest navy ever known in history."

SAY LIFE CANNOT BE CREATED BY THE USE OF CHEMICALS

London, Sept. 5.—Professor Shaefer's declaration that life can be created by chemical action has caused widespread discussion and controversy among scientists and laymen.

Newspapers throughout the country comment on the theory of the president of the British Association, surmising that it will prove a topic of bitter argument. They compare it with the epoch-making theories of Charles Darwin and Thomas Huxley on the evolution of man.

Many ministers of religion have already given interviews in which they attack the idea that life has a beginning merely from the action of chemical elements.

LLOYD'S FEEL SURE WILSON WILL WIN

New York, Sept. 6.—A cable to the Tribune, from London says: Since the result of the Vermont election has been announced, the odds on Woodrow Wilson at Lloyds have increased considerably. So great an amount of insurance has been placed on the probable election of Wilson that the rate has gone to 75 per cent. With the market so full, little further business can be done. The rate of Taft is now 40 per cent. and on Roosevelt 25 per cent.

HUNCHBACK IS MADE STRAIGHT BY GRAFTING ON A LEG BONE

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—A remarkable cure of curvature of the spine is announced at the Methodist Hospital here. The case is that of Adele Weinberg, a young girl hunchback.

The surgeon removed part of the lumbar vertabrae found to be diseased, and in its place used a section of leg bone.

The plaster cast in which the child was encased following the operation has now been removed and she is as erect as though her spine had been normal since birth.

ALLOW THEM TO HUSTLE.

But Majority of Savage Tribes Consider Women's Influence Defiling.

The prevailing opinion among savage or heathen tribes is that women, by some subtle influence, mar or defile the work and in many cases, even the possessions of the men, therefore there is an unwritten law among certain primitive peoples that women must keep away from everything that belongs to the men's sphere of action. The Kaffirs, for instance, have such strong feeling in this matter that they will not even allow their women to come into their kraals for fear of contaminating the cattle.

In the Marquesas Islands the women do most of the work while the men spend their time making canoes. The women never touch them, nor are they allowed to ride in them for fear of casting an evil spell. In New Caledonia it is considered unmanly for men to do any work. They believe that is woman's natural sphere.

While the Samoans attend to the farming—such as it is—and the hunting, all other work is left to the women. However large the family, and however much they need clothes, a Samoan would rather see his children suffer from the cold than to help his wife do the weaving. It is considered a degradation for a man to engage in any such work.

Then men of British Guiana consider their work limited to hunting and war. They consider the greatest humiliation any man can suffer is to help his wife with her work. The story is told that on one certain occasion there was a shortage of bread. The men had to help the women bake, but they were only forced to this when starvation stared them in the face, and those who consented were ever after called old women.

The Motus believe that if they see the women while starting out to fish or hunt, their work is sure to result in failure. In some South American tribes the men believe that if the women even look on their weapons they lose their strength. The Australian tribes and Fijians drive their women away and beat them if they see them near any of their public demonstrations.

In the Marquesas Islands the political and religious meetings are held on what is known as hoolah-hoolah ground, and the women never are allowed near them. On the other hand, they let their women carry logs and water and toil from morning until night without ever offering them any assistance.

Early Table Manners.

Strict etiquette was observed at the table long before forks made an appearance. The fork came into common use in the seventeenth century, but gold and silver ones existed in the thirteenth century. Edward I., for instance, could boast of six silver forks and a gold one, and Piers Gaveston possessed three for use in eating pears. These, however, were exceptions. The ordinary individual dining out found only a trencher, a napkin and spoons laid before him. His knife he brought with him in a case. A new course meant no clean spoon. There was bread to hand, and the guest was expected to use his ingenuity and clean his spoon as best he might. Those were the days of the expert carver in attendance.—London Chronicle.

Royal Gamblers.

The fascination which games of chance have exercised over gentle and simple is well illustrated in the description by Stow of the entertainment given by Henry Picard, mayor of London, in 1357, when the kings of France and Scotland, being prisoners in England, and the king of Cyprus on a visit to Edward III., the mayor kept his hall against all comers that were willing to play at dice and hazard. "The Lady Margaret, his wife, did keepe her chamber to the same intent." The mayor, having won 50 marks from the king of Cyprus, returned him the money, saying, "My lord and king, be not aggrieved, for I covet not your gold, but your play."

Big Spending.

New Westminster, B.C., has been doing some shopping. The other day the people of the coast city appropriated the cool sum of $1,190,000 for certain improvements, of which the city long has been in need. Half a million dollars was set aside to initiate some great works on the river front. There was a great deal of trepidation whether the harbor bylaw would go through. But it did; score: 681 votes for, 106 against. A new, big, modern city hospital costing $300,000, and a gas plant costing $225,000 are other additions provided for New Westminster's equipment.

His Name in the Directory.

"One funny thing I have learned about human nature," said the drug store cashier, "is the habit many people have of marking their own names in the city directory. They do that because the directory is the only place where their names ever get into print, and it has such a fascination for them that they can't resist calling attention to it. A funny old man who likes to talk tells me that he has made special trips to different parts of the city just to mark his name in the directories of the neighborhood. He puts a little cross in red ink before it. I asked him what good it did. He said none possibly, although he is a teacher of languages and may get a few calls on account of that queer advertisement. But his is an exceptional case. Not many persons spend time and money hunting city directories, but every time they happen to see a new one they can't help looking up their names and putting some kind of a mark around them."—New York Sun.

The Silenced Pretender.

Bilts—Did you know that the eldest of Price's seven daughters had eloped?
Siffert—No. How was the old man affected?
Bilts—Oh, he took on dreadfully at first, then he found out that every one knew he had bought the girl's railroad ticket.—Judge.

Strong Cards.

Alice—Which of his letters did you save for your breach of promise suit?
Kate—The ones he told me to burn.—Boston Transcript.

The Word "Nugget."

"Nugget" was formerly used to signify a bit or lump of anything, as a "nugget of tobacco." Nowadays, however, it is used principally of gold as it comes from the mine. This use is Australian. Governor Sir William Denison of Australia wrote in 1852, "In many instances the gold is brought to market in lumps or nuggets, as they are called."

LANDED A BIG FISH.

Then He Hooked Bigger Game and Had an Exciting Time.

A singular fish story is told in the East Indian papers. A fisherman started for the river, accompanied by a shikari, carrying a rifle for use in case of an encounter with big game. The fisherman in a short time landed a large fish and then moved up stream to another pool. On his way he passed a ravine and caught sight of an enormous tiger.

In a panic the fisherman concealed himself behind a pile of rocks and was flattering himself that he had escaped observation when the fish fell from his hands in full view of the tiger.

The fish was floundering in the road, and the tiger instantly pounced on it and carried it off. But the hook still held, and as soon as the tiger felt the resistance of the line he gave his head an impatient shake, which resulted in the harpooning of his upper lip.

At this critical moment the enraged animal saw the crouching fisherman, who was totally unnerved by his dangerous position, and actually began to play the tiger as he would a fish.

The tiger stopped for a moment in apparent amazement at such audacity, and in that instant the shikari came on the scene with his rifle and sent a bullet through the brute's brain.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Story of an Old Smoke Dimmed Painting of St. Jerome.

In "The Bargain Book," by C. E. W. Jerningham and Lewis Bettany, many instances are given where priceless heirlooms, especially paintings, have been found, neglected, stowed away in some dusty cupboard or adorning the walls of some miserable hut. Usually the owner was the victim of his own ignorance and was happy to sell the treasure for a few cents to some unscrupulous dealer. But here is a story with a happier termination.

A poor retailer of fruit could hardly earn enough even in good times to buy herself and her three small children bread. Her earnings were quite too small to pay the rent of the damp hole that her landlord called a room.

The landlord at last distrained for his rent. He took her bed and her wretched furniture and ordered them sold at auction. The widow and her children were present at the sale. Even the best things went for a trifle. It seemed as if not enough would be realized even to pay the rent.

Among her belongings was a very small, smoke-dimmed picture of St. Jerome, an inheritance from her grandmother, which hung over her bed and to which she and her children offered up their pious prayers. As they were accustomed to do, the children mechanically raised their little hands when the picture of St. Jerome was put up, and the tears of the mother flowed abundantly.

A painter who was present examined the picture for a considerable time and at last bid 2 guilders. Another connoisseur immediately doubled the bid. The painter, to alarm his rival, at once rose to 10, but the connoisseur said, without hesitation, "Twenty-five guilders."

"Fifty," answered the painter.

"A hundred," replied the connoisseur.

The astonishment and joy of the poor woman may be conceived, for she not only saw all her debts paid by the little Jerome, but a considerable surplus left over. She could hardly believe her ears when she heard the two collectors still bidding against each other. The painter was silent at an offer of 800 guilders.

"You are fortunate," said he after the painting had been knocked down to his rival. "You are fortunate, sir, in being richer than I am; otherwise you would not have had it under a thousand." It was an original by Raphael.

War In the Air.

A strange drama of bird life was witnessed recently by some Portland fishermen on the south coast of England. A homing pigeon was attacked by a large hawk, when two rooks and a seagull joined forces and attempted to deprive the hawk of its prey. The fight lasted some five minutes when the hawk, tearing the pigeon's head from its body, let the latter fall and flew away.

BRUMMEL'S FAMOUS CRAVAT.

It Was a Work of Art, Tied Only by a Sudden Inspiration.

George Brummel, better known as "Beau Brummel," was for twenty years the despot of fashionable London society. At a time when Napoleon was winning his victories there were people who would have preferred the fame of this prince of dandies. But it should not be supposed that he was extravagant in his dress. William B. Burton in "The Days of the Georges" quotes his famous aphorism, as true to-day as it was then, "A well-dressed gentleman ought to wear nothing which would attract particular attention in the street." He took the elements of dress as he found them and brought each to perfection in a harmonious combination.

His one innovation was the white cravat, and upon this he lavished his genius. He had a theory, which he imparted to his intimates, that a cravat could be properly tied only by a sudden inspiration and that if that inspiration failed it was necessary to begin over again. Such serious views on this mighty question doubtless explained the appearance of Mr. Watson (Brummel's valet) on the staircase with an armful of white cravats and his remark to a favored guest, "Some of our failures."

To another inquiring into the mysteries of the cult Brummel whispered the magic word, "Starch." The famous neckwear, it appears, consisted of many feet of fine linen stiffened to the exact degree which would allow of three parts of its length to be held up without collapsing. Having attained this fine temper, it was ready for Mr. Brummel's throat, and the central rite of the toilet began.

As each fold encircled his neck there was a solemn bending down of the beau's chin in order that it should take a natural crease, this being repeated until the whole presented an aspect acceptable to his fastidious taste, when it was secured by a gold brooch, and the ritual was at an end. A few—a very few— of his most intimate friends were admitted to these sacred mysteries. The Prince of Wales, of course, came when he chose, which was often. He would honor the beau by watching him attentively by the hour at his dressing table.

THACKERAY AT OXFORD.

A Jolt to the Author's Fame and an Awful Libel on Punch.

The ignorance of the scholar concerning what is going on in the world around him is proverbial. But a story of Thackeray's own telling gives an astonishing instance of "cloistered ignorance" at Oxford in the last century. Thackeray, it seems, was to lecture at Oxford and, according to custom, had first to get the vice chancellor's license to do so. This is the conversation that occurred, as the novelist reported it:

Vice Chancellor—Pray, sir, what can I do for you?

Thackeray—My name is Thackeray.

Vice Chancellor—So I see by this card.

Thackeray—I seek permission to lecture within your precincts.

Vice Chancellor—Ah! You are a lecturer. What subjects do you undertake, religious or political?

Thackeray—Neither. I am a literary man.

Vice Chancellor—Have you written anything?

Thackeray—Yes; I am the author of "Vanity Fair."

Vice Chancellor—I presume a dissenter. Has that anything to do with John Bunyan's book?

Thackeray—Not exactly. I have also written "Pendennis."

Vice Chancellor—Never heard of these works, but no doubt they are proper books.

Thackeray—I have also contributed to Punch.

Vice Chancellor—Punch? I have heard of that. Is it not a ribald publication?

AN ARMED SITTING.

It Was a Critical Moment in the Career of Wellington.

Had Wellington not commanded the British at Waterloo would there have been any prisoner at St. Helena? Whether or not some one exists competent to answer this momentous question, a story told in Rachel Challice's "Secret History of the Court of Spain" indicates that Napoleon once came nearer than he knew to being relieved of his enemy and future conqueror.

When the Anglo-Spanish army drove Joseph Bonaparte from Madrid attentions were showered upon the English commander, Lord Wellington, who, however, took little pains to be cordial. His coldness and his fancy to have his portrait painted by Goya nearly caused the future hero of Waterloo to lose his life.

For, be it known, the illustrious Spanish painter was irascible to a degree, the more so that he was completely deaf. When the great general made his appearance in the studio the painter's son interpreted the Englishman's wishes in deaf and dumb language to his father.

The artist worked assiduously and when he thought the portrait far enough advanced placed it before the general. Unfortunately the picture did not please the commander, who shrugged his shoulders contemptuously and said that he would not accept such a caricature as a gift.

The artist's son declined to translate this deprecatory remark, but the artist had noted the scornful gestures of the Englishman, and the son in alarm saw his father turn his eyes to the loaded pistols which always lay ready to hand on the table.

The young man's fear increased when Wellington rose from his seat and put on his hat preparatory to departure. Then Goya, enraged at the officer's contemptuous manner, seized the pistols, and the general clapped his hand to his sword.

The scene might have ended in a tragedy had not General Alava assured the irate Englishman that the artist was suffering from sudden mental abberation, and young Goya restrained his father by force from using the deadly weapons.

Writing Extraordinary.

A Cape Town rabbi has written a biography of King Edward in 86,000 words on a single sheet of paper, and at a distance the writing forms a likeness of the late monarch.

A ROYAL DEMOCRAT.

Late King of Sweden Enlisted as a Private Soldier.

Perhaps the most notable characteristic of King Frederick VIII. of Denmark, whose sudden death occurred some weeks ago, was his entire lack of ostentatiousness. He was one of the most democratic of monarchs, and a man who, like his father, King Christian, whom he succeeded in 1906, preferred the quiet, simple life of a country gentleman to that of the court and society. This characteristic marked his whole life.

As a student at the University in Copenhagen he lived not in his father's palace, but in students' lodgings, and boasted of the fact that as a boy he used to black his own boots. He began his military training as a simple soldier in the ranks, being in due time promoted to the rank of sergeant, and was probably the only European monarch with such a record.

His late Majesty, however, cared more for study than soldiering, particularly historical study, while he took the deepest interest in educational questions. Indeed, he was often termed the "Royal schoolmaster of Europe." He not only always maintained that the most important consideration to a nation was the training of its children, but he made a practice of visiting the schools of his country and examining the pupils, to whom he gave prizes.

He was intensely interested in children, and always liked to make the acquaintance of any youngsters who attracted his notice. On one occasion, when walking near Charlottenlund Castle, he saw a nurse playing with two English children—a boy and a girl, who were twins—on the grass. He asked the nurse whose children they were.

"That is a curious question," said the nurse, in English, "for I cannot see why they should interest you."

The King answered, also in English: "I am sorry that I have been inquisitive without introducing myself to you. I am King Frederick, and my sister is Queen Alexandra of England."

The nurse at once answered his questions about her little charges, and the King sent his compliments to the parents of the twins who had interested him.

King Frederick was extremely fond of traveling incognito, and was rather fond of visiting Paris with his wife, Queen Louise—who, by the way, is the tallest Queen in Christendom, being considerably over six feet in height. As a matter of fact, he and his wife were the first foreign royal couple to visit the President of the French Republic in state at the Elysee.

Although he was passionately fond of study, the late King was a keen business man, and succeeded, it is said, in more than doubling the large fortune the Queen possessed at the time of her marriage with him in 1869. From her maternal grandfather, Prince Frederick of the Netherlands, Queen Louise inherited $15,000,000, and she was also left a huge fortune by her father.

As most readers are doubtless aware, the late King's second son, Prince Charles, who married Princess Maud, daughter of Queen Alexandra, was elected King of Norway in 1905. One of King Frederick's dreams was a Scandinavian union of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark for mutual protection; but this remains among the aspirations which he did not succeed in realizing.

MIMIC VOLCANOES.

Reproducing a Vesuvius In Action Upon the Stage.

The sequence of phenomena characterizing a volcanic eruption is usually subterranean grumblings followed by smoke, which at first seems to hesitate at the edge of the crater and then rises in the air. The smoke is succeeded by streams of lava, the projection of rocks and ashes and often vast outpourings of flame.

To reproduce such a scene on the stage of a theatre would seem a rather difficult, complicated and dangerous undertaking, but it has been accomplished in a particularly vivid manner in a French theatre.

Concealed behind the scenery representing the crater of the volcano is a stand, from the centre of which rises a funnel of wire screen about thirteen feet in diameter, connected with a compressed air supply by three tubes. Below the funnel is a circular metal tube provided for about half of its circumference with a steam ejector, which rises above the wire screen funnel. Attached to the circular tube is a hose or tube connecting it with a source of steam supply behind the scenes.

The portion of the crater seen from the body of the theatre is formed of transparent material, and behind this an endless belt is set in motion, lighted from behind by a cluster of twenty-four red lamps. This belt is also transparent and is so decorated that as it is revolved above the red lights it imitates the flow of lava. Sponges, painted red or gray, to represent glowing or dark rocks, and pieces of paper, to represent ashes, are thrown into the funnel-like receptacle by men concealed in the scenery and are then thrown as high as eighteen or twenty feet by the compressed air.

Bengal fires lighted in pans on each side of the crater serve to give the effect of leaping flames, smoke producing tablets placed just back of the funnel serve to add smoke to the steam. Subterranean thunder is supplied by men beating drums, and the operation of other noise producing apparatus and illumination is thrown down into the crater from reflectors arranged above the stage.

Old Time Personally Conducted Tour. The campanile looked down upon the first agencies for conducted tours of which we have record. Five hundred years ago Venice controlled the pilgrim traffic to the Holy Land, and quite a number of firms made a good thing of it. They had their offices in St. Mark's square, with all the apparatus of advertisement hoardings, flags and commissionaires. The contract stipulated how much space aboard a ship and what food each pilgrim was to get, and the agents undertook not merely to carry the pilgrim across the sea, but to conduct him personally to Jerusalem and to take over all negotiations with the officials. For the whole journey the charge was 25 to 30 ducats, a third to be paid before starting, a third in Palestine and a third after returning home.—Manchester Guardian.

Measles.

The word measles formerly meant leprosy.

MEN SLAVES OF FASHION.

Freak Fashions That Eclipse Even Those of the Gentler Sex.

Women have up to now always been regarded as the most extravagant sex in matters relating to dress. This impression, however, is old-fashioned, for men are known to be getting vainer and vainer in regard to their personal appearance, and are spending more money every year on their dress.

It is the ambition of every young man nowadays to be fashionable, and men who a few years ago never gave the matter of their dress a thought spend hours over every detail.

A glance at the tailors' shops will show that the up-to-date lounge suit, instead of having just the suggestion of a waist, have a most clearly defined waist-line.

Then again, gentlemen's hatters will tell you that "bowlers" and "top-hats" change in shape every month or two, whereas formerly they remained the same in nearly every detail for years.

The broad-brimmed straw hat which satisfied the seaside young man last season, is now declared to be too narrow by a couple of inches.

Even the common everyday lounge suit has undergone immense changes. In order to satisfy the young man of to-day they must be made silk-lined and possess various eccentricities to satisfy individual tastes.

One large shop has a lounge suit on show, made for a certain gilded youth, which has points to the waistcoat six inches long. Pointed waistcoats, it may be remarked, are the prevailing fashion at present.

All trousers nowadays must be made very short. The reason for this, of course, is because there will be more opportunity for the young man to display his elaborate socks to advantage.

With the demand for more change in dress naturally comes the increase in the price of clothing. The man who wants to look smart does not seem to mind this, though; in fact, just as the fair sex love to spend much money on their apparel, so it seems that the young man of to-day takes a pride in the size of his dress bills.

In the old days men were content to buy ready-made ties for fifty cents. Those days, however, have passed by, and it is the thing nowadays to have your own ideas made up for you at anything from $3 to $4 each.

Although the desire to be fashionable and have the best of things may be prevalent in every young man of to-day, it is not always possible for him to pay for them. It is the craze just at present for men to wear soft hats, and they must be as original in shape as possible.

Soft hats can be bought for as little as 50 cents. Many "nuts," as the fashionable youth is called, are content to wear these. But people who can afford to pay more for them do, indeed, pay more.

Musical artistes, for instance, dearly love these hats, and the more uncommon they are in shape the better they like them.

One star badly bitten by the soft hat craze has his hat made for him at $200 a time.

In addition to the passion for fashionable clothes, the more degenerate members of the male sex have taken largely to "padding" and "making up."

In the principal thoroughfares of every large town can be seen groups of corseted and painted young men, and in order to cater for the tastes of these inverts, gentlemen's toilet and massage establishments have sprung up everywhere.

A Necessary Preliminary.

Queen Margherita of Italy once visited the Montessori schools in Rome and during her brief stay requested a little girl who was engaged in putting in order a box of cut-out letters to spell some words for her. The child did not heed the request, but went on calmly dropping each letter into the right compartment. An older person standing near, horrified at the child's indifference, exclaimed:

"But, Rose, you must pay attention! This is the Queen!"

"I know that," the child answered respectfully. "But the Queen knows that before I begin to spell I must finish my work of putting the alphabet in order!"

The Old, Old Scorpion.

Scorpions are relics of prehistoric times. They have been in existence since the middle silurian era, and through all the changes in environment in the millions of years which have elapsed they have remained practically the same in structural character, in habit. There is little if any evidence that these animals in the past days of their history have ever gained a livelihood by means other than those employed at the present day.—London Standard.

Birds That Carry Their Young.

The woodcock, it is said, has been known to carry away her young when threatened with danger. She places them on her spread feet, pressing them between the toes and the breast. A naturalist says many woodcocks also carry their young down to marshy feeding grounds in the evening, returning before dawn. In fact, they have no means of feeding their young except by carrying them to their food, for they cannot convey their food to them.

Always a Chance.

There is something in every season of the year for the average fool. In the summer he can rock the boat, in the fall go gunning, in the winter skate on thin ice and in the spring fall in love.

A Bold, Bad Man.

The phrase "A bold, bad man," now worn threadbare and comic, belongs to Spenser, who applied it to the Archimage of "The Faerie Queene" (I. 1, 37):

A bold, bad man, that dared to call by name
Great Gorgon, prince of darkness and dead night.

Unreasonable.

"I suppose your chief creditor is very rich."

"Well, I should say so. But even at that he acts as though I were living above his means."—Fliegende Blaetter.

WOMEN'S AILMENTS CAUSED BY NEGLECT

Proper Treatment Will Quickly Bring Back Robust Health and Good Spirits.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is they put off measures of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of women's ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted—the nerves suffer and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of their mildness of action as a system regulator, no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The kidneys quickly respond to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect—pain in the back and side, shortness of breath, and bad color disappear—the functions of the body then operate naturally, congestion and pain are prevented and perfect health returns.

Thousands of happy women say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, the finest complexion renewer, the most certain regulating medicine known. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers, 25c. per box, for $1 postpaid. The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

NOW—WHEN SCHOOL OPENS

The death occurred recently at Cass Lake, Minn., of Robt. Alexander Saunderson, who left Peterborough over a year ago, to reside in Grand Forks, Dakota. He had been a Grand Trunk engineer. Mail Route No. 7.

The Times has received a letter from Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P. for East Peterborough, dated Ottawa, relative to the proposed rural mail route No. 7. Mr. Sexsmith had taken the matter before the postal department previous to writing and informs The Times that to cover a certain district just off the route mapped as No. 7, would mean doubling back the courier a distance of a mile and the department regulations strictly forbid doubling. Mr. Borden, himself, went over this route, he writes, and did all passible to include all residents, but a few, it is believed, will not enjoy the delivery at present, at least, because to reach them would mean the postman would have to double which is prohibited. It may be depended upon, nevertheless, that Mr. Sexsmith will do all in his power to eventually afford mail delivery to those out of reach on the present schedule.

WEDDING BELLS.

Wood—Dickson.

The marriage of Miss Jeanie Olivia Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dickson, to Mr. James Russell Wood, C.E., son of Mr. James Wood, of Peterborough, was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents Kinkora avenue, Thursday evening. The ceremony was conducted at 8 o'clock by Rev. Bruce Taylor. Quantities of purple and white astors with palms and ferns were artistically arranged in the house. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white satin gown trimmed with real lace and pearl garniture, a tulle veil surmounted with a bandeau of pearls and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The bridegroom's gift a chain wrist watch, was also worn. She was attended by one bridesmaid, Miss Inez McLachlan, who wore mauve crepe de chene over satin, a silver mesh juliet cap, and carried purple astors. From the bridegroom she received a platinum pendant. The bride's niece Miss Evelyn Barker, was the little flower girl, who was in a dainty lingerie frock, and carried a basket of white astors. Mrs. Dickson, the bride's mother, was in a robe of black lace and sequins over satin. Mrs. Wood, mother of the bridegroom, was also in black. Mr. and Mrs. Wood left after the service for a wedding trip to Toronto and the west, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit with hat to match.—Montreal Gazette.

ERNIE MARKS CO. PLAYING TO GOOD BUSINESS.

Will Repeat "For Love and Honor" By Special Request at To-day's Matinee.

A good audience greeted the Ernie Marks Co., at the Opera House last night, when the great four act drama "A Hero of the Hills" was presented to an enthusiastically appreciative audience. The piece was prettily and naturally staged, even to the introduction of an up-to-the-minute automobile at the conclusion of act one, which spirit of enterprise found demonstrative approval from a delighted house. Ernie Marks' conception of the difficult comedy character, "Major Crab, who lost the war," was of no mean order of merit, and elicited continued applause. Belmont Claxton was acceptably strong in the heavy lead, as also was Albert Morton in the melodramatic part of "Jack Rose," the hero of the hills. Miss Kitty Marks excellently filled the pathetic character of "Madge Ainsley, the betrayed," while Miss Agnes Archer, as "May Scott, the banker's child," gave the Hero of the Hills splendid support. The whole piece reflected considerable credit on the company in general.

Hogan and Mack were irresistably funny in their special numbers which demanded many enthusiastic recalls. The other specialties are high class.

At to-day's matinee, the company will repeat by special request their popular comedy drama "For Love and Honor," presented by them on Thursday evening before a highly delighted audience. To-night they play a story of the south in four acts, "Magnolia Land." Both performances deserve crowded houses.

HAVE LOVED THROUGH AGES

Artist and Model Met In Former Existence

NOW WANT DIVORCE

After Two Years of Wedded Life — Their Love in Ancient Egypt Recalled by Each.

St. Louis, Sept. 6.—The reincarnated love of Ralph Chesley Ott, an artist, and Jane Schauffert, a model entered the Divorce Court before Judge Hitchcock, when an order was issued preventing Ott from disposing of any of his property. The two were married on February 5th, 1910.

The romance of the Otts attracted attention because they declared they had been married in a pre-existence in Egypt thousands of years ago.

Ott was in 1910 commissioned to study the ancient architecture of Egypt by E. G. Lewis, who desired its reproduction in University City, Mo. Returning to University City with a wealth of material he met Jane Schauffert who came to him as a model.

WHEN HE MET THE PRINCESS.

At the time of their marriage in St. Louis, they described their unique situation. After speaking of the strange day dreams of Egypt that had been his, Mr. Ott continued:

"Always there was the Princess Amneris, who is now my bride. We met in the Queen's chamber of the great Pyramid. That was the beginning of our love. In the evenings I met her in the palace gardens, and together we would wend our way to the river where she would throw sweetmeats to the sacred crocodiles.

"I recall a night that brought great tragedy to my life. Pharaoh discovered us; there were torches and guards who seized us. After that my impressions are hazy. I can recall wandering about through a sandy waste with strange people—and that is all. And now, when I saw Jane Schauffert enter the Queen's chamber something inside of me seemed to snap and I was back in ancient Egypt and in the presence of the Princess Amneris.

"It was the same face, the same figure as that of my dream Princess—the Princess that I had loved in those days so long, long past, and when she told me of her strange impressions of a previous existence, I knew and know now that we did live together 5,000 years ago."

PHARAOH WAS HER FATHER.

Mrs. Ott was quite as firmly convinced of it.

"I know as surely as I am alive now that I lived before, thousands of years ago, in Egypt. I was the Princess Amneris. I have dreamed of my artist lover thousands of times. I can remember distinctly how we used to go down the river together to feed the crocodiles. I remember as though it were yesterday our first meeting in the great pyramid.

"I had accompanied my father on a tour of inspection, and as I looked into the Queen's chamber, I saw the most handsome man in the world. I loved him at once, and saw that he loved me. That evening he came to the Palace Garden, and our love that has lasted through the centuries began.

"I too have recollection of beautiful nights upon the Royal barge, and I recall quite vividly my father's anger when we were discovered together. All I know is that here my recollections break off sharply, and I always feel a heaviness of heart.

"Now I understand it all. Isis the Ancient Egyptian's Great Goddess, watched over us through the centuries, and brought us together at last."

Whatever Policy of Conservatives on Navy Question, He Will Never Start War of Prejudice---Refers to Naval and Marriage Questions

Montreal, Sept. 7.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier opened his Quebec campaign at Marieville yesterday afternoon, speaking to an audience of several thousand people from many parts of the County of Roxville.

The veteran Liberal chief touched on the marriage issue, the navy and other matters that divide the people, but his chief weapon was sarcasm, holding up his National-Conservative opponents to ridicule.

He was ready to spit on his hands and start over, and was prouder of his defeat than his adversaries had cause to be over their victory. The eyes of the people had been opened since they had seen the idols set up on September 21 last so rudely shattered. "Laurier is out of power, and you have Monk and Mantel," said Sir Wilfrid, while the crowd roared. "They said they'd restore the separate schools or smash everything the moment they came to speak, but all they could smash was their own province. Monk announced that he was riveted to his job and that the school question was settled by Laurier."

Would the result have been the same if Monk had talked that way before the election? asked Sir Wilfrid, who then took up the Lancaster marriage bill. He was not anxious to stir up a delicate question. Sir Allan Aylesworth had given the opinion that the question was for the provinces to deal with, and the privy council had agreed with him.

Regarding the navy, the Liberal chief said if he had listened to the voice of security he would not have touched it, but he would not have done his duty. Quebec did not see that a navy was necessary, but this country did not consist of Quebec alone. Did anyone say that the sea coasts of Canada were not to be protected? The navy question would remain with us, and he was too old to begin playing demagogue now.

Continuing, Sir Wilfrid said:

"In a few years the naval question will agitate us no more than the question of who built the pyramids. We have been obliged to embark on a naval policy forced by our national development and by an obligation as a British nation. It is easy to talk of disembowleled babies and to sow terror among the people but I disdain such methods. Let us talk with calm and with dignity. Nationalists declared that we must have no navy, imperialists that we must have a purely imperial one. Between the two we steered our course, a genuine Canadian and British one. We were beaten and the responsibility lies on other shoulders. We were defeated, but the question remains. Whatever is the policy of Mr. Borden I shall never raise my voice to start the war of prejudice, and hatred of the race. May my tongue wither in my mouth before I inaugurate the war of races in this country so blessed of heaven. No faltering, no exaggeration, no defiance, if we are true to our doctrine of old the country will prosper and our party triumph."

TRAVERS HOPES TO GET ANOTHER TORONTO TRIP

Farmer Banker is Social Leader in Prison--He is Sweeper

Kingston, Sept. 7.—The former general manager of the bankrupt Farmers Bank hopes to get another trip to Toronto when the inquiry resumes this fall. At the present time he is the most distinguished prisoner the Provincial penitentiary at Portsmouth contains. All the other prominent convicted men who spent some years of residence in the big prison have been released, and the ex-bank manager of the last Canadian bank to bring woe to its small stockholders, is the social leader in the prison.

IN THE DOME SECTION.

Travers' cell is in the dome section of the main building, and his daily work so far has been to sweep the corridors. No favors are shown him. All clerkships available are filled, and it may be some time before Travers gets a place at a desk. The ex-general manager of another defunct bank, who spent several years at Portsmouth, was more fortunate in this respect, as he was given a place in the accountant's office just after his arrival.

HEALTH IS GOOD.

Travers' health is good, and he has no complaint to make about his treatment. When he was brought down over a year ago, he made the remark that no prisoner had any reason to complain of the treatment given by the officers if he did as he was told. He is quite content to take his punishment, and remain within the walls of the prison three years more, for he will be liberated some time during the autumn of 1915. Already he has served more than a year and a half of his six-year sentence, which, deducting good behaviour time, is equal to four years and nine months.

GOES TO CHURCH ON SUNDAY.

Just after Travers entered the penitentiary, it was reported on good authority that he had decided to turn Roman Catholic, and would make application to the Department of Justice to be allowed to attend the Roman Catholic chapel services. It would seem, however, that he had not done this, for he attends the Protestant services every Sunday. All prisoners are required to attend some religious service.

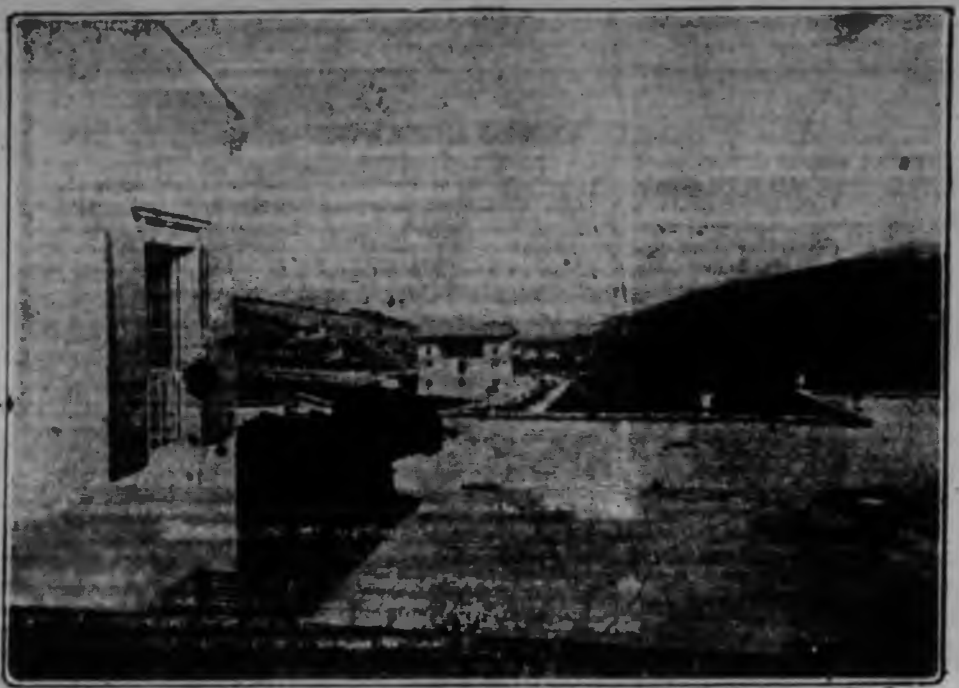
WOMEN INVADE KING'S CASTLE

Balmoral, Scotland, Sept. 7.—Suffragettes invaded the grounds of King George's highland castle in the course of Friday night. The king is residing here during the shooting season and a strong force of police is in attendance.

The women, however, succeeded in completely outwitting the guards and left signs of their daring exploits in the shape of purple colored flags bearing the words, "Votes for women mean peace for the cabinet ministers," around his majesty's private links. They removed and took away with them the flags marking the holes.

PEACEFUL RUSTIC HOME OF NAPOLEON TO PASS INTO UNKNOWN HANDS



VIEW OF THE ROAD FROM PORTO FERRAJO-TAKEN FROM THE TERRACE OF SAN MARTINO

What was formerly the peaceful rustic dwelling of Napoleon I, San Martino, on the island of Elba, is soon to pass into new and unknown hands. It has been offered for sale by its present owner, who bought it from the heirs of Prince Demidoff, husband of Princess Matilda Bonaparte. There exist all over the world worshippers of the conqueror's memory who would be willing to pay dearly if they could acquire the two historic dwellings of Napoleon on the island of Elba, the palace of Malini and the villa of San Martino. There still remain many relics of Napoleon's sojourn in these beautiful surroundings. On the cement of the terrace the visitor is shown the imprint of the shoe of one of Napoleon's horses. In the middle of the garden is a bust of Minerve in marble on a pedestal of gray stone, surrounded by a violet efflorescence. The whole place is one beautiful fairyland.

PANAMA TOLLS WONT PAY COST OF OPERATION

An Official Inquiry Show That Large Deficit is Figured On

GREY MISQUOTED

Washington, Sept. 7.—An inquiry as to the cost of operating the Panama Canal is now being conducted on the isthmus by Prof. Emory Johnson, Special Commissioner on Panama traffic and tolls.

In the data already prepared by Prof. Johnson it appears that, according to the best estimate, the whole of the American coastwise traffic that is likely to pass through the Panama Canal immediately after it is opened will be about 1,000,000 tons or a little more than ten per cent. of the total tonnage that will pass through the canal in the years 1915 and 1916. In the course of five years it is estimated that this American coastwise tonnage will rise, but foreign commerce will increase in like proportion.

This would indicate that the British and other foreign commerce would have to bear an additional burden of ten per cent. in tolls. It is pointed out, however, that a proportionate share of the burden, if it did exist, would have to be borne by American ships in the foreign trade, which consequently would be on a precise equality with British ships.

MUST LOWER RATES.

Prof. Johnson's statistics discloses still another factor that doubtless will be urged by the American negotiatars. After pointing out the many advantages of the Suez in the way of coaling facilities, low insurance rates, superior opportunities for picking up cargoes between terminals, and the like, Prof. Johnson declares that the only possibility of the Panama Canal getting a fair share of the world's business is to place the tolls at a figure actually lower than by the Suez route. These are now $1.25 per ton, so that the rate on the American canal must be sensibly lower than this, and the Professor has even mentioned a flat dollar rate for the first few years of the canal's operation at least.

On the basis of ten millions tons' business, this would yield an income inadequate to meet the cost of operations and maintenance of the canal. Allowing two per cent. interest on the capital invested in the canal, and one per cent. for a sinking fund, the total of the annual charges on the canal are likely to be more than $15,000,000 or about fifty per cent. more than the gross revenue from tolls.

HOPE TO PROVE IT.

With these figures before them, and the rate on British shipping fixed far below the actual cost of the service, it is believed by the officials here that they will have little difficulty in showing that the exemption of American coastwise traffic from tolls has no influence upon British shipping and consequently that no discrimination is proposed in violation of treaty rights.

GREY DIDN'T SAY IT.

London, Sept. 7.—Sir Edward Grey the British Foreign Secretary, never wrote anything regarding the financial side of the Panama Canal question in his recent letter to the Gateshead Chamber of Commerce. He simply wrote that the British Government was making representations to Washington on the subject of the Panama Canal Act.

An official correction is published in the newspapers in which it is stated that all further statements attributed to Sir Edward Grey is regard to the burdening of British shipping with an undue proportion of the maintenance charges of the canal were merely comments made by Herbert Shaw, secretary of the Gateshead Chamber.

PUTS BLAME ON DEAD MEN

Coroner's Jury Says Engineer and Conductor Caused Wreck

North Bay, Sept. 7.—The inquest into the C. P. R. wreck at Mattawa on Saturday last when five men were killed and ten injured in a collision between a work train and through freight was concluded Saturday after three sessions before the coroner, Dr. James, and a jury.

Evidence developed the fact that the work train was late getting away and orders were not fully read until under way.

The verdict of the jury was that Conductor Thomas Duncan, deceased, and Herbert Shepherd, engineer, were fully to blame for the accident, having disobeyed orders.

accidents. The rest of the injured died at the Mattawa Hospital, making six deaths as the results of the accidents. The rest of the injured are expected to recover.

MONTREAL GIVES PATRIOTIC GREETING TO PREMIER BORDEN

Citizens Demonstrate Loyalty and Fealty in Grand Reception To First Minister of The Land

Montreal, Sept. 7.—(Special)—The demonstration which took place last night upon the arrival of the Right Hon. R. L. Borden, Premier, will be a memorable one.

When the Lady Grey arrived the steamer was met by a fleet of tugs and yachts all lit by electric designs and provided with every variety of noise-making device. The Victoria pier, where the boat docked is large enough to accommodate a crowd of several thousand people.

The route of the procession was from Victoria pier to the Windsor Hotel.

From end to end of this route decorations were put up with many streamers stretched across the streets bearing mottoes expressing the welcome and good feeling of the citizens. Over the entrance to the Windsor Hotel, there was a huge shield draped with Imperial flags, and surmounting a huge illuminated motto bearing the word "Welcome."

A conspicuous building that has been electrically decorated is the new grain elevator which the Harbor Commissioners have recently erected. This is covered with electric lights, and this, as well as the whole harbor front at this point, was one blaze of light.

An immense and striking procession of cars escorted the Premier along the route, every machine being gaily decorated for the occasion.

The banquet tendered by citizens of Montreal, was one of unusual splendor, the permier being surrounded by his entire cabinet.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., of Peterborough, was among the distinguished visitors.

MEXICAN REBELS CROSS U.S. BOUNDRY AND GIVE BATTLE

Americans Kill Five Invaders---President Taft Orders More Cavalry Regiments to Frontier---Situation Regarded as Grave

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 8.—Mexican rebels crossed the boundary and were engaged by U. S. soldiers on the Lang Ranch, 50 miles east of Douglas, according to a report received here early Saturday morning.

Fourteen American troopers held back 25 rebels, killing five and wounding one of the Mexicans, it is reported. The rebels are believed to be in command of Inez Salazar, whose men also engaged American soldiers below Hachita, N.M., farther to the east.

TAFT SENDS MORE TROOPS

Beverley, Mass., Sept. 8.—President Taft has authorized Major-General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, by telephone to despatch at once two more regiments of cavalry to the Mexican border.

No authorization was given by the president to have the troops cross the border.

The president regards the situation as grave.

CORN ON COB SELLS AT $2.40 DOZ.

With green corn selling at from 8c to 10c a dozen and the price for corn-on-the-cob in local restaurants ten cents a portion for half a cob, one might wonder how they can afford it. The gross return on one dozen ears at this rate would be $2.40. Allowing five cents for husking the succulent ears, another nickel for boiling it, ten cents for the cook's mite and twenty cents for service, the net return would be only two dollars on the risky investment of ten cents.

But corn, perhaps, is reckoned a luxury and this is the cost of high living rather than the high cost of living.

"The strange part of it is," said a man just returned from the Toronto exhibition, "that in Toronto, where there is a better market for produce and a greater competition in catering a la carte, table d'hote or country style, a person can get a whole meal, including two ears of corn for the price of one whole ear alone in Peterborough. And furnished in an furnished an in up-to-date restaurant at that."

"Maybe, the difference in the volume of business done warrants the difference in price," it was suggested.

"Figure it out for yourself," he answered as he passed on.

Then, as an afterthought came to him, he remarked, "There are only two restaurants in this city of 20,000 persons, you know." One might wonder that there are not more in a place where it is so easy to get Delmonico prices.

MINIMUM WAGE OF 30 SHILLINGS

Newport, Wales, Sept. 7. — The Trades Union Congress here has resolved unanimously to demand a law fixing thirty shillings, or about $7.50 weekly as the minimum wage for adult workers. For England the figure is not considered very low.

WHEAT AND OAT YIELD IS GOOD

Quality in Hamilton Township is High---Local Markets

"Hamilton township grain crops are nearly all in and safe," said Mr. Way Byers, a farmer from Hamilton who was on the market Saturday.

"If my crops may be taken as a standard," he added, the wheat and oat yield and quantity will be good throughout the district."

Threshing is in progress throughout the country. Fancy peas are a failure in many localities. Potatoes are reported good but as the tops are not yet dead and the spuds not fully ripened there is danger of rot unless the weather continues favorable from now till they are harvested. The tubers were quoted at from 90c to $1 a bag on the local market Saturday.

Vegetables were plentiful. The first parsnips of the season were offered. Cauliflower, cabbage and green corn, the latter at 10c a dozen, were also plentiful. Tomato offerings were more liberal at 40c a peck. Alexander apples 15c, sugar plums, 15c, greengages, six quarts for 25c, and plentiful supply. Peaches, liberal 80c, large basket. Chickens sold at 50c each to $1.30 a pair, dressed. Butter, steady, at 30c. and eggs 25c. Loose hay quoted at $12 to $18 a ton.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the State's area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 45 Cecil street, Toronto D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's. Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 360 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED ON JULY 15th, AND WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE NOT LATER THAN JULY 31st. THE COMPANY RESERVING THE RIGHT TO WITHDRAW THE SALE WITHOUT NOTICE. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ALLOTTED IN THE ORDER RECEIVED.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

Although it is only three days since our subscription books opened, the demand for stock in THE CANADA MOVING PICTURES LIMITED, has exceeded our expectations, and to date over 25 per cent of the total issue has been taken up.

Every mail brings in orders, and we anticipate the entire offering will be subscribed for within the next few days. We would, therefore, suggest to those WHO DESIRE ONE OF THE MOST LUCRATIVE INVESTMENTS EVER OFFERED to the public, one that promises to pay monthly dividends of at least 10 per cent., to write or phone us without delay.

The Canada Moving Pictures Limited, already own the Comique, situated on Yonge Street, in the busy shopping section, which during the past year shows a net profit of close to $300 per month. The Company also holds options on eight other playhouses, every one of which is excellently located. The Directors wish it distinctly understood that none of these options will be exercised unless each theatre can show a substantial profit for the past three months. WE WILL HAVE NOTHING BUT WINNERS ON OUR CIRCUIT OF PLAYHOUSES.

Earnings

With only six playhouses in operation, and basing the net profits at a conservative estimate of $450 each, totalling $2700 per month, would mean a distribution on the issued stock on the 10th of each month of 6¼ per cent, or 75 per cent per annum. These figures are based on the average yearly earnings, as the spring, fall and winter months are the most profitable, but it must not be lost sight of the present summer is proving this new sphere of the amusement world is growing in popularity with marvelous strides. No individual enterprise in this city can show the big profit now being reaped by the moving picture theatres.

Are You Receiving Any Financial Benefit? If Not, Here is Your Opportunity

We invite the closest inspection of this proposition, and will gladly mail prospectus containing full particulars. Again we sound the warning, unless you send us your orders for stock in the Canada Moving Pictures, Limited, without further delay, it will mean GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY permitted to slip by.

Opportunity knocks at each man's door at least once in a lifetime. Here it is, and our candid advice is, take advantage at once to the limit of your finances. The stock is selling fast and only a limited amount remains.

Paternal Confidence.

The Young Man (with some embarrassment)—There is one question you haven't asked me yet Mr. Flopop. You haven't wanted to know whether or not I think I can make a living for your daughter.

The Other Man—That isn't necessary, Henry. She'll see that you make the living, all right, if she's at all like her mother, and I think she is.

The Ducking Stool In England.

The latest recorded use of the ducking stool in England (the designations cucking and ducking were, of course, synonymous in the days of Queen Elizabeth) was in 1809. It was at Leominster, when a woman named Jenny Pipes, alias Jane Corran, was paraded through the town on the ducking stool and ducked in the water near Kenwater bridge by order of the magistrates. In 1817 another woman, called Sarah Leake, was wheeled round the place in the same chair, but not ducked, as, fortunately for her, the water was too low. The instrument of punishment in question has not been used since then.—London Notes and Queries.

Wouldn't Have Missed.

As a battalion was returning from rifle practice at the ranges a shot was discharged from the leading company, apparently by accident, but the bullet passed uncomfortably close to the colonel. "Look here," he roared to the captain of the company, "who fired that shot?" "Sir," replied the officer proudly, "it can't be a man of my company, for they are all first class shots."—London Globe.

Washing Day In the Balkans.

"Washing day, or rather washing week, is so important a period in the Balkan region that all family and social obligations retire to the background when it has to be considered," writes a traveler. "I have known a Cabinet Minister's wife to excuse herself from attendance at a court function because it collided with the appointment made with her laundress! This, too, in spite of the full quota of servants, footman, cook, housemaid and old man. None of these was either privileged or efficient enough to meet the formidable laundress and satisfy her requirements. Therefore the lady stayed at home to fill the breach, and a sympathetic queen accepted the explanation with a readiness born of full understanding."

Handicapped.

"Ah tell yo'," said the negro who was working on the man's shoes, "woman is a peculiah thing. Yo' gotta know jest how to handle huh or yo' goin' to git the worst uf it. Lots of times she'll git mad at yo' an' then yo' gotta talk to huh. Talk to huh—that's the way to mastah huh. She won't stand fo' no beatin' or nothin' lak that. Talk to huh. That's the way Ah handle ma wife."

Another negro working next to him looked up. "Whah did yo' git that black eye yo' got, Rufe?" he asked.

"Well, ma wife done it, but"—

"Why didn't yo' talk to huh?"

"How could Ah?" came from the first. "She had me by the throat wif ma wind shut off"—New York Telegraph.

HARDY SERI INDIANS.

They Can Outrun a Horse and Go For Days Without Food.

From an ethnological standpoint one of the strangest peoples in the western hemisphere is that tribe known as the Seri Indians, living in the western part of the state of Sonora, Mexico, along the shore of the gulf of California and on the island of Tiburon in that gulf.

From time immemorial Seriland has remained practically unexplored, partly because it lies behind a desert barrier and partly on account of the warlike reputation of its fierce and bloodthirsty inhabitants.

These Indians are of superb physique, able to run down fleet game and to capture half wild Mexican horses without rope or projectiles; able to run across the desert, waterless and foodless, so rapidly as to escape pursuing horsemen; able to abstain from food and water for days; able habitually to pass barefoot through cactus thickets and over jagged rock slopes without thought of discomfort.

They speak a distinct language and strictly practice monogamous marriage. Their hatred for alien peoples is hereditary. The remains of ancient ruins in Seriland indicate that the inhabitants have always kept their country free from foreign invasion and that for centuries their customs and arts, which are crude and simple, have remained unchanged.—Detroit Free Press.

Let Father Do It.

Effie—Shall I put on my mackintosh and run out and post this letter, mother?

Mother—No, dear, it's not fit for a dog to be out on a night like this. Let your father post it.—London Opinion.

Life Without Microbes.

Microbes are not indispensable to all life if they are indispensable to any. The question has been definitely settled. A cage completely sterilized at 90 degrees was made and the openings of the cage closely stopped with cotton and protected from the outside by a hermetically closed metallic chamber. Such manipulations as were necessary in opening the cage were made by hands guarded by aseptic rubber cloth. Into such a sterilized cage three hens' eggs were placed after having been externally sterilized. The cage was fitted with a glass pavilion or chicken run, where the chickens could develop during their six weeks' sojourn in the cage. In the cage were sterilized air, pure water, sterilized sand and sterilized food. The experiment showed that life does not depend upon microbes, but that the vital work of the organism is easy and natural when everything is sterilized.—Harper's.

Daisy's Diagnosis.

"Would you think me too bold if I threw you a kiss?"
Said smart Alec to pert little Daisy.
"Oh, no; not a bit of it!" countered the miss.
"Just simply and sinfully lazy."
—Canadian Courier.

Unworthy.

A woman lately wrote an editor of the personal columns and said:

"I have lost three husbands and now have an offer of a fourth. Shall I accept him?"

The reply came: "If you have lost three husbands I should say you are too careless to be trusted with a fourth."—Harper's Magazine.

The Worm Turns.

Ocean Voyager—Don't the passengers make you tired with the questions they ask? Captain—Yes, very. What else is it you want to know?—Boston Transcript.

THE FORUM

Young farmers already are looking about for winter employment in the cities. Are they industrious or is it merely an indication of their prosperity.

Why do people openly admire clever men and by their action infer they are afraid of them. Be clever and you'll be isolated, if not ostracized.

Britain may suffer some from the special privileges to be granted American shipping via the Panama Canal but the U. S. will find an awful falling off in the Erie when the Trent Canal starts in business.

It is said that two harvesting machines, identical in all respects, manufactured by the United States Harvester Co., are on exhibition in Texas; one bought in Germany for $30 and the other in Illinois for $125.

Let the fire chief attend the convention of the Provincial Association of Fire Chiefs by all means. Association of ideas regarding the curtailment of disaster by fire by fire fighters is worth many times the expense incurred.

Mr. Borden's reception upon his return from his mission abroad betokened the true Canadian spirit and given added affirmation that Canadians are trying to live harmoniously together, which means, in the ultimate, a country well ruled.

WHEN IS A LIAR?

The Regina Daily Standard assumes to justify Roosevelt's habitual practice of calling those he differs from liars on the ground that the term is a synomym of, or another expression for, "You are mistaken."

The Daily Standard's own words refute its argument when it is obvious by logical analysis that the Standard itself is "mistaking," which word implies that it misjudges, is incorrect in its assumption. But the Standard is not a liar because it voices such expression, because it is too apparent that it merely means the other fellow is misinformed. The distinction is clearly drawn.

Which would the Standard resent first, the statement that its editorials are all lies or that what they advocate is, based on mistaken information?

The difference between a lie and a mistake is clear to any mind desiring to discriminate between designed falsity and mere human error.

The Standard is mistaking when it defines lying as a "mistake," and it is not lying simply because it makes this mistake. The Standard is mistaking when it essays to justify Roosevelt's vulgarity of speech but it is not lying when it admits that his manner of speech is a vulgarity.

The journal quoted says "Teddy" means nothing more by "your're a liar" than is meant in the parliamentary retort, "The Honorable gentleman is quite mistaken." If this is true why not use the simplified form in parliament?

Does a man call another "honorable" and a "liar" in the one breath? Would the champion of Rooseveltian simplified diction by common usage put the word "liar" in every child's mouth when the child wished to express his belief that his playmate was mistaken—that he misunderstood the rules of the game or because he reckoned two and two make five? There's no watered stock in childhood play—he reckoned wrongly and is mistaken, but not a liar.

The Standard is mistaking when it infers that when the Bull Moose says "You're a liar," he means, "Dear and Honorable Sir, I beg to submit that by the token of my superior wisdom and knowledge you misconceive the point at issue."

When Roosevelt says you're a liar he means it with all the vituperative emphasis the Annanias constitution stands for.

WM. J. BRYAN FLAYS TAFT AND T. R.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 6.—In the first political speech he has made in his campaign, William J. Bryan, at the State Fair grounds, flayed Col. Roosevelt and President Taft for alleged shortcomings in their administrations. Declaring that Governor Johnson is the biggest man in the Progressive movement, the speaker launched into his attack on Roosevelt by saying:—

"I would rather see Johnson President and Roosevelt Vice-President, and I would pass the rest of my time praying that Johnson would not die."

The speaker's objection to Taft was that "he is too distrustful of the people," and that Roosevelt is too trustful of himself. He had never known a man, the speaker said, who had such overpowering confidence in himself. "Mr. Roosevelt," Mr. Bryan continued, "is claiming to be the leader in the Progressive movement when his progressive convictions are only two years old. I have been a progressive for twenty years and know all the leaders in the Progressive and Reactionary movements. Roosevelt has never, until in this campaign, been among the advocates of the former movement."

Laughs With Joy! No More Indigestion

Montreal Man So Ill, Thought He Would Die of Stomach Trouble.

Found a Simple Remedy That Has Kept Him Well Ever Since.

The experience of Mr. Larose is one very common to-day:

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous Pills. I recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. Your grateful servant, P. R. Larose, 338 Joliette street, Montreal, P.Q.

All who have weak stomachs, and those who suffer with indigestion, headaches, biliousness, can be perfectly cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, at druggists and storekeepers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

RAILWAY BAITING IN CANADA THE RAILWAY MUST LIVE

Observations On Proposed Reductions Of Freight Rates In The West By a Noted Journalist

E. W. Thompson, writing in Boston "Transcript," says in part:—

"In the first place it costs more to 'produce' transportation in northern latitudes than in warmer climates. Coal is higher, snowdrifts deeper and it costs more to shovel both. It costs more to feed a locomotive or a man in the colder country. The man must wear warmer clothes; the engine consumes more oil and coal. If this increased cost of operation increased the efficiency of the locomotive or the man it would not be wasted, but both man and engine lose efficiency as the temperature drops. A freight train that can be easily started in summer will stick in the siding at forty below. It was away below zero for weeks last winter in Canada's prairie West.

"Everything is going up—everything but the price of transportation. Increasing cost of living in the West is justly urged on behalf of repeated demands for better pay for labor. The same argument applies to a railroad. The railway must 'live'; it must even enjoy some measure of prosperity in order to give its workmen a living wage. As the trend of the times is toward better equipment for the railway, smarter carriages, electric fans, and faster trains. Can the public reasonably expect the benefit of these betterments for no additional cost? The first Pullman car, the 'Pioneer,' operated on the Chicago & Alton, cost $2,000 and took $2 for a single sheep. The traveller to-day sleeps in a car that may cost $20,000 for the same price charged in the 'Pioneer.' He can sleep in a first-class sleeper to-day or to-night for half the price charged in a first-class hotel. The Pullman Company is supposed to enjoy a monopoly in America. It is not so. For years the Wagner Company was a competitor. Even before the merger of these companies many railways operated their own sleeping cars. The railways tried to improve on the Pullman. The Pullman Company took pointers and tried to improve on the improvements. So competition here, as in all branches of transportation, made for good service.

Completing Roads of Canada.

Canada is fortunate in having three separate, distinct and keenly competing railway systems. Competition between them will insure the best of service, not only in rates, but in facilities. Canada deserves such competition. The Dominion has been liberal in encouragement of the building of railways. Is Canada likely to be so unreasonable as to declare that, now that they are practically completed, they shall not be allowed to share in the general prosperity of the Canada which they have helped to make? Should not railway rates rather ascend with wages and with taxes than go down? It is a mistake to make a 'houn' dawg' of the railways. That's the way to damage their service to the public—and the best service is what Canada intended to obtain when encouraging railway building.

Recently the Grand Trunk Pacific settled with section men at a minimum rate of two dollars a day. This will probably be the ruling rate in the Canadian West. A few years ago the daily toll of a track-man was only half that amount. Just as the price of this labor has doubled, so the price of all things going into 'the mill' that produces transportation has advanced from thirty to fifty per cent in the same time. Yet the price of this one product, transportation—the only thing the railway has to sell — tends downward from year to year.

If the rate is not obviously and directly reduced, the railway is asked to take new risks, to assume new burdens from time to time, so that the result is the same. Yet public sentiment has been worked up to undiscriminating hostility to 'common carriers.' As if in fear of this factitious sentiment, commissions are boards, whose duties include the supervision and regulation of rates, shows a growing tendency to establish a perpetual 'open season' for hunters of railways. In this, certain Canadians imitate thoughtlessly the worst American examples. This is unfortunate anywhere, especially in a new country with empty unploughed fields between homesteads and only water tanks between towns.

Excuse for Higher Rates.

In the sparseness of settlement there is obvious justification for a higher freight rate in the west than in the East. Is not a higher rate in Western Canada than in the Western States reasonable and necessary in view of the denser travel in those States? When prairie Canada obtains population and therefore travel as dense as in the prairie United States then the Canadian rates will be lower since the climate of the Canadian Northwest is less "blizzardous" less cyclonic, than that of the American West.

Canadian railway companies are not opposing hostile criticism to the suggestion that they must justify their Western rates; they merely show how easy it is to justify them. Why assume the companies to be guilty of extortion? It is for their own interest to be as liberal as possible. Why not credit them with that? Surely the railway, the 'first producer,' the chief industry of this continent, if one except agriculture, the pioneer of civilization, the very pathfinder of industrial development, ought to be encouraged rather than discouraged. Along the railway's right of way, over twin strans of steel, course the nation's commercial and industrial life.

While the railways make it their business to encourage commerce and industry along their lines, they themselves receive little encouragement from the business public. When prosperity blesses the land and the railways therefore increase their gross revenues, this fact is immediately instanced for higher wages, increase in taxation and the piling up of working conditions. Hence, although the gross revenues of a railway may be largely increased, usually the operating expenses increase out of proportion, so that they wipe out the net increase entirely.

A good example of this is found in the Interstate Commerce Commission Bulletin of revenues and expenses of the United States for the ten months of the fiscal year ending April 30 last. Although the operating revenues of the railways increased $32,220,258, the operating expenses increased $32,521,778. In other words, the railways paid $301,520 for the privilege of doing this vast volume of business! That's not all. To this increase in operating costs must be added an increase of $9,666,827 in taxes levied upon the roads by the States through which they pass.

The Tax on Prosperity.

One would suppose that any business which showed in ten months a gross increase of more than $32,000,000 ought to show at least a slight increase in net. But the net earnings of the American railways actually diminished $10,000,000 during this period—a million dollars a month! If we considered the business of the railway with the same measure of fairness employed when dealing with other industries, we would agree that it is unfair to ask the railways to do all this extra business at a loss. Obviously, it cost the railway something to carry thirty-two and a quarter million dollars worth of traffic. Yet for for each dollar of new business the railroads secured in this specified period they paid out $1.31.

Experts estimate that eight billion dollars will be needed in the next five years to maintain railway facilities in pace with the enormous increase of traffic in the United States. In Canada the situation is even worse. We are just in the midst of railway construction. Vast areas in Canada, practically unsettled, but rapidly settling, must be supplied with transportation facilities. If you cripple the railways, reduce their revenue and destroy their borrowing power, who is to supply the billions needed in the United States and the millions needed in Canada?

If there is drought in the land, feed is high and cattle scarce, the cost of producing a pound of beef is increased, the price goes up to cover that cost. But if the railways ask the price to raise the rate to cover part of the increased cost of producing transportation, all other branches of business combine immediately to prevent the increase! In the Republic, the universal war on the railroad is carried through the nation, through the State, even down to the wards of the city. If a man is accused of robbing the railway, nine times out of ten he can rely upon a jury to acquit him. Canadian public men know this to be true—why should so many of them imitate the evil American example?

The railway managers of Canada all agree in one point, at least. They think that somewhere in the Dominion should arise a statesman big and broad and brave enough to urge the same fair, square treatment of the railway that is accorded to other industries. Unless this can be done, unless the railways are given a right to live, it is going to be difficult to find money to provide railway facilities for the Dominion as it is to obtain means for the railways needed by the rest of the American continent.

CITY OF 150,000 TO MOVE AT ONCE

Guadalajara, Mex., Sept. 7. — Warning has been issued to this, the second city in the republic with a population of 150,000, that it is to be destroyed by a colcona.

The warning is given in all seriousness by the Mexican Government through the seismographic branch of the National observatory at Mexico City.

Seven scientists who spent the latter part of July and the first week of August here have issued a report following the 340 earthquakes, which have shaken Guadalajara in the past three months that the town is built on the crater of a slumbering volcano.

PARTIAL CONTENTS OF

Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary

Based upon Noah Webster's Dictionary, revised and brought UP TO DATE in accordance with the most recent eminent English and American authorities, on spelling, pronunciation and definition, and especially designed to meet the popular demand for a CONVENIENT, complete and RELIABLE Dictionary.

It contains all the words of the English language that are not peculiarly appropriate to a Dictionary of technical terms; it gives the spelling and pronunciation of Plurals, and indicates the use of capital and small letters in writing every word in the vocabulary; it gives the Past Tense and the Participles of all verbs not regularly formed by the addition of -d, -ed and -ing; the Pronunciation of each word is plainly indicated by phonetic spelling; the Definitions, comprehensive, yet concise, are accurate and reliable.

Preceding the Dictionary proper will be found a treatise on ABBREVIATIONS of the Parts of Speech and their grammatical signification. Also a discourse on the Origin, Composition, and Derivation of the English language.

The ANALYSIS of the "Principles of Grammar" will fill a long-felt want in promoting the correctness of speech, both spoken and written.

Under the head of "SIMPLIFIED SPELLING" will be found the rules as adopted by the SIMPLIFIED SPELLING BOARD, and giving a complete list of 300 words spelled in two ways of which the Board says, "Choose the simpler spelling."

Finally is given a complete KEY TO PRONUNCIATION.

Surprising results are obtained in looking up the Spelling, Pronunciation and Definition of the

NEW WORDS

which have been incorporated into our language only yesterday, as it were. For instance: Aviator, Biplane, Brainstorm, Cordite, Okapi, Carburetter, Dictograph, Hookworm, Krypton, Lettergram, Nickelodeon, Oelerize, Stovaine, Taxicab, Zemule, Hangar, Equilibrator, etc.

MAN IS PUT IN BOND TO HEAR SCOTS GUARDS'

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Frank Wardell, a blind man, hailing from Rochester, came across the lake on a R. & O. steamer to hear the Scots Guards' Band at the Exhibition. He was not aware that the Dominion Immigration officers would not allow him to enter the country on account of his blindness.

"I came all the way from Rochester to hear the band. I heard so much about them," said Wardell to Thomas Ankstell, the Dominion officer. It seemed a hardship to send the old man back to Rochester. Ankstell passed him and bonded him for the day so he could go to the Fair and hear the band. Wardell returned to his home Saturday.

D. Jenkins, in an alleged attempt to escape duties on thousands of dollars' worth of jewels and wearing apparel. A criminal suit against Allen resulted in a $12,000 fine.

FIRE DANGER AT SEA.

The danger from fire on a transatlantic liner is more serious than is generally believed. It is much greater than the danger from collision and is becoming more and more dangerous with the increased outlay upon luxury and display. The main structure of the ship and most of its essential parts are of metal, but many of the fittings, nearly every feature of ornament and every trapping of luxury, are highly inflammable.

No one who has not been aboard the Spanish wrecks at Santiago can conceive how fire can sweep the inside of even a metal ship. Admiral Cervera described to me the experience on board the Teresa in these words: "The second shot that came on board set us on fire. The fire main was damaged. Soon we were unable to cope with the fire. It swept through her from bow to stern. There was not a space as big as the palm of your hand where life could have been sustained. An insect could not have lived on board. We had to get overboard or be burned."

It is true the Spaniards had not cut out their woodwork and thrown overboard all unnecessary inflammables, as we had in the American fleet, but the inflammability of one of their warships was much less than that of a luxurious ocean liner.—Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson in Engineering Magazine.

PINEAPPLE PLANTS.

Pineapples do not grow on trees. Imagine a plant four feet in extreme height from the ground to the tip of leaves, a single stalk at the surface, but dividing at once into swordlike blades or leaves, fifteen in number, from the center of which appears a stiff, upright stem, at the top of which is the fruit. This stem is short, and the crown of the fruit when fully grown is a foot or more below the points of the leaves.

At the end of a year and a half from planting each plant produces a single fruit, even as a cabbage plant produces a single head. But the pineapple does not die after fruiting once. Down on the stem below the fruit and among the long, narrow leaves a sucker appears. If allowed to remain this will soon become the head of the plant, and within another year it will yield another fruit. This process may go on for a term of years. In the meantime, however, other suckers will make their appearance.

These are broken off, and when stuck into the ground they put out roots and become other plants. Thus a single pineapple plant may produce a dozen or more others while it is yielding fruit from year to year.

The Intruder.

A certain boat coming up the Mississippi one day during a flood lost her way and bumped up against a frame house. She hadn't more than touched it before an old darky rammed his head up through a hole in the roof, where the chimney once came out, and yelled at the captain on the roof: "What's you gwine wid dat boat? Can't you see nothin'? Fust thing you knows you gwine to turn dis house ober, spill de old woman an' de chil'en out in de flood an' drown 'em. What you doin' out here in de country wid your boat, anyhow? Go on back yander froo de co'nfields an' get back into de ribber whar you b'longs. Ain't got no business sev'n miles out in the country foolin' roun' people's houses nohow!" And the boat backed out.—Life.

"It does seem a little silly," said Mrs. Judkins mildly, "but I've heard of such things being done. You know those trousers, John, were the pair you tore on the lawn mower the other day and threw aside."

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Construction of The Hudson Bay Railway," will be received at this office until 16 o'clock, Thursday, the 12th of September, 1912, for the section from Split Lake Junction to the Hudson Bay terminus.

Plans and profiles showing the character and extent of the work to be done, the specifications and form of contract to be entered into and other information can be seen on and after Thursday, the 15th of August, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway, Winnipeg, at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Separate tenders will be required covering the work enumerated in the schedule on the section from Split Lake Junction to Port Nelson, a distance of approximately [illegible] miles and on the section from Split Lake to Port Churchill, a distance of approximately 245 miles.

The successful tenderer will be required to sign a contract covering the work from Split Lake Junction to the terminus selected and which will be announced by the Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals on his return from Hudson Bay.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which schedule will form part of the contract.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $150,000.00 made payable to the order of the Minister of Railways and Canals, must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The cheque of the successful tenderer will be held as security, or part security, for the due fulfilment of the contract to be entered into.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,
L. K. JONES,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Secretary.
Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, August 14, 1912.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.—27124.

Department of Militia and Defence.

NEW DRILL HALL, AT OSHAWA, ONT.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS, marked on envelope "Tender for Construction of Drill Hall, Oshawa, Ont.," and addressed to the Director of Contracts, Department of Militia and Defence, Ottawa, will be received until noon, September 17th, 1912, for the construction of a new Drill Hall at Oshawa, Ont.

Specifications may be seen and full particulars obtained at the offices of the General Officer Commanding the 2nd Division, Toronto, Ont., Officer Commanding "C" Company, 34th Regiment, Oshawa, Ont., Town Clerk, Oshawa, Ont., and the Director of Engineer Services, Headquarters, Ottawa.

Tenders must be made on the form supplied by the Department and accompanied by an accepted cheque on a Canadian Chartered Bank for ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, payable to the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence, which amount will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into, or fails to complete the contract, in accordance with his tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

EUGENE FISET, Colonel,
Deputy Minister.
Department of Militia and Defence,
Ottawa, August 28, 1912.

Newspapers will not be paid if this advertisement is inserted without authority from the Department.

TENDERS FOR IRON POSTS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Iron Posts," will be received at the Department of the Interior, up to noon of the 25th day of September, 1912, for the furnishing of iron posts for use on the survey of Dominion Lands to be delivered as follows:—

At Winnipeg: twenty thousand small and three hundred large posts.

At Saskatoon: ten thousand small and one hundred and fifty large posts.

At Edmonton: fifteen thousand small and one hundred and fifty large posts.

Forms of tender and detailed information may be obtained from the Surveyor General of Dominion Lands, Ottawa.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered Canadian bank, payable to the order of the Deputy Minister of the Interior as follows:—

For the supply of posts at Winnipeg,—two hundred and fifty dollars.

For the supply of posts at Edmonton,—one hundred and eighty-five dollars.

This cheque will be forfeited if the party whose tender is accepted declines to enter into a contract to deliver the posts or fails to carry out the contract. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Newspapers copying this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid.

L. PEREIRA,
Acting Secretary.
Department of the Interior,
—[illegible] Ottawa, August 19th, 1912.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

No Fear of Thieves.

Some years ago a London merchant sent a cargo of goods to Constantinople. After the supercargo saw the bales and boxes safely landed he inquired where they could be stored.

"Leave them here—it won't rain to-night," was the reply.

"But I dare not leave them thus exposed. Some of the goods might be stolen," said the supercargo.

The Mohammedan merchant burst into a loud laugh as he replied:

"Don't be alarmed. There isn't a Christian within fifty miles of here."—London Chronicle.

Took It to Himself.

When Gen. Moreau was in England he was once the victim of a rather droll misunderstanding. He was present at a concert where a piece was sung by the choir with the refrain:

"To-morrow, to-morrow."

Having a very imperfect knowledge of English, he fancied it to be a cantata given in his honor and thought he distinguished the words:

"To Moreau, to Moreau."

Each time the refrain was repeated he rose to his feet and gracefully bowed on all sides, to the great astonishment of the audience, who did not know what to make of it.

How to Darn a Tear.

Mend a long tear in any garment which will not be subjected to close scrutiny by putting underneath the break a piece of some strong fabric. Machine stitch on the inside down each edge, then turn the needle to the middle and zigzag across the tear. This makes a perfectly firm as well as a very neat mend. For the hard worn places on a small boy's pants it is the best possible treatment, strengthening a thin place as well as mending it.

Shoreless Bolivia.

In territorial extent Bolivia stands third among the republics of South America and is one of the two without a seaport. Her natural outlet to the Pacific ocean was taken by Chile at the end of the war of the Pacific, and today she is shut off from the sea like Switzerland. La Paz, Oruro and Potosi are all cities standing over 12,000 feet above the level of the sea.

Fragile Father.

A man traveling in Maine met a middle aged farmer who told him his father, aged ninety, was still on the farm where he was born.

"Ninety years old, eh?"

"Yep. Pop's close to ninety."

"Is his health good?"

"'Tain't much now. He's been complainin' for a few months back."

"What's the matter with him?"

"I dunno. Sometimes I think farmin' don't agree with him!"—Saturday Evening Post.

An Adroit Duke.

The Duke of Grammont was the most adroit and witty courtier of his day. He entered one day the closet of Cardinal Mazarin without being announced. His eminence was amusing himself by jumping against the wall. To surprise a prime minister in so boyish an occupation was dangerous. A less skillful courtier might have stammered excuses and retired. The duke entered briskly and cried, "I'll bet you 100 crowns that I jump higher than your eminence!" and the duke and cardinal began to jump for their lives. Grammont took care to jump a few inches lower than the cardinal and was six months afterward marshal of France.

Keeping Dogs as Pets.

The fashion of keeping little dogs as objects of luxury is not at all modern. Both Greek and Roman women used to have small pet dogs, over which they made as much fuss as does a fashionable lady of to-day over her poodle. Even men, usually foreigners, were not ashamed to stroll about the Roman streets carrying dogs in their arms. It is said that Julius Caesar, once seeing some men thus occupied, sarcastically inquired of them if the women of their country had no children.—Ave Maria.

The Word "Slave."

The word "slave" is a word of brilliant historical antecedents. Its original, the Russian "slava," means glorious and is the title of that race which subsumes the Russian people. But when the Germans reduced hosts of the Slavs to servitude their name, from malice or accident, as Gibbon says, became synonymous with "servile."

Lighthouses.

The Greeks attributed the first lighthouses to Hercules, and he was considered the protector of voyagers. It is claimed by some that Homer refers to lighthouses in the nineteenth book of the 'Iliad.' Virgil mentions a light on a temple to Apollo which, visible far out at sea, warned and guided mariners.

Smaller Tips.

First Waiter—This paper says the wrist contains eight bones, the palm five and the fingers fourteen.

Second Waiter—Well, I never found five "bones" in my palm.

The Dragon Fly.

The dragon fly possesses eyes composed of an aggregation of about 50,000 smaller eyes.

Department of Militia and Defence.

WE WOULDN'T EAT THEM.

Queer Dishes Popular With Folks In Other Parts of the World.

What won't human beings eat? Frogs, for instance, served up whole and fried in bread crumbs, are consumed with a relish in Cambridgeshire and Norfolk, Eng. Doesn't sound especially tempting, does it? And yet why should only the legs of this hoarse-voiced denizen of ponds and swamps prove edible? Many of us are fond of oysters, clams, crabs, lobsters and yet will not endure the thought of a snail, although the daily consumption by polite Parisians of snails, fed on green stuffs, and on bran soak in wine, sometimes reaches 80 tons. Truly this is a little world of great wonders!

In Central Africa they do not shout "Swat the fly!" They eat the fly. They pound the insects together in a mortar and bake them in little cakes, which probably resemble our currant and fruit cake.

Captain Amundsen, the explorer, found dog flesh palatable, though rather tough, and seal flesh as good as first-class beef. Epicures during the siege of Paris did not object to well-nourished sewer rats. If we were only less squeamish, the problem of flies and rats would find a pleasant solution which would lessen household expenses. And yet such is American shrewdness—there would soon be rat barons and a fly trust—and again prices would soar skyward.

A traveler states that the Cape bushmen eat spiders, grasshoppers, white ants, moths and grubs; that anteaters are found in various parts of the world; while Australian natives relish snakes. Some one, anxious that the world should go better and men and women be happier living the natural life, wrote a book entitled "Why Not Eat Insects." According to his testimony caterpillars taste like almonds, spiders like nuts and ants with butter and sugar are an exquisite sweetmeat. Anton Fils, an esteemed virtuoso on violoncello at the Court of Mannheim, died from immoderate indulgence in spiders, which he ate with a passionate zest because they tasted to him like luscious strawberries.

Burning of the Vanities.

Savonarola once marked his strong condemnation of luxury by collecting a large number of articles which he regarded as vanities during the carnival to be burnt in the Piazza della Signoria, Florence, on Shrove Tuesday, 1497. In this "burning of the vanities" were included fancy costumes, carnival masks, false hair and rouge pots, cards and dice boxes, books and pictures, together with casts and valuable sculptures of questionable character. Built up into a pyramid of seven stages — signifying the seven deadly sins—the pile was burnt by lighting fagots placed in the centre, while children standing round sang hymns before the assembled crowds.

First Encyclopedia.

The most ancient known attempt at what is called in these days an "encyclopedia" was Pliny's "Natural History." This old work, a very high authority throughout the middle ages, is really a remarkable production and well deserves the fame that for so many ages belong to it. Pliny, who died in 79 A.D., was not a naturalist, a physician or an artist and did not pretend to be the wisest man of his time, yet such was his interest in knowledge that he devoted the leisure hours of a busy public life to compiling the work which did a vast amount of good in the world and paved the way for the comprehensive encyclopedias of the present time.

Diminutive Aztecs.

The feminine direct descendants of the famous Aztecs are tiny creatures, exquisitely formed and refined in feature. They carry the head with the upbearing grace of the full-blooded Indian; their skins are not red, but a clear, smooth copper color that shines like gold in the sun; their hair is coarse and black as ebony, and they are decorated with bright feathers and gay ornaments. These women make the most wonderful pottery that comes to us from Mexico, for they have kept the old Aztec forms and decorations in their art, and they also weave wonderful baskets and do exquisite embroidery.

The Island of Rhodes.

Rhodes was the centre of the culture and commerce of the Aegean in the days when the Aegean meant the heart of civilization and the island was the battleground of mighty armadas and formidable legions from the days of Alexander the Great to Mohammed. The island is the most easterly of the Aegean group. It is about forty-five miles long by about twenty-two wide. The island has been famous for its beautiful climate from the earliest ages.

Metaphorically Speaking.

"Let us nip this monster in the bud before it overwhelms us as an oncoming tidal wave!" shouted the young politician.

"Perhaps," said an experienced campaigner in the back of the hall, "it would be better to smoke it out of its lair before it becomes a festering canker."

A Clever Hint.

Mrs. A.—There are times when I wish I were a man.

Mr. A.—For instance?

Mrs. A.—When I pass a milliner's window and think how happy I could make my wife by giving her a new bonnet.

Very Considerate.

Mr. Grim—I see that you have announced that you intend willing all your money to charity.

Mr. Grouch—Yes; it will save a thousand distant relatives the trouble of attending my funeral.

Proof.

Bill—Is he musical?

Jill—Oh, yes; he blows his own horn.

Not So Bad.

"Did you tell the landlord what an awful leak there was in the roof?"

"Yes, I told him."

"What did he say?"

"He said he'd fix the roof as soon as you pay the rent you owe."

"Did he? I guess it ain't much of a leak."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Answer Was Easy.

Old Roxleigh—You must be less extravagant. How do you expect to get along when you are my age?

His Son—Well, father, I suppose by that time I shall have your money to get along with.

Leap Year's Names.

Leap year, it has been complained by some one, seems to have been named on the same principle as the "Meeting of the Waters" at Killarney, which is a place where two streams do not meet, but part. A leap year ought to be a year in which we jump over a day, a 364 day year. One explanation is that all the days after Feb. 29 jump forward one day in the week more than usual. The Romans used to call it a bissextile year, and the French still do so.

Drunkards in Holland.

In Holland special provision is made by law for the protection of intoxicated persons found wandering at large. A regular tariff has been drawn up, according to which a roisterer who can manage to walk is escorted home—within any reasonable distance—for 15 cents. Should a portable chair be required 25 cents extra is charged.

A Cruel Interruption.

His voice as he stood at the door rose passionately on the still night air.

"Just one!" he pleaded. "Just one!"

Then came the sound of an opening window, and another voice (her mother's) was heard:

"Just one?" it cried. "No, it ain't that yet, but it's close on 12 o'clock, and so I think you'd better be goin' just the same."

HOW TO WASH LINEN SUITS.

An Expert Laundress Describes the Best Method.

"For washing linen suits," said an expert laundress, "use only the best white soap and never rub the soap on the cloth unless there is a lot of hard dirt to be taken out. In the majority of cases the suits soak for an hour or so in soapy water, putting them in when the water is quite hot. By the time it is cool enough to permit washing freely the soiled parts are sufficiently soft to admit of cleaning without very much scrubbing. Rinse in several waters, always until the last water is perfectly clear, then pass the garment through the stiffening water, after which it is pressed as dry as possible in the cotton sheet.

"Some stiffening is necessary to give the linen the appearance of freshness which it has when it comes to you from the tailor. On the other hand, the greatest care should be taken not to have too much stiffening. That ruins the appearance of what would otherwise be a perfectly washed suit. You want just enough to give the linen body and yet not take away from its suppleness.

"In washing colored linens, excepting tans and browns, color all the waters and try always to avoid putting soap on colored linen, and also do not use water hotter than blood heat, allowing the linen to soak only a few minutes before washing it out and putting it in a second water of the same temperature and colored. Three waters are generally enough for a colored linen suit. Where the suit is not much soiled two will be enough. The stiffening water must be colored just as was that in which the washing and rinsing was done.

"After wringing in the cotton sheet care must be taken in hanging both coats and skirts for the drying process. Fresh air for colored linen and sun for the white—that is the ideal drying process. House drying never gives the satisfaction that a good laundress wants for her work. Steam drying should be a last resort. It injures the texture of the goods and leaves the colors less brilliant.

"The figures on which suits get their final shaping are the kind used by good dressmakers and tailors. I have all sizes and covered so that the suits get as nearly as possible the shape of their owners. I keep the figures arrayed in fresh petticoats and shirt waists, and when the freshly washed suits are on them I'm not ashamed for any one to walk into my shaping rooms. Each suit is taken from the figure and placed in its box for shipment. Great care is taken to see that every part of it is perfectly dry."

The Real Reason.

Freddie—Mamma, me face is dirty. Please wash it. Mamma — Freddie, where in the world do you learn to say "me face," like a little street arab? Why don't you say "my face is dirty?" Freddie—Because your face isn't dirty.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE OPEN MOUTH.

Causes That Induce It When We Are Intently Listening.

Why do we open our mouths when intently listening?

There are three causes, entirely independent of one another, but acting in unison, for this action. There is a passageway called the eustachian tube, connecting the back of the throat and the middle ear, the part behind the drum. When intently listening we hold our breath, and this permits sound waves to enter the mouth and reach the eustachian tube, and in this way they reach the drum and re-enforce the sound waves that come through the natural channel, the outer ear.

In concentrated attention the mind is fully engrossed in the one subject, and it loses control over voluntary muscles that are not directly affected by the subject or the process involved in the motor activity that accompanies mental activity. The muscles are relaxed, the lower jaw drops, and this opens the mouth.

The third cause is referable to atavism, or the tendency to return in form or action to an early type. Early man, like the animals, was urged to action by the fundamental instincts, self preservation and race preservation. His two aims were to secure food and avoid or destroy enemies. Like the animals, when his attention was attracted by a sound he placed himself in the attitude for instant defense, attack or securing food. In this attitude his mouth was open to grasp instantly what came in his way. The tendency to open the mouth when intently listening still remains.—New York American.

The Latin of It.

There is in a certain city a lady librarian with a fondness for Latin phrases that sometimes require more than a knowledge of Latin to fathom. Recently a visitor to the library inquired pleasantly how she had spent her vacation, to which the lady librarian replied idly, "Oh, I just took a little jaunt up to New York via train and came home vice versa."

"You returned—how?" gasped the visitor.

George Bernard Shaw's Creed.

Some years ago Mr. George Bernard Shaw married a lady of fortune, and since then he has been troubled by begging letter writers. This has caused the celebrated vegetarian to issue the following characteristic statement:

"May I take this opportunity of informing the large number of undeservedly unfortunate persons who daily write to me for pecuniary assistance that I am a Socialist? This means that I spend the money, but do not give it."

Crowded London.

There are 900,000 Londoners who are living two or more in a room, while there are 25,000 who are crowded six into a room.

Mostly Women.

According to the official return, no fewer than 42,676 of the 60,568 old-age pensioners in the County of London are women.

Rats and Eggs.

No single point better illustrates the sagacity of the rat, according to an article in McClure's, than the way in which it eats an egg. It bites through the shell and chips off small fragments as neatly as a squirrel opens a nut, consumes the entire contents without spilling a drop and then sits up and licks itself clean like a cat. Rats will steal the eggs from under a sitting hen. In one case they carried off seventy-five dozen eggs which a commission merchant had incautiously stored in a wooden tub.

Unique Way to Secure One's Pay.

Tattooing is still a favorite personal decoration with some of the natives of Samoa, though not so fashionable there as formerly. Those who practice the art have an effective way of securing their pay. The color extends from the waist to the knees, no other part of the body being marked. In the small of the back the design shades off to a point which is never finished by the tattooer till his bill has been paid. As the incomplete design is public evidence of the wearer's indebtedness, the artist seldom has to wait long for his money.

The Best Way.

Choose always the way that seems the best, however rough it may be. Custom will soon render it easy and agreeable.—Pythagoras.

Jack and Jill in Norway.

THE LAST CATTLE KING.

Alberta Is Steadily Turning From Her Old Time Ranches to Wheat.

There is one Cattle King left in Alberta. He is Pat Burns, of Calgary, the first, the last and the only Pat Burns. He has watched the transition as keenly as the old cattle man—perhaps more keenly. But he differs with the old cattle man in that he has figured out the ultimate result. And he is not in the least pessimistic. Pat Burns is practically the only old time rancher left who can still count his steers by the thousand. He was one of the first men to try out the country as a cattle-raising district. That was back in '89, when he came west with a few head of stock. Since then he has become wealthy, wondrously wealthy even for the west, where they made money in a hurry. He has two huge packing plants, one at Calgary and another at Vancouver, has a string of distributing and retail stores throughout British Columbia.

Mr. Burns says, and he has argued to the point many times, that the breaking up of the old time ranches will not only benefit the country, but will also eventually benefit the cattle industry. And he explains it thus: When an area previously used for grazing becomes split up into countless sections and quarter sections, and is used for settlement, the large herd disappears. But smaller bunches, kept by each individual farmer, and fattened and looked after instead of turned loose to rustle, take the place of the herd. The total number of cattle may not be quite as large, but what remain are fed up and fat and ready for market in the spring, whereas oftentimes in the old days the loss by drifting, by freezing, by winter starvation was frightful.

Just now Alberta, with the exception of Mr. Burns, is not able to raise enough cattle to supply her own needs and those of British Columbia, and the Burns steers, branded with a huge "N. H." on the ribs, are the only ones you may see any more traveling eastward for the old country. Last year only forty thousand head of cattle went out of the country. Ten years ago nearly four times that number crossed the ocean to make the famous roast beef of old England.

Some years ago it became evident that a change must come over the method of cattle raising. The old ranch system demanded immense unpeopled areas, and as it is estimated that twenty acres is required to satisfactorily feed one steer it was inevitable that settlement and homesteading in the country could not go on without the sacrifice of the ranges on the part of the cattle raisers. Therefore, as settlers commenced to make application for lands the Government by degrees cancelled the grazing lease and restricted seriously the operations of the cattle ranchers. In fact many of the larger outfits sold out and quit business, swept aside by the changing conditions

The result has been that in the last few years there have been very heavy sales of heifers and female stock, and there are fewer cattle on the range today than there have ever been since 1889.—Canadian Courier.

Their Hotel Life.

Friend—Given up housekeeping and gone to a hotel, eh? How do you like hotel life?

McTiff—First rate. Never was so happy in my life.

Friend—Indeed! And how does your wife like it?

McTiff—First class.

Friend—Where are you staying?

Relieving a Frost.

"And if I refuse you?" faltered the Boston girl.

"Well?"

"Will you promise me not to take to drink?"

"I will," replied the Chicago youth. "The worst I shall do will be to go out and get a cup of hot chocolate."

A Drawback.

Knicker—Do you like the revolving door?

Booker—No; you can't slam it when you are mad.

Cracks in the Floor.

There are several ways of stopping the cracks in a floor between boards that have shrunken apart. One is to tear newspapers into small bits and soak them in flour paste, having the paste warm. Stir this until thick and fill the crack with it, using a broad knife to smooth the paste down into the cracks. Or sawdust and glue may be used with the same result. To a pound of glue allow a gallon of water, and when melted stir into it fine sawdust until it is stiff paste. Fill the cracks with this, packing it as solidly as possible, smoothing even with a broad knife.

Gathering the Remains.

A good woman's husband was dismembered and eaten by an African tribe. She, desirous of giving him Christian burial, was left no other alternative but that of exterminating, with the assistance of certain accommodating friends armed with the destructive weapons of our advanced civilization, the tribe in question, which had shown such a receptive attitude toward her husband. The bodies of the savages were brought back to civilization by the avenging expedition and were placed in one grave, surmounted by a modest slab placed there by the widow and bearing the following inscription: "The remains of the Rev. ——, beloved husband of ——."

Fishes and Memory.

Do fishes remember? A scientist who has been investigating the question found that by placing a red cylinder containing food and also an empty green cylinder in the aquarium with a single fish the latter soon learned to enter the red cylinder each time it was immersed and avoided the other one. Moreover, the fish went into the red vessel and waited until some crumbs were dropped into it, which he then ate. At other times the fish entered the baited red vessel even though he did not appear to desire food, seeing that he did not eat at such times. The factor of hunger was therefore eliminated here, and the existence of a habit or a reflex action was proved.

A Thriving Industry.

PAINTS UNDER WATER

YOUNG IRISHMAN IS CREATING AN ARTISTIC FURORE.

Walter Hewison Pritchard Finds Undreamed of Colors and Forms Under the Surface of the Ocean and Has Received Great Praise—Sarah Bernhardt Gave Him Twenty Pounds to Help His Dream Come True.

The very newest thing in art is the painting of pictures under the sea. This is impressionism with a vengeance. The artist is Walter Howison Pritchard, an Irishman who has developed a specialized style of painting and sketching that should make him world famous.

Several years ago he conceived the idea of painting under water. He had painted at the bottom of a shallow sea in his youth, and, being an artist born, readily recalled the wonderful tints that are impossible to obtain on land. He sketched his "dream" land, but it was not real. Friends held up his pictures for praise and the world laughed at them. He decided that he would stop that laughing. He would prepare an outfit, and, descending to the bottom of the sea, would work the picture in oil in its own atmosphere, with all its glorious color and mystical tone.

But he wanted money. He went to London and offered some of his sketches for sale. They were rejected. He had little money, but, a lover of art and poetry, he spent almost his last shilling to see Bernhardt. He was twenty-four years old then, but yet a boy. He saw the great Bernhardt, but was level-headed. He criticized her gown. He said aloud to some young men in the foyer. "That costume is supposed to be that of a sea sorceress; it is lacking in detail. I will see Bernhardt; she will listen to me; I will suggest!"

His associates laughed at this presuming young Irishman, who with threadbare coat would see the divine Sarah in her dressing room. They followed him to the stage door. He was rebuffed, but insistence gained the day, and the actress called him in. There she stood, with three great pier mirrors about her.

The young man took one of his cards and made a few rapid strokes. He showed it to the actress. He talked swiftly, smoothly, and in twenty minutes she was with him in sentiment. She accepted his suggestions and presented him with twenty pounds. He was wild with delight.

"I know you are a dreamer, and I know that dreams come true. Did not my baby and I live for months on milk alone when I was a young mother in Paris? I know how hard it is to get along, and I believe you have genius!" declared the actress. And so later, when he made the first great painting of the depth of the Pacific, Bernhardt bought it and, naturally, prizes it very much.

While he descends to the bottom of the sea and paints directly from nature in that wonderful quivering territory of light and shade his preparations are eminently practical. He has a huge iron easel, a large piece of heavy plate glass, double elephant drawing paper soaked in cocoa oil and placed on the glass with surgeon's tape, solid colors in a glass box.

With these he descends, barehanded, but with body enveloped in the usual diving suit. He first fits the box to his face by holding the wooden edge in his teeth and swims downwards and along, all the while looking for his sketching ground. When he locates it he arises to the surface and dons his outfit. He descends and his paraphernalia is lowered to him. And there he sits and dabbles in the colors on his iron palette.

He uses his thumb-nail in working up his "sketch"; brushes could not be used. The oil paper combines with the pigment and the water has little effect on it. He sends it to the surface in fine shape and later works it out in detail in his studio. He stays on the sea bottom but forty-five minutes at a time, but he now is working on plans to construct a large diving cage, made entirely of glass and steel, in which he and his pupils may sit and sketch to their hearts' content.

Pritchard has made his best work in Tahiti, but of late he has found some splendid material off the coast of Santa Barbara. He tries to go down at low tide, as there seems to be less disturbance in the sea, thus making it easier to work, and to see the colors more distinctly.

One picture shows a variety of fish seldom seen, the fins causing the fish to resemble huge butterflies. This painting was made beneath the water in a "sub-marine grove" on the south coast of England. Another painting shows a wonderful grove, with what are claimed to be some splendid types of the chatadon, a fish that makes its home among polyps and corals. This was painted under the waters of Tahiti.

Why She Thought So.

"Mamma," said the little girl, "sister doesn't tell the truth."

"Why, Jennie," said the mother, "you mustn't say such things."

"Well, last night I heard her say, 'Charlie, if you do that again I'll call mamma.' And he did it twice more and she didn't call."

TIGER PROOF HOMES.

Malay Houses, Frail and Flimsy, Sometimes Perch in Tree Tops.

The ordinary Malay house is built on posts from five to seven feet high, but one which I came across was perched high up in a tree. It was the home of a man, his wife and family, and they informed me that it was placed in this unusual situation so as to be out of the way of the numerous tigers which then infested the neighborhood.

As tigers have been known to jump eighteen feet in vertical height somewhere about twenty feet is considered to be the limit of safety. The Malayan house is a frail and flimsy structure of sticks tied together with rattan thatched with palm leaves and walled with plaited bamboo or, as in this case, with the bark of trees.

It is therefore an easy matter for a tiger with its great strength to break into a house and attack the inhabitants. Many instances of this have been recorded in Malaya. In one well known case a whole family were killed except one man, who, climbing up into the roof and thus escaping the notice of the tiger, was a horrified observer of the cruel mauling and ultimate slaughter and devouring of his relatives.—London Strand Magazine.

Liquid Cough Mixtures Can't Cure Bronchitis

But the Healing Fumes of Catarrhozone, Which are Breathed to the Furthest Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Being Quick Relief and Sure Cure.

Liquid cough mixtures can't cure—Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medicine which goes direct to the lungs, attacks the trouble at the source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas, with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from Catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhozone, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhozone is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only given temporary relief, but will always cure permanently. Yours sincerely (Signed), WILLIAM RAGAN, Brockville, Ont."

For absolute, permanent cure, use Catarrhozone. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c., at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Death From Live Wire.

Robert Desmond, a young Englishman, known in Peterborough, was electrocuted by coming in contact with a hanging wire from the Lindsay Light, Heat and Power's Co.'s poles. In company with his brother and two other young men, he was on his way to Lindsay from near Cambray, where they were employed by the Toronto Construction Co. They were walking along the Georgian Bay and Seabord Line, and when reaching the point where the G.T.R. runs underneath, the quartette left the Grand Trunk Line route to take the G.T.R. track to town. When going down the embankment young Desmond's forehead touched a hanging live wire on the Light, Heat and Power Co.'s poles.

Their vaudeville specialties, changed each performance, are of an acceptable nature, and pleasing, vary the several dramatic-comedy programmes offered.

MUNICIPAL POWER

Council May Arrange To-Night For Submittal of Money By-Law.

According to Mayor Bradburn's announcement Tuesday evening, the city council is slated to meet to-night, when it is expected that a concrete scheme for generating and distributing hydro-electric power from municipal and domestic purposes, will be in shape for early action thereon.

The ratepayers have already voted in favor of hydro-electric power for Peterborough, but the city fathers promised that before entering into a definite contract with the commission for supply of same, a money by-law, giving the probable cost of such a service to the city, shall go to the people for approval. This matter has been standing in obeyance, pending the striking of estimates in a sufficiently intelligible shape for citizens in general to form their own conclusions as to the desirability of hydro-electric power, from both points of view — economy and service. And something definite may be given out at to-night's council meeting.

LOGS PREVENT PLEASURE OF BOAT OWNERS

Owners of boats which are housed on the east side along the Otonabee below Mark and Burnham streets appear to be righteously wrathy over the log blockade that for a week has prevented them from launching their craft in the river.

A long boom of logs stretching the length of Little Lake and above Mark street makes it impossible to paddle even a canoe out to the river.

A risky portage over the logs or an exhausting haul of one's boat around by the road, in some instances a quarter of a mile, are the only ways available at present to get the boats into open water. More than a half a dozen pleasure craft owners are affected.

The logs are the property of a local lumber company and the heavy accumulation in the locality mentioned at this time of the year works a decided hardship on people whose boats are tied up because of the embargo.

TWO IN CANOE GET A DUCKING

Peterborough Men's Sailboat Capsizes and They Swim Ashore

Two Peterborough young men had a sailing experience on the Otonabee yesterday afternoon near lock No. 6 that netted them an involuntary ducking and a swim for their lives.

Coming abruptly about with the wind in a stiff blow the breeze suddenly shifted the sail of their canoe to the side they were bearing their weight on to balance the boat and in an instant the frail craft was overturned and the sailors scrambling in the water.

The timely assistance of Messrs. Sidney Gibbs and Grant Rightmyer, who also were sailing a canoe nearby prevented the loss of the swamped canoe and offered aid to its floundering crew. The two proved to be better swimmers than sailors, however, and struck out in their soaked Sabbath attire for shore, much to the relief of anxious watchers on land 50 yards distant. Had they not been able to swim or had the upset occurred at a distance too far to swim in their clothing it would have been a difficult task, if possible at all, for the two rescuers to have handled them in their own little canoe.

Attempting to make a turn "with the wind" as they did showed sheer carelessness or ignorance of sailing. It was fortunate for them the other two sailors were present to save their canoe, and if necessary, their lives. After drying out they proceeded home.

The fall court sessions in Toronto opens to-morrow. There are eighty cases to be heard.

RT. HON. R. L. BORDEN ARRIVES AT CAPITAL AND OPENS EAIR

Premier Receives Warm Greeting at Home—Will Open Halifax Exhibition Tomorrow and Cabinet Meeting Will Follow in Ottawa

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The series of civic welcomes which Hon. R. L. Borden has been receiving had their climax yesterday when Ottawa turned out at noon to give the Premier a greeting home. In size and in elaboration the reception was not to be compared with Montreal's big demonstration, but in warmth and enthusiasm probably exceeded it.

The Premier arrived in Ottawa in the late hours of Sunday morning. He spent Sunday quietly attending Christ Church Cathedral in the morning. morning.

Thousands lined the streets as he was driven at noon from his home on Wurtemburg street to the City Hall. There was a big array of automobiles in the procession. The City Hall is appropriately festooned with flags and bunting and across the entrance is an immense sign "Welcome home."

Mayor Hopewell read the civic address which was briefly replied to by the Premier.

At the close of the civic welcome Premier Borden was driven to Lansdowne Park, where he was the guest of the directors of the Ottawa Fair and afterwards he formally opened the Dominion Exhibition.

The big banquet last night at the Chateau Laurier was a noteworthy affair. Members from Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces attended. A big delegation arrived from Halifax, and the Premier will probably return with them to open the Halifax Fair on Wednesday. All of the Ministers except Col. the Hon. Sam. Hughes, will be present at the banquet. While the Premier's speech is looked forward to with considerable interest, it has been officially intimated that there will be no announcement in regard to the navy question.

The first Cabinet meeting of importance will probably not be held until the Premier's return from Halifax. The big outstanding question is, of course, the naval policy, but until further information arrives from England, as stated by the Premier, the subject can only be informally discussed by the Cabinet. However, there is plenty of legislation to consider, and a number of important announcements to make.

Premier Borden was received on the City Hall steps by Mayor Hopewell, where the whole party was photographed. The Council Chamber was crowded with citizens, and when the Mayor and the Premier entered there were more cheers. Hon. Martin Burrell and Hon. George H. Perley were the only Ministers who accompanied the Premier. Mrs. Borden, Mrs. Crowthers and Mrs. Burrell were also present and were received by Mrs. Hopewell.

After the reading of the civic address the Mayor called for three cheers. Mr. Borden, in reply said:

"I need not tell you that the Dominion is foremost in the minds of the people of the British islanhs. I may say to anyone who thinks the people of Great Britain are any less virile or any less capable of defending their heritage, I found evidence of no such a spirit.

"Here in Ottawa with its power possibilities, our bread waters flowing here, our agricultural resources and our timber, there is no reason why this city should not only become a great industrial city as well as a residential.

"I come back firm in my conviction of the great possibilities of Canada and also firm in the assurance that the people of this country will take advantage of these opportunities."

CHURCHES FACING CRISIS DUE TO PREACHER FAMINE

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The Methodist and Presbyterian Churches of Canada to-day are facing a critical period in their history. At the present time the matter of pulpit supply both for the old and newer parts of the Dominion is causing no little concern to the executive heads of these Christian institutions and within the last few months the practical shutting off of Great Britain, the source of young preachers for colonial appointments, has occasioned a feeling of alarm. It is feared that folds scattered throughout the country will be forced to go without shepherds in several cases.

CANNOT FIND RECRUITS

Word received by the Methodist Mission Rooms from Rev. Dr. Woodsworth, who has been recruiting young theologians for Canadian pulpits, presents the alarming fact that he can induce only a tithe of these he expected to return with him. This comes as a shock for the Old Land has come to be regarded in latter years as a reliable bureau of supply.

"The situation is serious," acknowledged Rev. James Allen, secretary of the Methodist Mission Board But we do not consider it hopeless. It is correct that Dr. Woodsworth wrote saying that he could only secure 20 young men whereas 100 were desired, but we shall have to do the best we can."

DEVELOP MEN HERE.

"We shall now seek to develop men in our own country to carry on the work. Our plan will be to take men from Ontario and Eastern Canada to minister in the newer sections."

"The shortage is caused," he said, "because the immigration is so large and the proportion of men coming in who have thoughts turned toward the ministry is not large. Immigrants come in with the thought of bettering themselves materially."

The churches were embarrassed too, he said, by internal migration. The great rush of men from east to west has occasioned unsettlement.

LARGE PERCENTAGE OF CANADIANS.

Mr. Allen destroyed the general impression that young preachers were imported to fill places which should be taken by Canadian students.

"We have as large a percentage of Canadian preachers as we ever had," he asserted. "The other come in to minister to our host of immigrants."

Another fact not generally appreciated he also pointed out.

"For five months of every year every pulpit is supplied by students, so that the situation is not as serious as might appear."

PRESBYTERIANS SHORT.

The Presbyterian Church shares fully in the unfortunate condition of affairs.

"We are very short of preachers," said Secretary Edmondson, of the Presbyterian Mission Board. "In fact we have reached a crisis in church life. There are a large number of fields which are not fully manned."

It was a good thing he considered that a crisis had been reached. Ministers and people alike had been easy going until the situation was disclosed. Now they would become alert.

"We have a church committee coping with the problem now," said Mr. Edmondson, "and hope to find some solution."

The practice of recruiting men from England they had tried and then dropped. Specially trained men were required and they could not be obtained in this manner.

TENDENCY OF THE AGE

He attributed the dearth to the spirit of commercialism and other tendencies of the age.

"There is no use denying either," said the secretary, "that the remuneration has been poor. Now we are trying to remedy it.

The whole solution, he thought, lay in bringing the boys into the church.

OUTLOOK FOR NAVIGATION IN HUDSON BAY FAR FROM ROSY

Steamers Met Packed Ice For Eight Days As Late As August 10th—Field Of Ice Off Labrador and Ice Prevalent All Way to Cape Childley

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—Reports have at last reached the naval service department concerning the summer trips made by the "Beothic," owned by Mr. J. H. Largue, and the government steamers "Minto" and "Arctic." Primarily sent to ascertain the conditions prevalent in Hudson Bay during the summer season, the reports show that the outlook in parts of the bay, even in the summer season, is bad. As late as August tenth the "Beothic" while on her way from Nelson to Moose Factory, met packed ice for eight days along the southern shore of Hudson Bay. The "Beothic" left Montreal on July 6th, and carried provisions for the Mounted Police at Fort Churchill, and freight and three survey parties for the Nottaway. The "Boethic" went through the straits of Belle Isle and found icebergs. Field ice was met off Labrador and ice was prevalent all the way to Cape Chidley. In Hudson's Straits numerous icebergs were found, and in the eastern and western end of the Straits the "Boethic" ran into pack ice. In Hudson Bay on the way to Churchill, only occasional ice was met. Churchill was reached on July 22 and Nelson on July 25.

Leaving the latter port for Moose Factory on August 10th the "Boethic" was in pack ice for eight days along the southern shore of Hudson's Bay. At Nelson, Mr. Hazen, engineer for the department of railways and canals, was landed to study the plan of harbor. He was left there with a survey party and also two parties sent by the Quebec government for railway work. The "Minto" of the government hydrographic survey of the naval service department, reached Nelson on August 6th, while the "Arctic" arrived there two days afterwards. The "Minto" dropped the schooner "Chrissie Thomy," which she had towed all the day, with a survey party for James Bay. The "Minto" after towing her half way across Hudson Bay left her to find her way to the Nottaway. The "Minto" reports a good trip and kept away from the Labrador coast, making the trip from Halifax in thirteen days. Both she and the "Arctic" were on their annual trips, the latter carrying a magnetic survey party across the Hudson Bay. The "Minto" was engaged on the survey of the entrance to Port Nelson. The "Chrissie Thomy" is engaged making a survey to find out the possibilities of a harbor at Nottaway and met a party sent by the government overland. The "Boethic," was signalled at Belle Isle at 11 o'clock this morning and reported in a damaged condition. So effective is the work of the hydrographic survey party that the "Boethic" entered Port Nelson under the guidance of an officer of the hydrographic staff, though the "Boethic" crew had never been there before.

The presence of the ice along the southern shore of the Hudson Bay so late as August 10th, is taken as a bad indication for the possibilities of the Nottaway railway scheme as a means of transporting grain from the west via Part Nelson and James Bay to Montreal, but later details will be forthcoming when the survey party arrive here.

LICENSES FOR ROLLER RINK AND PICTURE SHOWS $50 STRAIGHT

Traffic By-Law Now In Force Foot Passengers Have Right Of Way—Speed Limit on Main Streets 10 Miles an hour

Mr. Dan O'Connell appeared before the city council last night in the interests of the roller rink management, and argued that the proposed by-law to tax that institution a license fee of $100 a year would make an unfair measure. The rink pays in taxes and water rates to the city $358 a year, which is a fair revenue alone. And if a license is imposed, he said, let there be no unfair discrimination, the city being guided by precedence set by other places. In Toronto roller rinks are licensed at $50, in Stratford at $50, in Kingston, where there was one, $30 a year, Hamilton $25, Lindsay $15, Guelph $10, and in Collingwood, Barrie and Midland no fee whatever. In the face of these examples, I contend that a license of $100 a year on this city's rink would be manifestly unfair. In the case of picture shows, which cannot be considered as beneficial to the people as a whole, a fee of but $75 is proposed, and such places afford amusement only, while the roller rink gives opportunity far both amusement and healthy exercise. Again, picture shows operate the year around, the rink but a few months. Mr. O'Con-

GERMAN PERIL IS TRUMPED UP SAYS HARDIE

British M.P. Urges Workman To Organize and Control

Guelph, Sept. 9.—J. Kier Hardie, the British M.P., was the last and the most spectacular speaker at the opening of the convention of the Trades and Labor Congress at Guelph He was received with loud cheers.

"Comrades and brother Trade Unionists," he began, "I carry with me the fraternal greetings of over 5,400,000 trade unionists and over 100,000,000 socialists, who are banded together in the British Labor Party."

Reviewing the national income of Great Britain, he said: "During the past ten years the cost of living has gone up 22 per cent. in Great Britain, and up to two years ago the Rages had almost remained stationary."

"The increased cost of living was due to the increased amount of wealth that was going into the hands of the capitalist class. The working class has the power to redress every wrong and remove every injustice if you will stand together as workingmen and women in a body for the emancipation of the workers.

Referring to the present war scare he continued: "With all the strength and force of my being I warn you, brothers and comrades, to fight this unholy thing called milltiarism from the very start. If they can keep you hollering about the German workman they can pick your pockets in the meantime.

"It is a manufactured scare; there are millions in it for contractors. At this very hour the vote is being taken in European countries of the Rorkers to declare that if any two countries are bent on declaring war a general revolutionary strike will be called, troops will not be carried on the railways, all that appertains to war will be stopped.

NEW JERSEY TOURISTS VISIT PETERBORO

The Newark, N.J., grocers' excursion party numbering about two hundred persons, arrived in Peterborough yesterday, and were welcomed on behalf of the city by Mayor Bradburn and City Clerk Armstrong.

The visitors were shown round the city in motor cars and appeared very favorably impressed. They will make a tour of the lakes to-day. Upon leaving the city to-night the party will go via Toronto to Niagara Falls and Buffalo and on to New Jersey. The Kawartha Lakes is the chief objective point in this direction and their visit will undoubtedly boom the attractions of the picturesque group.

TORONTO TAKES DIVORCE PALM

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—Next session promises to eclipse all records in the matter of divorce applications. So far twenty notices have been filed, and the season when they are most numerous is yet to come.

Toronto easily carries off the palm so far, which twelve cases out of the twenty-one, Montreal has three, Hamilton one, Saskatchewan one, Trenton one, Napanee one, and Winnipeg one.

Last session there were thirty-one applications, of which fifteen succeeded. Since Confederation 276 divorces have been granted.

TWO WOMEN, ONE RICH, ONE POOR, BOTH DISHONEST, GO TO CELLS

One Law For Prince and Pauper Says Judge Who Gives Well-To-Do Thief The Longer Sentence

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Impartial justice was handed out by Judge Winchester in the County Judge's Court yesterday morning, bringing the shadow of disgrace upon two homes.

Maud Jordan, a young woman only a few weeks married, appeared charged with stealing a quantity of bedding, small kitchen utensils and and personal clothing from Mrs. E. Stovell, with whom she was employed before her marriage. She pleaded guilty.

"The girl worked for me as a domestic," said Mrs. Stovell, "and while with me she ransacked every trunk and box in the place. She completely wore out some of my wearing apparel, and took a silk dress and completely cut it to pieces. Before she was discharged I found over 200 pieces in her possession. There was a bundle of six new towels which she opened. She took five and left me one."

Shortly after being dismissed the girl was married. Much of the stolen property was recovered from her new home.

"This is not a case of impulse, but evidently one of deliberate theft," said his Honor. "But, for your husband's sake, and because you have had a previously good character, I will have mercy. I must sentence you to ten days in jail."

The young woman. Her place in the box was taken by Mrs. Maud Foster, of Hamilton, against whom also a charge of theft was registered.

"This woman was seen by the detective taking articles from the counter of the T. Eaton Company's store," explained County Crown Attorney Greer. "She stole two cameras, some jewelry and several articles of clothing valued at $93."

When arraigned, Mrs. Foster pleaded guilty. Her husband, who is a well-to-do business man in Hamilton, could not explain how she could have possibly "fallen from grace." Several character witnesses were called, all of whom spake very highly of the accused.

"This is a very sad case," said his Honor. There was no apparent reason, for your husband could have supplied you with all you needed. However, there must not be one sentence for the rich and another for the poor. The poor are needy, and, if anything, the rich should be treated more severely than the poor. You have pleaded guilty because the evidence was so strong. You will be confined in jail for 15 days."

COUNCIL TO MEET HON. ADAM BECK ON MONDAY

In Regard to Hydro-Electric Power For Peterborough—Ex-Garbage Contractor Scriver Wants His Money—The Eastwood Building Again

The city fathers met in special session last evening. There were present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Graham, Johnston, Johnston, men, Graham, Johnston, Duffus, Gordon, Gillespie, Duncan and Buller.

The Power Question.

Hon. Adam Beck wrote that he would be pleased to meet a deputation from the city council in Toronto, Monday next, the 16th inst., to arrive at a mutual understanding on the hydro-electric power situation, as regards its application to Peterborough. On motion of Ald. Johnston it was decided that the whole council go up to Toronto next Monday to meet the Hon. chairman of the Hydro-electric Commission, to become thoroughly conversant with exactly what progress has and is being made toward furnishing this city with municipal power for street lighting, domestic and other purposes.

The Eastwood Building.

Mr. E. A. Peck appeared on behalf of Mr. Isaac Eastwood and asked that a committee be struck to inspect his client's building over the creek on Hunter street, and convince themselves that it is substantially erected, and not a menace in any way to adjoining property. He offered that no reason exists why it should not be completed as it stands, without the walls of the upper storey being pulled down and re-erected as insisted upon by the council. Ald. Gordon understood that Contractor Rutherford had conversed with Ald. Buller, chairman of the Board of Works on this question, and had misunderstood Ald. Buller's advice. He would like to hear from Ald. Buller.

Ald. Buller replied that Mr. Thos. Rutherford had been credited with stating that he (Ald. Buller) had advised him to proceed with the erection of the building as it now stands. "That is not so," said the Board of works chairman, "and Mr. Rutherford must have misunderstood me. Still, the building, while not in accordance with the permit given by council, is a substantial one, and I see no reason why the man should be forced to re-construct it. Concessions have been granted in other cases within the fire limits, and should in fairness be allowed Mr. Eastwood under existing circumstances."

Ald. Duffus—"If I had my way I'd issue an injunction, compelling them to take down that building, which, if not a detriment to present adjoining property may prove so to other buildings in future years. The contractor deliberately ignored council's specified conditions permitting of the building's erection, and should abide by the consequences."

Ald. Buller moved, seconded by Ald. Gordon, that Ald. Gordon, Johnston, Duffus, Gillespie, Graham and the Mayor be a special committee to inspect this building and report to Council.

Ald. Gillespie did not see any cause for council repudiating its own judgment. "We all know the conditions, and its up to us to say whether we are going to change our minds or not."

Ald. Duffus—"The morning after we decided that Mr. Eastwood must live up to the permit granted him, Mr. Rutherford came into my place of business, and said "I see you men have been at your crooked business again."

Ald. Johnston admitted that the building is a good structure, but the incident is a matter of infringement of the law governing buildings within a given area. Laws are made, he said, and should be abided by.

The motion was here voted on and carried. And the committee will visit the building in question at 5.30 this evening.

Grand Trunk Improvements

The Mayor here informed his colleagues that Mr. Lynch, of the Grand Trunk Railway System, will be in this city to-day, at noon, to meet council relative to the gates to be placed at the Sherbrooke and King streets crossings, and two extra sidings across King street.

The new sidings will mean less shunting over Sherbrooke and King streets.

Council will meet Mr. Lynch today at noon.

Mr. Lynch is anxious to have the city's approval of the plans for these improvements, without further delay, so that work may be proceeded with at once..

Scriver Wants His Money

Mr. Scriver here appeared upon the scene and demanded payment for the couple of weeks he had served the city under contract for the removal of garbage. It will be remembered that Scriver threw up his contract without an hour's notice, necessitating a new one being entered into with the present scavenger, Mr. A. B. Downer. He wanted four to six thousand dollars a year to remove garbage from the specified area provided by by-law.

Ald. Johnston thought Scriver should be payed for expenses incurred in connection with his contract. He had seen more serious overstepping than his overlooked.

His Worship replied that Scriver had broken faith with the city. He had entered into a contract, which in a short time he repudiated, putting the authorities to serious inconvenience and trouble. He tould not see that he had any claim whatever upon the city, legally or otherwise.

Mr. Scriver had billed the city for $236; he had paid, he said over $100 in wages.

Ald. Johnston pointed out that Scriver had purchased wagons, and gone to other expenses, and he thought he should have some consideration.

"He is a poor man, and had neglected his garden by reason of the garbage contract, at a season when such neglect entailed to him considerable loss."

His Worship—"Well, if that is the way you look at it, move a resolution."

Ald. Johnson moved, seconded by Ald. Buller, that Mr. Scriver's accounts be gone into by the Property Committee to report back to Council. —Carried.

Fire Hall By-Law.

A by-law providing that the chief of the Fire department be empowered to hire and discharge his men, with the approval of merely the chairman of the Committee and the Mayor (no reference whateper to the committee as a whole) passed its several readings.

Ald. Johnston placed himself on record as opposing any change whatever in the government of the fire hall.

THE WEATHER.

To-Day: Mostly Fair and Continued Warm, but some Local Thunderstorms.
